'58 Rodeo Dates June 18, 19, 20

Floyd Marten and his general rodeo committee have set the 1958 rodeo dates for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, June 18-19-20.

Many details must be attended to before a final date can be set. First, the rodeo bucking stock must be arranged for. Then one must find an announcer who can appear on that date, and all the clowns and specialty acts engaged. Then, the date should not conflict with another rodeo going on in the immediate vicinity, or the best cowboys might not be present in sufficient numbers to make a top notch show. Burk Burnett has always been fortunate in having 100 or more of the rodeo circuit's top ranking cowboys present to contest in the various events.

W. H. Holt Retires With 40 Years Service With Cicero Smith Lbr. Co.

February first marked the retirement of a long time employee of the Cicero Smith Lumber Co., from service. On that date W. H. (Buck) Holt, local manager in Burk Burnett since 1950 ended a total of forty years in the lumber business, all of which, except for a year and a half with the present Company.

He has served as Manager of three Cicero Smith yards. He was in charge of the yard at Harrold, Texas, for twenty years, at Kamay for twelve years, and now at Burk Burnett for eight years.

During this long period of association with the lumber industry Mr. Holt stated that he had never missed a single pay check nor been docked a single day. A rather remarkable record.

Previous to entering the lumber business Mr. Holt spent a year in the Army during World War I and taught school for six years, as Principal of Bridgeport, Texas, High and four years as Superintendent of schools in Harrold, from which position he entered the lumber trade.

Mr. Holt has been a member of the Methodist Church for over forty years, has taught classes for some thirty years and was Sunday School Superintendent at the time of his removal to Burk Burnett. He served for thirty years as a member of the school board at Harrold. In 1947 Mr. Holt's long service on the board was signally recognized in the Dedication of the High School Annual "The Hornet" in his honor. He cherishes above all the many honors bestowed upon him in the inscription which reads "To Mr. W. H. Holt, in recognition of his having served faithfully and efficiently as Secretary of the Harrold Board of Education for the past twenty-seven years, and in appreciation of his services to the Youth and to the Community, we, the faculty and students of Harrold High School, wish to dedicate the 1947 "Hornet."

One of Mr. Holt's most recent honors was the gift of a hand-somely engraved wrist watch by members of the Fellowship Class of the Burk Burnett Methodist Church. A class which he had taught for seven years. Mr. and Mrs. Holt were married on Dec. 23rd, 1918, and have four children all married. They plan to continue making their home in Burk Burnett.

Mr. Buddy Byars, a Burk Burnett citizen for a number of years and presently associated with the Company, is Mr. Holt's successor as manager of the local yard.

Bulldogs Host Big Pasture Saturday

In a game of great spectator interest, Burk Burnett plays host to Big Pasture in a non-conference tussle. The Bulldogs will seek revenge for a 60-59 defeat which was handed them at Randlett in December.

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs chalked up three victories last week to bring their seasonal record to 15 wins and 6 losses. The Dogs are in second place in the district 2A-9 race with 7 victories and 2 defeats.

Jerry Shaw's 15 points high-lighted Burk's 51-37 win over Electra. This win gave the Dogs a firm hold on second place.

The next Bulldog victory was a 61-51 win over Nocona. Doyce Walker pumped in 27 points to pace Burk.

Tuesday night the Bulldogs smashed Jacksboro 62-39. Gary Jennings led the Bulldogs attack with 19 points.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

LAS CRUSES, N. M. CITIZEN: "If you drive a car, there is no better resolution you can make than to drive safely throughout the year. If you are unwilling to take that responsibility, you have no right to drive. And if you won't take the responsibility, your chances of being among the dead in highway accidents are good."

ALAMEDA, CALIF., TIMES STAR: "Governor Goodwin J. Knight pointed to California's many contributions to nuclear knowledge—the development of the original cyclotron by Dr. Ernest Lawrence; the UC radiation laboratory at Berkeley, the AEC installation at Livermore; the Mare Island atomic submarine construction. But of all our mighty achievements, the most significant, the most heartening must be the fact that private industry's reactor and power generator have been pumping 5000 kilowatts of atomic electricity into the kitchens and factories, the living rooms and shops of this state."

BARTOW, FLA., DEMOCRAT: "Grank Gannett, one of the better known publishers of the United States, died the other day, and included in his will a comment to the effect that he felt a deep concern over the freedom of the press—referring, of course to the growing trend among public officials to refuse to give news papers information to which the public is entitled—a continuance or enhancement of such a policy, wrote Gannett in his will, will void freedom of expression and democracy will perish."

COLFAX, IOWA, TRIBUNE: "Since Russia sent up their 'Sputnik' the general public has become hysterical in their demand for more engineers and scientists. They may be needed, we are too far down the line to say, but a report from the National Society of Professional Engineers states that today in the layoffs caused by a cutback in defense budgets, more than 1000 engineers are looking for jobs. There is and always will be the need and demand for well educated and well trained individuals, but we should not go overboard in one particular field. Let's just try and raise the standard in every department."

BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "A friend of ours used to stay in trim by scattering a handful of pennies in his bedroom every morning and stooping for them. Now he's getting fat, says there's no incentive in it anymore. He's going to try dimes next week."

Eisenhower Embraces Deficit Financing

From The Houston Chronicle

President Eisenhower, who made an issue of deficit spending in his 1952 and 1956 campaigns, has come out for red ink.

Not for red ink as a policy, understand. The President hasn't officially joined that school of "economists" who hold that sometimes the government ought to run in the red deliberately. What he said is that he prefers deficit financing to a tax increase.

One or the other certainly will have to be restored to during the remainder of this fiscal year and next, and probably for some year to come, if Military costs increase as they apparently are going to, and the government does not cut down expenditures elsewhere.

The President has fought against deficit spending with commendable success, in the past. He inherited tremendous spending obligations from the Truman administration. He finally achieved budget balance and a surplus was anticipated for this year, until the sputniks went up.

But now the President, who has repeatedly pointed out that federal deficits "have been a main cause of the cheapening of our dollar by half its value" and warned that continued inflation would be disastrous, embraces deficit financing as the lesser of two evils.

What he ignores is the fact that there is a third way out. The federal government can hold the line against any new or increased spending programs except those essential for defense. It can effect huge economies—first and foremost in the defense budget itself. And it can divest itself of a few billions of dollars worth of government businesses of various kinds and other property. It can stay in the black this year and probably next, if it will do these things.

Guns Slathered With Butter

The old saying about having our cake and eating it too has taken on a new and deep significance.

There is no doubt whatsoever that military spending is due for a big jump—perhaps much bigger than the President indicated in his budget message. And, along with this, there is considerable doubt whether non-defense spending will be materially reduced in any direction.

Those who want the government to everlastingly take on more and more responsibilities, at everlastingly increasing costs, are mobilizing now. A last ditch fight will be made to get maximum appropriations for welfare, grants to states, socialized power projects, greater farm subsidies, pork-barrels as usual, and all manner of handouts.

If this fight is successful, the nation will face two choices. One is higher taxes on top of already staggering taxes. The other is deficit financing and a further cheapening of the dollar—that is, more inflation.

This isn't a question of whether we shall have guns or butter. It's a question of whether vast gobs of political butter will be slathered onto the guns. Economic undermining of this country would serve the Soviets as surely as military undermining. Never did a Congress, an Administration or the people face plainer facts. Will they recognize them and act accordingly or will they continue on the road to bankruptcy via inflation?

Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District News

Ralph E. Swinford, Cooper-Freiberg Community farmer living eight miles north of Wichita Falls, has been selected as outstanding conservation farmer in Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District during 1935.

Swinford will be honored at the annual banquet of Champions in April at Wichita Falls, LaBe stated.

Swinford's work consists of construction and seeding of two waterways, proper use of range land, deferred grazing, weed control by mowing, cross-fencing farm ponds, four and one-half miles of terraces, contour tillage, fertilizing legumes in rotation, more than one-half of cropland has been seeded to legumes each year during recent years, flat pond management, and stubble mulch tillage.

Soil Conservation District records show that his conservation plan has been completely established.

About 220 acres of land is rented and all rented pastureland has received the same management as land owned, and a waterway has been established prior to terracing. Swinford hopes to get the land terraced this year.

Swinford's conservation work does not stop with the land he is farming. Mr. and Mrs. Swinford are leaders in Cooper-Freiberg community. Cooper-Freiberg has placed high in all Rural Neighborhood contests since its organization. Swinford has been an active member of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors since October of 1934 and has not missed attending a regular meeting. He is active in field days and tours sponsored by the district, the Wichita Falls Farm and Ranch club and the community.

Awards for Ralph Swinford are not new but rather continue to honor and pay tribute to his outstanding farming and community efforts. He was a master Farm Family in 1934, grand pasture and range in Bridewell.

The agreement between the United States and Russia, signed this week is, I believe one of the most important events of many years. It is an agreement to speed exchanges of persons, movies, and radio-television broadcasts between this Nation and Russia. Weapons alone hold no security for the United States or any other country. The best we can hope for from the intercontinental ballistic missile or any other weapon is a stalemate. We must have these weapons because a stalemate is better than defeat. But we would be fooling ourselves if we thought they could bring us anything beyond a stalemate. True security will come only when war is no longer an instrument of national policy. We must be realistic. I have little faith in outlawing war as an instrument of national policy merely through acts of aggression or of specific weapons. The non-aggression pact that was in fashion before World War II did not prevent war. Effort to outlaw war must be accompanied by positive steps to bring people together in cooperation. When people work together to face a great challenge they tend to lose their suspicion of each other. They become absorbed in the task before them and fighting as an instrument of policy fades from the picture. A great opportunity, in my opinion, is therefore afforded us by the present situation. There are positive steps that we can take in concert with the other nations of the world to face the great challenge presented by outer space. These steps cannot be taken overnight. Making a reality of the open curtain policy, which I advocated last July after Russia's Khrushchev had appeared on television screens throughout the country, will require careful preparation. It is an effort that deserves the best we have. For there is a great need for bringing the people of the world to a point that they can at least talk to each other. The barriers of suspicion and distrust will not be broken down by this agreement alone. We cannot expect the agreement signed this week between the United States and Russia will solve the manifold problems of a war weary world. But it is an essential first step, the beginning of a beginning. We have to take these steps one at a time. Letters from Texas indicate to me that our people are aware of the dangers facing us, and that they are confident of our national will and ability to face those dangers squarely and cope with them realistically. As is to be expected, Texans are concerned but not panicky. We must bring security out of danger. We must bring lasting peace out of peril. That is the two-fold challenge facing our Nation today.

Every farm home needs a good windbreak planting that will afford protection from the cold winter winds, prevent snow from piling up around the buildings and lots and generally make a more pleasant and comfortable place in which to live and work.

Polio Plummet

Best news from the State Health Dept. recently is the 1957 polio figures, lowest in a decade.

Total for 1957 was 734 cases, just over half the 1956 total 1,307 and less than one fourth the peak year of 1952 of 3,984.

Department officials said they expect a continued but gradual decline as more people take the vaccine. Shots are not likely ever to stamp out the disease completely, they said, since the vaccine does not prevent non-paralytic polio.

Come and See Us—

Texans can garner many millions in out of state dollars by learning to be good hosts to tourists.

Said Tom Taylor, manager of information and statistics for the State Highway Department, "The tourists industry is one of the easiest in the world to promote. Every community has something to offer. But many Texans don't know enough about their own communities to give directions."

Considering the scarcity of promotion, said Taylor in a speech to the Texas Motor Transportation Association, it was surprising to note that Texas is fifth among the states in number of tourists. It was a $500,000,000 industry in 1957, bringing Texans more income than cotton, cattle and wheat combined.

But Taylor noted, competition from other states is getting stiffer, and Texans will have to work harder to get out of states to spend their vacation money here.

At age 20 we don't care what the world thinks of us; at 30 we begin to worry what it thinks of us; at 50 we find it wasn't thinking of us at all.

News From The County Agent

The seventh annual Texas Agricultural Aviation Conference and Pest Control Short course will be held at Texas A and M college on Feb. 16-18th.

Turkey prices the first half of 1958 will be dominated by the large storage stock on hand, says B. T. Haws, county agent. After late summer of 1958 prices will reflect next year's output.

The supply of cotton in the U. S. during the 1957-58 marketing year is estimated at about 23 million bales—4.6 million bales smaller than the record of last year and the smallest supply since 1953-54.

A good quality chick is worth the extra cents it costs. Good layers cannot be developed from low quality chicks, says B. T. Haws, county agent. Developing good layers, he adds, also calls for the use of the best known management practices and these start even before the arrival of the baby chicks on the farm.

It appears that the demand for chicks for egg production is increasing in the United States. Flock-replacement chicks produced in the United States during the month of December, 1957, were 12 percent larger than that of December, 1956.

The year, 1958 will likely be more profitable for egg producers than 1957.

On October 1, 1957, the number of potential layers was 5 percent smaller than a year earlier; and during the first half of 1958, the number of potential layers will probably continue below a year earlier.

However, in the last quarter of 1958, the size of the laying flock will be increased.

el by the addition of pullets. There is much interest in the recently passed Texas Egg Labeling Law. Reports today indicate that there will be more than 100 counties in which training schools will be held before Feb. 17, 1958. A number of counties are cooperating in holding schools where two or more counties will be participating. This means those who have been sufficiently interested in more than 100 counties have had some preliminary training on how to grade eggs in accordance with the Texas Egg labeling Law.

There are certain tasks that should be given top consideration when you are preparing for your baby chick program. The first consideration must be given to the poultry house to see that the roof is in good shape and that the ventilators are functioning properly. In all probability, the house has not been cleaned since the last brood of chicks was removed. Some cases might have found the house utilized as a laying house. Sweep the cobwebs from the ceilings and the walls. Then, clean out the old litter and dust the floors. Removal of from three to five inches of dirt in the floor of your house is important.

The supply of cotton in the United States during the 1957-58 marketing year is estimated at about 23 million bales, 4.6 million bales smaller than the record of last year and the smallest supply since 1953-54.

The carryover at the end of the present marketing year, Aug. 1, 1958, is expected to be around nine million bales. This is the smallest since 1953 and 5.7 million bales below the record high of 1955 and two million bales smaller than that on Aug. 1, 1957.

Land Of... Celebrations

NOTE: Following story was published recently in the Corpus Times and concerns former residents, Sgt. and W. Butin and their son...

C. W. Butin has just returned from a land where hot and window screen are almost nonexistent. But in every corner's garden, majestic statues remind the visitor of better days.

During her stay in Greece, Butin took the opportunity to serve the people in many of their living, but her portion of their daily life was not vivid.

gine. Mrs. Butin and her 8-year old son, Jimmy, joined Sgt. Butin while he was stationed in Greece with the Air Force in March through October of 1957. He now is stationed at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Mrs. Butin and Jimmy moved here recently to make their home with her mother, Mrs. Irene Neuse of 335 Rosebud.

Other memories of Greece included the woman of the household riding out each day on her donkey to round up the cattle. "The men don't have much ambition, and that's easy to understand," she said.

The Greek idea that every American must be rich because we own so many cars is another example of their poverty. The first car appeared in that country only six years ago.

"The rich people travel in four-wheeled carts pulled by donkeys," Mrs. Butin said. "While in the cities most of the working people must rely on buses for transportation."

"The traffic is fantastic," Mrs. Butin exclaimed. "There are carts, many many buses and those narrow streets. And to make it even more difficult, there are few policemen and traffic regulations to keep things under control. I wouldn't have dared venture downtown in a car."

Hundreds of small market booths line the sides of the streets, and on the sidewalks outside the restaurants are tables and chairs, popular places to dine in rainy as well as sunny weather.

A maid prepared the meals for Mrs. Butin and Jimmy which caused the boy to form definite conclusions about Greek food. "I liked their shrimp, but if the Greeks ever get a chance to eat some of our food, I don't think they'd ever eat theirs again," he said.

"Bread forms the basis for almost every dish they prepare," Mrs. Butin explained. "But the women don't bake their own bread. They order it from the baker. They don't have beef either, because the sheep industry is the backbone of their economy."

"Since water is scarce, they serve wine with their meals. In the summertime when it seldom rains, they must buy their water from wagons that peddle it up and down the street."

She added that there were two dishes she could remember that didn't call for bread or pastry of any kind. One consisted of a tomato filled with rice and covered with meat sauce and the other was made of dandelion leaves.

"I'll never forget one spring day when I noticed the people were all bending down picking something off the ground," she said. "I couldn't imagine what it could be, because all I could see were weeds growing along the way."

"It turned out to be dandelion leaves which they boil and eat—considered a great delicacy."

Another Greek characteristic which Mrs. Butin observed on several special occasions was the many holidays that were celebrated.

"A holiday which I understand they observe quite often is called 'Oxi,' meaning no," she said. "It was begun when the Greeks protested against British intervention."

"I saw them all form a circle," Jimmy added. "They bent down and held their arms toward the center. Then a boy jumped up with some Greek flags."

His mother then described the colorful costumes which the people love to wear and the intricate dance steps.

"Their dances resemble our square dancing and put your little feet," she smiled.

Easter was another occasion which is celebrated with equal gusto, but in a manner more like our Christmas.

"It's more festive," she observed. "Gifts are exchanged and the women do a great deal of baking. There is a candle service at the church and then they parade down the street chanting and bearing a casket which holds the body of Christ."

"I learned a great deal about Greece," she admitted, "but I hated to leave so soon because there was still a lot to learn."

YEAR END TAX TIPS NUMBER 4 Steps That Could Save A Dependency Exemption

This is one of a series of four articles on federal income taxes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.

As you check over the list of people you intend to claim as dependents on your 1957 tax return, keep this phrase in mind: This is the test of dependency.

Unless the money you have contributed during the year is enough to make up more than one-half of a dependent's living costs, you might as well cross that person off your list. He or she will not qualify as a dependent for tax purposes—and you will lose a valuable $600 exemption on your 1957 return.

Taxpayers with children who work part-time or during the summer should watch this angle closely. It's not how much your child earns during the year—it's how much he contributes to his own support. The law specifically states that a parent may claim an exemption for a child, stepchild or adopted child under 19 years of age, no matter how much he earned, provided the child depended on the parent for more than one-half of his support.

Bank Child's Earnings Here is an important point to remember when you are trying to decide whether you have contributed the necessary amount. The money a youngster banks or invests is not considered to be a contribution to his own support costs. Check carefully to see how much of your child's earnings has gone for his support. You may find that it will save an exemption on the family return if you have him bank his earnings for the rest of the year.

Supporting a Relative If you have helped support a relative during the year, see to it that what you have contributed is enough to permit you to claim an exemption for this dependent. For example, you may have paid approximately $650 of your mother's $1,400 living expenses. By contributing another $55 or $60 to her support before December 31, you can push the total over the more-than-half mark of $700 and gain an additional exemption.

Or, if you shared with others in the support of a parent, take steps now to insure that one of you can qualify for an exemption. Make sure, first of all, that your combined contributions were enough to total more than one-half of the parent's living expenses. Then, have all the members of the group that contributed 10 per cent or more of the parent's support sign Multiple Support Agreements, granting one

Each year millions of taxpayers put off filing their tax returns until the April 15 deadline. The last minute rush to avoid a late filing penalty produces not only long lines at Internal Revenue Service offices, but also many careless mistakes by taxpayers. Prepare your tax return carefully and file it early. Help is available from the I.R.S., which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Another Greek characteristic which Mrs. Butin observed on several special occasions was the many holidays that were celebrated.

Towering 3,212 feet above the jungles of Venezuela, Angel Falls is the world's highest waterfall. Angel Falls typifies much of Venezuela's scarcely explored interior, which occupies almost half the country. The rest of Venezuela, however, is highly developed and provides a ready market for foreign imports. Last year, according to a study prepared for the Creole Petroleum Corporation, a U. S. company and Venezuela's largest oil producer, Venezuela spent over one billion dollars for U. S. goods and services. This made Venezuela the leading customer of the United States in South America and the next to largest per capita customer of the United States in the world. This healthy commerce with Venezuela has benefited many U. S. citizens. Out of the more than 5 million U. S. jobs that depend on foreign trade, it is estimated that more than 170,000 result from trade with Venezuela, a good customer and good neighbor of the United States.

News From The Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

The first piece of major legislation to receive approval by the Congress during this session will be spending authority for the Defense Department. This measure includes only top priority matters which are critically and urgently needed. Briefly, a breakdown on the bill is as follows:

One hundred Eighty-nine million for a ballistic missile detection system. This will make possible the installation of sensitive electronic gear at carefully selected sites to immediately detect and track the course of any missile fired any place on earth.

Thirty Million Dollars for a speedier aircraft warning system which is designed to shorten the time interval between the discovery of attacking enemy aircraft and the use of planes or missiles to bring it down.

Twenty-five million dollars to improve the alert facilities of the Strategic Air Command. Under this program, it will be possible to get the planes of the Strategic Air Command into the air almost immediately after an alert.

One hundred ninety-four million dollars for the dispersal of the Strategic Air Command Forces. Since the Strategic Air Command is our chief striking force it is important that it be scattered out so that no base in the United States will be occupied by more than one heavy bomb squadron or one medium bomb wing.

One hundred twelve million dollars to speed up our ballistic missile program. Included in this are the Atlas Intercontinental Missile and both the Thor and Jupiter, intermediate range models. These funds will be used to speed up the development of these weapons.

Those of us from cotton producing areas have been distressed at the inept handling of the Soil Bank Acreage reserve program. The Department of Agriculture started the sign-up without having allocated the available funds by States. Certainly this allocation should have been made before the sign up. As it worked out, many counties had overrun their allotments before the distribution was made.

have been busy counting on the last few days for the specific purpose of trying to find out how many we will have in grade of our school for next school year. We find many children or parents when their birth date was turned in on the census some birth dates are very close to Leap year as they are from one year until the next it is very amusing to find many people go by one part of the time then be by another name at home another part of town. It is interesting to find how many are hung around the unsuspecting youngsters they are defenseless to do anything about the matter then to a new name or nick at the age of Untamed.

DOLLARS WASTED --

DOLLARS NEEDLESSLY SPENT are a TWO-way waste. 1. You won't have them when you need them for something really important. 2. They contribute to inflationary pressures, help keep prices on the rise... wasting away the purchasing power of the dollars you spend in the future. SAVED DOLLARS are just the opposite. Deposited in your savings account, they earn extra dollars for you. They help keep inflation under control, help you to get ahead for the dollars you spend later. Thus, you get money ahead TWO ways when you spend wisely, persistently.

Mrs. Ralph Swinford, a member of the Cooper Home Demonstration club has recently been selected to represent Wichita County HD clubs as homemaker of the year. The Conservation home maker of the year award is sponsored by the Ft. Worth Press and the El Paso Herald-Post.

The Wichita County Home maker of the year was selected because of her outstanding results as a landscape demonstrator, as well as being a well rounded homemaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Swinford, live, with their family on a farm in the Friberg-Cooper community. In 1949 they built a lovely new home. They planned for adequate electricity, equipment, storage space and conveniences to make the job of being a homemaker a real pleasure. However, their new home was most incomplete, since there was no yard improvement.

Mrs. Swinford enrolled as a landscape demonstrator and made a detailed plan. The land was badly washed and lacked the essential elements for plant growth, so the first step in the plan was soil building. Good top soil was added, along with sheep manure and peat moss.

Mrs. Swinford started a compost, which she has continued through the years. The compost consists of potato peelings, eggshells, orange rinds, pea shells, cantelope and watermelon rinds, banana peelings, almost everything except salt and grease. This was, and still is, added to plants, furnishing additional organic matter to make healthier plants.

The plan next included trees, shrubs and grass for this section of the state. These were so well planned that not one single tree or shrub was lost in six years of drought. A mulch of grass clippings and leaves may receive part of the credit for this. A good mulch does much to save moisture and keeps down weeds. Mrs. Swinford is also a believer in slow, deep watering.

Mrs. Swinford planned for plants that require a minimum of pruning and other care. She also planned a chat drive and low curbs. The curbs prevent washing, keep grass from spreading, but are low enough to mow over. Soil conservation is also important to Mrs. Swinford, as she plans and works the family garden. The garden, as well as family meals is planned by the Texas Food Standard as recommended by the Extension service.

Conservation work and yard improvement are only a part of the role Mrs. Ralph Swinford plays, as Wichita County Conservation Homemaker of the year.
