He's Your Friend, Neighbor

Retail business outlets are important in the everyday life of the community—as most persons will agree.

In fact, the community couldn't or wouldn't exist as such without retail business firms. The more, the better and the more progressive the retail outlets, the better and more prosperous the city and community. Trade centers develop and expand thru and around retail stores.

Most persons in this day and age simply wouldn't reside too far removed from good retail business establishments. They want and deserve prompt, courteous and efficient service from conveniently located, well stocked stores.

Yet many of those same persons, unthinkingly perhaps would put those very same retail merchants out of business, largely by diversion of normal retail trade. It is reasonable to expect that many of these men and women do not realize they are knitting a friendly, cooperative fellow citizen—yet, a neighbor, if you please—in diverting normal retail trade.

How is such a death dealing blow accomplished? Well, one way is by purchasing merchandise normally offered, sold and serviced by the local retailer, through a supposedly wholesale outlet. Maybe you hadn't considered it just that way, but it's a sure method of jeopardizing the local merchant.

This is a definite problem facing the business community here and elsewhere. The purchase of merchandise for resale to employees by large industrial or business firms during the last 10 years has grown to huge proportions. The United States Chamber of Commerce has estimated the total amount of such sales to employees is almost $19,000,000,000 annually. If this isn't a blow to the retailer, we don't know what is.

It appears to be an expanding trend which is chipping away at the very foundation of the retail industry.

Yet, it isn't only the retail merchant who is being taken for a ride. One of the most tragic things about it is that it's that much of the merchandise offered at "wholesale" is not wholesale at all. When the services provided by the retailer outlet are subtracted, the amount eventually paid for the "wholesale" goods may equal or be higher than the retailer's price. Misrepresentation often is the case.

Even if prices were equal, it still must be realized that the unknown, out-of-city "wholesaler" doesn't pay any local taxes. He doesn't help in providing schools for your children, or paved streets, or public buildings, or public libraries or local hospitals. In other words he is tearing down rather than helping to build the community in which YOU reside. The self-styled wholesaler doesn't care whether YOUR children have adequate school facilities, and neither does he care whether YOU have a hospital for yourself and your family. Neither is he interested in service.

The hometown merchant is your friend and neighbor. Surely you do not wish to harm him unknowingly. It is a serious matter. Think it over.

Mechanical Rabbit

Greyhound racing is based on a trick. To give the dogs an incentive for running, a mechanical rabbit scoots down the track just a few bounds ahead of the leading hound. Should the dog start to gain, the operator speeds up the rabbit. No matter how hard he tries or how fast he runs, the painting, straining dog always finds that tantalizing rabbit just beyond his reach.

Has the national highway program, adopted with so much fanfare in 1956, turned into a mechanical rabbit for motorists to chase?

When that long-range program was adopted, motorists were assured that both the spending and the financing were carefully planned. They consented to a boost in the federal gasoline tax—to three cents a gallon—and some other special taxes because they were promised this money would take care of the program's entire cost.

Now two years later, this supposedly well-planned program is already running in the red. The mechanical rabbit has been speeded up and is going like sixty.

First, the supposedly careful cost estimates on building the Interstate Highway network have been boosted by 37 percent, raising the planned outlay from the $27 billion projected in 1956 to something nearer $40 billion. Then Congress acted recently to pad the program's planned outlays by an additional $1,200,000,000 over the next three years in what was frankly a pump priming move.

Where does this leave the motorists? He's falling further and further behind that fast-moving mechanical rabbit. The Budget Bureau recently predicted a Highway Trust Fund shortage next year amounting to about $900 million. Now plans are being made to ask for—you guessed it—another boost in the gasoline tax. So the race is on.

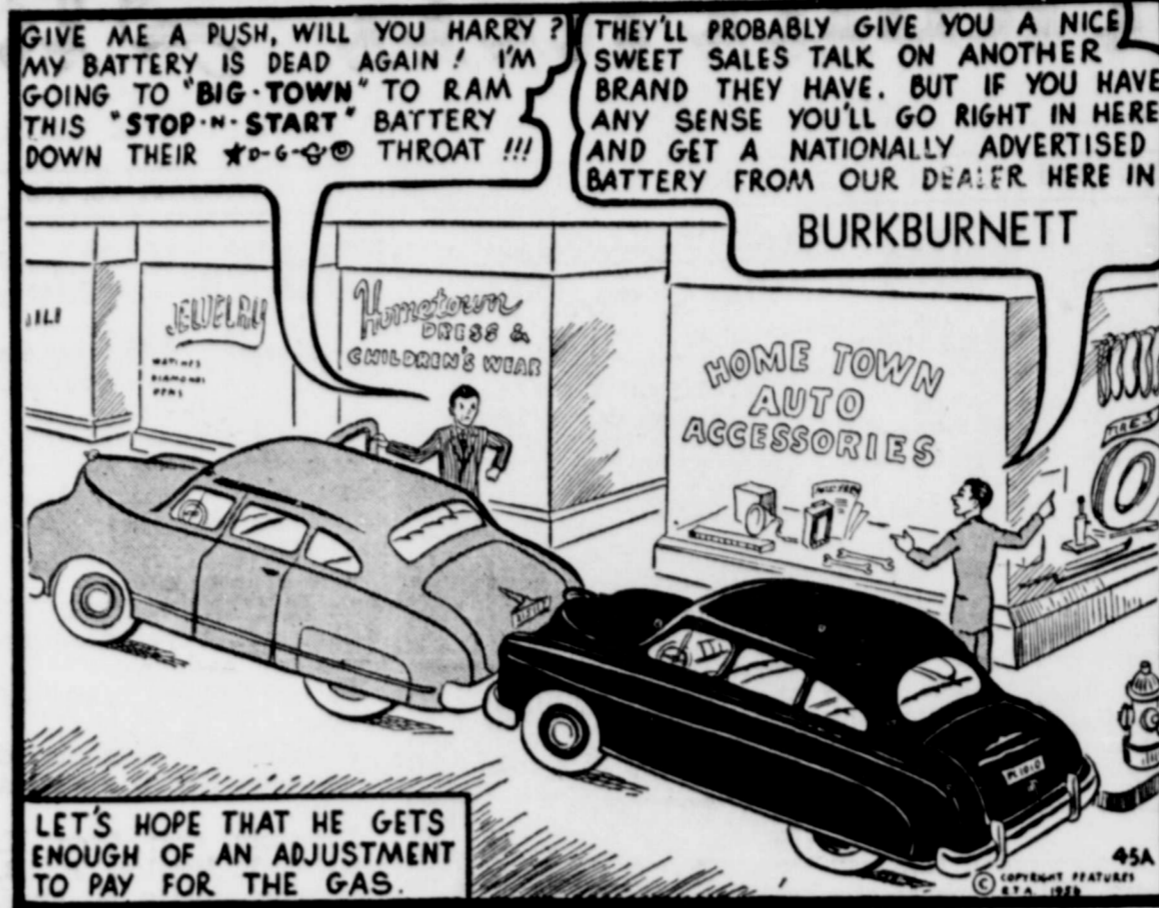

The worst part of it is that the motorists is already paying enough special federal taxes to support even this expanded and accelerated program. He happens to be pouring some $3.5 billion a year into Washington in federal automotive taxes, but only $2 billion finds its way into the Highway Trust Fund. The other $1.5 billion isn't counted, and goes into the general fund.

How will the race come out? Will the motorist keep chasing that phony mechanical rabbit, letting the planners move it further away from him each year, while he runs his heart out paying spiralling taxes for a goal he is never meant to reach?

Or will he insist that all the special taxes he pays Uncle Sam be used for this gigantic road program, so the rabbit will come within reach again, and there won't be any need or excuse to pile more federal taxes on the nation's car and truck owners?

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MIDDLEBURY, VERMONT, ADDISON CO. INDEPENDENT:
"All business in a democratic country begins with public permission and exists by public approval. If that is true, it follows that business should be cheerfully willing to tell the public what its policies are, what it is doing, and what it hopes to do."

TINLEY PARK, ILL., TIMES: "Those of us who live in this nation have a lot to be thankful for—we are not at war; our economy is standing up very well; our standards of living continue on the up-side; our health, as a people, continues to improve; there is more tolerance, less bigotry; we have a most wonderful form of government in which the dignity of the individual as well as his freedom is preserved; we have the right to attend and follow the teaching of the church of our choice; we have the right to express our thoughts and opinions."

"But we shouldn't become complacent. Complacency has taken a heavy toll of nations over the centuries and it could happen to us."

Our New Year's Resolution To You

Copy New Year to everyone in Burkburnett from all the Telephone Company.
As this is the season for resolutions, I thought you want to know a little bit more about a resolution try to follow 365 days a year in providing teleservice to you and your neighbors.
It is it . . .

We Define Our Objectives

Our objective is to furnish the best possible teleservice at reasonable cost—a cost consistent with safety and fair treatment of employees.
Service ranks above everything else in this policy.
The only good service is one that is continually improving. To furnish this service we need the best people, the best equipment, the best methods, and the best management we can develop.
Reasonable cost has been defined as one that provides the best service at the lowest possible price.
As methods would net us nothing if the cost of service became so high that people would not buy it, financial safety should not be endangered by setting the price of service too low. In the long run, a price that is not profit enough to undertake new research and development results in better, cheaper service to the public.
The fair treatment of employees means good pay, good working conditions, reasonable job security and opportunity for advancement based on merit. It is people—employees—who are the most important element in the success of any business.

We Accept These Responsibilities

THE EMPLOYEES—provide machines, methods, direction, leadership, job training, incentives and selection for promotion.
TO THE PUBLIC—more and better service at a reasonable cost. Contributions to public welfare and national defense.
TO THE OWNERS—run business in a sound, profitable manner.

Looking Ahead

Progress has long been the keynote of the telephone service. And, if business forecasters are anywhere near the mark, the next 20 years will bring more growth and development than we have ever seen before.
The future can be faced confidently with a policy of consideration for owners, employees, and the public. ETAOIN ETAOET
The telephone probably the longest resolution you've ever made, but it takes a lot of effort to give you the best telephone service.

Federated Club Members Invited Enter Contest

CONTEST OFFERS OPEN TRIP AS PRIZE

Members of federated women sewing machines have the opportunity this year to compete for national prizes, the top prize being a three week trip to Paris for two, plus a trip to the 1959 convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in Los Angeles, June 1-5. The General Federation is conducting the sewing contest for ideal costume for a club member through the state and district federations, with individual clubs as the beginning. Prizes will be furnished by Vogue Pattern Service, in conjunction with the GFWC of the first sewing contest in 1957.

R. J. Long, 3817 Red River, is Texas Federation man of the sewing contest. B. Mize, 606 Palo Pinto, is 1st District man. The style show in which club members who have entered the contest will model their entries. The program for the 1st District contest to be conducted at the 2-3rd in the Baker Hotel, Dallas, Mrs. W. B. Mize, district president, announced. Several entries have been received from the district and a number more are expected, Mrs. Mize said. Entries in each district will be judged for state winners before the state convention as state winning costumes will be received at national headquarters, The Woman's Club Service Bureau in New York, by May 1st. Full information as to date and place of the state judging will be announced by the state chairman, Mrs. Long.

National prizes will be First, a three week trip to Paris and London for two persons, or $1,500 in cash, as winners option, plus an all expense trip to the GFWC convention in Los Angeles; 2nd prize, $500, plus trip to the GFWC convention, and 3rd, prize, $250. In addition, awards will be made to clubs to which the national winners belong; $500 for 1st, $250 for 2nd and $100 for 3rd.

First place state winners will receive $100 and their club will receive a bronze plaque. Second place prizes will be $25 for the individual and a guest register for her club. District winners each will receive six months subscription to Vogue magazine and a Vogue pattern of their choice. The club represented will receive a year's subscription to Vogue Pattern Book.

Three additional cash awards will be presented state federations with the largest percentages of member clubs taking part in the contest. First prize will be $500, 2nd, $250 and 3rd, $100.

Clubs have been urged to have at least one entry for the district judging. Costumes entered must be completed in their entirety between Oct. 1, 1958 and May 1, 1959, and all entries must be made by Vogue patterns. Entry blanks may be obtained by club presidents, or individual members planning entries, from the Woman's Club Service Bureau, 10 E. 45th St. New York City. Additional information regarding the contest may be requested of the Service Bureau if it has not been received by club presidents.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

By Ted Gouldy

January 12, 1959

Cattle trade at Ft. Worth was slow. Slaughter steers and yearlings of over 600 lbs. wt., were generally 50 cents lower. Lighter yearlings and slaughter calves were steady to weak, spots 25 cents off. Fat cows were again weak but canners and cutters were firm. Bulls ruled fully steady. Stocker and feeder cattle and calves were also full steady.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings sold from $25 to $28 and mature steers cashed mostly from $26 downward. Medium and lower grades cashed at $17 to $24.50.

Fat cows cashed at $18 to $20, a few higher. Canners and cutters sold from $12 to $18.50, a few big Holsteins, etc., still to $19.00. Bulls were reported from $18 to $24.

Good and choice slaughter calves ranged from $25 to $29, with plain and medium sorts from $18 to $25 and culls from $16 to $19.

Good and choice stocker steer calves drew $30 to $33.25 and heifer calves sold from $30 downward. Stocker steer yearlings drew $30 down and helpers sold from $28.50 down.

Hogs dipped sharply to a top of $17.50 at Fort Worth.

KITOWA CAMPFIRE GIRLS

The Kitowa girls met Jan. 8th at the Campfire cabin. The meeting was called to order. Vice president led the pledge to the flag and in singing America. The secretary read the minutes and called the roll. Plans were discussed for the Father-Daughter banquet.

We decided to make the boxes at the meeting. Afterwards, we talked about or bead ceremony. When we have it, it will be just for the girls and our leaders and sponsors. Lynn Halsey served refreshments then the meeting was adjourned. Following the meeting the girls cleaned up the cabin for the next meeting.

Deadline Nears For Crop Loans

Farmers have only a few more weeks in which to apply for loans or purchase agreements on most of their 1958 grain and related crops; Howard Henderson, member of Wichita County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, has announced.

Jan. 31, 1959 is the deadline for obtaining price support on wheat, barley, grain sorghums, oats and rye in most areas. Since Jan. 31 in 1959 occurs on Saturday — a non-business day, the deadline is automatically extended to Monday, Feb. 2nd.

Wichita County loan rates and eligibility standards for 1958 crop commodities are as follows: WHEAT—$1.83 per bushel for No. 1. Premiums for higher quality; discounts for lower grades down to No. 4 or 5 on test weight only. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe Live In California

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Wolfe, former residents of Burkburnett, are now making their home in Whittier, California. Below is a recent communication from them:

Dear Sirs:
Happy New Year to you and yours.

We are getting along fine. Dutch is adjusting himself nicely to retirement. Don't any of you worry about the mountain fires and floods getting us. We live out of reach of all of that, thank goodness.

My Dad will be 90 years young January 10th and is in very good health so far as we know. As you know, my Dad is J. R. Sullivan.

Best wishes for the New Years to come.

Regards,
Dutch and Neva Wolfe
