GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BEDFORD, INDIANA, DAILY TIMES-MAIL: "No person ever got very far in the world without helping himself. That is just as true of nations. What Latin America needs is some hard headed talk about living within its income, the same kind of stuff you get from your banker when you have overdrawn your account for the third time."

FARMINGTON, MAINE, THE FRANKLIN JOURNAL: "It could happen to you. It has happens to so many others. Paralytic Polio hurts, cripples, wrecks lives and families, sometimes even kills and always costs a lot of money. Your chances of getting paralytic polio may not be great but why take even a small chance when protection is so sure and so easy?"

PINE BLUFF, ARKANSAS, COMMERCIAL: "We sincerely believe that a relaxing of trade barriers will give the healthy competition to American manufacturers that is needed. And, too, we are mindful of the fact that this competition should in the long run bring lower prices in certain fields to the sorely oppressed consumers of our nation."

Senate Acts On Freight and Travel Tax

The first crack in the federal tax structure was opened in the Senate last week when it amended a House passed bill to provide for ending the 10 percent tax on passenger travel and 3 percent tax on freight by June 30th. If the amendment is accepted by the House, the American traveler will save an estimated $222,000,000 in the 12 months ahead while an impost of approximately $468,000,000 will be lifted from the railroads, which carry the bulk on freight.

Recommendation that these taxes be abandoned was made in the report of the Senate surface transportation subcommittee presented by Sen. George A. Smathers, chairman, on April 30th, despite the administration recommendation that major corporate and excise tax rates be continued into the next fiscal year. These measures will bring the government revenues in excess of $2,000,000,000 even with the transportation tax removed. The administration plea was based on an anticipated deficit for both the present and the ensuing fiscal year.

Removal of transportation and freight taxes does not mean a retreat from the position maintained earlier that now is a bad time to talk on tax cuts. As the Smathers subcommittee observed these taxes were established as temporary measures during World War II not only to raise revenue but to cut down unnecessary travel. The freight levy is a particular evil in that it pyramids over and over again as goods are shipped, from the raw material shape up to final fabrication.

Air lines, buses and steamship lines as well as railroads will benefit through this measure which often puts American operated lines at a disadvantage when competing with foreign lines. For instance, a man boarding a KLM airline in Houston for Amsterdam, pays no tax, yet if he flies an American line to New York before crossing the Atlantic, he pays the 10 percent tax. All in all, people in every economic bracket will profit through the repeal proposals.

Now Or Never

The time has come for those who decry the Federal preemption of state functions, and the "erosion" of the Constitution by a Supreme Court whose decisions have been more legislative than interpretive, to "speak out or forever after hold their peace."

The Smith bill (HR 3), introduced by Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, is designed to prevent the courts from nullifying state laws simply because a Federal law covers a similar area, and where Congress has expressed no intention of preempting the state law. A prize example is the Supreme Court ruling that, because Congress has passed a law dealing with Communist activity, the states are powerless to act against Communism. One of the shortest bills ever presented (74 words), and certainly one of the most desperately needed, HR 3, has been approved by the House Judiciary Committee and cleared the floor consideration by the Rules Committee. It is expected to come to a vote in a matter of days.

But the bill will have a rough time. As the only effective means in sight for checking the malignant growth of the giant Washington bureaucracy and returning to the state the sovereign rights that have been swept away by the Supreme Court under the doctrine of Federal preemption, it will have the bitter organized opposition of the Washington fat-cats, do-gooders, globalists and social reformers who like things the way they are.

It is therefore up to those who want to "Bring Government back Home" and restore the historic Constitutional concept of the United States to support those bipartisan patriots in the House and Senate who have the courage to fight for this return to reason in representative government. The Senate counterpart of the Smith bill (S-337), sponsored by Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas, ten other Democrats and four Republicans, is now pending and quick action should follow passage of HR-3. But the House bill must be passed first. And it will not be passed unless ordinary citizens in every section of the country, north, east, south and west make their position clear by swamping their representatives and senators in a sea of letters and telegrams and phone calls.

Unless those who have been clamoring for states' rights make an all out effort now, it will be as Rep. Smith has said, "merely a question of time before the states will be deprived of all power and sovereignty in enactment and enforcement of laws for the protection of the health and welfare of their local citizens."

"If our form of government is to be preserved," warns Sen. Harry F. Byrd, the preemption doctrine must be outlawed. And if you fail now to reach for your pen or typewriter or telephone, you may never have another chance. o yk

Ironing Board Rescue

Our crystal ball does not reveal whether there will be more genuine, bug bitten, sun burned, frying pan blistered campers in the wildwood this summer. But we will predict that more kids will play at camping out in vacation time than ever before in the nation's history.

The reason is simple. There will be more tents than ever before, made from more old and not so old bed sheets than ever before discarded by frugal American housewives in a single season. And the reason the kids are to be so richly endowed with backyard tent material is the appearance in our drygoods stores of what President James E. Robinson of Indian Head Mills calls "The first dramatically new development in the cotton sheet industry in the last 60 years."

This is a new Pequot sheet that doesn't have to be ironed but looks as if it had been. And it looks that way, smooth as a ballroom floor, no matter how many times it has been washed or how it has been dried! Maybe you think this isn't very important. But if you sleep on sheets, it means the little woman is freed from the equivalent of nine solid days a year at the ironing board, or if the laundry does it, that you will have about $60 a year more to spend on other things that may be more exciting. (These figures are for the average family using six sheets a week, and make no allowance for what happens when Cousin Looie and his family come to visit.)

The man who should be most excited, however, is the cotton farmer. For, with the prospect of all America updating its bed sheets (and pillow cases, too), he can expect to hang a lantern on his plow. When Mrs. America, all 42 million of her, decides she's through with ironing sheets, the heat will be on, not the sheets, but the planters, the gins, the textile mills and the retailers.

Our next shortage — cotton picking fingers!

Sure-footed Man Serves Texas

The colorful language of the ranch and trail seems to fit Bill Blakley, who made his start in life as a working cowhand. He still rides and ropes with the hands on his ranch at roundup time.

Speaking of Blakley's service as U. S. Senator in 1957, the Dallas News said: "... If he was as unassuming as an old boot, it was nevertheless a well polished boot that never wobbled or wandered from its purposeful path. For this man Blakley is a sure-footed man who knows exactly where he stands and what he believes."

Texas will vote to return William A. Blakley to the Senate on July 26 because he truly represents the spirit, traditions and views of all Texas.

PAUL — BOB — WYLIE — BLAKE

the story of . . . BILL BLAKLEY

LAWYER • RANCHER • BUSINESSMAN

Candidate for UNITED STATES SENATOR

The story of Bill Blakley is the story of Texas . . . the story of how a great State rewards the initiative, the faith, and the unlimited vision of a man who is willing to work hard. Born on the plains, he was a cowhand at the age of 14. Coming home from World War I he got a job as a bank clerk . . . studied at night to become a certified public accountant . . . and then trained himself for law. Today he is one of the nation's most successful businessmen . . . a farmer and rancher of the first rank . . . and a distinguished lawyer whose pioneer spirit of independence finds close kinship in the spirit of the State and the people he now seeks to serve.

BILL BLAKLEY BELIEVES THAT:

"The right to work — and the right to educate your children — without restraint, regulation or interference — from government, or private associations and organizations — must be re-established, protected and maintained — if this Nation is to continue to be the land of the free."

"The time has come when the people must regain control of the functions of government."

"Neither labor — nor capital — nor any private association or organization — should dictate the destiny of the American people."

"Bill Blakley has made an outstanding success of his own business affairs, and is the man in whom we can have the greatest confidence during these world-wide credit times. This is no year for political ballyhoo."

William A. Blakely Candidate For U. S. Senator

William A. Blakely, Dallas lawyer-businessman, had never sought public office and was virtually unheard of in Texas politics a year ago, now being credited with having conducted one of the most active campaigns in Texas history in the race for U. S. Senator. So states James Blundell, Blakely's campaign manager.

Blakely announced for Senator in the months ago, an office in which he served with marked distinction for four months in 1957. Blakely has traveled more than 12,000 miles and visited hundreds of 200 towns and cities throughout the state. He has conducted a campaign of personalizing and handshaking with thousands of voters on the house squares, on the streets and in the stores.

Blakely, a plain man, characterized as a cowboy's saddle, has never outgrown the country background from which he launched his remarkable career. Born while his father was on the way to Oklahoma in a covered wagon, he learned a cowhand's wages.

Blakely got hold of the books, set himself accounting and became an accountant. He taught himself law and became a lawyer. Long years of hard work and sacrifice made him a successful businessman, rancher and lawyer, but he has never turned his back on his humble beginnings.

"I do not believe," he says, "that the day will ever come when the working man or the farmer will be paid too much for his services, so long as his earnings are based on productive time. The more he earns the better off we will all be, and I support the proposition of his having every benefit possible, so long as it is also tied to productive effort."

"The right to work and the right to educate your children, without restraint, regulation or interference from government, or private associations and organizations, must be re-established, protected and maintained if this nation is to continue to be the land of the free."

When William A. Blakely was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1957, he was a political unknown in Texas. But Washington awaited his arrival with great interest. So close was the party balance in the Senate that Blakely's vote was the difference between Democratic and Republican control.

True to his Democratic tradition, Bill Blakely voted with his fellow Democrats. They have been in control ever since. Now Bill Blakely seeks his second elective term in the U. S. Senate. A vote for Blakely is a vote for sound, Democratic government.

It's The Law In Texas

A patent gives you the right for a limited time to keep others from making, using or selling your invention without your permission. The federal government issues a patent to you if you meet certain requirements.

(1) You must have something useful, a process, a machine, an article, a material, a plant or an ornamental design. The United States will patent only means to make ideas work and will not patent ideas such as new ways to do business, a new mathematical formula or newly discovered laws of nature.

(2) You must have something new. This means you must be the first to make the invention. Before the government issues a patent, the patent office makes a search for related patents and publications to find out if the invention was known to others before you made it.

(3) You must have made an "invention." This means that there must be something unexpected about it and not obvious to others working the same art.

(4) You must apply for your patent in good time. You cannot get a patent if the invention was sold or publicly used in the United States or described in a printed publication in any country more than one year before applying. You cannot abandon your invention and then, after someone else has made it, change your mind and get a patent. The other inventor may be regarded as "the first inventor."

News From The County Agent

Farmers are urged to check their barns for rats and clean up the harboring places for rats. 1,000 pounds of rat bait was distributed to Wichita County farmers this week. There are lots of rats on farms this year.

Fourteen Wichita County 4-H boys will attend the District III 4-H camp at Buffalo Gap July 23, 24, 25. The boys will be given training in Farm Safety, Beef Steers, Citizenship, Entomology and Recreation.

The health, prosperity and well being of our rural families are vital to the strength of the nation and accidents suffered by rural residents result in thousands of deaths and injuries each year and constitute a serious social and economic problem, said President Eisenhower in his proclamation announcing National Farm Safety Week for 1958.

In setting the week of July 20 as Farm Safety Week, the President also said, experience has shown that these accidents can be reduced thru educational programs directed toward safety precautions in the homes, in the fields, and on the highways of the nation. I therefore, call upon the people of the Nation to observe Farm Safety Week and urge all farm families and all persons allied with agriculture to join in a continuing campaign to prevent needless accidents.

Pat Pruitt, Linton Lowrance Susan Duvall, Jerry Renfro, Gay and Kay Drennan, Ronnie Waters and Larry Culley purchased lambs last week to feed for the Texas-Okla. Fair and the Dallas Fair.

It seems a shame to waste succulent green feed. Yet that is exactly what many Texas turkey growers are doing when they don't provide ample shade and water on turkey ranges.

B. T. Haws, county agent, points out that most Texas turkeys are produced on the range although there is a trend to confinement in the large pole type sheds. The important thing to remember, Haws says, is that you're in the business of converting feed dollars into turkey dollars. This means the birds must eat enough good food to maintain themselves and to produce steady gains in addition. To do this the birds must have access to plenty of good fresh water as well as access to feed. He suggests one inch of watering space per bird and four inches of feeder space. It is important that waters be kept in the shade either natural or artificial, so that the turkeys can have ready access to it thruout the day.

Poultry breeders in this county are constantly on the move, points out B. T. Haws, county agent. He says considerable progress has been made in the performance of poultry in the past 10 years and further improvement from breeding will be seen in years to come.

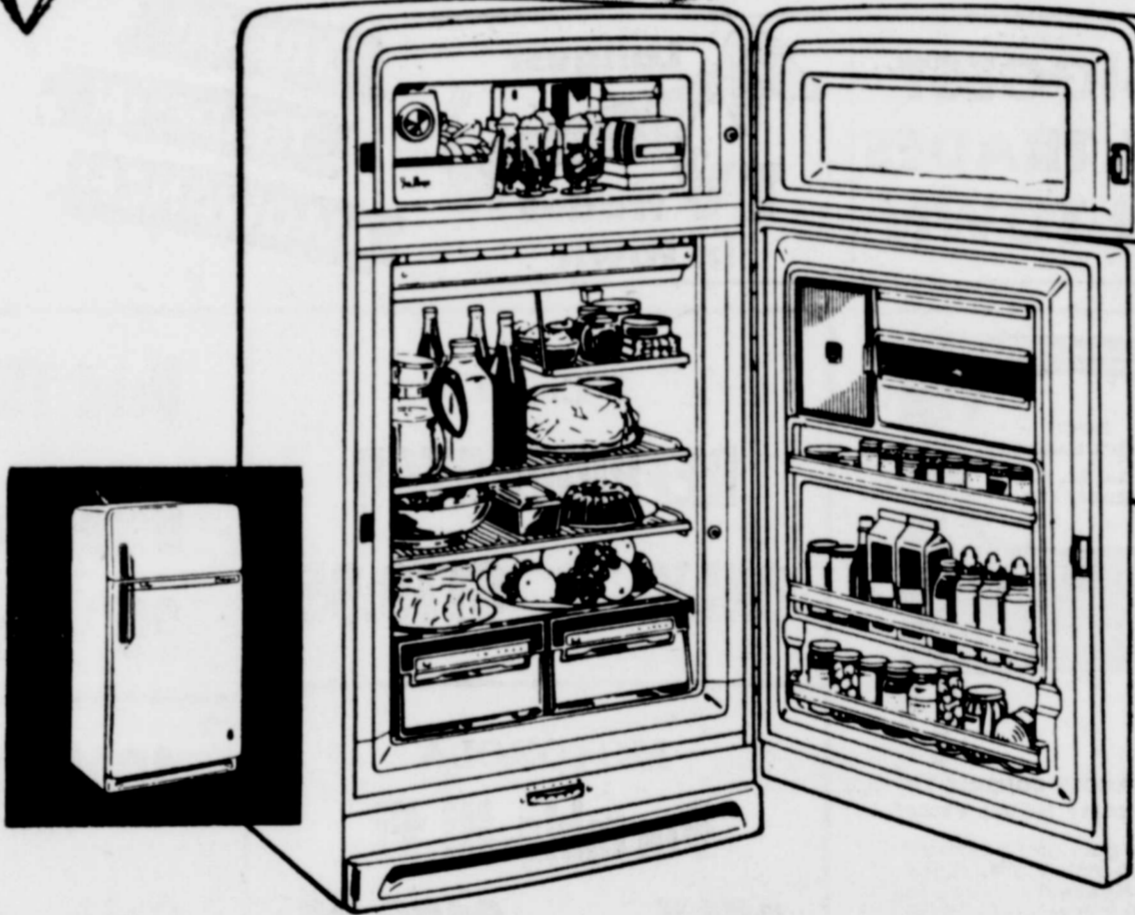

This year's convention program has been designed to give practical and useful information to interested people on pecan production and marketing. Emphasis will be placed on those phases of pecan orchard management that are of immediate and practical concern to the pecan grower.

Glenn Kothmann Candidate For Commissioner

Glenn H. Kothmann, candidate for agriculture commissioner, believes that politics should play no part in operation of the agriculture commission. According to him, he has taken this his campaign theme: "Make politics out of the agriculture commissioner's office."

ELECT GLENN H.

KOTHMANN
Commissioner of Agriculture
July 26

...because KOTHMANN is strong, vigorous, qualified... raised, trained and works hard in Texas agriculture... Texas A&M agriculture graduate, active in Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn., Texas Cattle Raisers Assn., Texas A&M Ex-Students, on Legislative important agriculture committees, Jaycees, Texas National Guard, American Legion... from a family of pioneer farmers and ranchers... KOTHMANN stands for service ALL TEXAS AGRICULTURE.

the Legislature qualify him for the post he seeks.

He has pledged himself to serve all areas of the agriculture and livestock business in Texas, from the producer to the consumer. He says also: "I believe the office of agriculture commissioner ought to be operated for the benefit of all the people of Texas. To do this people must be put ahead of partisan political considerations."

A native of San Antonio, Kothmann was educated in the San Antonio public schools. He graduated from Texas A-M in 1950 with a degree in agriculture.

He is in the livestock business with his family who have been a well known hill country livestock and ranch family for more than 100 years. The Kothmanns have operated from offices in the San Antonio union stockyards since 1893.

While at A-M Kothmann was on the livestock judging and meat judging teams and a cadet lieutenant colonel in the corps.

After graduation he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry. Later transferred to the cavalry where he commanded Hq. Co. of the famed 112th Armored Cavalry Regiment. At present he is a captain on the Adjutant General's staff in Austin.

Kothmann belongs to the Texas Cattle Raisers Assn, the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn, National Guard Assn., Texas A-M Former Students Assn., the San Antonio Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion and the Texas Farm Bureau.

Janice Frields Six Years Old July 10

Janice Ann Frields celebrated her birthday this year in the new trailer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frields, who are at the present time living in Albuquerque, N. M. Janice Ann was six years old on July 10th.

Pictures were taken of the honoree and her guests. After opening her gifts, cake and punch were served to 38 guests.

Texas Safety Association

Vacation motor travel is big business in Texas, with nearly ten and a half million tourists spending 531 million as they piled up four billion miles of driving during 1957.

These figures were mentioned today by J. O. Musick general manager of the Texas Safety Association, as he warned Texans of the many traffic accidents that occur during summer's peak vacation months.

Every year, more and more persons take to the open road during the summer months, Musick said. And each year, more and more of them manage to get themselves injured or killed in traffic accidents while on vacation.

He attributed such accidents to many causes, but listed the principal ones as being:

(1) Excessive speed. Because many vacationers try to cover too much territory in too short a time, speed is an important factor. More than fifty percent of the drivers in rural fatal traffic accidents are traveling at excessive speeds at the time of the accident.

(2) Alcohol. People on vacation are likely to be in a holiday mood and frequently their pursuit of a good time includes drinking. Drinking and driving motorists are involved in more than a third of all rural fatal traffic accidents.

(3) Laws. Failure to observe traffic signs and laws exacts a high annual toll. About one-fifth of the cars smashed up in rural fatal accidents are found to have disregarded warning or stop signs.

(4) Fatigue. Driving while fatigued is a foolish practice indulged in by vacationers who won't take time out to get sufficient rest. On a national basis, about one out of thirteen drivers are fatigued or asleep.

Don't turn your vacation dream into a nightmare, Musick said. Use a few common sense safety rules and courtesy. Be especially conscious of your driving speed. Slow down and Live.

Ramsey Seeks Re-Election For Lt. Governor

Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey says that holding public spending down is the paramount job in state government during the next few years.

The future of our state, Ramsey said, depends upon containing the size of state government to a safe level. We should have no additional new taxes until the need is absolutely proven.

Speaking in West Texas and the Panhandle, in behalf of his candidacy for re-election, Ramsey said, "we ought to look twice at every dollar we are spending now. We must take three or four close, hard looks, he said, at any new program that would mean new taxes."

He pointed out that these are times of stress and provoking situations. It is no time, stated the Lt. Governor, for governmental experiments or for political opportunities in Austin.

On the question of holding down spending, Ramsey warned that "Big spending means high taxes. And on that issue, I stand squarely on the side of the taxpayer."

Ramsey, who has received editorial endorsement of sixty-six daily and weekly newspapers, is seeking another two-year term as Lieutenant Governor. It will be my purpose, said Ramsey, to draw upon my experience and provide you with calm, steady leadership toward good sound government.

Water development and potentialities of the State of Texas are the subject of a report prepared at my request by the Corps of Engineers, the Bureau of Reclamation and the Soil Conservation Service in collaboration with the Texas Board of Water Engineers. The report, released this week, represents a long step toward meeting the number one problem of Texas.

That problem is the conservation, control and development of our water resources. It is a problem that becomes more serious each year as a result of our State's great growth in population, industry and agriculture.

The future growth and progress of Texas will be limited only by its available supplies of water. Growth is already being limited to some extent, and the limitation will continue and become intensified unless and until an adequate statewide program for control and use of the State's water resources is developed.

An important beginning has now been made toward development of such a program. This new water report was not designed to put forward an overall statewide water development plan. But it does show how we can reach the objective of bringing such a plan into existence. The report points the way toward preparation of a State program to control floods in Texas and to meet the water supply needs of the future. It establishes a pattern for determining what the controlling elements of a long range Texas water program should be.

It sets out a plan of action for reaching a realistic and effective solution of the Texas water problem.

It presents a comprehensive inventory of the water resources of Texas.

It gives full recognition to the sovereignty of the State over its water resources and establishes that the Federal agencies can make major contributions to the evolution of a plan to control fully and to develop fully, these resources.

The goal is to make adequate supplies of water accessible when and where required. That goal can be reached only by statewide planning. Basic responsibility for planning leadership rests with and must be exercised by the State. For the State owns the waters and determines the use to which they will be put.

The great accomplishment of this comprehensive report is that it creates an avenue for the establishment of a statewide water plan. In doing so, it gives us a vision of a time when the recurrent cycle of flood and drought in Texas will not be the unmitigated disaster it has so often been in the past.

That is the vision we must work to realize.
