Lutheran Churches To Receive Offering for Servicemen's Program

Trinity Lutheran church of Clara will join with the 5,000 congregations of the Lutheran church-Missouri Synod next Sunday, Mother's Day, to receive an offering for the church Armed Services Commission, as announced by F. W. Behrmann, pastor of the Clara congregation. The Commission which has its offices in Washington, D. C. ministers to the spiritual welfare of Synod's 35,000 young men and women in the military. Its program has been hailed by church and military leaders as the "most comprehensive and effective" service carried on by any church today among the armed forces. A lead article in a widely circulated national magazine recently lauded the Commission for its "outstanding job" to servicepeople.

The Commission's ministry begins with each individual member when he first enters the service. He is sent an initial pocket containing a Lutheran identification tag, Service Prayer Book, Scripture pocket calendar and several tracts. The servicemen's name and military address, sent to the Commission by his home pastor is forwarded to the nearest chaplain or contact pastor of the church. One hundred and twenty six chaplains and 400 contact pastors are cooperating in this effort. In addition, the Commission, with the assistance of 142 hospital pastors, serves Lutherans confined to Veterans Administration hospitals.

Each month an order of service with sermon and hymns, "Loyalty to Christ and Country" along with a folder, "Directory for Servicepeople", listing the locations of Missouri Synod Lutheran chaplains, are mailed to the servicepeople. "Double Time", a pocket news magazine containing pictures and items of

Burkburnett Blanks At Park Nine

Burkburnett Merchants washed Iowa Park 4-0 by the local diamond. Making defensive play by locals highlighted one of the best games to be seen in many years. Davis Floyd led to dazzle the large crowd with flawless play at bat, besides hitting 2 for 3. Flanagan went the route of Ol Belt League opener, Iowa Park to 4 hits, fanning six men.

Playing field is vastly improved with the addition of a foot fence extending from the third base. Plans are made to have bleacher available this Sunday.

GrassRoots Opinion

PROBIDENCE, KY., Journal-Enterprise: "Recently President Eisenhower—spoke with delight of the pickle jar and the cracker barrel found in most general stores when he was growing up — It may be that — a man will occupy the White House who will recall the days when he rode through a super market in a four-wheeled shopping basket."

OSKALOOSA, IOWA, Daily Herald: "The trimming down that for years was mainly talk is now getting under way at last — Whether or not it points to a balanced budget and then a start on tax relief in the fiscal year beginning July 1, it does carry the promise of action long delayed."

LAKE WORTH FLA., Herald: "The claim that opening the (relief) rolls to the public will embarrass recipients of aid, apparently is made more to cover up the chislers — than to actually protect the deserving poor. It might be added there is no record of embarrassment occurring where the rolls have been opened to the public but there has been considerable improvement in the reduction of funds spent in the wrong direction."

Every Boy Wins

One of the more important objectives of American Democracy is to train our children to be useful citizens, alert to their privileges and responsibilities in a free world and prepared to work out their individual destinies as members of a free society.

An outstanding example of the way in which industry joins with educators to support this objective is found in the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guide which sponsors a program for the development of craftsmanship and creative ability among teen-age boys in an annual nation model automobile competition.

Right now thousands of boys throughout the nation are busy putting the finishing touches on their model cars to enter in this year's competition. For their efforts, at least eight of these youngsters will receive university scholarships with a total value of $20,000. Another several hundred young craftsmen will share in cash and other awards totalling $45,000.

The significant aspect of the Fisher Body youth program is the idea of training boys for effective citizenship in a highly industrialized society.

It is true that the awards are a great incentive but prominent educators who are members of the Guild's Honorary Board of Judges and its Advisory Board believe that every boy who embarks on the Guild project is a winner. He often discovers talents and skills that were dormant. He learns the satisfaction of working on a man-sized assignment. He develops an urge to learn more and to devote his spare-time to productive activity.

The truth of this is born out in many letters received at Guild Headquarters in Detroit from former Guildsmen who are now filling important jobs in business and industry. They all agree that the code of craftsmanship learned during their model-making days has applied directly and beneficially to professional careers long after the model they built has been all but forgotten.

Reflection Saves Lives

Two to three times as many traffic fatalities occur at night as in daylight in relation to miles traveled. The reason is obvious people can't see as well at night. It's necessary to improve visibility—but we can't increase the strength of our headlight beams. Too many people are already dying in accidents caused by blinding headlights. But there is a solution—one that can save the lives of thousands now destined to die in night-time traffic accidents.

It comes from the Public Roads Administration whose Manual on uniform traffic Control Devices, accepted by all state highway officials as their guide, calls for illumination or reflectorization of all stop signs and all important warning signs. Reflectorized traffic signs look like ordinary signs in daylight, but at night they reflect the light from headlights of oncoming cars, making their message easily visible to drivers as far as 1/4 mile away. Such signs give the driver enough time to heed the message and act accordingly—the added seconds that can make the difference between life and death for several people.

Highway department officials support reflectorization as a necessary means of reducing night-time traffic accidents. But they need the support of the public before they can take action. Let's make them aware of our support. Write them—urge them to reflectorize all highway signs and markings. It is the one step we can take now to save our own lives.

Virtuous Necessity

President Eisenhower warned the NATO ministers on the opening day of their Paris meeting that "it would be foolhardy for us to delude ourselves about the dangers confronting us." At his press conference in the White House the same day, he said that he had not received any direct response from his speech challenging the Russians to action for peace rather than talk.

From Paris, Secretary of State Dulles reported no change in "basic Soviet policy". In their first session, the ministers signed orders for half a billion dollars worth of planes to be built in European plants and to stiffen the NATO air arm. General Matthew Ridgway, NATO supreme commander revealed that NATO commanders and their staffs would begin study of atomic weapons and warfare in the US zone of Germany this week.

Mr. Dulles reported that "It is important that NATO operates for the long pull, rather than merely for the short range", and added that this had been President Eisenhower's idea ever since he had been NATO chief in Europe. To many observers, however, this sounds more like the policy that England's Prime Minister Winston Churchill has been selling for the past year, and which he describes as the "long pull" versus the "short jerk."

Admittedly, NATO will not anticipate ten, twenty or thirty years of cold war, rather than trying to maintain its original drive for preparedness to meet a Russian invasion in the next few years. This will save a great deal of effort and expense if Russia will cooperate.

Those of you planning camping trips, here are some suggestions on food by Ed Townsend Whelen, not-camping authority.

Fresh will keep several days without refrigeration. Bacon, ham, beef will keep indefinitely if you keep them wrapped in wax paper away from flies and bugs.

Useful selections of canned and fish on all grocery stores nowadays. Fresh eggs keep for weeks if each is quickly in melted paraffin even wiped with a little oil and then wrapped in newspaper to keep from breaking.

Use powder for the fresh article, but fine when used in breads, puddings, or scrambled with dried beef.

Vegetables — by all means use all the fresh potatoes and as you wish in an old gunnysack. Lettuce, cabbage, celery, radishes, etc., will keep for weeks wrapped in wax paper or aluminum foil and then brown paper. Canned corn tomatoes go fine in camp.

Use cold tomatoes makes a good drink in hot weather. Usually, I draw the line at strawberries, which do not compare with the fresh ones — fresh Oranges, bananas, lemons and apples are always desirable.

There are all the dried fruits—apples, prunes, apricots and berries which need only to be stewed and sweetened with sugar.

Breads and Cereals — with a bag of flour and a can of baking powder you can always have fresh bread and biscuits. Self-rising pancake flours are convenient. Many bread and biscuit mixes will be improved with the addition of powdered milk, lard or butter for shortening, and corn meal. Don't hesitate to take along baker's bread which will keep perfectly the first week. Cereals are quicker and easier to prepare than bread and very nutritious substitutes for it—rolled oats, corn meal, hominy grits, etc.

Condiments and Seasonings — Butter keeps all right for weeks if kept reasonably cool; or canned butter is just as good and keeps indefinitely. Salt and pepper of course, and an extra amount if you are going to use salt to preserve skins or the pepper to keep flies from meats. Most campers use the frypan so much that a large can of lard or vegetable shortening is needed. Curry powder is fine for seasoning meat and rice, if used sparingly. Add a jar of mayonnaise dressing so you can have salads. Sweet chocolate comes in fine for lunches.

Burkburnett Council Of Garden Clubs With Mrs. Bohner

Mrs. J. Troy Miller was elected president of the council for 1953-54 at the regular meeting in the home of Mrs. C. F. Bohner west of town. Mrs. Jude Willingham was elected 1st vice-president and Mrs. C. F. Bohner secretary-treasurer. The retiring president, Mrs. A. C. Houser will serve as parliamentarian. Mrs. R. C. Gilbow was chairman of the nominating committee with Mrs. Carl Morrison and Mrs. Charlie Boyd. Mrs. Tom Britton, general chairman of the Fall Flower Show named Mrs. A. L. Gilbow, schedule; Mrs. Jude Willingham, staging; Mrs. Ralph White, publicity; and Mrs. Carl Morrison, entry classification. The council voted to sponsor a new garden club. Mrs. A. L. Gilbow was named chairman.

The party rooms were decorated with spring flowers and the dining table was covered with a beautiful linen cut-work cloth and was appointed with silver. Coffee was served by the hostess to Mesdames Carl Morrison, Troy Miller, C. R. Chambers, Charles Boyd, A. L. Gilbow, Tom Britton, R. C. Gilbow, Ralph White and A. C. Reeves.

BWC of First Baptist Church Holds Meeting

The BWC of the First Baptist Church held its regular meeting last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. G. James for Bible study. The meeting opened with the song, "Footsteps of Jesus." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Cheney. Mrs. Aliene Fields, chairman, had charge of the business meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting were read. The program was then turned over to Jewel Reed, who brought a very interesting and inspiring Bible study. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Moore.

Lovely refreshments were served to 12 members.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Gloria Soto Garcia Clark
 Defendant, Greeting:
 You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 89th District Court of Wichita County at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 1st day of June A. D., 1953, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 13th day of April A. D., 1953, in this cause, numbered 51,939-C on the docket of said Court and styled J. D. Clark, Defendant vs. Gloria Soto Garcia Clark, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:
 This is a suit for annulment of marriage contract wherein Plaintiff alleges that a purported marriage ceremony was performed between her and the defendant on or about October 21, 1952; that at the time of said purported ceremonial marriage the Plaintiff was intoxicated from the recent use of alcoholic beverage to the extent that he was mentally incapable of entering into a valid and binding contract and that said whole marriage contract was occasioned by and perpetrated upon him by the fraud of the Defendant herein; that Plaintiff and Defendant have never lived together as husband and wife and therefore said marriage was null and void.

Wherefore Plaintiff prays that citation issue and that on final hearing we have judgment holding said marriage null and void and of no further force or effect. If citation is not served within ninety days after the date of issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The Officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and Seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this 14th day of April A. D. 1953.

Attest:
 FLORA COBB, Clerk,
 89th District Court, Wichita County, Texas

Some Past History

By R. D. L.

A stranger entering the town of Burkburnett 25 years ago would have noticed long, undulating plains scattered with cattle; spreading farm lands and eventually, a panorama of oil derricks.

Think of those three factors a little while, and how they may be put to use, and you have the history of town.

In 1906 there was no city on this spot—the grazing lands and farms were unused, because the years were unknown. In 1907, a year later, owners of the vast tracts began subdividing their holdings, making it available for purchasers; and when about 1000 people took advantage of the offer, established their farms and brought their cattle, the town was begun. Farming soon took precedence over cattle raising, and corn was the principal crop. This condition continued for many years.

Then came 1918 the oil boom and Burkburnett, hitherto a mecca of cowpunchers became what its motto indicates, "The oil city of Texas."

The history of that era, when people had oil wells in their back yards, and cots in their alleys which they rented to thousands of field workers at exorbitant rates, is well remembered by those of us who still remain to tell the story.

Persons entering Burkburnett at night 25 years ago, for the first time, would have been startled by the constant coughing and puffing of the pumps at labor drawing oil from the earth. Like huge leaches they pulled their precious fluid from the numerous holes that had been punched all over the area, and the pumping rods, the tenacles reached across the countryside, holding once peaceful farming land in an unrelenting grip.

Even to the old timer who was accustomed to the sounds of the pumps, the sudden awakening in the night would bring an impression that the coughing and mumbling was strangely human-like. The more superstitious said that the spirits of the oil booms were mumbling again. All the glory and the pomp of the past arise to haunt the present indifferent generation.

Every community that ever lived has left behind it an erie impression as if death was an injustice. The Burkburnett area is spotted with such districts. The scars which were left by those days are still in evidence of the insane period of the boom. There is something a little tragic and fascinating about those boom time days. They are real gloomy shadows of the past. They were the product of a high pressure period, and was born of the same hopes that create a desire for gain and wealth in concrete realness.

GIVE TO FIGHT CANCER — President Dwight D. Eisenhower points out one of the ways to control cancer is to give to the American Cancer Society. During April, which the President proclaims as Cancer Control Month, volunteers raise funds for a program to help save 70,000 lives from cancer in 1953.

To those of us who lived here during those wild days, there is still a pull of mystery about it all. Like a gigantic puzzle those memories still challenge the mind. No one seems able to figure out just what happened no one knows all that passed in the night.

Those magic nights. The whole horizon was studded with brilliant diamonds of drilling rig lights. The furtive shadows slipped by and the identity was lost. The mind slowly said, "It can't be true! It does not lose its romance by the passing of time, but each telling adds spice and exaggeration that makes for interest. However, even stripped of all imagination, the period is a fairy story with all the Cinderellas and also all the evil little goblins and dark spirits of the conventional tale.

After singing America and invocation by Paul Browning, Rudy Robinson introduced the following visiting Rotarians and guests, Porter Oaks, Rufus King J. V. McCasland, Graham Ball, Russell Carr, Boyd Kelley and Fay Jennings.

H. D. Smith program chairman, introduced Mrs. Grace Sheik, president of the Nurses League of Wichita County. Mrs. Sheik spoke to the Club of the need in Wichita County of a nurses training school of adequate size and approximate cost of building and maintaining one. She pointed out that there is a need of at least 4 trained nurses per 1000 population and Wichita County has less than 2 per 1000. It was a very informative talk on present needs in this vocation.

Texas State Dept. of Health

There are detergents advertised on today's market for cutting any cleaning job—mechanic's hands to discourage fleas on the family poodle. They work too, in most instances, but State Health Officers, but State Health Officers, Geo. W. Cox has this word of warning: "Make sure you follow the directions to the letter." Other- wise you could end up with a comforting case of "house- hold eczema."

These so-called "soapless" prod- ucts have found wide favor with housewives for washing dishes and dishes. No doubt a bit of their popularity is due to high powered advertising leading the decorative boxes showing happy ladies hanging washing or putting up dishes which the product has clean- ed up for itself.

Dr. Cox identifies the active ingredients of these products as chemical compounds which act on the surface tension of wa- ter, making it more penetrating and able to get through grease and dirt to break it up and keep it from resettling.

Many brands contain special purpose ingredients, such as ammonium salt, which make the compound bactericidal.

A duck is supposed to sink like a rock in water containing some of these detergents, prob- ably because the "wetter" water gets through the oil in the ducks' feathers—which is the reason a duck is ordinarily water proof and able to float.

It stands to reason, Dr. Cox Dr. Cox points out, that if these compounds will cut through grease and film, and there is no doubt that some of them will—they will also penetrate the natural oils of the skin and cause irritation and discomfort if the condition is neglected.

The health officer's recom- mendation? Keep some hand lotion within easy reach and apply it liberally after using detergents for household clean- ing or laundry.

News From The Congress

By FRANK IKARD

The necessity of effective soil conservation has been further emphasized this week by the hearings held by the Agriculture Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee and the Committee on Agriculture. All indications are that we in this country will have a population by 1957 of approximately One Hundred Ninety Million people. By the year 2000, our population will have increased to in excess of Two Hundred Million. At present production levels this would mean that we would have to find Seventy-Five to One Hundred Million acres of new crop land in order to maintain our present standard of diet. In the past, we have met the problem of population increases largely by bringing new land into production; however, now this obviously cannot be done for there are no reservoirs of virgin land left for us to tap. In the Continental United States there are approximately One Billion, Nine Hundred and Four Million acres of land. One Billion One Hundred Million of these acres are used for grazing and crop land. Six Hundred Million acres are in forests and wood land. The remaining acreage is non agricultural.

While these figures sound tremendous, the fact remains that this is all the land that we have to provide the basic food and fiber for our increased population. Since this country was founded, we have reduced the productivity of our soil by prob- ably forty to fifty percent through intensive continuous one crop farming which has burned out our land, through the removal of the minerals from our soil at a rate faster than they are returned, by im- proper practices which have re- sulted in water and wind ero- sion, depletion of coverage on our ranges and wastage of water needed for crop production. Per- haps no other people in history have used their land so wreck- lessly as we have. It is obvious that the only way that we can effectively meet our needs in the foreseeable future is the de- velopment of a program of con- servation that will stop the de- terioration of our lands and will improve and maintain our pro- duction at higher levels. The hearings now being held by the Agricultural Committees have been very interesting. I have tried whenever time would per- mit to attend them. Their thorough consideration of the needs of conservation, particu- larly with reference to devising ways of tapping and holding water as nearly as possible where it falls, will result in all of us being able to do a whole lot better job as far as conservation is concerned.

It is obvious that the prime target of the Communists is South East Asia, not just part of South Asia, but the whole of that great area. It is ironic that at a time when the Russians are supposedly sponsoring a new peace offensive, the fighting in Asia should be stepped up. This it would appear, certainly leav- es the motives of the Kremlin open to questioning. The great stake, the rich claim they sought to stake, has always been the rubber, tin, and other raw ma- terials that complete control of this territory would give them. The recent murmurings from Mos- cow of peace are still being backed up by actions, and if anyone needs proof, only a glance at the present Commu- nist activities in Asia will supply it.

Here is an unusual opportunity to see for yourself the fine new cars that make the New Packard Program the news story of this automotive year. 25 beautiful new cars will be awarded, including a glamorous Packard Caribbean. We hope you will join us. Please read on—

LAST December the people of this country gave a typical, enthusiastic welcome to the announcement that Packard was returning to the fine-car field. Once again America had a new choice in fine cars!

At the same time, the Packard CLIPPER was announced as the only medium-priced car in America built in the fine-car tradition. The big type of car, priced just a few hundred dollars more than the low-priced lines.

These announcements were the first step in the revitalized Packard Program! Now you are invited to participate in step number two with 12 new Packards and 12 new Packard

CLIPPERS to be awarded those who follow the simple rules for participat- ing in Packard Invitation Month.

May 9th to June 9th is the time. Just visit your dealer then. See the new Packard or CLIPPER and, on an official participation form (which your dealer will provide), write 25 words or less about the feature that im- presses you most. Tell us what we should say about that feature in future advertising.

Send in as many suggestions as you wish. Just be sure that each one is written on an official participation form and is in the mail before mid- night on June 9th, 1953. See your Packard dealer soon.

Mrs. Kolter will direct the leaders of the primary department. Several members of the Friberg-Cooper church plan to attend this meeting.

Friberg-Cooper MYF

National Publishing house in Nashville, Tenn. has written and asked for information to be printed in their new book "Work with Youth", from the members and leaders of the MYF of the Friberg-Cooper church due to the fact that the Youth of the church have made so many accomplishments this past year. This is another mile stone for the youth of the church.

Quarterly Conference was held at the church Tuesday night, with District Superintendent G. P. McCollum. All reports were above the last years reports. Mr. D. E. Beck was elected Sunday School Superintendent and Mrs. J. H. Meyer was elected official delegate to the annual conference. Mrs. J. H. Meyer was also elected Zone Chairman at the District WSCS meeting held in Nocona this week.

At a basket lunch at the church Tuesday night members of the church surprised the pastor, C. A. Warden with a brief case. Mrs. R. R. Kolter presented the gift after she had given a cutting from the book "Papa was a Preacher" by Aylene Porter. Mrs. Kolter also gave a poem.

The Woman's Society of Christian service will meet in the home of Mrs. M. A. Turner Thursday for their regular meeting with Mrs. V. C. Lamb, president in charge of the worship program and Mrs. A. B. Tarr will have charge of the program on Home Missions.

Members of the Friberg-Cooper church surprised Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bakouris Sunday afternoon with a come and go party. The members of the church presented the Bakouris with a pot plant. Refreshments were served to the guests by members of the church.

Cooper Home Demonstration Club

The Cooper Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Nathan Harrell Monday for their regular meeting with president Mrs. R. C. Moser in charge of the business meeting.

The quotation for the day was "Tis better far to love and be poor than to be rich and empty hearted." Roll call was answered by having a plant exchange. Reports were given by standing committees and special committees. During the business meeting announcements were made about the dress review to be held at the Wichita Valley Community House, the District Meeting in Vernon, May Day Luncheon at Warren Camp in Archer County Home Demonstration Week, the Texas Electric Demonstration, and the limitation contest of the 4-H Club girls at Midwestern University. Picture Taking in the Night

YOU know when the sun goes down many picture takers either put away their cameras or get out their flash equipment to shoot indoors. Somehow the snap-shooting possibilities outdoors at night never occur to them. Actually, it's a fine time to experiment with taking interesting, unusual and beautiful shots.

One of the things necessary for taking such pictures is to have some means of rock-steady support for your camera, since they will be time exposures. While there's usually no fear of subject movement, there's always the possibility of camera movement. A tripod is the best way of insuring yourself against such a happening.

There's hardly a camera, no matter how simple, that isn't equipped for taking time exposures. So, actually, taking these pictures presents no problem.

If you've ever seen the silhouette of a brightly lighted city against the night sky, you must have been struck by the thought of what a fine picture it would make. The bright reflection of light on water, a snow-covered street, a house gleaming a welcome through its windows, are all wonderful night time subjects for your camera.

Also, in spring as the weather becomes warmer and is often frequented by thunderstorms, you can take very interesting shots of the lightning. There's not much worry about composition with such pictures for the lightning itself provides the pattern. The length of exposure will depend on whether you wish a shot of one flash of lightning or whether you wish to record several, one after the other to make one picture. If you try the latter you'll end up with a fascinating shot of an intricate maze of lines. If it is raining, these shots can be made through a window.

All you need to do is place the camera on a solid support, with the lens pointed in the direction of the lightning, and set it for a time exposure. You needn't worry about the lens opening, because the vividness of the lightning will insure a picture at any setting.

You cannot, of course, take such pictures of sunset lightning, although it will serve as a good background against which buildings and trees will stand out as in a silhouette.

Night shots such as these will impress your friends greatly. Although simple to make, they're very effective and dramatic.

Who Says Beachcombers Are Crazy?

The familiar "diving girl" symbol on swimwear is nothing new under the sun. What is new in the fashion sun is this suit of acetate and laton with the eye-arresting, "bib'n tucker"-styled bra line. At any pool or beach in the world—you'll be "right in the swim" with this Jantzen, shown in Harper's Bazaar and available in nine colors, including gold, red, black, navy and green at about $16. CAMERA TOPICS

By T. T. Holden

The circus lends itself particularly to color shots. Even in black and white, this prize winner in the 1952 Gaflex Color Photo Contest by Joseph Coste, is a beauty.

TAKE YOUR CAMERA AND KIDS TO THE CIRCUS

Probably the most exciting day in any youngster's life is that first visit to the circus. The mass of color, clowns and cotton candy leave him oblivious to anything going around him. This is a golden opportunity for you to bring along your camera and shoot a picture story of circus action mirrored in the mobile face of a youngster.

You can start your day with a shot of your leaving the house. Follow this up with a picture taken outside of the ticket booth or tent and another in the menagerie just prior to the show.

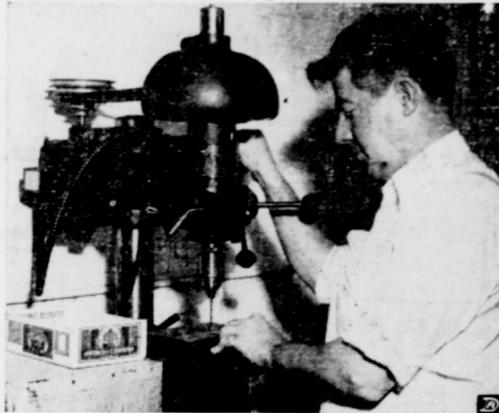

Try to seat yourself a trifle below your youngster so that you can take pictures at his eye level. Avoid shooting from above. Get close enough so that the image is large, but not too close so that you interfere with his view. Four to six feet is about the optimum distance. Keep your camera cocked and ready for action—and wait. It takes patience, but the pictures you want will develop from your waiting.

A large part of your success will depend on whether or not you plan a shooting script in advance of your circus visit. The ideal script involves visualizing the things that will happen during your day at the circus. This is not difficult and with a little imagination you can effectively block out the tour. Think of your script as containing the basic minimum elements that will make up the story but feel free to add pictures of anything unexpected that may come up.

The eventful hours of a child's first visit to the circus can be turned into an interesting and memorable picture story which will be recalled long after single pictures have lost their interest.

He Learns By "Feel"

CINCINNATI, OHIO — You would never guess it by examining the quality and precision of the work he turns out, but the man pictured above is totally blind.

He is one of similarly handicapped persons who are learning to be skilled workmen in special schools throughout the country, and who help to supply a vital need for skilled machinists in American industry.

The blind "student" learns to operate the machine by "feel" and by memorizing the step-by-step "pattern" of arm and hand movements used in operating the machine for a specific task. Once the "pattern" is memorized, the blind can run the machine as efficiently and safely as a machinist having full eyesight. Often the blind make better workmen because they never deviate from the "pattern" and are not distracted.

The workman above is learning to operate a 16" Royal floor drill, manufactured by the Cincinnati Lathe & Tool company here. Trained on the Royal, the blind workman can move smoothly into industrial jobs where the same dependable drills are used.

Royal drills are used in home shops and small machine shops throughout the country for the same reason they are used in vocational shops and key industrial operations. The "feel" of a fine tool, so important in teaching the blind to operate it safely and efficiently, is equally important to any workman turning out precision work.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Surgey Required

Give Weary Tractors a Tonic

For the farmer, the first signs of spring signal the start of another hard work season.

So if your field equipment isn't in shape for the long haul ahead you'd better hustle. The time for mechanical service chores is now, or can mean lost days and profits.

Say, for example, you left your tractor sitting neglected all winter in the barn or barnyard. If so, it needs some mechanical attention plus a spring tonic of oil, grease, and fuel. Cleaning that fuel system thoroughly with a good solvent is important—especially if you forgot to drain it last fall. Stale gasoline develops a gum that can clog the carburetor and stop a tractor in its tracks.

And don't risk running on last year's oil. Chances are you've forgotten how many operating hours it has been used and that it's gritty too. Remember: fresh oil is cheaper than an overhaul. Replace the oil filter too if doubtful about its condition.

Ignition. Next inspect the ignition system and the spark plugs. Cables that are cracked or porous can cause mis-firing and a definite loss of power. So can old or dirty spark plugs.

While you may be able to patch a faulty cable, you can only do one of two things with fouled or weary spark plugs: have them cleaned or install a new set.

Even though new last fall, plugs should be checked and serviced at the start of the new work season. Make it a rule to have them cleaned at your garage or tractor station every 100 hours; that's equivalent to about 5000 miles on your car or truck. For top efficiency install new ones at the 200-hour operation mark.

Proper Plugs. For instance, a plug fouled with oil or carbon deposits means a weak spark, hence incomplete combustion, loss of power and fuel. Fouling can result from various causes—improper timing and poor carburetor adjustment among others—but it also might indicate you're using the wrong type of plug. Why the emphasis on spark plugs? Champion Spark Plug search engineers point out that periodic servicing is more important than most tractor operators think. So is the selection of proper type plug for the job.

Hot or Cold? Spark plugs are graded according to "heat range" or their ability to hold or dissipate heat. If your tractor idles for long periods or is used for light work, try a "hotter" type plug if yours foul quickly with heavy combustion deposits.

Plugs with a burned or blistered look generally indicate a need for a colder type particularly if your tractor gets long hard usage.

Useful Hints. Champion engineers have prepared a new pamphlet fully explaining this basic of spark plug selection and correct servicing plus general suggestions for engine maintenance. It's a valuable reference material for your farm workshop.

It contains an easy-to-read identification sheet listing recommended types of plugs for all makes of tractors, combines, mowers and other farm machinery. There's also an under-the-hood chart showing heat ranges of new and older types of plugs and a pictorial explanation of how to diagnose and cure spark plug problems resulting from wrong selection.

It's free and will be mailed request from Champion Spark Plug Co., Toledo 1, Ohio.

MOMENTS OF PREVENTION MAY SAVE YEARS OF CARE

By OVETA CULP HOBBY
Federal Security Administrator

Not a day passes that we are not brought face to face with the troubles besetting people and the needless anguish so many endure.

Who among us does not know the neighborhood "bad boy," the habitual truant, or possibly the family with a member who is or has been in jail? Who does not know cases of divorce, of broken homes, of families disrupted by conflict or mental illness? Who among us has not deplored the plight of an unwed mother, of an abandoned baby, a neglected child?

Our jails today hold almost as many people as the city of Fort Worth, Texas. About half the patients in all our hospitals are in hospitals for the mentally ill.

The cost to our country of just those two items runs into many billions. The loss in human energy cannot be calculated.

Through our great programs of health, welfare, and education, we at the Federal Security Agency seek to increase the well-being of all of our people. We also seek to cut down on the unnecessary suffering of so many of our citizens, young and old, and on the cost to our country of repairing or undoing the ravages of misfortune.

We cannot help speculating on the number of personal tragedies that could have been avoided. We cannot help wondering how many crimes, how many mental breakdowns, how many divorces would never have occurred, if signs of personal maladjustment had been noted and dealt with earlier—or if the condition causing such maladjustment had never existed.

We still have much to learn about the ways in which a person gains emotional health and stability. A few things we know almost beyond dispute however, and they can guide us in our efforts to save lives from blight.

Emotional good health in adults has its best chance when people have behind them happy healthy childhood. Parents play the star role in helping their children grow into well-adjusted responsible people.

For this top priority job parents can also be our prime intelligence service if alert to how children grow in good emotional health. They can spot the early clues of unrest and happiness in their children. They can note the first flings of danger that the disturbed youngster hoists in the form of difficult behavior. They are in a position to take the first action or seek necessary advice.

So on this May Day, 1953, we ask parents to look first to themselves to help their children achieve emotional good health, to learn all they can about the ways children grow emotionally, and to make every effort always to use that knowledge.

Let us all—whether or not we have children of our own—pledge ourselves to increase our "understanding of the emotional social and spiritual growth of children" and to apply this understanding in our day-to-day relations with them.

Whatever we can do to help give our children mental and emotional good health will pay rich dividends in a generation of more mature, independent citizens. It will also effect that greatest economy of all—happier and more productive lives—and thereby diminish such expensive sore spots as crime, mental illness, and delinquency in our society.

Fort Sill-Lawton Make Plans For Armed Forces Day

Fort Sill, Okla.—The third Saturday in May—the 16th has been set aside as the day that Dad, Mom and the kids get their fourth annual look at their armed forces in action.

Armed Forces Day plans for the Lawton-Fort Sill area are close to completion after intensive work by representatives of the two communities. Lt. Col. Paul G. Keating, project officer, has announced.

Already the Lawton Chamber of Commerce is forecasting the largest crowds ever to come here for such a event. Last year's celebration in most of Oklahoma was fairly well rained out and seven inches of rain in 24 hours deluged plans for the celebration here.

The observance in this vicinity will offer the general public their first opportunity to see the Army's giant 280 mm gun for themselves. One of the big guns will take part in a Lawton parade beginning at 10 a. m. and will be viewed at a firing demonstration during the early afternoon, though present plans do not call for it to be fired.

Activities will get underway with the parade, in which Fort Sill's two bands will march and play as one. A fly-over of Air Force T-33 jet trainers will take place shortly before the parade begins to roll.

Other Sill units in the parade will include a number of artillery pieces, some drawn by trucks or tractors and other self propelled. A class of Republic of Korea officers and 300 candidates from Artillery Officers' Candidate School will march in the local parade.

Static exhibits on the post will open to the public at 10 a. m. and will remain open until 5 p. m. They will give a cross section of the weapons and equipment used by today's artilleryman.

Signs will point the way to the exhibit area, while parking and other facilities will be arranged for the public's convenience.

Aircraft of the Army, Navy and Air Force will be on display at Post field during the day. Two other fly-overs have been slated for the day—one of B-25s and the other of T-28 trainers.

One of the most popular events in past years has been the firing demonstration of major artillery weapons, from mortars to big howitzers. The demonstration will begin at 1:30 p. m. with a narrator explaining the weapons and action. Parents bringing young children to the demonstration should bring cotton for their ears.

At 4:15 men of the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center will parade at Post field after which the Department of Air Training will present an air show with both regular planes and helicopters.

A soldier musical and variety show at 7 p. m. in Theatre one and a ball game at Butner field at 7:30 p. m. will cap the day's activities.

Fort Sill units will also participate in Armed Forces Day activities in other Oklahoma and Texas cities, including Oklahoma City, McAlester, Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Lubbock.

Approximately 20 speakers from the post will appear before civic organizations in surrounding communities during the week preceding Armed Forces Day.

CANCER'S 7 DANGER SIGNALS

- 1 Any sore that does not heal.
- 2 A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
- 3 Unusual bleeding or discharge.
- 4 Any change in a wart or mole.
- 5 Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
- 6 Persistent hoarseness or cough.
- 7 Any change in normal bowel habits.

None of these symptoms necessarily means that you have cancer, but any one of them should send you to your doctor. Cancer is usually curable when detected and treated early. Remember the danger signals. Cancer strikes one in five. Strike back. Give to the American Cancer Society.

Delegates Attend Garden Club Convention Recently

Mesdames Will Teal, A. C. Reeves and E. R. Burns were delegate recently to the convention of Texas Federated Garden Clubs at the Shamrock Hotel in Houston, Texas. The highlight of the convention was a lecture by M. Benz on creative designs. He also fascinated the audience with his demonstration of flower arrangements. Another interesting lecture was by Lon Alsop of Austin who is totally blind. He talked on the work among the blind, and Garden Club Therapy. The Garden Clubs of Texas are stressing therapy among the blind. The delegates thoroughly enjoyed a beautiful tea given at the River Oaks Country Club, which climaxed the convention.

Junior High News

Thursday afternoon all juniors high students enjoyed an art demonstration given by Miss Alice Wilson. Miss Wilson is sent out by the State Department to demonstrate the use of Art material. Junior High pupils were given mental ability tests this week. These were given in place of the usual achievement tests given each spring. All eighth grade pupils are attending their annual formal banquet, May 1st, at the Town Hall. The theme is "Hitch Your Wagon To A Star." They have as their guests faculty members and seventh grade honor students.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To: Jessie M. Holder, Defendant
Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 30th District Court of Wichita County at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 15th day of June A. D. 1953 then and there to answer Plaintiff's petition filed in said Court, on the 18th day of March A. D. 1953, in this cause, numbered 51,816-A on the docket of said court and styled James R. Holder Plaintiff, vs. Jessie M. Holder, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: After alleging jurisdiction, plaintiff further alleges that he and defendant were married on or about February 14, 1952 and continued to live together as husband and wife until on or about February 22, 1952, at which time they separated, and since which time they have lived wholly separate and apart, preceding the separation the defendant began a course of cruel, harsh and tyrannical treatment and was of such a nature as to render their further living together insupportable; that there were no children born to this marriage and that there is no community property; Wherefore, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein, and that upon trial hereof, he have judgement for divorce and for such other and further relief, in law or in equity to which he may show himself justly entitled. If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of issuance, it shall be returned unserved. The Officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas this 1st day of May A. D. 1953.

Attest:
Flora Cobb, Clerk,
30th District Court, Wichita County, Texas.
By Carl Hightower, Deputy.

Calvary Baptist Church
College & Ave B

Sunday School at ten a. m. Our study will be about the 5th and 6th churches of Revelation. The scripture is Rev. 3:1-13. There are seven of these churches, representing the complete church age. Each of these Churches represent a certain period of Church history. Taken in this light, the statements made to each Church in Revelation bears interesting and informative significance. Come study with us. The Bible is our only literature. Preaching service at 11 a. m. Congregational and special singing. The pastor will bring the old-time gospel message. Young people meet at 7 p. m. under the direction of Bro. K. W. Baker and wife. All youth welcome.

Night preaching service at 7:45. Good old-time song and praise service preceding the preaching of the Word by the pastor. Calvary Baptist church welcomes all to its services. We are a missionary Baptist church, but belong to no organization of churches, just as all the churches of the New Testament had no kind of organization between themselves. They simply cooperated by each church doing the job in its own community scripturally given it, and aiding others far and near as the need arose, and as they were willing and able. We desire to follow the N. T. plan and not man's programs which leads to man's praise. You always have a friendly welcome to this church with the open Bible for all people with open hearts and minds.

YOUR FARM BUREAU- BY MARYE ECKELKAMP

The soul of America lies in the soil. This is the real heritage which we are trusted and which we must guard. Here in the soil lies the future of America—let's conserve it, let's keep it forever.

Words could well be written of not just Soil Stewardship, but for the entire year. As I looked at the soil that is being given a lease on life with soil-conservation practice, I remember the words of the talents. The land is a gift from the Creator. It is ours to do with as we see fit. We must be nurtured to bring the best character.

The soul of America lies in her land. It is up to us to conserve it, improve it and keep it so that the next generation will be given a heritage at least as good as it was when we received it.

We can't see what keeps some girls from freezing. But, I guess we're not supposed to.

Wichita Falls pointed to the fact that everyone was dependent upon the soil. A pun could be, "As goes farm prosperity, so goes the nations."

Mr. Porter added that when Lake Dallas was built some 35 years ago, it had a capacity of 65 billion gallons of water. A recent survey shows the present capacity to be 9 billion gallons. Into Lake Dallas has gone the top soil that has washed into the streams that flow into the lake. At the bottom of a lake lies the growing power of the land it serves.

Next week is Soil Conservation Week. Each of us, farmer or Layman should stop and think seriously about our soil. Great strides have been taken in the field of conservation. Yet even with the great advancement, enough top soil was lost via erosion, both by rain or wind, to fill enough box cars to go around the world eighteen times.

The soul of America does lie in her land. It is up to us to conserve it, improve it and keep it so that the next generation will be given a heritage at least as good as it was when we received it.

We can't see what keeps some girls from freezing. But, I guess we're not supposed to.

Questions and Answers

Q—I wrote a letter to VA and stated that I wanted to apply for disability compensation payments. Is that letter all I'll need in the way of an application?

A—No. VA will send you a formal application, which you must fill out and return. If you send it back to VA within a year from the time you received it, VA will consider as the effective date of your application the date that it received your original letter.

Q—As a disabled veteran, I received an automobile, under VA's program of paying up to $1,600 of the cost. Will VA also pay for any repairs that I might need?

A—No. Under the law, no payment may be made for repairs, maintenance or replacement of your automobile.

Q—I'm taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. What does VA consider as full time training?

A—Full time training for job trainees consists of the number of hours which make up the standard week of your establishment. The minimum, however, is 36 hours a week, except in cases where bona fide collective bargaining between employers and employees has established a standard work week of fewer hours.

Q—I'm going to school under the Korean GI Bill, and my wife just had a baby. What must I do in order to get an increased education allowance from VA?

A—You must apply for the increase. If VA receives your application within 45 days, the effective date of the increased allowance will be the date of the birth of your child. Otherwise, the effective date will be the date VA receives your application. In either case, you must submit satisfactory evidence of the birth of the child within a year of the time you asked for the increased allowance.

Grade School News

Some of our boys and girls have been taking a few tests this week. The tests are difficult from any form that has been given, and are very interesting to the children. They are very easy to mark and require close attention as to how the tests are to be marked.

Our first grades enjoyed a very exciting trip to the airport at Kell Field on Thursday, of this week. They were shown the hangers and the many small planes that were parked in and around the hangers. There were many interesting things for the children to have explained to them. One big thrill for each child was going aboard a large air liner with the stewardess. Each child returned to school with a rubber dollar bill as a souvenir from the airport.

We are very grateful to every one who helped to make this trip possible. We wish to thank Mr. Davis for the use of the school bus to make the trip. Thanks to the officials at the airport for being so kind to show us the many interesting sights.

We have been studying transportation and this trip was most interesting as a demonstration of air travel.

Henry J wins in Mobilgas Economy Run!

mp.g.

Henry J beats all comers with 28.2 miles per gallon!

For the second year in a row, Kaiser-Frazer's Henry J scores the highest mileage in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run—a whopping 28.2 miles a gallon — while taking first place in the *special lightweight class!

Further proof of the Henry J's famed "penny-a-mile" gasoline economy so warmly acclaimed by "Motor Trends" Magazine!

And when you realize that this 28.2 miles a gallon record was made over 1206 miles of the toughest kind of driving—from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, over the High Sierras—you can imagine the mileage you'd get on the straightaway!

Best of all, its amazing gasoline economy represents only a part of the Henry J's phenomenal savings. With the lowest down payment, lowest monthly payments, and less to pay for gasoline, oil, insurance, taxes, tires and maintenance, it can save you as much as $600 the very first year. So drive a smart, stylish Henry J and get on "Easiest St." today!
