News From The Congress

By FRANK IKARD

The closing days of any session of Congress are always the hectic ones. As everyone knows, the House and Senate always pass the bills in the same form. The result is that these bills have to go to the respective committees, and the House and Senate, where the bills of both houses of Congress are reconciled. After this is done, the representative of the respective bodies report on the compromise bills and the compromises are either passed or rejected. This procedure that actually finalizes the most legislation is during the last week or days of the session, which is the necessity of working early morning until late at night. After these hours, men's patience tires, and sometimes flare, and ill-considered action is taken. Means should be devised to take the pressure off the closing days of the session. The older members of the House and Senate are exhausted and heart attacks brought on by these hectic days.

The passing of Senator Robt. Taft means that a truly great scene has left the American scene. Even though you may not have agreed with his philosophies, no one can deny the fact that he possessed a great mind and a firm conviction to the principles for which he stood. He was a man of great moral and patriotic zeal. Those who differed with him most on the questions had the highest respect and admiration for a man of great integrity and high principle. He was the Congressional leader for the present Administration. It is sad that he was it to the wheel and held it to the Republicans and Democrats alike will miss Senator Taft in the Capitol Hill, and his presence will be almost impossible to replace.

It seems ironical in a way that on the last day or two of the session, the Congress should attempt to raise the national debt to 290 billion dollars, on the same day be asked to approve legislation which would make available 14 billion dollars, plus, for the foreign aid program. The national debt now stands roughly at 272 billion dollars, which is greater than the national debts of all the other countries in the world combined. Prorating this national debt in the same proportion as the Federal Treasury last year, the share of this nation's debt is nine billion seventy million dollars. From the Department of the Treasury, given us by the Secretary of the Department and Senator Myrd who knows as well as anyone in Congress about our fiscal affairs, we have operated the Government the rest of this year would exceed the present limit of the debt and could have a cushion of about 200 billion dollars.

They plan to leave Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hill of Dallas, Texas, spent the week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Caffee.

Therefore, I felt that the limit should not be raised because of these facts that show we could safely operate the government without the raise and, secondly, if raised, it would certainly be an invitation for additional borrowing which would further jeopardize our credit and dilute the value of our money.

Above everything else, we must maintain the good health of the economy of this country. This is probably the most important question facing all of us today, for if our economy fails, then every other problem that we discuss becomes relatively unimportant.

I expect to be in the District just as soon as possible, and between now and the first of next year I expect to be in every town, community and county in the District. My office is in Room 206 of the Post Office Building in Wichita Falls and will be open every week-day except Saturday. I will discontinue these weekly columns until Congress convenes in January. I hope they have been a source of some information and benefit to its readers.

Visitors from home this past week were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bowen and children, from Boyd, Miss Shirley Cates, from Lewisville, Mrs. Cecil Roberts and son, Kenneth, from Wichita Falls.

Teacher Shortage It's Up To Shivers

If Governor Shivers reads the newspapers he's bound to know that thousands of Texas children face the prospect of entering the classrooms in their schools next September and find the teacher's chair vacant. Why doesn't he do something about it?

The worst teacher shortage in history has developed in this state and with many of the classroom instructors out hunting for jobs in business and industry this summer, the shortage is going to be terrific by the time the new term starts.

Here in Orange there are 19 vacancies on the teaching staff of the public schools as of today. School officials are beating the bushes in a desperate race with time trying to fill these posts but the prospects aren't good.

The same situation exists in many another Texas school district. The only ones not worried are those with local tax revenue sufficient to enable them to pay salaries well in excess of the state minimum.

Governor Shivers, in going along with the group who killed off teacher pay legislation during the recent session of the Legislature is largely responsible for the teacher shortage and right now he is the only person in the state in a position to do anything about it.

He can summon the lawmakers back into session and use his influence in getting thru a tax bill to finance an increase in teacher pay sufficient to make it possible for any school district, regardless of its financial circumstances, to fill its staff.

So, far, Governor Shivers has shown no indication of a willingness to do that. He is aware that a majority of the lawmakers are opposed to the Texas Manufacturers association plan which he endorses of putting the entire cost of the teacher pay hike on the backs of the local taxpayers.

Any proposal for an increase which is acceptable to the Legislature will have to involve state financing and TMA is going to fight that to the last ditch.

In order to get the hike written into law, Governor Shivers would have to switch sides, joining the ranks of his bitter critics within the Texas State Teachers association, and he has not yet made up his mind to do that.

So the summer rocks along, the resignations pile up on desks of school superintendents all over the state, and great mounds of teacher contracts remain unsigned.

Unless the governor acts quickly, they'll still be unsigned when the new term opens in September. Then what?

School districts with unfilled positions will have only one course open: Lower their standards for teachers and go out and hire anybody who can come and meet the qualifications for a classroom instructor. When they do that the children will suffer. The school boards know that but they have no means immediately available for avoiding the situation. That power now rests with Governor Shivers and he alone. Even if the Orange district, or any other, undertook to finance pay increases for teachers through a hike in local taxation there would not be time to set up such a program ahead of the start of the new term.

If, therefore, your child starts school next fall either without a teacher or in the hands of an incompetent instructor, don't blame the principal or the superintendent or the trustees.

Write a letter to the Governor on second thought, maybe it would be better to go ahead and write him now. Enough letters from parents might serve the purpose of bringing the governor around on this issue. By THE ORANGE LEADER

ABSOLUTION OF A SORT

Congress should give President Eisenhower authority to use "food stock-piles like ammunition stockpiles" Senator Ralph E. Flander, (Rep.) of Vermont told the Senate Agricultural committee. Food, the Senator thinks, can win cold wars too.

While no one argued this point, various others feel that the President's request for blanket authority to send Government-held surplus food to friendly nations on his own terms is a bit sweeping.

But, whatever the rules, giving this surplus food to our friends abroad would at least absolve us of the wickedness what others desperately need.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BALTIMORE, MD., Daily Record: "One of the country's credit experts say that 'easy dollars are a thing of the past. Some people call it a return to highly competitive conditions, while others call it a 'readjustment.' Which ever it may be it does mean that intensive and intelligent selling is going to be demanded in all lives.

SAN MARINO, Calif., Tribune: "Some 90 million Americans have paid $17,000,000,000 into the social security program Representative Carl T. Curtis declared — Of the 13 1/2 million are eligible to draw cash benefits. The original purpose of the Social Security act, Representative Curtis pointed out, was to protect the aged when they could no longer earn a living. It is becoming quite evident that Social Security isn't doing that, and perhaps never can be expected to do so."

COLLINSVILLE, Conn., Farmington Valley Herald: "Small business is really the biggest business of all, thus the most important factor in building jobs, in producing goods and stabilizing our economy. This fact is clearly proven by NAM's Earl Bunting, who shows that companies with fewer than 500 production workers now employ 55% of America's entire labor force, while 506 companies in the U. S. having more than 2500 factory workers employ only 17%."

MACHINERY CONQUERS FAMINE

Since recorded history began, mankind has been fighting famine. And, difficult as it may be for us to understand in well-fed America, much of the world still suffers from famine or near-famine. A survey made some time ago indicated that at least five out of every ten people in the world are ill-fed.

Why has the United States escaped the dread specter of famine?

It is not because we have the most fertile soil—our yields per acre are lower than in some other countries. It is not because we have more land—with seven per cent of the world's people we have six percent of its land area.

The answer is that we are world leaders in the all-important matter of production per farm worker. It is estimated that each of these workers produces enough food and fiber to support at least 15 persons, whereas in Colonial days 85 per cent of our working forces was needed to produce the farm crops which made possible a meager existence.

Our high production per worker, of course, is the direct result of our wide and ever-increasing use of labor-saving and money-saving farm machinery. Today each farm worker has about 33 horsepower at his command, as compared with 5.3 per cent as recently as 1920. That is why, with a fixed land area, farm production has gone up and up. And it is the way still greater production, made necessary by a swiftly growing population, will be achieved in the years ahead.

Texas State Dept. of Health

Summer with its abundance of low calorie fruits and vegetables is a good time to shed those extra pounds put on during the winter months. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states:

"People don't eat as many starchy foods which produce energy in warm weather as they do in the winter, he said, because in the summer the warmth which starchy foods give to the body is not needed.

"Green leafy and yellow vegetables and all types of fruit which are plentiful during the summer months provide an excellent, low-cost diet for the person who is overweight," Dr. Cox said. "Many of these foods can be eaten raw and are very nutritious this way provided the food is carefully washed to remove all dirt and insecticides which may be present."

Dr. Cox stressed the importance of properly storing food during the summer. He explained that certain foods such as cold cuts, cream desserts, potato salad, and sandwich spreads have a tendency to spoil quickly during hot weather. Foods of this type should be kept in the refrigerator until just before they are served.

"By using good common sense in choosing and serving the proper kinds of food, you'll feel better and have a much more enjoyable summer," Dr. Cox concluded.

Our Schools

In a series of three articles explaining the minimum program, Mr. Stilwell, a member of the original Gilmer-Aikin committee, is superintendent of Texarkana Schools, past president of the Texas State Teachers Association and chairman of its legislative committee.

By H. W. STILWELL

The minimum foundation program, under which the state has made gigantic educational strides during the past few years, was designed to serve as a bare minimum program which a local school district could build the kind of program it needs. It is only a skeleton, in other words, and plenty of leeway is left in the local districts in the matter of putting meat on the bones. The fundamental concept of the program is that the minimum program should be completed by the number of teachers actually attending the state funds, before adoption of the minimum foundation program, were distributed on the basis of population; now the number of teachers and the amount of funds are based on the daily attendance.

Attendance also determines the number of special services (librarians, nurses, physical, visiting teachers, itinerant teachers) teachers of exceptional children, supervisors, counselors and principals provided for each school. The minimum salaries for professional personnel also are a part of the minimum foundation law. A beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree receives a minimum salary of $2,403. The salary schedule calls for an increase of $54 per year for each year of experience until the top minimum for a bachelor's degree teacher, $3,051, is reached after twelve years' experience.

The minimum salary for a teacher with a master's degree is $2,628, with annual increases of $54 for each year of experience until the top minimum of $4,032 is reached after twenty-six years' experience.

Part of the basic philosophy of the minimum foundation program is to provide supervisors and counselors who are under local direction. These people are the trained specialist who are called in to help teachers with special educational problems, just as heart specialist frequently are called in to help general practitioners with medical problems.

One qualified supervisor is allowed for the first 40 classroom teachers and one additional supervisor for each additional 50 classroom teachers after that. Two or more small schools can pool their eligibility for supervisory units.

Hiring supervisors and directing their work is all done on the local level; in fact, the hiring of all personnel is done entirely by local administrators.

The Texas Educational Agency which administers the minimum foundation program, has nothing to do with the actual instructional and administrative programs of local schools, other than in providing free consultant services when requested. Control of the schools, in other words, was left by the Gilmer-Aikin laws in the hands of local school boards.

In fact, the law goes so far

Hot Weather Tips Are Useful When Marketing Hogs

A live hog weighs 200 pounds is worth more than $50 at most markets but a dead one represents a loss instead of a profit. And warns, B. T. Haws, County Agent, thousands of hogs will be dead when they reach the market unless special attention is given to making their summer trip to town a comfortable one.

He says hogs should not be disturbed prior to shipping and that loading and shipping should be done either in the morning or evening when it is cool. Never over feed prior to shipping for hot weather coupled with nervous digestion can make the trip to town costly from the standpoint of losses.

Clean, wet sand makes the best bedding and it's a good idea to give the sand an extra wetting after loading. Check the truck to make sure there is sufficient ventilation to prevent suffocation but watch for heavy wind drafts which will cause the hogs to pile up.

Load the hogs slowly and quietly driving them with a broom or a canvas slapper. Never use a whip, club or cane, for bruises are expensive.

While in transit, the hogs should be checked at least once per hour. Fast or reckless driving gains little time and is seldom worth the price that is often paid.

The important thing, says Haws, is to get the hogs to market in top condition. Dead hogs can take the profit from an entire shipment. And finally, don't overload. The few extra head crowded into the truck may prove to be very expensive passengers.

as to state specifically that all educational functions not specifically delegated to the Texas Education Agency by the Legislature shall be performed by local school boards. The law actually guarantees local control of schools instead of leaving school control to be determined by financing.

Mrs. Jim Tombs of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Paton Huff and Lee Allen of Vernon, and Mrs. Coreen Frazier, Gloria and Pat Aaron of Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Waggoner and son of Electra, have all been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Prechel and Karen this past week.

VETERANS Administration 603 B Main Street Dallas, Texas Questions and Answers

Q—I'm a Korean veteran with a service connected disability and I'm thinking of taking out a term GI insurance policy. May I convert this policy later to a permanent plan of GI insurance?

A—There are two types of term policies available to post-Korea veterans. One is primarily for the non-disabled and is not convertible. The other is only for the disabled and is convertible. If you get the latter, you may convert it to a permanent plan later.

Q—I am still in the Army and covered by free $10,000 protection against death. If I should die under this protection, I'm told the money would have to be paid to my brother who is my sole living kin. What I want to know is if I take out GI insurance after my discharge, will I have to name my brother as beneficiary?

A—No. Under your post-service GI insurance policy, you may name any person or persons, firm, corporation, or your estate as the beneficiary or beneficiaries.

Q—I have a GI insurance policy and I have named my wife as beneficiary to receive the money in a lump sum upon my death. Will she be bound by that condition or may she choose to receive the money in monthly installments?

A—She will have the choice of accepting the money in a lump sum or of receiving it on a monthly installment basis under any one of three different installment options.

Mrs. F. S. Shofner and her three children of Houston, Tex. are visiting in the home of Mrs. Shofner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Magers, this week.

How Cool CAN COOKING BE?

You can be as cool in your kitchen as in any other room of your home when you cook electrically. Surface cooking units are in direct contact with utensils, so heat goes into the food being cooked and very little escapes into the kitchen. You stay cool, too, when cooking in the oven, for the oven of a modern electric range is insulated to seal in the heat... cook food economically without wasted heat.

By Mrs. C. O. Woodley

Floyd Wagstaff named these players to the Texas Oil Bowl squad because they are among the cream of the crop of state schoolboy football.

Norman, 18, weighs 185 lbs and stretches 6 feet 3 inches. He was a fine defensive left half-back and crack offensive end. Gee is 17 weighs 197, is 6 feet 2 1/2 inches tall and was a key Burkburnett player.

McCrary, 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, was dated the top passer in northwest Texas high school football in 1952. He also was a dangerous runner. Stanford's Lows, 17, 5 feet, 10 inches, 180 pounds, was a triple threat star and captain of his team.

Morris is a 6 foot, 160 pound stellar runner and passer, having led Seymour to the 2A-4 title in 1952 in an upset over Quannah, 14-12. Roberts and Maroney teamed to give the Wichita Falls Coyotes a strong one-two punch and Livingston was a bulwark in the line.

Oil Bowl game tickets are on sale at Maskat Temple, Eleventh and Lamar, Wichita Falls.

Most Accidents In And Around Water Can Be Prevented

No one ever goes for a swim or participates in water sports with the idea in mind of becoming an accident victim. Water sports can provide relief from the heat and pleasure to the participants if the rules of water are observed. Ignoring these rules, on the other hand, can result in crippling injuries or death.

Leonard Luckett, Chairman of Wichita County 4-H Safety Council.

The number of drownings is in proportion to the care that is exercised by those who participate in water sports. He points out that if the seven cardinal water safety rules are followed closely, water accidents can be greatly reduced.

Here are the safety rules. Never swim alone or in unfamiliar water. Don't try to swim long distances, especially in cold water, unless followed by at least two people in a boat.

Young Peach Tree Produces Excellent Fruit First Time

Mr. W. D. Peyton, who lives west of Meadow Lane, is very proud of one of his peach trees this year. He brought some free stone peaches by the Star office this week and three of the peaches weighed over a pound and a half. The peaches came from a three year old tree and this is its first year to bear. He stated that there were about 26 peaches on the tree. The tree came from the Wolfe Nursery.

Form National Safety Council

The straight and narrow path can lead to trouble!

Seventy-seven per cent of the fatal motor vehicle accidents last year occurred on straight roads, according to the 1953 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook.

Unfavorable road conditions, such as a wet, muddy snowy or icy surface, were reported in only one out of five fatal accidents.
