Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Each FIRST MONDAY at Town Hall. Everybody Invited. Each Pays for His Meal

Business

There are many reasons why business would be greatly interested in Christmas business—whether it be clerks, storekeepers, manufacturers, or consumers. The Christmas Trade As a Business Gauge. The feelings of the nation are revealed in the volume of the temper of Christmas. A number of years ago it was the opinion that statistics indicated the nation's business particularly as regards available and workers' wages. But now I have come to the opinion that business is ruled by figures, but also by feelings. It is enough to note at this time the impartial study of the statistics for 1961 Christmas indicates that people about the country are in a dark, our situation is dark, our seem ready to honor in traditionally happening. Let us all do whatever to encourage this attitude. Let us make gifts to those we care for. Let us keep in mind that happiness we can give to others, instead of what the gifts may bring to help guide my footsteps. I have erected near the Great Babson (the largest revolving in the world) that reads: "WHAT IS A MAN PROUD OF? HE SHALL GAIN THE WHOLE WORLD AND LOSE HIS OWN SOUL."

Rotary Foundation Week Nov. 12-18 To Be Observed

Burkburnett Rotarians will join with the more than half a million Rotarians in 123 countries this week for a special observance of "The Rotary Foundation Week." It was announced today by Bill Vincent, president of the Rotary Club of Burkburnett. The Rotary Foundation seeks to promote understanding and friendly relations between the peoples of different nations. Its major activity is granting Rotary Foundation Fellowships to outstanding graduate students for one year of study abroad as Rotary ambassadors of good will. Since this program was established in 1947, as a memorial to Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, 1454 young men and women from 70 countries have received Rotary Foundation Fellowships for study in 50 countries, with grants averaging about $2,600. Total grants by The Rotary Foundation for this activity now exceed $3,700,000. Rotary Fellowships are unique in that, with more than 11,000 Rotary Clubs throughout the world, the student is in direct contact with Rotarians and their families wherever he is studying. He attends their Rotary Club meetings, visits in their homes and places of business, and travels as much as possible during his school holidays. In this way, he sees at first hand how the people in his host country live and he lays the foundation for increased international understanding, which is one of Rotary's principal objectives. Local Rotarians will highlight their observance of "The Rotary Foundation Week" at their meeting on November 14th in The Town Hall with a presentation by A. F. Edwards. "A man who throws up a bluff doesn't always hit the target." fallout shelters poses another question for business. Too much talk along these lines could hurt general trade. Manufacturers may ask, "If this fallout is coming, why work so hard? Why bother?" And workers may give more thought to the problem of finding shelter than doing their jobs or spending their Christmas bonuses. Worry about the future could conceivably have a darkening effect on the outlook for retail trade this approaching Holiday Season.

PASTE IT IN YOUR HAT

Come next spring, you'd better have your number on that "declaration of estimated tax" (deadline April 15th). If you have a Social Security number, that's it. If you don't, you get a form at the post office or an office of the Internal Revenue Service.

From there on, you're a number to Uncle Sam's tax collectors, and to every organization that reports on payment to you. If you forget it on your income tax return, it will cost you five bucks. And the penalty will be the same every time you fail to supply it to any source of income that requests it. And that ain't all.

Congress hung this one on your eye on September 26th—to give the IRS a full-Nelson on every taxpayer. We predict tattoo artists will be coming back—strong.

KAMERAD

If it weren't for the sobering thought of the terrible potential of a stray bullet from either side, the situation of the East German police deployed along the barrier that divides Berlin would be ludicrous.

What with the elimination of soft spots in the masonry and barbed wire and the demolition that is creating a three-mile-wide no-man's-land, it appears that the Vopos' biggest job is now watching each other.

In the latest threat to the world's uneasy peace, ten East police made a foray across the border to retrieve four of their defecting fellows—invading a home where one was thought to be hiding at 3 a. m. The householders screamed for help. West Berlin police doubted the Vopos who fled—without their man or men. Whether all went back, or whether some may still be under the beds in that West Berlin home, was not made clear.

But next, we expect those Vopos will be organizing

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

It will be interesting to watch what transpires in the meeting of the British Parliament which is starting session a week earlier than planned due to pressure from the opposition to the present government.

A major issue before it will be the same one that has been an issue in Congress for some time... that is wrecking protective tariffs.

But unlike the U. S. the British have not permitted their tariffs to be tampered with to any extent. But C. W. Harder now the present government has announced plans to put Britain into the European Common Market, which is composed of most of the West European nations and provides that they trade back and forth without import duties.

Although the average British income is less than half that of the U. S. it is still double, or triple that of the other European countries. In addition, Britain does not have the unemployment problem of Italy and some of the other nations.

Just as U. S. tariffs were slashed, in some cases to the bone to virtually destroy entire American industries in the basis that it was a move to help bring peace to the world, so are present British government leaders trying to sell idea England in the common Market would promote peace.

Of course there are many British monopolies, with plant investments in these dirt cheap labor nations who would like to bring the products of those plants into England.

But it would appear that the British people are buying none of this. They, of course, applauded the cutting of American tariffs to permit their products to replace American made ones, but they just can't see it happening to them.

Mass demonstrations have been held. Conservative members of the House of Lords, left wing members of the House of Commons, major labor leaders with the exception of those alleged to have communist sympathies, have joined hands to oppose this move.

Viscount Hinchinbrooke, member of present Tory government says "We have to support our country and its standards of living with tariffs."

Other leaders claim that the reason for the move is American pressure on the present British government.

In addition, the British Commonwealth composed of Canada, Australia, and other independent British dominions who have trade agreements with England have sounded warnings on the matter. For some time these nations have had trade agreements with England.

They have virtually served notice that they will not open their borders to a flood of imports from the European cheap labor countries.

It will be interesting to watch.

British pressure had a great deal to do with the slashing of American tariffs, but apparently in this case, what is sauce for the goose is not necessarily sauce for the gander.

phony search raids with the sole object of getting lost on the West side of the Wall. One thing, at least, is certain. Herr Ullbricht's job of organizing his guards is becoming embarrassing.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

HAGERSTOWN, MD., HERALD: "The states of New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey wish to form a Delaware River Basin Compact to develop resources of that rich river valley. . . Unfortunately, federal approval is the barrier. The U.S. must approve such compacts, which is proper. What is not proper is the reason approval is being withheld.

"The Interior Department is seeking to compel four sovereign states to revise the compact to contain preference for public development of power resources. As power is now available over every square inch of this settled area, this means that government would finance competition to some of the most efficient investor-owned, tax-paying utilities in the nation.

"If the federal bureaucrats get away with this . . . we're one step nearer to total federal control of every corner of the country."

You've never seen anything like it, because there's never been anything like it... until today. On the outside the new Ford Fairlane 500 measures a quick 197 inches from stem to stern. A good foot shorter than the cars from which it borrowed its name, it calls the snuggest parking places home. At the same time, on the inside the new Fairlane 500 is every inch as big as some of the biggest Fords ever built.

The new Fairlane 500 is priced way under previous Fairlanes, well under many compacts. But Fairlane economy doesn't stop with a pretty price tag. It runs to amazing gas savings—with the world's first economy V-8 or the nickel-nursing Fairlane Six. Routine service is reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, only twice a year or 6,000 miles on the rest. And it adjusts its own brakes.

Are You An Amichelian?

Although there is some doubt as to who was the first white person to tour Texas, it probably was Alonzo Alvarez de Pineda, the Spanish explorer.

Pineda was sent here by the governor of Jamaica to explore the Gulf Coast, Pineda named all the vast Gulf coast land "Amichel."

So, Texans came mightily close to being called Amichelians, rather than Texans.

"Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised.)"

Have faith in God. He will lead us in the right paths. He will never fail.

As the highways are clearly marked and numbered so that we might easily find our way from city to city and across the nation, God's word clearly marks life's paths.

Attend church regularly and exercise your faith in God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

When we offer Home Interphone. It lets you talk from room to room, answer the door, and take outside calls without racing through the house — a real step-up for everyone. Or maybe you want the pleasant tone of the Bell chime.

Announce your surprise, be sure to ask for the free Princess phone to place under the tree. It makes a special child's toy, too.

Just visit or call our Christmas Phoneland in the telephone office and order the telephone gifts you want. Call Roselyn Black — 569-2291 — and arrange for Christmas Phoneland gift or come by the local BUDAY.

"Hold That Phone"

Know color telephones are designed to give you to leave the receiver when you're called away from the phone in the midst of an unfinished conversation.

Have a handsome wall phone you may have a ridge on the top at each side. If you are away, just hang the receiver over this ridge. This has two advantages: it gives you a handy place to place the phone, and it keeps the spring cord from stretching and becoming unsightly in your home.

Have a table model, place the receiver across the top of the instrument just above the dial, so that it is recessed behind the shoulders of the phone base. No more worry about it falling off — these phones are designed to give you this extra convenience.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Aware of the fact that more money soon may be available for trunk-highway construction, 15 delegates of civic leaders descended on Austin.

They asked the Texas Highway Commission for a record number of dollars for highway work. Specifically, $171,056,000.

Houston and Harris County, presenting a plan of freeway development designed to carry Houston's traffic in 1980, asked for approval of an $89,400,000 program. That was the big one. But all of the 14 other projects were equally as pressing to the homefolks, even though less money was involved.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer feels that 22,000 of the 25,000 miles in the trunk-highway system are inadequate. He says that less attention has been paid to these "town-to-city" roads during the years in which urban freeways and farm-to-market roads have taken top priority.

Gov. Price Daniel brought the issue of highway financing to a head when he vetoed the $15,000,000 Colson - Briscoe farm-to-market road appropriation. Legislators had appropriated it for the year starting next September 1st.

Governor Daniel will ask the legislature, at its special session this winter, to cut down on farm-to-market construction and step up the money available for trunk-highway work.

Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association has endorsed the change.

Governor Daniel will ask the person to the Texas Farm Bureau convention in Galveston November 12-15 to try to get that powerful rural group to accept the plan.

Business Coming Back — A steady growth in Texas retail trade in 1961 is reported by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

Despite a GulfCoast slowdown in September, due to Hurricane Carla, retail sales for the first nine months of 1961 pulled to within one per cent of the sales for the same period of 1960. First six months of 1961 were three per cent behind 1960.

September sales were off, largely because people bought heavily in August to avoid the sales tax. But the nine-month figures indicate to the Bureau's economists that things are looking better.

A big gain in construction in 1961 has helped the business picture. Not even Carla's September blow could head off a new nine-month record in the construction field in Texas. The UT Bureau found $1,047,625,000 in construction authorized the first nine months of 1961, five per cent above 1960's first three quarters.

Recovery of the home building business was the major factor. Third quarter saw $169,127,000 worth of one-family homes authorized. This was 23 per cent above the same quarter of 1960. Apartment construction is nearly double the rate of the previous year.

More Taxes?—James W. McGrew research director of the Texas Research League, told the group's annual meeting that additional state spending of about $50,000,000 a year is in sight for the two years starting September 1, 1963.

New sales tax will provide part of the added money, McGrew predicted. Other taxes will just about produce the extra money. But it will require some economizing to make ends meet in the 1963 session of the Legislature in spite of the huge new tax.

Growth of Texas is the reason for the added spending. Growth means more children, more schools, more patients in mental hospitals, more college students, more cars and more highways to hold them.

More people mean more governmental spending to serve them.

Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey, main speaker at the League's luncheon, said Texans should be commended for their willingness to accept the added tax burdens needed to finance education and other essential services.

Ramsey provided some startling figures. While he was lieutenant governor, presiding over the Texas Senate, state spending increased nearly two and a half times, from $520,000,000 to $1,200,000,000 a year from 1950 to 1961.

In defense of the Legislature, he said it wasn't "free spending." Spending was necessary for essential programs like education, highways, welfare, hospitals and the like, Ramsey explained.

Rep. Jesse M. Osborn of Muleshoe has some tax cutting in mind. In a letter to Governor Daniel he proposed that the State ad valorem tax be abolished, and the sales tax revenue be used to make up the gap.

So far, sales tax revenues have only begun to trickle in to the State Treasury. So the state's main checking account is still $86,850,569 in the red. If good business conditions continue and income is up, it will still be more than a year before the deficit is erased.

Cattle Rules—New rules invoked by the Texas Animal Health Commission are designed to protect areas where brucellosis control programs are under way.

control law, 78 counties, mainly in West and South Texas, have set up programs for testing herds. Purpose is to see if they have brucellosis, and to dispose of cows having the disease.

So the commission has notified truckers, livestock auctions and commission merchants that movement of cows into the certified areas is restricted. They must have been tested and shown free of brucellosis before they can be moved from an un-certified county into a certified county.

Then the new owner must keep them quarantined. He must have them retested in 30 to 60 days before he can put them with his herd.

Restrictions do not apply to steers, spayed heifers, calves under eight months of age, and cales under 30 months which have been officially vaccinated against burcellosis.

Texas Monument — A delegation of Texans headed by Governor Daniel will journey to Vicksburg, Mississippi, on November 4th, to dedicate a $100,000 monument to 35 Texans who played heroic roles in the defense of Vicksburg.

Ceremony will be a part of the Texas Civil War Centennial observance.

Monument was authorized by the voters of Texas in the 1953 constitutional amendment which switched revenue from the Confederate pension tax to a state building program.

Movement to build such a monument was started by Confederate veterans and was carried on for more than 50 years by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

TB Campaign—Story of how one county has just about whiped tuberculosis was told at the Texas Tuberculosis Association meeting.

Bell County set up a chest clinic in 1954. Persons who had contacts with known TB patients were asked to come in for free check-ups. But if they did not come, warrants were issued to bring them in.

After 3,162 clinic visits, the program has located 64 new cases of TB over the years. But it has worked so well at checking spread of the disease that last year only one case was found when tuberculin tests were given extensively.

Dr. Howard Smith, head of the TB division of the State Health Department, said it took a lot of hard work by Bell County people, but it has paid off.

Loan Study—A committee of the Texas Legislative Council went to work with its staff to bring a study on loans and lenders up to date.

Acting Lieut. Gov. Bruce Reagan named Rep. Criss Cole of Houston to head the committee. He was author of the constitutional amendment which gives the Legislature power to allow interest rates to exceed 10 per cent.

Other members of the study committee are Sen. Neveille Colson of Navasota, Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock, Rep. Joe Cannon of Mexia and Rep. Murray of Watson of Mart.

Governor Daniel asked for the study updating so he can have it ready as the number one topic when he calls the Legislature into special session.

Theta Epsilon Met Monday Nov. 13th

Theta Epsilon Sorority met November 13th, in the home of Helen Cornelius. A Thanksgiving devotional was prepared by Bobbye Slusher, and presented by Evelyn Farris, entitled, "Thanksgiving Fragrance." It takes more than a kitchen to make Thanksgiving. There is more to it than food for today and harvest for winter. Beyond material blessing a wealth of intangible beatitudes goes into the essence of Thanksgiving. With Thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. Phil 4:6. The fragrance of Thanksgiving can well be a lifetime in the making.

Lea Glisson, president, conducted the opening ritual and business meeting. Various reports regarding the Style Show, "Holiday Belles," were given. Serving on the decorating committee are Kathleen Brammer, Marilyn Howard and Helen Cornelius. In charge of the in-between act numbers is Velma Goins and Evelyn Farris. "Holiday Belles" will be presented November 30, by the Elite Dress Shop at the Town Hall with Mrs. Jo Brookman as commentator. Proceeds will be used for welfare projects of the chapter.

Highlighting the evening was the impressive pledge ceremony conducted by Lea Glisson, president, and Helen Cornelius, vice president, from the dining table which was covered with a beautiful yellow table cloth with an overskirt of white net, gathered at the corners with yellow satin bows. An arrangement of the traditional yellow jonquils adorned the center of the table with tapered candles on each side. Yellow carnation corsages and year bzoos were given to each pledge. Receiving pledge pins were Ruth Hilligas, Pat Dunn, Helen Eaton, La Donna Sheperd and Mary Tullis.

A cosmetic case was won as door prize by Evelyn Farris.

All members participated in the closing ritual. Delicious refreshments were served to pledges and Kathleen Brammer, Velma Goins, Evelyn Farris, Marilyn Howard, Lea Glisson, Patsy Adams, Ruby Van Loh by the hostesses Helen Cornelius.

Mrs. Cauthorn, program leader, spoke on "The Household of God," she quoted Paul often called an intellectual individualist, carried a deep concern for every Christian in the household of faith. He was deeply hurt when that fellowship was bruised, broken or divided. His concern for the household of faith comes out boldly at least five times in his letter to the Galatians.

Mrs. Copeland spoke on "World Methodist Councils." She said 1890 was the beginning of the World Council and they had been meeting at different countries and the last one in August 1961 was held in Oslo, Norway. There Methodists from fifty different countries met to discuss their beliefs and their witness to Christ's teachings in a world of turmoil. She told of our own pastors uniting for a better understanding of our city.

Silent prayer for all Missions around the world. A nice poem by our own Ann Minga was read.

Senior Class News

Jim Davey, president, called the second class meeting of the year to order, and Patricia Simmons read the minutes of the previous meeting and gave the treasurer's report. Jim then explained the changing of the theme for the Homecoming Float. One of the main money raising projects — the selling of Burk Star Subscriptions, will be held through the month of November. It was decided that each member of the class was to sell at least three subscriptions.

Perry Hoover gave the conditions that the senior had to take into consideration to go on the Senior Trip. Harry Small gave some suggestions of places in which the class might go. Each senior who was interested in going turned their name in to the secretary. Because of the big success of the two previous parties given, it will be held in the motion was made and seconded that a Thanksgiving Party be given. It will be held in the Youth Center, November 20th from 7:30 to 10:30. It will be a semi-formal affair. Admission will be 50c per couple, and 35c for single admission.

Appreciation was given by Jim Davey for the class participation as well as the sponsor's help. The meeting was adjourned.

When the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence, it may be that they take better care of it over there.—Cecil Selie (Quote).
