CLEAN, LOW LINES SPARK CHEVROLET BEAUTY

Chevrolet stylists have taken full advantage of nine inches in wheel length to mold low, fleet beauty into their 1958 models, as shown by this view of the Bel Air sport sedan. Strong eye-appeal is found in the modish grille, the dual headlamps and low, flat hood.

Notable also is an unusual Sculpturamic styling which supplies an air of distinction. A new engine, new frame and two new suspension systems are only a few of the major chassis advances. Station Wagon, Bel Air, Biscayne and Delray Series are offered.

Bill Turnbow Making Good At Lubbock Tech

Word comes from the athletic department at Lubbock Tech that big Bill Turnbow of Burkburnett is making good on the Red Raiders football team.

Bill wears No. 52 jersey. He is 6' 2", weighs 205 lbs., is 19 years old and a sophomore.

The news release says in part: "We finally won a game—28-6 over Arizona in Tucson Saturday night. Center Bill Turnbow made the hardest tackle of the night, knocking down Arizona safety man Jim Tate, a 9-6 hunched runner, before he could get started, on a punt return. Also, Turnbow started the Raiders toward their first touchdown. Tate was jarred loose from the ball on a good run and Turnbow caught the ball in mid-air, returning it to midfield."

Tech will have homecoming Saturday, Nov. 9th, beginning at 2 P. M. They will be hosts to Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla.

MARK TWAIN'S STORY OF THE READING SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper. One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad luck.

Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck or bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in The Burkburnett Star. We invite you to use The Burkburnett Star to tell our readers what you have to sell, how much it costs, and the terms which are available.

The push-button Torque-Flite transmission is an added convenience, and the safety Torsion-Aire ride is standard on all models.

Significant advances in safety engineering, fuel economy, and engine performance, plus dramatic "Swept-Wing" styling, distinguish the 1958 Dodge passenger cars, which will make their debut in dealer showrooms early in November.

The all new Ram Fire V-8 engine for top economy and performance, as well as quiet operation, heads a long list of important engineering features of Swept-Wing '58. Among these is the "Sure Grip" differential, which provides pulling power to the rear wheel with the most traction, eliminating wheel spinning on ice or snow or in sand and mud.

Dual Headlight Styling
Dual headlights, mounted side by side under bold fender hoods provide greater safety for after dark driving, and set the pace for Dodge swept-wing styling. A strikingly different stainless steel grille design complements the dual headlight styling.

Looking over the low hood of all 1958 Dodge convertibles and Lancer hardtops is the compound-curvature "picture" windshield, which offers true control tower visibility and blends fashionably with the fast lines of Dodge sports models.

New interior and exterior colors and fabrics are available on all 1958 Dodge models.

Offered this year as a single safety package on the 1958 are the completely new, full time Constant Control steering, Total Contact floating shoe power brakes, padded dashboard and padded sun visors. Other safety features include Life Guard safety door latches and safety door handles, both designed to secure doors against accidental opening.

An added safety and comfort feature is Torsion-Aire suspension, regarded as the most modern of any American design. The torsion bar system, combined with an extremely low center of gravity, gives a smoother more controlled ride.

Torque Flite automatic transmission is available on all Dodge V-8 models, while Power Flite is offered on all 1958 Dodge Coronets models.

The Dodge line consists of the Coronet, Royal, Custom Royal and station wagon series.

The Flu Epidemic

It is generally expected that Asian flu will reach epidemic proportions in this country this fall or winter. But there is no cause for panic or wild fears. The illness is of short duration, is generally mild, has few complications, and has a very low mortality rate. An effective vaccine (safe except for patients with a known allergy to eggs) has been developed, and the supply will gradually increase.

In this connection, the American Medical Association has made an important statement, asking for the cooperation of American business and industry. If the expected epidemic materializes, business firms will experience a marked increase in absenteeism. Even so, the AMA emphasizes, industry "should not get panicky and rush into a program of mass inoculation for its employees until essential priority groups in the community have been inoculated." First priority on available vaccine should go to those persons vital to the community, such as health, police, fire, communications, transportation and utility personnel, and to those who, in the opinion of physicians, constitute a special medical risk. Individual physicians are urged to adhere to local priority systems, which may vary from place to place for one valid reason or another.

As for those who get Asian flu, the AMA points out that there is no specific treatment. Bed rest and fluids are necessary. All patients should be isolated so far as it is convenient. And during the acute stage of the disease, the patient should not be allowed visitors.

Germany Re-enacts A Story

West Germany is the leading industry nation of Europe, the world's largest exporter of automobiles and is possessed of a currency so sound that she has served as a banker for two of the victorious nations of World War II, Great Britain and France.

East Germany, under the iron-bound control of Communism, still lies in ruin, hunger and poverty, although Germans with the same skills and abilities to work hard live there.

The key point accounting for this difference is that for the past nine years West Germany has followed an aggressive free-enterprise policy and taken advantage of the tremendous constructive force of private initiative backed by the assurance of profit from successful ventures. Timed to come at approximately the same period as drastic currency reform, nearly all the rationing and myriad government controls which had shackled the West German economy were lifted at one stroke in mid 1948. In the words of U. S. News and World Report: "The combination worked wonders from the start. There was an immediate surge in business activity. Overnight, empty shops were filled with commodities that before had been hoarded or hidden for barter deals. Money once again had meaning. A free market guided prices to more realistic levels. Debts had been reduced by 90 percent. A policy of sound money received priority.

"Sound money in a free market that determines prices were basic to the whole story of West Germany recovery."

The contrast between conditions in East and West Germany could hardly be more startling. In capsule form, with a new setting and different characters, this divided country has in a few years time, re-enacted the story of America's development as contrasted with the countries of the old world. The story of the two Germanys proves once again that with the suitable ground rules everyone benefits most when individuals are allowed the freedom, opportunity and incentive to work out their own problems. This is a lesson which should be taken to heart by every American and acted upon before the principals of individual freedom, responsibility and opportunity, which built this country are comprised too severely.

Unusual Merit

A bill which is strongly supported by both parties in Congress, including the liberal and conservative wings of those parties, obviously has unusual merit. That was the case with a measure which was approved in the closing hours of the first session of the current Congress. Its purpose is to protect the files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation—a protection which J. Edgar Hoover and other authorities regard as absolutely vital if this Bureau is to continue to deal with subversion and other grave crimes.

Need for such a bill was brought about by a supreme Court decision and a subsequent series of decisions by lower federal courts. Under precedents thus established, the government could be forced to open all its files on demand of the defense. In the case of the FBI, this meant that its sources of information and methods of investigation would become known to all—to the vast benefit of criminals. It also meant that serious harm might be done to innocent people if the contents of its "raw" or unedited files which naturally contain unproven rumors and charges, were made public.

The matter was a very delicate one. On the one hand, it was necessary to protect defendants from proceedings of a Star Chamber nature. On the other hand, it was necessary to save the FBI from potential disaster. The new bill is designed to attain both objectives. It states that defendants are entitled only to report relevant to a witness' testimony. Then it authorizes trial judges to examine wanted reports, and to decide which parts should legitimately be given to the defense.

Here is a bill which is really in the public interest.

We have been very busily engaged this week getting ready for the old Halloween Witch, who will ride forth in a very few days. It takes a lot of work to make a good landing field for old Black Creepy to make a smooth landing for a beginning of a great night. Be very careful that night that gates are left open and all chairs removed from regular paths that Creepy might take during her regular rounds. Old Creepy will be out to frighten all the Elves and waifs into winter quarters and will be in need of all the help and assistance from all good boys and girls. Be sure that you stay close to the house on the 31st, or you might be hustled off to winter land for a long wait until snow melts in the spring.

We have had a lot of boys and girls out of school this week with the "Flu". We are hoping that everyone will be back in school in short order and full of the old spirit that will help each one carry on with full colors.

Truck Driver Dies At Wheel At Burk

The driver of an automobile-transport truck died at the wheel of his truck Wednesday afternoon on State Highway 240 between here and Vernon.

Pronounced dead at the scene was Ernest Conway Hutto, 45, of Dallas.

He apparently suffered a heart attack about 4:55 p. m. a mile south of here. His transport truck veered out of control from one side of the road to the other and finally stopped in a ditch.

No other vehicles were involved in the accident and only one automobile was atop the van when Hutto suffered the seizure. He had just unloaded a number of vehicles at an automobile dealership here before leaving for Vernon.

Peace Justice F. E. Cruce ordered an autopsy and the body was taken by Owen and Brumley Funeral Home ambulance to Wichita Falls General Hospital in Wichita Falls for the post mortem.

State Highway Patrolmen M. W. Crigler investigated.

Owen and Brumley Funeral Home in Wichita Falls will have charge of the body pending arrival of relatives from Dallas.

Hutto was an employee of Auto Convoy Company out of Dallas.

Burkburnett Edges Jacksboro, 28-14

Doyce Walker proved a hot item here Friday night as he paced his Burkburnett teammates to a 28-14 District 2A-9 triumph over Jacksboro in a game unreeling in frigid temperature before a slim gathering.

Walker, a 200-pound tailback in the Bulldog single wing attack, ran with brute-like force as he accumulated 160 yards in 16 carries while scoring once on a 57-yard gallop off tackle. Adding to his offensive brilliance, Walker passed for a counter in the final quarter to End Charles Darter. This was a 31 yard scoring maneuver.

But there were other standouts in the Burk camp. Richard Hinkle and Gary Jennings were constant threats to the Tigers with their quick bursts into the line. Each of the speed merchants tallied for the Bulldogs, who now stand 5-2 in season's play. Jacksboro owns a 4-3 mark for the campaign.

Oddly enough, the Tigers found paydirt first in the initial stanza. Wingback Tub Mathis, cracked over from the one to climax a seven-play 57 yard drive. Quarterback Hoyt Franklin split the uprights and the Tigers found themselves out front, 7-0, with 7:38 left in the period.

Then Burk came surging back after an exchange of fumbles gave the Bulldogs possession on their own 41. Once again the magic number was seven as the host club used that many plays in eating up the required distance. Hinkle went the final 26 yards after taking a delayed handoff. Guard Johnny Veach hit the first of his four conversions, and matters were even at 7-7.

Second quarter action found Burk in control throughout. Walker broke loose for his long scamper to put the winners ahead to stay early in the quarter. Just before intermission Jennings exploded off tackle for five yards to cap a 76-yard push. Veach's conversion gave Burk a 21-7 halftime cushion.

Surging 55 yards in ground-consuming plays, the Tigers narrowed the deficit to 21-14 as the final seconds ticked away in the third period.

Mitchell Patrick carried the brunt of the attack during this drive. His 13-yard pass to End Brooks Bowen turned out to be the big gainer during the march. The touchdown came on a 10-yard aerial from Franklin to End Charles Smith. Franklin goaled and the score read 21-14 entering the fourth period.

Taking advantage of a short Jacksboro punt, the Bulldogs drove 41 yards for their final marker. Walker's heave to Darter proved the payoff and Veach calmly converted.

Jacksboro tried desperation passes in the closing seconds, but the effort went to no avail.

Defensive standouts were numerous. For Jacksboro, Center Buck Henderson, Guard Jerry Cunningham and Tackle Sid Freeman each sparked in the Burk side. Guard Johnny Veach and Tackle Cleve Christian were outstanding.

Daniel Urges Voters To Okay Proposal 3 On November 5th

Gov. Price Daniel today urged all eligible Texans to go to the polls on Nov. 5th and vote for the water development amendment, which is Proposal Number 3 on the ballot.

The urgent need of dams and reservoirs in the state is evident to everyone, Daniel stated. Proposal No. 3 will make possible such projects. It is a self-financing plan and the water amendment does not call for and will not necessitate any tax.

Daniel pointed out that all of the state's public officials are backing the proposal. "Furthermore the amendment has been endorsed by a multitude of state associations and other organizations, newspapers, manufacturers and chambers of commerce."

Actively supporting the water amendment are the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, West Texas C of C, South Texas C of C, Rio Grande Valley C of C, the AFL-CIO, and the Texas Manufacturers Association.

"Here is Texas' opportunity of a lifetime," the governor said. "Here at our finger tips is a potential $60,000,000 for water projects to be paid out of revenues."

Texas chief executive also cited the flood damages and the tremendous loss of lives and property that have resulted from uncontrolled waters.

"Why should Texans continue to suffer millions of dollars in property damage every year? Why should good water that can be used by cities, by industries and by agriculture be allowed to flow unrestricted off our rich lands and on into the Gulf of Mexico?"

"The recreational advantages that would follow the addition of more lakes and reservoirs naturally will be of interest to hunting and fishing enthusiasts as well as those who enjoy boating and other outdoor sports, but most important to the State are the financial aspects of the program. And they are vitally important," Daniel stated.

Then, as if to answer all questions, he summed up his remarks with the statement that "the water development amendment, which is third on the Nov. 5th ballot, is a once in a lifetime opportunity for Texas and all Texans to have what is greatly needed and without taxes. For this is a self financing program that not only will pay itself out, but eventually may mean millions of dollars in revenue to the state."

While discussing the water amendment the Governor also tossed in his recommendations of the other two proposals appearing on the Nov. 5th ballot.

It is my sincere hope, he concluded, that Texas voters also will approve the two other proposals, the old age pension increase and the state employees retirement plan.

Daniel will make a statewide TV and radio broadcast on the night of Nov. 4th in support of all three amendments.

He will make a special broadcast to the aged citizens of Texas, in behalf of the old age pension measure on Friday afternoon, Nov. 1st and will urge all to go to the polls and cast their vote for all three amendments.

SECTION 7-1
 Our 7-1 room has had its share of students out with the flu but they are nearly all back. We had only 2 absent by the end of the week. In addition to all of our illness Larry Schumann and Dwight Long got over enthusiastic in gym and collided. Larry got a broken nose and 2 stitches in it, Dwight got a slight cut over his eye.
 We lost one pupil this week. Bobby Walker, who came to Burkburnett three weeks ago from Quanah, has now moved with her family to Munday. We are unhappy that she has to move, but we hope she makes many new friends in her new school.

The flu bug struck eight of our students this week. Gary Fuller, Paige Miller, Albert Teeter, Nancy Darter, Kay Bruner, Patsy Groves, Carol Turner, and Carmen Ware were absent three or more days during the past week.

SECTION 8-3
 The 8-3 members of the football team are taking advantage of the open date caused by the cancellation of the Decatur game on Oct. 24th, to recuperate from the flu and get ready for the last scheduled game of the season on Nov. 7th, with Electra as the opposer.

News From The HD Agent

Save yourself personal injuries, fires and damage by learning to recognize signs household appliances give when they are not performing as they should. Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent points out these warning signals:

Dimming of house lights or slowing of heating appliances when motors start may mean that the circuits are overloaded. This could cause a fire.

When a fuse blows the circuit may be overloaded or there may be a short in the appliance. Chances are too many appliances are on the circuit at one time. Be sure the fuse is the right one for size of wiring. If the fuse will let more power through than the wiring can safely carry, it is not a safety device. Overheated wires, damaged motors and fires can result if the wrong fuse is used.

"On-off" blinking periods usually mean there's a loose connection somewhere in the appliance. May not be serious, but it should be repaired before a more serious problem develops. "Tingle" or slight shock when handling an appliance or switch is a sign that trouble's brewing. Inspect for loose wires or damaged insulation.

Crumbling of rubber insulation on lamp or appliance cords can eventually expose electric wires. This can cause a short-circuit, or make metal lamp bases a serious shock hazard. Replace worn cords with new ones. Keep these danger signs in mind. Act when they occur.

The Hardin HD club, where Mrs. W. R. Stimpson is president.

has done some extra work on "Safety in the Home." This is time well spent for all clubs and individuals.

Here's a solution that will cut greasy film and make your windows sparkle. Take 6 quarts of warm water and 1-4 cup household ammonia and 1-2 cup of white vinegar. Apply with a sponge, rinse and polish with a chamois or piece of an old sheet. The vinegar and ammonia will cut the dust on the windows.

New types of cleaning mops almost do a job single-handed. New foam rubber mops wring themselves almost dry for sudsing floors, walls or windows with dripping moisture. The lever you flick to make the mop wring itself is set conveniently high on the handle so that your hands never touch the water.

These foam rubber mops do a good waxing job, too. And what is easier to clean than a mop you can dunk in suds and rinse water with neatness and dispatch. It's quick drying, too, since it wrings itself so efficiently.

examples of the industry's new are of sculpturam styling. The rearward treatment also is unique. Avoiding sharp fin protrusion, rear fender lines sweep outward from the body, then curl around the tail light ensemble to form a shape which stylists likened to a graceful gull-wing in flight.

Chevrolet is quick to explain that the longer, lower lines of the 1958's were not inspired alone by a desire for beauty. The form complements advances in chassis engineering that promise to heighten immeasurably driving and riding enjoyment.

Important in the broad gains along the mechanical front is the adoption of coil springs at the rear wheels as a standard fixture. Long a front-end feature on Chevrolets, the coils cushion shocks far better than previous suspension systems.

As optional equipment, the company additionally pioneers in its field a new "level air" suspension, employing for the first time rubber bellows at all four wheels. Through an interconnected air supply and exhaust system with leveling valves, this suspension assures precisely the same resistance to shock regardless of car load.

Another distinct contribution to comfort is an X-shaped, wasp-waist frame. The frame is 30 percent more rigid. Frame brackets permit the mounting of shock absorbers to the frame rather than the underbody. It makes possible added leg room without sacrifice in road clearance. As a fourth advantage, the design lends itself to greater integration with the body design.

The new Turbo-Thrust engine is still another highspot that illustrates the magnitude of the engineering job behind the 1958 Chevrolets. Predominant is a completely new combustion chamber design which assures uniform combustion. The shape of the chamber, located entirely in the cylinder block, permits positioning of the larger valves for high volumetric efficiency.

The new engine is one of five V8's and a six cylinder carried in the new line. Ramjet fuel injection which Chevrolet introduced last year, is again offered as an option on the 283 cubic inch V8. Automatic Turboglide, Powerglide, an improved three-speed SynchroMesh and the over drive are again available. Totalled, Chevrolet gives the buyer his pick of 18 power trains.

More than ever before in its price area, Chevrolet has fitted body interiors in accord with the exterior distinction of each series. For example, each series has its own steering wheel. Each has exclusive upholstery fabrics and paneling, with special luxury reserved for the Impalas.

The basic instrument panel is new, extending rearward into the sides of the body. Major instruments are grouped in separate housings. The speedometer is oblong and spans the entire cluster.

Cowl-slotted ventilation is increased 10 percent in capacity over the earlier plenum chamber design. Rearward slanting windshields give more visibility. The center pillars of standard sedans are slimmer, adding a sporty touch. Tailgates of station wagons are hinged higher in the roofs, affording easier loading. Windshield wipers on all V8's are electrical and the mechanism is mounted in the cowl chamber for added quietness.

Like the design of the cars, the twin-headlamps have utility in addition to appearance value. City and country driving light reflectors and beams can be focused for their specific responsibilities. The result is up to 100 feet more illumination on low beam and safer night time driving.

Faster steering is the result of mounting the Ball-race steering linkage in front of the wheels. All cars have foot-operated parking brakes. A new tube on center radiator of superior quality has been installed. Engine mountings at three vibration-absorbing points are new.

Clutches have profited from exhaustive research and a new design. Generator capacities have been boosted 20 percent to compensate for dual headlights. Interesting is a two piece propeller shaft design which allows the front section to assume a specified angularity with the transmission while the rear section is free to follow rear axle movements.

The design employs sturdy coil springs and has control arms extending from the frame to the axle in a geometrical pattern that maintains consistent alignment. Lower control arms at each wheel are pivotally anchored at their forward end to frame brackets and at the rear to axle brackets. A single U-shaped upper control arm is pivotally mounted at the rear axle housing and curves upward to frame side member brackets. Shock absorbers are located between the rear section of the lower control arms and the frame.

In action, the lower control arms receive both the vertical displacement of highway bumps and the braking and driving thrusts of the axle. These vertical forces are transmitted directly to the coil springs for absorption. The upper control arm is primarily responsible for lateral stability during cornering, and restricts driveline and axle windup so the transmission of power from engine to wheels is smooth and quiet.

Inherent in the system is a reduction of rear-end vertical displacement during acceleration and stopping. Tests show that squat and lift are virtually eliminated.

Air suspension, in effect, Chevrolet's new "Level Air" suspension automatically adjusts vehicle height through air spring leveling valves so that springing characteristics are uniform regardless of load or load location.

Basically, the suspension is engineered to capitalize on the well known cushioning and damping properties of air. However, the necessity for valving action and the objective of keeping pressure constant at a preset level requires a system of air lines.

"Level Air" mechanically consists of an air cleaner with alcohol receptacle (to prevent icing in cold weather), a compressor, a high pressure accumulator, air line junction block, a bellows and reservoir at each wheel, leveling valves and air lines.

A metered amount of air is taken from the atmosphere thru the alcohol to the compressor and stored in the accumulator. A high pressure line leads from the accumulator to the junction block which serves as a manifold for feeder and exhaust lines. Air lines from the block form a continuous circuit through the bell-shaped air spring housing, where valving controls interior pressures. Air is forced into the system only when the exhaust chamber of the junction block lacks sufficient pressure.

When a passenger enters the car or for any other reason the load is increased, air spurts into the reservoir and pressure rises in the system to maintain adequate ride clearance under all conditions. Pressures are conversely reduced when load diminishes.

The pillowing effect of air in the bellows and the benefit of uniform springing characteristics combine to produce what Chevrolet acclaims "one of the most impressive advances in ride qualities in automotive history."

Texas Man Goes Home With Tall Tale Of Elusive Buck

(Editor's note: The following article was published in a newspaper at Craig, Colo., recently and concerns a local couple.)

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wright, of Burkburnett, Tex., returned home Monday, after filling their big game license, but Mr. Wright returns to Texas with a tall tale to tell about the big buck that got away.

Mr. Wright was hunting in the Powder Wash area Friday with his brother-in-law, Rene Miles. He downed a nice five point buck and both men went to the animal, examined him and found him quite lifeless. Mr. Miles then went to the jeep to get a pistol to complete the kill. Miles was just taking aim when the buck rudely jumped up and ran away. The last the two hunters saw of the five-point animal he was bounding over a ridge beyond shooting range. The Wrights however weren't discouraged and continued to hunt until they succeed in taking their game.

The buck that got away was shot in the chest, between the front legs.

Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Miles are sisters. The Texas couple spent last week in Craig as house guests of the Miles family.
