The First Savings & Loan Association reported an increase in total assets to more than $1,900,000 today which represents a one year gain in excess of one million dollars, according to Claude Meadows, Executive Vice President of the institution.

He said that the association had advanced in all phases of its activities during the year 1961, joining savings and loan associations throughout the nation in attracting a record $8.5 million in new savings.

The total number of savers in the association is increasing each month. They received dividends of more than $44,000 from the institution in 1961 at a rate of 4% per annum.

The Board of Directors has approved future payments of dividends on a quarterly basis beginning immediately, and has authorized Mr. Meadows to announce an anticipated rate of 5% per annum, payable March 1, 1962.

Ft. Worth Rodeo Bigger Than Ever

The 1962 entertainment lineup for the world's original indoor rodeo, the Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo, has been completed—and it looks like a real bonanza for the fans, says President-Manager W. R. Watt.

TV's popular "Bonanza" show will furnish the two top stars for the rodeo entertainment slate. Lorne Greene as rancher Ben Cartwright and Texan born Dan Blocker as huge Hoss will appear in person at all 20 performances of the Fort Worth Rodeo, January 26 through February 4.

Blocker and Greene have helped jump "Bonanza" to the top of the heap, replacing the Dinah Shore Show in Sunday night TV prime time. Though Hoss and Ben will furnish the Fort Worth Rodeo's humor, audiences will look elsewhere for its beauty.

They'll find it amply supplied in "Miss Texas," Fort Worth's Linda Loftis, who will ride in every rodeo grand entry and sing the national anthem to open each performance; and in "Miss Rodeo America of 1961", pretty Marie Mass of Pinon, Colo. Miss Mass also will ride in all 20 grand entries, and will compete as one of the rodeo's 41 swift riding ranch girl barrel racers.

The spotlight will fall also on trick riding and roping Montie Montana, who holds a unique distinction. In the 1953 inaugural parade for President Eisenhower, Montana neatly slipped a loop over the President's head as he sat in the reviewing stand. The President responded with his famous smile, but the Secret Service has since made it plain that they prefer Montie's skill be confined to rodeo arenas.

The fabled ability and intelligence of Scotch Sheep Dogs will be displayed at every Fort Worth Rodeo performance, as Arthur Allen's canine troupe goes through their paces with live sheep in the Will Rogers Coliseum arena.

It's to be an honest exhibition of what the working sheep dog can do, for the dogs are not merely show performers. They have earned their honors in many actual field trials.

President-Manager Watt pointed out that the main course of every Fort Worth Rodeo performance is furnished by the cowboys. In all, approximately 400 of the rugged individualists will be competing for about $70,000 in saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling bull riding and calf roping.

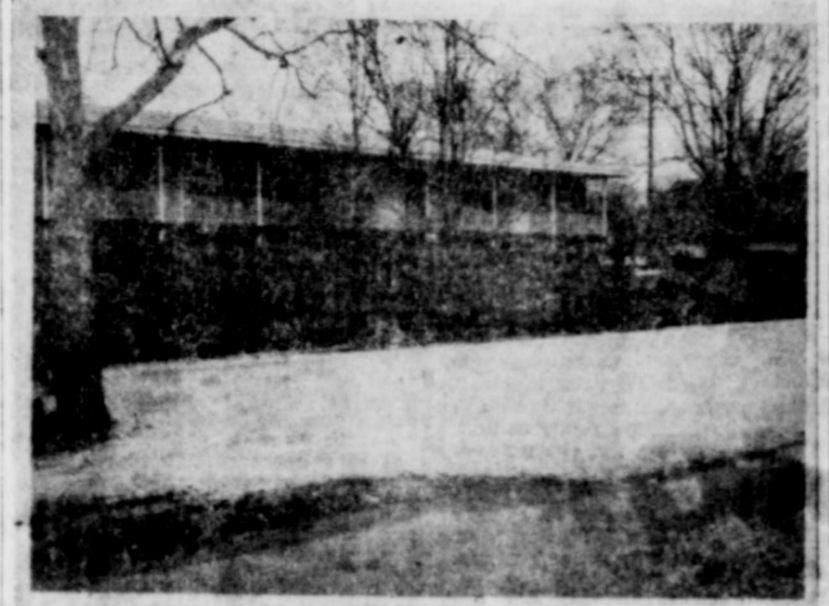

Still more icing on the cake will be the ranch girl barrel races, open cutting horse competition and horse show classes—all taking place at all 20 rodeo performances in Fort Worth.

Action will start at 8 p. m. Friday, January 26 and there will be rodeo performances at 10 a. m., 2 and 8 p. m. the next day. Then, Sunday through the closing Sunday, February 4, rodeo performances will start at 2 and 8 p. m. daily. Ticket prices are $3 and $2.50 for all nights and Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons, and $2.50 and $2 for Monday through Thursday afternoons and Saturday morning.

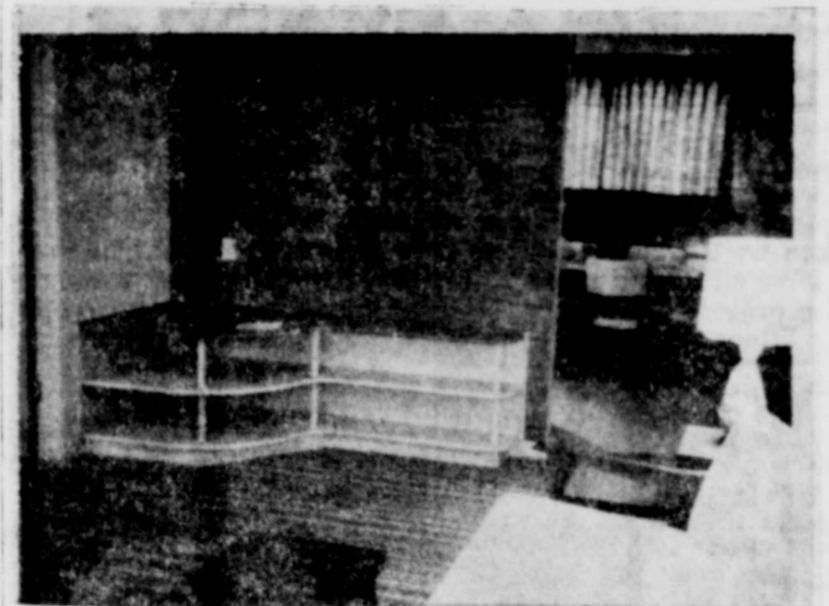

Tickets for the 1962 Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo, good for admission to the grounds also, may be ordered from the Fort Worth Stock Show, P. O. Box 150, Fort Worth. Exact performances desired should be specified.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Broyles and Jobie during the Christmas Holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Broyles and children and Miss Beverly Frost of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. John Cox and children of Garland, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Broyles and children, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lybarger and Mr. and Mrs. Hiler and Peggy, all of Wichita Falls.

Geo. Corse, Jr. For State Senate

George Corse, Jr., of Graham was in Burkburnett Wednesday in the interest of his race for Senate.

While in town he came by the Star office to place his announcement. His formal platform will be given at a later date.

George Corse, Jr. of Young County has announced his candidacy for the Texas 23rd Senatorial District for the May 5 primary. Corse will oppose incumbent Sen. George A. Moffett of Chillicothe.

Corse is a businessman in Graham and a former resident of Megargel, Stamford, Bryson and Seymour when he taught school. He is married and has one son.

Corse entered the senatorial race as a conservative in politics and opposing excessive government costs and the "something for nothing" philosophy. He opposed the general sales tax and believes many costly overlapping, red tape, paper work jobs could be eliminated.

In 1958, Corse was elected to the office of county superintendent of Young County on the platform of going to Austin and trying to persuade the state legislature to abolish the office.

He continued to carry the fight for abolition of this office until in 1961 both houses enacted the bill to permit the people within each individual county to abolish the post by popular vote.

The World War II veteran of the Air Force entered the race saying, "Knowing what I do about the Austin scene, I feel I can be of real service to my district and state as a state senator."

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chitwood and Glenn and Mr. C. C. Chitwood attended funeral services for John C. Chitwood at Coolidge, Arizona, December 29th. Johnnie died of a heart attack December 26th. He was a former Burkburnett resident.

"Don't expect to enjoy the cream of life if you keep your milk of human kindness all bottled up."

When older women get together, lunch is a three-hour affair, usually followed, on return to their respective homes, by telephone calls in which unfinished business is discussed.

Who Must File Federal Income Tax Returns

All citizens or residents of the United States, including minor children, who had gross incomes of $600 or more in 1961, must file a federal income tax return. Murray C. King, Administrative Officer, Internal Revenue Service, Wichita Falls, Texas, announced today.

If the taxpayer is 65 or over as of December 31, 1961, he or she is not required to file unless his or her gross income for 1961 was at least $1,200.

The IRS representative added that even though a taxpayer is not required to file under these rules, he or she must file to obtain a refund, if any income tax was withheld from his or her pay.

He said there is one exception to the general rule. Self-employed persons such as sole proprietors, partners, and independent contractors, must file an income tax return and pay a self-employment tax, if net earnings from self-employment were $400 or more.

Many questions about federal income tax returns can be answered by telephoning the IRS office.

Oh, yes, the filing deadline this year is Monday, April 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Adus and daughter and Mrs. Ava Dane of Gladewater, Mrs. R. R. Langston of Denison and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Turner and Mr. and Mrs. John Turner of Midland were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Deckard during the Christmas holidays.

Will We Run Out Of Oilmen?

This country is not going to run out of oil. Its present reserves stand at the highest level in history. This did not happen by accident. An idea of some of the work that went into developing these reserves is dramatically highlighted by the record of the oil and gas industry during 1959. In that year it spent some $6.9 billion dollars to find, develop and produce oil and gas, drilling some 38,825 miles of wells. Over 19,000 wells turned out to be dry holes at an average cost of $43,000 dollars apiece.

The inevitable trend in the oil exploration business is for costs to go up. As the country becomes more fully explored, and likely spots are developed, wells must be driven deeper, and in more inaccessible locations. Finding and developing oil reserves has never been a snap job, but it is becoming even less so as the years go by.

Congress has long recognized the risks involved in exploring for oil and other natural resources. Reserves become exhausted and new ones must be found. Depletion allowances have been provided for more than one hundred extractive industries. In the case of oil, producing companies are allowed to deduct 27 1-2 percent of the income which they receive from the sale of crude oil before paying their federal income tax. This has been no profit bonanza, the average rate of return for the domestic oil industry runs below that for manufacturing companies in general. Yet this chance to gain back part of the immense cost of a new well, if it is productive, has been a major incentive for the men who wildcat for oil. But common sense often does not rule in politics, and this time tested but much misunderstood tax policy is perennially under fire.

As the president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America recently pointed out, "This is but

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

One of the most damning indictments against Krushchev's insane preoccupation with nuclear bombs has been that the fallout endangers infants.

Obviously, there is no excuse for the Kremlin actions. But by the same token, neither is there any logical way to excuse the action of Hoffa in the recent teamster's strike in New York in the milk industry when the infants of the nation's largest city were threatened with death by starvation.

And it seems equally as difficult to excuse the pettifoggery of local government.

For nine days the Hoffa forces kept milk from legally entering the city. And the essentiality of milk is such that it involves the matter of life or death, not in a theoretical sense, but in actuality.

There was a trickle of milk coming in, promptly named "bootleg" milk at 90 cents per quart. Obviously, in a situation such as existed, there are "fast buck" boys ready to take advantage. On the other hand, without condoning these prices, it is to be recognized this activity subjected them to danger from a "goon" squad, thus prices reflected a peril bonus.

Obviously, parents did not relish paying 90 cents a quart, but it was preferable to enduring the hunger pangs of starving infants.

But the first act in this direction of the mayor of New York City was to assign 200 detectives to hunt down the milk "bootleggers."

York City was to assign 200 detectives to hunt down the milk "bootleggers." It apparently did not occur to him that his first duty was to see there was freedom on public streets and highways for milk trucks to move over them.

Eventually, public pressure in New York forced government to take action to partially lift the illegal milk embargo.

This furnishes a sad commentary on present leadership in many areas of government.

And it is also significant that among the office holders who so blatantly forsake their oath in deference to the demands of the bosses of labor monopolies, are those who take the stump to decry the growth of so called "extremist wings" as Birch society, others.

There is no intent here to take any sides on this question. But it was inevitable these organizations spring into being.

A revolution does not necessarily have to be communist. The rebellion against tyranny that led to 1776 was headed by such middle class men as Washington, Jefferson, Revere, Dr. Warren, and others. In 1861 the leaders of the north were from the middle class who were strongly opposed to what they considered the tyranny of slave owning. And the southern patriots were middle class men who were opposed to what they felt was the tyranny of the northern industrialists.

And it is absurd for politicians to call upon people to observe law and order when these politicians have sold law and order down the river to the Hoffas. The law must protect all without exclusion... even helpless starving infants.

one area of national policy which could, in the years ahead, have a far-reaching effect on the industry's ability to meet increasing energy demands of the future. It has been well established that the only likelihood of running out of oil within the foreseeable future would be through the process of running out of oilmen. So long as there is an incentive to risk in America, we are assured of having oilmen."

He Said It Best!

This is what the beloved Will Rogers thought of the weekly newspaper:

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even my chili, but leave me my newspaper."

"Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly and bloodshed ensued,' or 'Jes Bushyhead, our local M.D., is having one of the best years in his career, practically speaking—but they just won't pay him when they get well,' and 'election ain't far off, and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'"

"Now all that don't seem much news to you. But it is news, especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So, no matter how punk you think your local newspaper is, let them take it away from you for a while and see how you feel. The old newspaper, I think is about our biggest blessing."

"So let's read and be merry, for tomorrow the paper may not have enough ads to come out."

Capsule Editorial

We often make the mistake of believing that money is wealth. Of course, it is only the symbol of work done, services rendered, value received. It is not meant to be used as power over others, not to be hoarded, stolen, or squandered. It is stamped "In God We Trust"—but many have mentally inserted the letter L, making it read "In Gold We Trust." Our personal standard has sometimes been the Gold Standard. Wouldn't a much finer one be the Golden Rule?

The United States has new therapy for world problems: Spending. As a neophilosopher recently said, the idea prevails in Washington, if you throw money at your problems, they disappear.

Community Shelters To Be Stocked With Survival Biscuits

Crushed wheat survival biscuits, known as bulgurs, will be stocked in community fallout shelters across the nation by the federal government.

The Pentagon at Washington is considering plans to produce 150,000,000 pounds of the parched, crushed wheat wafers.

The new form of bulgur, used for centuries as a food staple, was developed by the Department of Agriculture. It will be made from government surplus wheat.

Bulgurs, which experts say are an adequate nutritional food, taste like graham crackers. They will be packaged and stocked in a manner to keep them fit for use for five years. The bulgurs are expected to serve about 30,000,000 to 50,000,000 persons in shelters now being planned. Plans call for enough wafers in each shelter to provide 2,000 calories daily to the authorized number of occupants for a 14-day period. The government plans to begin production of the wafers as soon as possible to permit immediate stocking of the shelters as they are established.

Time was when the price of a Christmas tree was five cents a tree—and the buyer figured on paying for one out of six.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH -- MILLIONS LEAVE THEM THERE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Early churches used steeples to make the building higher than all others in the city. People could see God's House from any direction, and could easily find their way to a place of worship. Today, with many office buildings towering into the sky, churches are not always the tallest buildings. However, churches still point the way to God, and provide a place of worship. ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY.

SCHOOL NEWS

BIDS TO BE OPEN FOR CAFETERIUM

Bids will be opened February 2nd for a School Cafeterium, Library and Band Hall to be constructed at the new High School addition. The buildings are to be completed and ready for use by September 1st, 1962.

Work has already begun on eleven class rooms by the C. & W. Construction Company. The newly constructed Gym will be ready for use around the middle of January, 1962.

Tips for Smokers

Keep plenty of noncombustible ash trays about your home during the holidays and empty them often, the National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends.

The National Board points out that one out of every four fires is caused by matches and smoking.

If you are having house guests, make sure that upstairs bedrooms as well as the living room, dining room and kitchen are well stocked with ashtrays.

And, when you empty an ash-tray, make sure no fire is in it.

PLAN MEETING FOR FUTURE FURNITURE BUYERS

Special work on furniture buying is being planned by the Wichita County Home Improvement Committee for 1962. This work will be in the form of meetings for all homemakers interested in learning features to check when buying furniture. Mrs. Gale Lowrance is chairman of this committee. If interested in receiving more information, send your name to Mrs. Lowrance or Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, 305 Federal Building, Wichita Falls, Texas. A notice will then be mailed to you, giving details just prior to the meeting.

If the weather is cold enough an overcoat as heavy as a horse blanket seems as light as a nightshirt.

MR. AND MRS. G. W. PEMBERTON CELEBRATE 50th ANNIVERSARY

Celebrating their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a tea given at the Town Hall Sunday, December 24th, were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Pemberton. Hosts for the event were their 11 children.

Approximately 250 friends and relatives from Burkburnett and the surrounding area came to honor the couple. Receiving the guests were the children. Presiding at the Guest Book were the two eldest granddaughters, Jeanette Lynskey and Judy Ann Pemberton.

The table was covered with a white cloth, centered with a three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, with an arrangement of white glittered mums. Crystal and Silver appointments completed the table decor.

Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton have lived in and around Burkburnett since 1938, coming here from Mineral Wells, Texas. They were married in 1911; she being the former Miss Lucy Ellen Herring. Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton have 11 children, 24 grandchildren, and 3 great grandchildren. Some of their children reside in Burkburnett. Mr. Pemberton has been a farmer for many years. They now reside at 700 Magnolia St.

Children attending were: Kyle Pemberton, son, Oakland, Calif.; Herbert Pemberton, son, San Leandro, Calif.; Mrs. Geo. Jerko, daughter, San Leandro, Calif.; T. C. Pemberton, son, Pico Rivera, Calif.; Mrs. Richard Eldridge, daughter, Pasadena, Texas; Mrs. Glen Lynskey, daughter, Burkburnett; Bill Pemberton, son, Velma, Okla.; Millard Pemberton, son, Wichita Falls; G. W. Pemberton, Jr., son, Wichita Falls; J. W. Pemberton, son, Wichita Falls, and Don Pemberton, son, Burkburnett.

Radiation Fallout Report

Despite additional fallout from recent Russian nuclear tests, radiation exposure of humans from tests by all nations since 1945 remains well within acceptable health limits.

This was the report issued by the Atomic Energy Commission, in Washington, following an exhaustive study of fallout.

The report said there is no danger whatever to persons now living. It estimated that the radiation exposure over the next 70 years of babies born in 1962 will be on-fiftieth the dose scientists say humans can absorb without ill effect.

On any given day, the report said, radiation from nuclear test debris in the atmosphere is less than that from the sun and other natural sources.

The report did not speculate on what radiation perils might be created by additional tests.

We agree with the judge who said that nasty books are a factor in the corruption, delinquent youth; delinquency.

I continue to look at the clock to see what the time now I also look in the newspapers to be sure what day is.

HAPPY FISH

At a friend's apartment I saw a rectangular glass job in which two 4-inch goldfish with 2-inch tails were swimming. At home my small goldfish bowl housed a half-dead 2-inch fish that looked and acted as sick as I felt.

Nothing would do until I had a new aquarium, so we drove as fast as we could to Woolworth's where in five minutes I bought a stainless steel and glass box, 10 x 6 x 8 inches, for $3.50. Pebbles, greens, statuary, and food came to 60c. Two healthy fish became mine for 30c.

Everything came out nicely. I'm pleased and the fish seem pleased.

If nothing can be done about it, why not lock the door and go to bed?

Much work has been done on the City's 60 water wells during the past year. Those in lowlands have been raised and placed on platform to avoid flooding. New up to date electrical system has been installed on most of them.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

In the new year coming up, the Reciprocal Tariff Treaty act will expire.

It can be expected that whether or not to renew this measure will be one of the hot issues in Congress.

During the great depression Congress passed this act by which it stripped itself of control over tariff matters through the Tariff Commission and turned them over to the executive branch of the government.

C. W. Harder

At that time, world trade all over was stalled. U.S. made goods were barred from many foreign nations by the tariffs erected against them, and it was felt that if some one had the authority to bargain the log jam in trade might be broken. In other words, agreements would be made, for example like "we'll let you ship up lampshades with no tariff, if you will let our lead pencils into your country duty free. Then we'll both have enough of each other's money to buy other things from each other."

Whether it worked or not, no one can really say, because by the time the matter got started, the European economy was thrown out of kilter as it prepared for the big blood bath that started in 1939.

However, after the war, it really got into top speed. The United Nations was formed, and it was going to raise wages all over the world, and the U.S. started its huge multi-billion dollar global giveaway plan.

In nation after nation, the American taxpayers treated the big industrial monopolies to most modern production equipment... even financed training courses by U.S. experts.

But somehow, those foreign monopolies had a deaf ear when it was said they were supposed to raise wages. They just kept workers at the same old starvation scale, but they produced much more cheaply than even before, because they could produce on the wonderful new machinery American taxpayers had bought them.

And everytime there was a drive to raise the U.S. tariffs the State Dept. would step in with a "Tut-tut, can't have these people thinking kind thoughts about communism, you know!"

The results of this policy are found in the present American unemployment figures, in many distress areas of the nation where entire industries were forced to shut down by the cheap foreign competition turning out goods on American machinery.

Just recently it was decided to pay American lead and zinc miners a subsidy to keep them in operation in case of a national emergency. They could not produce for the price of the imported metals.

Thus, it seems if Congress renews the Reciprocal Tariff Treaty Act, Congress will also have to subsidize many American industries to keep them alive. Bureaucrats may ignore arithmetic, but even they cannot change arithmetic.

between the various states. An example of this equalization provision is shown in the above paragraph where Texas employers pay taxes amounting to $43 million and Texas workers receive in return only $18 million of that amount. The difference of approximately $25 million will be apportioned out by the Federal Government to those states who have very liberal programs or who pay out more benefits than they collect in taxes from their employers.

(4) To help finance these programs, additional taxes (which are paid by employers) will be obtained by increasing the taxable wage base from $5,000 to $4,800.

It H. R. 7640 should become effective next year, the cost of the unemployment insurance program to employers would be greatly increased. In Texas alone the cost would rise from $85 million to $156 million, or an increase of $71 million. Even more alarming are the "stepped up" increases provided in the bill over the next five years so that by 1968 the total cost would show a minimum increase of $106 million, assuming normal increases in the labor force and wages.

It is impossible to accurately predict the exact cost to an individual employer, but the cost to an average employer, if this bill becomes law, can be estimated. The state cost would increase in 1962 approximately 44% and the Federal tax cost would increase approximately 220%. By 1968 the state cost would increase 174% and the Federal tax cost would increase approximately 400%. The following shows a comparison of the present cost and the increased cost to the average employer for the years 1961 and 1968.

Many employers in Texas enjoy a relatively low tax rate due to our "Experience Rating System." The Federal Standards Bill will so greatly increase the cost of the program that the advantages of the experience rating system likely will be completely nullified.

The last regular session of the Texas Legislature passed a law which established a floor in our Trust Fund. If our Fund balance falls below $225 million on the October 1st computation date, the tax rates of all employees will automatically be increased by .1 of 1% for balance falls below $225 million. Because of this floor provision in the Texas law, practically speaking, we no longer have a maximum tax rate of 2.7%. The maximum tax rate could go as high as 7.2%—if our Trust Fund was completely depleted. It is obvious, therefore, that if H. R. 7640 becomes law the floor provision in our law would be triggered, resulting in a substantial increase in the tax rate of each employer. Such increase would be over and beyond the calculations which have been given heretofore.

The employers of Texas pay every cent of the employment tax. This tax is in addition to the employers' part of the Social Security tax. Texas has a good program. Texas has assumed its responsibilities in the unemployment compensation field by providing for increased benefits to the extent that employees in Texas, effective January 1, 1962, can draw as much as $37 per week for 26 weeks if they have earned sufficient wage credits.

Immediate action must be taken if H. R. 7640 is to be defeated. Congress will start action on this bill immediately after January 2nd. It's up to every employer to make his own position known to his own Congressman and Senators.

Bulletin No. 9 Released by West Texas Chamber of Commerce

FEDERAL ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL STATE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION PROGRAMS A SERIOUS THREAT — EMPLOYERS MUST ACT AT ONCE — COSTS WOULD INCREASE TREMENDOUSLY.

The right of the individual states to establish and administer their own unemployment compensation programs is seriously threatened by the "Federal Standards Bill" now pending in Congress. Action on this bill (H. R. 7640 by Congressman King of California) will be considered very early in the next session—probably in January.

Immediate action must be taken to oppose this bill for the protection of our state administered programs and our experience rating tax system.

Briefly, this bill provides for:

(1) Federal Benefit Standards requiring each state to establish maximum weekly benefit amounts equal to a specified percentage of the average weekly wage in the state. By 1968, through graduated steps, the weekly benefit amount would equal two-thirds of the state average weekly wage. In Texas this would establish a maximum of $67 against the present Texas maximum of $37.

(2) The bill would make permanent the Temporary Extended Unemployment Compensation Act passed during the last session of Congress. Under this temporary act Texas employers will pay approximately $43 million additional Federal taxes in the next two years, but Texas workers will receive only $18 million of this amount.

(3) The bill provides for equalizing the cost of the unemployment insurance programs

MRS. ROY MAGERS

A series of articles on "Gardening for Beauty and Pleasure" by Mrs. Roy Magers, will be a weekly feature in the Burkburnett Star. Mrs. Magers, whose home address is on Shannon Road, is chairman for the Wichita Falls Garden Club. Mrs. Magers is one of three accredited flower show judges in Burkburnett. She has been very active in Burkburnett and Wichita Falls in various club activities for several years. Among her many club activities she has devoted a considerable amount of time and effort to the Garden Clubs. Her articles on "Gardening for Beauty and Pleasure" are of an informative nature, backed by experience and knowledge of the work.

Have you ever noticed how an architect will add a tree to the sketch of a house or building? That's because trees are so important in creating the effect of a finished design.

Nothing can more enhance the beauty, usefulness and enjoyability of your yard or garden than few well placed trees. The objective of every home owner should be to have a place of beauty with living trees, that will become monuments in the minds of children and grandchildren, friends, and neighbors.

Just think how many people, when visiting the old home, point with pride to a particular tree, "that my father planted when I was a baby."

Properly selected flowering trees can provide big bargains in beauty for every gardener.

Among the flowering trees, there are plants for any situation, tall, short, broad, narrow—for dry situation or wet—for sun or shade, mild climate or severe.

There are also trees which are attractive every day of the year.

Choose a few tall majestic ones to form a pleasant background, or accents, and to provide shade around your home. Large trees planted near the front corners of your lot also frame the picture of your home as seen from the street. The addition of some shorter trees will provide pleasing shapes and shadow effects.

This is important. Too many gardeners see a tree in bloom and buy it. Then when they get home they stand in the yard, trying to decide where to plant it. Such an approach has faults. First you should decide whether your garden needs a tree or trees. Then decide where they should go, what size and shape they should possess. What color the blooms should be, and when they should bloom to compliment the surrounding plantings—or better yet—extend the blooming season.

When you know what your garden needs, go over the list of available plants with an eye for all season attractiveness, pay attention to three which have attractive fruits, evergreens, foliage or good autumn color, attractive growth shape either in branching or outline, unusual bark color, or other points which spread the attractive value.

Next, check on possible troubles, such as probable insects or diseases, which will have to be combated to keep the plant thriving. This item alone makes many plants seem far less desirable than the bloom alone indicates. Also is the plant short lived or will it settle down and "grow old along with me."

When you have made a list of prospects based on these points, see how many of them will fit your own combination of soil, climate and light conditions.

Lets consider the season of bloom. This is a weak point in many gardens. There is a riot of bloom from late April or early May through mid-June. Then nothing—at least from the standpoint of flowering trees. With little care in selecting this blooming season it can be doubled at least.

So pay particular attention to blooms which come either very early or late. The early flowering plants are especially welcome, for when they bloom we are sick of winter and anxious for any sight of spring.

By taking this time and trouble in making selections you will multiply your enjoyment of flowering trees many times. You will probably bypass the flowering peach, many of the course growing flowering cherries, locust and the like. These plants have five to ten days of more or less spectacular beauty, plus some major troubles, and 50 weeks of moderate interest or less.

Among flowering trees, magnolias are outstanding. The saucer magnolia is often chosen because it will flower when only a few feet tall.

Shadow blooms should hold a warm spot in the hearts of everyone for they give us our very first promise of spring. It is always a delightful surprise to see their feathery whiteness among wintry looking trees.

The enchanting dogwood always steals the show in early spring. It looks equally at home in gardens or woodland. It has creamy white flowers. Among new pinks, is the "Cherokee Chief" with deep red blooms.

Other good small flowering trees are the Red-bud and crab-apple. Red-bud or Judas, trees offer rose-pink blooms before leaves unfold. Flowering crab-apple display masses of white blooms in mid-spring.

The supreme loveliness of a "tree" wisteria is a sight to behold. You can grow one of these beauties to maturity in four years, by first topping a dormant wisteria vine which measures four to six feet tall. Then stake securely until a strong trunk develops. Each year prune top and all wild vining growth to shape the tree. Grow them in full sun and rich soil.

One of the most popular, attractive and easiest to grow flowering tree, is the black haw. It has snowball-like flower clusters and showy seeds. For an extra thrill, the foliage turns deep red in fall.

Some of the most popular trees around Wichita Falls are the beautiful oaks, minnosa, sycamore, magnolia, fruitless mulberry and willow. The pine oak is one of the finest specimen trees for your lawn. It has numerous small limbs and fine textured foliage which turns a beautiful red.

Clumps or groups of live oak are also very beautiful in our area and have the advantage of being evergreen.

Live oaks become large trees with canopies of branches that form a dense shade. Both types of oak are very hardy and are long-lived trees.

A rapid grower is the fruitless mulberry widely used in our area. It is hardy, resists drought and heat and stands neglect and alkaline soils. It quickly reaches 20 to 50 feet heights.

To add importance and a look of friendliness to your home, try planting a few of these trees this fall and winter—you'll be glad you did.

So if you judge all the factors well, you will find bargains in beauty trees to enhance your garden every day of the year.

Working With Wood

MOISTURE IN WOOD

The moisture content of the wood is the weight of the water in the wood. This weight is expressed as a percentage of the weight of the wood when dry. Thus, if a green piece of wood is said to have a moisture content of 75 per cent, it means that the water in the wood weighs 75 per cent as much as does the dry wood.

The moisture content of green wood is approximately the same as the moisture content in the living tree. In some species of wood the moisture content is over 100 per cent. In other words, the weight of water in the wood is greater than the weight of the dry wood. Sapwood usually has a higher moisture content than heartwood.

When dry wood absorbs moisture, it swells. When wet wood is dried, it shrinks. The swelling of wood sometimes causes drawers and doors to stick in wet weather. Shrinkage of wood may open cracks in furniture and flooring. Exposed wood can be protected from moisture by treating with water repellents or by coating with a suitable finish. Wood used indoors should be installed dry and be kept dry to prevent swelling and shrinking.

Dry wood is stronger than green wood. That is the reason why so much importance is attached to the use of dry wood and the protection of wood from moisture.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS-PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—"Escheat" is a word you'll hear often during the next 30 days.

With the fourth session of the 57th Legislature under way the most important item on the agenda is "escheat". Governor Price Daniel called this third special session because he believes the more than 1,500 banks and savings and loan associations should be subject to escheat.

But just what is "escheat"? It's a process as ancient as Roman history; written in Old England's feudal law; described by Webster as, "Reversion of land to the crown, or to the state in the United States, by failure of persons legally entitled to hold the same."

Escheat provisions were incorporated in the constitution of the Republic of Texas, and enacted as a state statute in 1885.

Texas law always has stated that when anybody dies without heirs, or disappears and can't be found, his property shall be turned over to the state after seven years. But the law has lacked a provision by which persons or institutions holding property of missing persons were required to report it.

Governor Daniel started pushing for a provision three years ago and last summer the Legislature finally passed a reporting provision. But the bankers have fought it long and successfully. They are still exempt from the reporting law, although all other businesses and public agencies must comply.

During the interim between sessions, a special house committee has been investigating enforcement of escheat laws applicable to banking institutions. Committee discovered that much of the $4,000,000 escheatable accounts lying dormant in Texas banks is being dissipated through service charges and recommended that:

1. The Legislature add banking institutions to the escheat enforcement law without delay, and require banks to advertise for lost owners after seven years.

2. That this matter receive prompt attention in the January session, because the committee estimates a year's delay would mean the loss of $1,000,000 through the procedure of service charges on accounts that don't require service.

3. That the committee keep on working to see if there are any other considerations which should be brought to the attention of the 58th Legislature.

Loan Shark Legislation — Although the Governor hasn't said he'll introduce loan legislation at the special session, it's considered a safe bet that the uproar over "loan shark" practices of sky-high interest rates will prompt him to place this issue on the January agenda. The Legislative Council had a heated debate, and voted 9-2 to commend a loan bill backed by Representative Criss Cole of Houston.

Cole's bill sets a 10 per cent ceiling on interest to be charged on loans.

A lender would be able to charge more than 10 per cent on loans under $1,500 only if he got a state license, paying $200 for investigation and $200 a year license fee. To get the license, he'd have to hold $15,000 in liquid assets for each loan office, and post a $20,000 surety bond, plus $5,000 for each branch, plus the $200 annual fee for each office.

Cole's bill calls for creation of a Consumer Finance Commission which would examine each lender's books annually, at the expense of the lender.

Interest charges would be limited to 10 per cent per annum on the amount of cash advance; plus a "service and availability charge" of 3/4th of one per cent per month for each $1 of the first $400 on the loan on loans over $100.

On loans under $100, the charge would be $1 for each $5 borrowed, with at least 15 days to be allowed to repay each $5 of the loan.

If excessive charges are made, the lender would have no right to collect principal or charges, and would be fined from $100 to $1,000, and confined to the county jail as long as six months.

The dissenting votes in the Legislative Council were from Senator Charles Herring of Austin, who calculates the minimum rates of loans of $1,500 to be 45 per cent, and Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who figures a $5 loan for 15 days would cost the borrower 464.4 per cent interest under the Cole bill.

Tourist Boosters Reach 1,000 — The 600 who decided to organize a Texas Tourist Council at the November "Texans for Tourists" conference here, have swollen to an estimated 1,000. They will gather in Austin on January 10 for the first Council meeting.

After the group approves a constitution and elects officers for the "nonpartisan nonprofit" tourist promotion organization, it will host a "dutch lunch" for all representatives and senators.

Luncheon will feature a presentation urging that money be made available from the General Fund to the Texas Highway Department for tourist advertising purposes.

W. Price, Jr., chairman of the Tourist Council's executive committee, writes "We have every reason to believe that the Governor will submit in his call appropriations for the tourist attraction program before our meeting on January 10."

Earlier, the committee estimated that $3,000,000 would be needed from General Revenue to get the advertising program underway. The council hopes to augment this amount with $2,000,000 in private subscriptions.

Presidential Task Force—Na tional interest in Texas' program of work with the mentally retarded resulted in the appointment of Charles E. Eskridge, director of the Division of Special Education of the Texas Education Agency, to the President's Task Force Committee on Education and Rehabilitation.

Eskridge will serve with physicians, scientists, educators and rehabilitation specialists selected from other sections of the country.

Approximately 5,000,000 Americans are mentally retarded, of whom four per cent reside in institutions at an annual cost of almost $300,000,000.

The Texas Education Agency has been notably successful in a cooperative school work program of local school education of mentally retarded children between the ages of six and 17.

Housing for the Aged—In an effort to stimulate housing for those men and women among Texas' 745,000 old folks who need either specially built small homes, apartments priced within their limited incomes or institutions that offer nursing care, the Governor's Committee on Aged has prepared a guide to federal building programs.

Guidebook outlines procedures and requirements for obtaining building loans from seven federal agencies, some of which are virtually unknown to the average citizen or organization.

Response has been so great that the original order of 3,000 copies is just about depleted. Committee Chairman Senator Crawford C. Martin has ordered a second printing.

SHORT SHORTS
Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has asked the Attorney General to take "all necessary steps" to stop dredging of a deep water channel in Calhoun County until that county's navigation district returns 20,630 acres of unused underwater land to the state.

Agriculture Commissioner C. White says he will run for re-election. He's been undefeated since he first won the post in 1950.

Senator Ralph W. Yarborough announces that preliminary design work has started on a special commemorative stamp honoring the late Sam Rayburn.

Brigadier General Everett Simpson is encouraging Texas men to enlist in the Texas National Guard's 36th Infantry Division. The six-months active duty training program will be reinstated this month.

UT's Bureau of Business Research reports retail sales in the state for November rose 1.9 per cent above October, and six per cent over November 1960. . . . 7.7 per cent more during the first 11 months of 1961, than in the same period last year.

Texas Highway Department reports a total of 61,979 miles of roads in the state network—far more than any other state's.

COLORS CHANGE ROOM SIZE

Color can change the apparent size or shape of a room. It can also suggest a sense of direction as well as space.

To make rooms look larger, Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, suggests that you use one color predominantly or a few colors in variations of light and dark, bright and dull tones.

For interesting contrast and a feeling of unity without monotony, use different textures with one color—textures such as those found in wood, marble, brick and fabric weaves.

A muted or lightly grayed color on walls lends distance and is an appropriate background for both people and furnishings.

A room will seem larger if you use the same solid color for walls, woodwork, and wall-to-wall carpeting.

You can raise the apparent height of a ceiling by making it lighter than the wall color. A dark floor will also help give the appearance of greater up and down spaciousness.

You can say to yourself that you will never fall in love again, and then you do.

CIVIL DEFENSE

MR. LAWRENCE KLAMON
Office of the Secretary of Defense, Washington

MR. LAWRENCE KLAMON

Mr. Klamon speaks to Civil Defense Directors and city officials at the State Conference of Defense and Disaster Relief Directors held recently in Austin, Texas. Due to nationwide interest in Civil Defense and the importance to local citizens of Mr. Klamon's talk, it is re-produced here in its entirety.

For many years state and local Civil Defense directors have been urging government at all levels to make preparations to protect the civilian population in the event of nuclear war. In July of this year, the President took action to give this program leadership and support needed for a long time.

The Soviet contrived crisis in Berlin and the Communists' resumption in nuclear testing has heightened the urgency of interest in Civil Defense. These events present Civil Defense officials at the federal, state and local levels an opportunity to rectify past inadequacies, now that we have executive and public support for our program. But as you know there are many problems in achieving this task we have set for ourselves—an adequately prepared civilian population to add strength to the defense of our country.

In his recent speech to the United States Civil Defense Council in Los Angeles, Assistant Secretary of Defense, Stewart Pittman—who is in charge of Federal Civil Defense Program—stated: "America being what it is, Civil Defense must be community-oriented and it must be personal initiative organized. It is my conviction that the federal program should be conceived in this philosophy." As you know, a vast program of federal supporting activity and guidance in Civil Defense is being developed, but as Mr. Pittman pointed out that "if the community is dead to the problem" supporting activity is pointless. With this policy guidance in mind I would like to discuss with you some Civil Defense subjects which I am sure are of concern to you; these include:

1. The present Department of Defense Organization as it affects you at municipal and state level of government.

2. The present National Shelter Program.

3. The new Warning Program (the NEAR System.)

4. Matching funds programs and the present Department of Defense Civil Defense Budget. In the range of tasks facing Civil Defense, the development of fallout protection has been given highest priority. Equally important, however, is a more rapid means of distributing warning information down to the family level (Project NEAR). Dynamic development in weapons, both in their effects and the speed of delivery have limited warning time in the missile era to about 15 to 30 minutes. A new and rapid warning system had to be developed. Thus, in preparing against an all-out attack priority must be given to these two tasks—fallout protection and warning.

Fallout protection is something which can be accomplished within available resources. This protection is needed for all governmental installations including those at the municipal level if legal authorities to assure the continuity of society itself are to survive. It is for reasons, therefore, that the President, in his recent letter to the Governor's Civil Defense Committee, stated a goal of fallout protection for all as a nationwide objective. I will have more to say about the details of this program later.

I know that many of you are asking: What about the old program? What about evacuation? What about the old probable target designations? What about existing planning assumptions and existing programs such as current training programs?

As for evacuation, we realize that reliance has been placed on this technique as a means of saving the civilian population in target cities in past civil defense planning. In an era in which surprise attack can come with little warning, however, a new orientation is clearly necessary. In certain localities evacuation may still be feasible on a strategic basis, but in general we all know that short warning time in the missile era and the long reach of fallout requires reorientation of many local plans and must include the movement of the populace into nearby shelters. You may be sure that there will be adequate federal guidance to assist you in your planning.

Because of the need for specific guidance in each locality concerning warning time, probable targets and probable effects, we plan to arm our Defense Department Regional Organizations with the best available information on these subjects so that the municipalities can through the states get specific information for your locality rather than generalized statements for the nation as a whole. In this area the Department of Defense Regional Headquarters in Denton, will be able to supply this information when available.

Much of the effort in the Pentagon in these first two months has gone into a quick start on the new program to bring into use shelter space for over 50,000,000 people in existing buildings, subways, tunnels or even caves. A by-product is a massive training program which will help spread the technology of anti-radiation construction through the Army Corps of Engineers, Navy Yards and Docks and about 2,000 civilian architects and engineers. Data on all major structures in the country will be massed in IBM cards for use in analyzing radiation protection capacity and for possible use in later modification of these buildings to increase sheltering capacity. Marking, stocking and equipping of these shelter spaces will take place during most of 1962. The success of this program will depend on you and place heavy demands on you.

What is the role of the municipal government in the new shelter program? What is the local defense director expected to do to carry out the objectives of the program? Since these shelters as marked are designed to protect the inhabitants of a particular city, town or county, the role of the local director is of key importance. The Department of Defense shelter program supports the local director in his responsibility to protect the citizens of his jurisdiction in war emergency. The work of the National Shelter Survey and subsequent phases must be tied in closely therefore to existing local governmental authorities. The local director will be asked to assist in the first phase of the National Fallout Shelter Survey in the following ways:

1. After a building has been identified for potential shelter use the local civil defense director will be asked to contact the local owner of the building to effect an agreement in a prescribed format for the use of the space designated as a shelter, if feasible.

2. The local director will be asked to provide the means by which these shelters are to be stocked. It will be his task to organize the local community to move shelter supplies from a point in the community where the federal government will stockpile these shelter supplies.

3. The local director will be responsible to develop a local plan for the use, maintenance and protection of designated shelter spaces and equipment in the community.

Basically at the community level it is in your hands to make a decision whether or not this shelter program can be made effective. We will be relying on your decision and your ability to rally local community support for this program. Since the local director's role will involve additional expense to the local civil defense organization (in some instances hiring of temporary personnel) provision will be made to assist you under the matching fund program.

Descriptive material outlining the entire program and the different tasks to be performed at the various levels of government in the present phase of the National Shelter Program will be made available to you through your Regional office in Denton. It is important that this first phase of the Shelter Program—the identification, marking, and stocking of shelters—be accomplished as speedily as possible. There will be many problems, but we have given sufficient authority to the regional director in your area who will be able to assist you thru your State Director. Working together, the end result of this first phase of the shelter program will be a marked increase in your capability to protect the citizens in your area.

You may be interested in the Defense Department Civil Defense Budget and the purposes for each budget item.

OCB has over one-quarter billion dollars this year, and most of it will go right down to the grass roots of the country.

Specifically, our appropriation is programmed to do these things:

- 1. In cooperation with local civil defense organizations, to find, work, mark, and furnish with food, water, radiation instruments and sanitary facilities the existing shelter space in buildings open to the public $169,300,000
- 2. To start a new warning system of the home buzzer-type and to improve command communications and radiological detection systems 27,800,000
- 3. To strengthen information programs including emergency broadcasting 5,000,000
- 4. Contributions for personnel, emergency operation centers and "hardware" to be equally matched by State or local funds 22,000,000
- 5. Research 15,000,000
- 6. Supporting Services 12,500,000

$251,600,000

Of special interest to you may be the item of 22 million dollars as the Federal Contributions appropriation. As you know, in addition to matching funds on a 50-50 basis with state or local government for Civil Defense organizational supplies and equipment, the Federal government has been matching funds for personnel and administrative costs—all designed to increase the operating capability of local Civil Defense.

The response of both state and local governments to the availability of these funds in the past have been unsatisfactory for the country as a whole. Only a few communities possess protected emergency operating centers. In many instances, advantage has not been taken of matching funds for training and equipment.

I know that community Civil Defense directors know this; but until the local government is willing to make financial sacrifices by allocating funds to be matched, we will not achieve an adequate capability at the local level of government. The efforts of millions of unpaid Civil Defense volunteers deserve the support of not only the Federal government but of county and municipal governments.

Most of you are planning budgets for the next year now. I urge you to attempt to obtain appropriation of sufficient amounts of money to take advantage of available matching funds.

We in the Department of Defense are taking a hard look at administrative impediments to your participation in the Federal matching funds program as well as the Surplus Property program. Our goal is to simplify and streamline procedures wherever possible.

We have talked of Civil Defense organization at all levels—which involve personnel, staffs and teams; of operational plans and planning guidance—which entail written or paper plans; of emergency equipment and supplies. But until we have trained persons to fill organizational slots, trained personnel who know the provision of current plans, trained teams to use emergency equipment and supplies properly, we will not have an effective Civil Defense. Therefore, you can expect a thorough review and improvement of training facilities and manuals, and training objectives. I believe we will have to do more by way of bringing training to the community level, and ways to do this are being studied.

I believe that vigorous leadership by the heads of local government is needed to solve the training problem. It does not cost a lot of money to train—mostly hard, unglamorous work. By setting requirements for minimal training of existing municipal resources, much can be accomplished.

Time does not permit that I elaborate in detail on all programs planned but I would like to mention the urgent need for providing reliable information to the public about the nature of the threat and what can be done on individual initiative by informed, responsible people. Every citizen will receive from the Federal government a set of suggestions for every American home owner about the precautionary steps to be taken because of the threat of nuclear war. This booklet should be ready for distribution in about a month.

In this and any other programs to support your preparations, we plan on a systematic method of keeping you officially informed in advance of announcement of new programs.

As we move ahead in the expanded Civil Defense program, better and improved ways to give Federal assistance are planned. Technical assistance to communities in developing community shelters is under study. Incidentally I would like to take this occasion to note the outstanding efforts of many Texan communities in developing shelters on their own which rightfully deserves praise. It is my understanding, also that Texas has a vigorous volunteer Civil Defense organization. It is only when private initiative working with government is achieved all over the country that we will be able to reach the goal set in developing fallout and other protection for all of our citizens within available resources, therefore, the Federal government will render all assistance possible to your efforts.

The Department of Defense Civil Defense Program has as its immediate objective and is devoting maximum energy toward your level of government—the community, where lives will be saved in the event of war emergency. We in the Department of Defense are proud to be associated in partnership with each and every community in the United States in this gigantic task. I know that we can count on you to carry on and do your part in the business of defending our homeland.

CONTEMPORARY STUDY CLUB MET DECEMBER 18TH

The Contemporary Study Club met December 18th in the home of Mrs. Irvin Smith, hostess.

Mrs. Gene Griffin, president, presided over the business session. The members brought food and donated money for the Christmas basket.

Mrs. M. D. Cheney in charge of the program, read the beautiful passages from the Bible depicting the first Christmas. Mrs. Cheney read the scripture telling of the Immaculate Conception, the birth of Jesus, and the bringing of gifts to the baby Jesus. This, lest we forget, was a reminder to us all of the true meaning of Christmas.

The club members exchanged gifts from beneath a beautifully decorated tree.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Chas. Schumann. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jim Maag to 100 per cent membership and one guest, Mrs. June Dyer.

The table was beautifully decorated and laden with an old fashioned supply of food—ham, bacon, eggs—fried, scrambled and poached, hot biscuits, butter, cream gravy, jellies, preserves, coffee and hot chocolate. Mrs. O. B. Wofford offered thanks.

Happy birthday was sung, then T. Guy Willis opened the

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. When I bought my house four years ago, I took out a "mortgage life insurance policy" to pay off the balance due on my mortgage if I should die. I have now decided to sell the house and pay off the mortgage. Does this mean my life insurance policy will be cancelled?

A. Probably not. Most so-called "mortgage life insurance" policies are issued to the policyholder on an individual basis and are payable to his beneficiaries, not to the mortgage-holder. The policy usually has no direct, legal connection with the mortgage. After you repay your mortgage in full, you can probably keep your life insurance protection—even if yours is a reducing term policy in which the amount of protection reduces each year at approximately the same rate that your mortgage is amortized. You may also be able to convert your reducing term policy to permanent life insurance.

Q. Why are dividends paid on some life insurance policies, but not on others?

A. Every life insurance company must provide for the possibility that its costs may run higher than expected, due to any or all of three factors: the death rate among its policyholders, the earning rate on its investments or policyholders' funds and the administrative expenses of doing business.

A mutual life insurance company has no stockholders, but is in effect owned by its policyholders. The company issues "participating" policies, on which premiums run slightly higher than the amount necessary to cover the company's anticipated costs. When costs run less than income, the surplus is returned to the policyholders in the form of policy dividends or refunds on their premiums.

A stock company, which is owned by stockholders, generally issues "non-participating" policies on which no dividends are paid. Policyholders are charged slightly lower premiums than in a mutual company. The risks are assumed mainly by the stockholders through their investment in the company.

Some stock companies issue "participating" as well as "non-participating" life insurance policies.

Said she, nonchalantly: "Which foot, paw?"

GARDENING

FOR BEAUTY AND PLEASURE

MRS. ROY MAGERS

A series of articles on "Gardening for Beauty and Pleasure" by Mrs. Roy Magers, will be a weekly feature in the Burkburnett Star. Mrs. Magers, whose home address is on Shannon Road, is chairman for the Wichita Falls Garden Club.

Mrs. Magers is one of three accredited flower show judges in Burkburnett. She has been very active in Burkburnett and Wichita Falls in various club activities for several years. Among her many club activities she has devoted a considerable amount of time and effort to the Garden clubs. Her articles on "Gardening for Beauty and Pleasure" are of an informative nature, backed by experience and knowledge of the work.

Bring some of the beauty of the woods to your own backyard by planting a garden of wild flowers. Not only will they provide lovely blooms from April through June, but many varieties will grow where other types of cultured plants will not thrive.

Certain varieties will grow in spots where grass or other ground covered is unavailable. They are perfect for a rock garden or a slope. Wild flowers prefer partial shade and a damp location in the garden. Other advantages wild flowers offer to the gardener are a beautiful carpet of bloom under protecting trees and shrubs, and a valuable aid in keeping dead and decaying leaves nestled where they can act as a mulch and food supply for the larger plants.

Most nurserymen agree that fall planting is best, even though the plants will live when planted in either fall or spring. But in the fall the plants are fully dormant, spring blooms are assured.

Because planting is unburied and early growth is advanced, in certain areas the blooming season may be past before weather will permit planting in the spring.

A nursery which specializes in wild flowers and ferns is the best place to buy plants. All wild flowers need wood mold with plenty of humus for continued growth. Each root should be set in a hole deep enough to hold it with the soil all intact, and the plant should be soaked thoroughly as soon as it is planted. A three-inch mulch of leaves applied before winter and a good soaking two or three times before extremely cold weather arrives is all the plants need. Next spring you can look forward to a beautiful garden.

Here are a few (there are more than 400 species) wild flowers which you may wish to include in your garden. Climate and growing conditions will have much to do with your choice. Many wild flowers have confusing common names, as plants may be called by one name in one section of the country, and a completely different one in another section. I have tried to list all these names under the most common usage.

Jack-in-the-Pulpit, related to the beautiful Calla lily this flower, sometimes called Indian turnip, has maroon flowers which appear in April and May. It produces large attractive leaves and a large seed cluster of red berries. Jack-in-the-Pulpit grows to a height of 12 to 16 inches, and prefers a moist, shady location.

Violet—A garden of wild flowers would not be complete without the violet. There are many species, but all have heart-shaped, miniature pansy-like flowers which bloom in late April or May. Some varieties bloom again in the fall, and all prefer sun or light shade.

The flowers are white, yellow or purple-blue, again depending on the species.

Columbine—Often mentioned as a candidate for the national flower, the columbine particularly likes rocky ledges and woodlands. A very hardy plant, which grows 24 to 30 inches in height, it flowers on many branching stems in late April or May. Five funnel-shaped petals narrow into long erect spurs rounded at the tips. The two-inch long flower is red outside but yellow within. Columbines do well in either sun or shade.

Solomon's Seal—This graceful member of the lily family is useful in the damp or half-shady spots of your garden or among ferns on the north side of your house. Soil should be rich in humus. Blooms in the spring with bell-shaped green flowers, however, in mid-summer the flowers form handsome dark-blue berries. Grows from three to eight feet high, depending on the species.

Hepatica—Sometimes called Liverleaf, Mayflower or Spring Beauty, the name is derived from the Greek word meaning liver, because of the shape of the leaves. One of the first flowers in the spring, the blossoms are light pink, orchid and blue on six to eight inch stems, the dark green, maroon tinted leaves appear after the flowers and remain green all summer and winter, with new leaves appearing all the time. They should be planted in the shade.

Bloodroot—Not the roots but the dark red underground stem is the basis for the name of this plant. Large pure white flowers appear early in spring on six to eight-inch stems; sometimes the flower will have a pinkish tinge. The leaves unfold about the time the flowers bloom and prove to be quite large. Bloodroot does best planted in the shade.

Trailing Arbutus—An excellent ground cover. This flower is four to six inches tall with thick and long lasting leaves. The clusters of very fragrant, light pink flowers are borne in early spring. Soil conditions are difficult for the Trailing Arbutus, it needs shade in a well drained, strongly acid soil. Peaty or sandy soil is excellent for the flower.

Trillium—There are many kinds of Trilliums, usually distinguished by the different colors. Not only are the flowers parts, but the leaves of this plant are arranged in threes, the leaves just beneath the single flower. The leaves are net-veined, and the stem rises from a short tuber underground. Trilliums bloom either April or May, and the moist soil and partial shade are best results. The flowers are purple, all white, rose, or white with red markings, depending on the species.

LUMBER STAIN DISCOLORATION

Lumber grading rules generally degrade a piece of lumber if it has stain. This is done to protect the consumer, since the higher grades of lumber are often used with transparent finishes. Stained lumber, coated with a transparent finish, reveals the stain discoloration through the finish. This is often objectionable.

If lumber is to be painted, the use of stained lumber is no problem. Such lumber is equivalent in strength to clear lumber and can be employed for similar uses.

There are numerous kinds of stains possible in and on wood of both hardwood and softwood species. However, all stains result either from chemical action or by the attack of fungi. The fungi do not cause decay. However, their presence indicates that a condition suitable for decay fungi also exists. Consequently, stain may provide a visual warning.

Chemical stain is usually restricted to the surface layers of sapwood. It is brought about by the oxidation of organic compounds in the wood during hot humid weather. These superficial stains often can be removed by planing the lumber. Prevention may be accomplished by dipping the freshly cut lumber in an anti-stain solution.

Sap stain, or blue stain, as it is most generally known, is probably the most widely known lumber stain caused by fungi. Lumber manufacturers utilize specialized drying equipment and certain stain control solutions to produce stain free lumber. Kiln drying also protects the lumber against both stain and decay fungi, and dries it to a suitable condition for use.

BABSON'S AUTHENTIC RELEASE

Babson Park, Mass.—In any review of this sort, I must mention the Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production. This Index averaged 108 for 1960, and according to my estimate 1961 should average higher—around 109. This barometer measures only physical volume of production. The government issues another figure which is a measure of dollar values and includes services and miscellaneous businesses as well as factory output. This figure, the Gross National Product, averaged $504 billion in 1960, and I estimate it will average around $522 billion for 1961.

Personal Income

Notwithstanding the recession which extended into early 1961, personal income not only held up very well this year, but advanced above 1960. This figure concerns every reader of this column, and recognizes what was lost by the automobile workers and others affected by strikes. The more strikes the less personal income.

Employment

Beginning in February of 1961, employment rose steadily, except for the auto strike period. With gradually rising employment and wages, 1961 will wind up with a good record for 1962 to shoot at. We hope this will mean an increase in advertising, which should benefit newspapers as well as retailers.

Retail Trade

Retail trade has been fairly good during 1961, even though sales did not rise commensurate with the climb in personal income. What housewives did not spend they used to build up savings accounts or reduce installment loans. Therefore, consumers should enter 1962 with a good foundation.

New Building

New building increased thru most of the first half of 1961, but lost steam later in the year. This lack of followup strength was due to increasing vacancies of houses for rent and sale, plus the fundamental downward trend in the cycle of family formation. Unlike food and gasoline, new houses are not consumed; hence they accumulate in case of overbuilding.

Commodity Market

The Bureau of Labor's Wholesale Price Index has been narrowly irregular all during 1961. Prices for agriculture and primary commodities have moved only moderately upward. Hence, farmers and producers of raw materials have not fared so well, profitwise, in 1961 as have manufacturers. A stronger upturn in commodity prices must occur in 1962, if the business uptrend is to be extended.

ATTORNEY

PHONE 723-4105
WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS

Stock Market

As we have heretofore explained, there are three Dow-Jones Averages. The first, which most people watch, is the Industrial Stock Average. This started 1961 at 618, its low for the year and at this writing is around 730. The second D-J Average is that of railroad stocks. This Rail Average was indecisive until the closing months of the year when it worked moderately higher. There are comparatively fewer shares of railroad stocks in this Average and comparatively fewer shares of stock outstanding. Hence, manipulators have a better chance of playing their game with the rail stocks. This Average opened 1961 at 131 and at this writing is 147. The third of the D-J Averages is the Utility Average; this has gone up almost steadily.

Government Spending

Unfortunately, all of these seven aspects of the economy are very dependent upon government spending. This has bene primarily for defense, and it seems indirectly to affect every reader of this column. Government spending for goods and services should average around $109 billion for 1961, which exceeds that of World War I, World War II, or the Korean War. I doubt if any reader of this column will ever witness total disarmament; but I do believe that there will be some international foolproof agreement against the use of nuclear weapons. This could cause a sudden decline in the income of manufacturers, retailers, employees, and of almost every reader of this column.

No Pension Dept.

Stay young. Stay young by taking inspiration from the young in spirit who remained creatively active all their lives. Goethe completed "Faust" at age 80. Titian painted masterpieces at 98. Remember—not so long ago—Toscanini conducting at 85? Justice Holmes wrote Supreme Court decisions at 90. Edison was busy in his laboratory at 94—and Benjamin Franklin helped to frame the Constitution when he was 60.

HERE ARE 2 OF THE NEW JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLETS

WHICH ONE IS THE CONVERTIBLE AND WHICH THE HARDTOP?

Did your keen old eyes tell you the top one's the convertible? Well, sir, that turns out to be our new Impala Sport Coupe whose solid steel roof line is a dead ringer for the Impala Convertible's below. But after rich new styling, then what? Look at the power department, where there's a new choice of V8 vigor. In the ride department, things are Jet-smooth. In glamor and go, comfort and craftsmanship, this one's got everything you'd reasonably expect of an expensive car. Except the expense.

Slip inside a Jet-smooth Chevrolet, relax in one of the comfort-high seats and notice how good you feel. Ready for action? Just flick the key and let 'er purr (you have your choice of two standard engines—a 135-hp 6 or 170-hp V8—or optional-at-extra-cost V8's way up to a 409-hp mile-shrinker). That gentle cradling motion you enjoy is Jet-smooth ride at work. And the richness and spaciousness of the interior are Body by Fisher at work.

Now, we ask you, is there any more you could reasonably expect of a car? If there is, your dealer will be very happy to show you (1) just where you can find it in the handsome new Jet-smooth '62 Chevrolet and (2) what it feels like to own a costly car—without the cost.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

CASH VALUE

Q. Does the cash value of my life insurance policy belong to me? If so, why don't I receive it in cash? And why do I have to pay interest if I borrow against it?
A. You can take the cash value of your policy in cash anytime you want to, but only by cancelling the protection. This cash value is your share in your life insurance company's reserve funds, which the company uses to off-set the constantly increasing cost of insuring you as you grow older. And, by putting your policy reserves to work in the nation's economy, your insurance company earns investment income to help reduce the cost of insurance to you. The cash value of your policy is an inseparable part of the protection provided by your policy.

You can use this cash value as collateral for a loan from your life insurance company, just as you can use your savings account pass-book as collateral for a loan from your bank. In either case, you must pay interest because if you had not borrowed the money your life insurance company or bank would be getting earnings on it by investing it elsewhere. And, of course, if you should die while the loan is outstanding, your debt would have to be repaid before your family could receive the proceeds of either your life insurance policy or your savings account. In the case of a life insurance loan, the company would automatically deduct the balance due on your debt from the proceeds of your policy.

Q. When I die, will my family have to pay taxes on the money they receive from my life insurance?
A. Ordinarily, your beneficiaries would not have to pay any federal income tax on the face value of your life insurance policy. However, for tax purposes, these proceeds would be part of your estate. And federal estate taxes would normally be due on the portion of your estate in excess of $60,000. If you are married, your wife could inherit an additional $60,000 without paying federal estate taxes. There is considerable variation in state inheritance tax laws concerning life insurance. For specific information, you should consult a tax expert.
