Eighth Grade Students Learn About Burk

Yes! We should know about the heritage, development, and progress of our community and home town, Burkburnett. This was decided by the eighth grade students of High School Addition.

With the approval of Mr. Carl Dixon, the principal, the eighth grade teachers and students recently completed a unit of study about Burkburnett, in addition to their regular class activities.

Many parents and friends cooperated with the teachers and students in making a collection of books, magazines, newspaper articles, photographs, and other items used in learning about Burkburnett. From this source of material the students learned about: Indian settlements, cow trails, the first permanent pioneer settlement of this area—called Nesterville, the arrival of the first railroad, the building of the first post office, church and school, the excitement of Boomtown—when Burkburnett became the most famous town in America, and many other events which have made Burkburnett a wonderful city and considered by many to be "The Gateway to Texas."

The English and literature classes taught by Mrs. Wickersham and Mrs. Ratliff made oral and written reports about the colorful days of the West, names of some of the pioneers, the McCrackens, Rexfords, Hardins, Burnetts, and others, cattle drives, and Indian raids. Reports were also made about the discovery of oil—the famous Schumaker Well, the Fowlers and the era of "Boomtown." Bulletins, boards, posters, and murals were used to show the development of Burkburnett.

The social study classes taught by Mr. Bilderback learned about the geographical development of Burkburnett, the population, climate, droughts, floods, ranching, farming, transportation, and industry progress. A table model was used in the room, showing oil derricks—a tool shed and workmen illustrating the early development of the petroleum industry and its importance to the growth of Burkburnett.

The science classes taught by Mr. White used charts and experiments to show the geological formation of petroleum, the drilling procedures and the refining industry as an important part in the progress of the community of Burkburnett.

The music and spelling classes taught by Mrs. Askins learned much about the culture, entertainment and folklore of this community by studying the music, dances, and songs that the pioneers used as a part of their daily life. The spelling classes used a table model of an oil derrick to build a vocabulary list used in the study of this unit.

From this program the eighth grade students gained a wider understanding of the rich heritage of the Burkburnett community, its pioneers, the land and its resources, also the part Burkburnett contributed toward making Texas and America great. They can better appreciate the privilege and duty they have as citizens and future leaders of Burkburnett.

U. S. Army Needs Young Men With Musical Talent

The U. S. Army is now offering young men with musical talent one of the finest opportunities to fulfill their military obligations and, at the same time, receive five months of outstanding musical training.

Young men may now enlist for a direct assignment to the Fourth U. S. Army Band at Fort Sam Houston (San Antonio), Texas, according to M. Sgt. Drue McBride, local Army recruiter.

An all-out effort is now underway to fill the vacancies that exist in the Fourth U. S. Army Band at the earliest possible date. This affords a music-minded man an excellent opportunity to become a member of one of the finest bands in the entire Army.

The Fourth U. S. Army Band has always been the show case of Army music in the five-state area. This band performs at parades, ceremonies and concerts in the San Antonio area, and plays on numerous occasions throughout Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. It performs for civilian and military audiences alike.

Vacancies also exist in other bands located at Fort Bliss and Fort Hood, Texas; Fort Sill, Oklahoma; and Fort Polk, Louisiana. Particularly needed are men who play the clarinet, oboe, bassoon, French horn, trumpet, tuba and saxophone. Prior to enlistment, applicants must demonstrate their musical ability in an audition before an Army bandmaster. Sgt. McBride will arrange for an audition with the nearest Army bandmaster. If the prospective musician is qualified, he is then eligible to enlist for an assignment to the Army band of his choice.

Following basic training, the enlistee will attend the Army Element, U. S. Naval School of Music in Washington, D. C. There he will receive 20-weeks of private and class instruction in theory, harmony and other musical subjects. Upon completion of this musical training, the man will be assigned to the U. S. Army band he chose prior to enlistment.

Musicians will not find a better opportunity than that of a U. S. Army bandman to further his professional career. The average Army musician is master of several instruments in addition to his particular specialty, and is taught orchestration, arranging, and conducting as well as band-marching maneuvers.

Sgt. McBride invites all young musicians who are interested in fulfilling their military obligations while advancing their musical proficiency to visit him at 1007 Lamar, Wichita Falls, or call 766-1663, for complete information.

APPLICATION

The Southern Pine Association offers this advice on proper application of wood siding on exterior walls:

Ends of siding should be cut square and adjoining boards butted tightly together. A sealer coat should be applied at ends and if necessary as a caulking to seal the end of the lumber against rain.

A three-coat paint system is recommended under most conditions. It's good practice to paint the side of the house after the sun has passed over it. "Dry" lumber holds paint longer. Proper drying is a mandatory grade requirement for Southern Pine siding.

GOODWILL WEEK

While the prospect of exploration of the universe is an exciting dream, achievement on this planet still remains the goal of most people. Prominent among such people are jobless handicapped men and women who are willing and able to work.

The mechanism which carries a handicapped person to his goal is called REHABILITATION. This mechanism must be a carefully planned three-staged structure composed of medical treatment, adjustment and vocational training.

We are all familiar with the work of the Goodwill Industries—a national non-profit organization that deserves the cooperation of everyone. And observance of Goodwill Week, May 6th to 12th, which has been sponsored by Goodwill Industries, serves as a reminder that Goodwill needs continuing support.

The public can help in a number of ways—by supporting any of the stages of rehabilitation. Goodwill Industries can be helped to do its part of the job simply through the giving of unwanted clothing and household articles, and handicapped people learn and earn repairing the articles for resale.

HANDCUFFS AND HANDOUTS

Just about everyone has heard the old saying that "he who pays the piper calls the tune."

A perfect example is found where government does the paying—and it's true of small matters as well as big.

Oregon, for instance, once used yellow dividing stripes on its highways. These, most motorists found, were easier to see at night and under bad weather conditions. They were distinctive, too, and acted as guides to tourists.

No more. For the federal government is paying most of the costs of major highways—and Uncle Sam says that all highway stripes must be white. Uncle—taxpayer-filled pocketbook in hand is the boss.

It's also been proposed, in order to brighten the landscape, that Oregon bridges be painted in bright colors. But Uncle, with his 50-state rule book, wouldn't accept that either.

The point is that handcuffs come with the handouts.

Burk Residents Are Urged To Vaccinate Pets

The increasing number of rabid skunks in Burkburnett and Wichita Falls has become a source of alarm for citizens here this spring. At least three rabid skunks have been killed in Burkburnett and several in Wichita Falls.

Two little Burkburnett girls and one boy are undergoing a series of inoculations at this time after having come in contact with skunks known to be rabid.

Burk residents are urged to have their dogs, cats and other pets vaccinated immediately if they have not received shots within the past year. By taking this simple precaution you may save the life of your pet, or more important the life of your child or someone else's child.

Maj. J. A. Franks OF THIS AND THAT . . . At Truax Field In Wisconsin

Major Joseph A. Franks, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Franks of 1921 8th Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, and husband of the former Miss Manilla M. Milford of Burkburnett, Texas, is serving as a key coordinator in the aerospace defense program of the 30th NORAD Region with Headquarters at Truax Field, Wisconsin.

The 30th NORAD Region, composed of men and weaponry of the Army, Air Force, Royal Canadian Air Force, and Army and Air National Guard, has aerospace defense responsibility in sixteen states or more than a half-million square miles in the United States and a large part of Canada.

Major Franks serves as Supply Staff Officer of the 30th NORAD Region. His job involves insuring the availability of supply, weapons, and materiel to integrate work of the Army, Air Force, RCAF, and National Guard elements to provide a tight web of aerospace defense for the midwest. In this he works closely with a staff of Army, Air Force and RCAF Officers.

Through the work of Major Franks and his colleagues, it has been possible to team the Air Force's manned interceptors with the Bomarc B guided missile and the nuclear-capable Nike missiles of the Army to form a force that can destroy entire fleets of enemy bombers seeking to attack the American midwest.

Before coming to his present post at Truax Field, Major Franks served as Supply Staff Officer of the 5th Region, U. S. Army Air Defense Command (USARADCCM), at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. His overseas assignments include duty in the Philippines and Japan in 1945 and in Korea from 1955-56. His decorations include the Commendation Ribbon with metal pendant.

The Franks have a daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, 20.

FULLY PREPARED

Should a spring shower come . . . she is prepared with a rain coat. Books and study at school prepare her for a future vocation. However, she is not FULLY PREPARED for life unless she is also trained to walk with the Lord. Take your children to church where they can grow to be . . . a vessel unto honour, sanctified . . . and prepared unto every good work."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Twenty-one members of the Burkburnett Riding Club rode in the opening day parade of the Wichita Falls Rodeo celebration.

New members in the club include the Ben Casey family, and the re-participation of several inactive members made a welcome addition to the days activities.

Parade participants were joined by several more members for the grand entry of the first Rodeo performance at 8 o'clock. The Parade Queen, Miss Sue Drake was dressed in a beautiful pale green riding costume.

Two of the younger members of the club made their initial ride in the 3 o'clock parade. Miss Janice Cozby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paul Cozby and Steve Cozby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Cozby, rode with the club for the first time. They rode their ponies well and made a very fine addition to the parade.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS

We have enjoyed seeing so many old friends over the County and meeting so many new ones. We realize that this could never have been a successful race had it not been for the work so many of you did in my behalf. It is with a deep feeling of humility that we say "THANK YOU."

I would also like to commend my opponent and his supporters for the fairness with which they conducted his race.

I pledge that I will work diligently to be worthy of your support and trust as District Judge.

Very Sincerely,

The Project That Organized Burk

"Why aren't there more recreational facilities for our children in Burkburnett?" "Burkburnett needs more park area!" These cries and many others came from concerned parents for years before the first remedial steps were taken. A few fathers, with an eye toward the future, ran an article in the local newspaper naming a meeting time and place for all citizens interested in planning a public swimming pool for Burkburnett. On July 23, 1957 approximately fifty people met at Town Hall and proceeded to elect a general chairman and a secretary and organized Research, Location, and Finance Committee. One week later, at another meeting, the committee reported their findings on near-by pools, costs, profits, operation, possible locations, methods of raising money, etc. It was voted that The Burk-Swim Club, Inc., a non-profit corporation, be formed and all interested citizens be urged to buy a $100 "membership" in the club, thus entitling them to a lower seasonal swimming rate.

The site, a large eight acre tract of land, was selected with a future park in mind. As the winter months approached work and interest lagged, but with spring came determined parents with renewed vigor. It was obvious that A LOT of money had to come from somewhere. On April 18, 1958 chairmen for a Membership and By-Laws Committee were appointed. A carefully planned door-to-door campaign began and by June 1, 1958 $4,600.00 was in the treasury. A start, but it looked like the ending to those who had worked so hard soliciting. The bank president made arrangements whereby $100 notes could be obtained with $10 down and no interest. But still, let's face it, there just were not enough people who felt they could part with $100. Discouraged, but not giving up, the stockholders met on June 13, 1958 and elected officers and directors. Burkburnett wanted and needed a pool—what was the hold-up? Other towns had swimming pools, why couldn't one be built here?

Burkburnett was a civic-minded community with, at the time, seven federated study clubs, five federated garden clubs, a Rotary Club, a Lion's Club and countless other organizations many of which had done fine things for the community. These clubs were now called upon for help. Slowly the donations began to trickle in.

These groups began to have even more and varied fund-raising. Everyone knew where the proceeds were going and wanted to help, but it was nice to know they could have fun while raising the money. There were game nights and carnivals, rodeos and style shows, beauty contests and rummage sales. Some sold candy, greeting cards, and tickets on a boat and motor. Groups of clubs worked together planning and serving all day dinners and operating concession stands at big events. They even planned together competitive "queen" contests based on ticket sales to big events knowing each club would work doubly hard to elect its queen. Never before had all of the clubs joined forces in a common effort and it was exciting to see the results. Here was the answer, not only to this one problem but to all future problems! A council of federated clubs was formed, a council of garden clubs was formed, and the city employed planning engineers so there might be a coordinated plan to channel the efforts of the hard working community groups and help prevent the mistakes, duplications, and blunders so common in fast-growing towns.

Still several thousand short of the proposed goal of $30,000, it was voted at a special meeting on March 10, 1959 that construction of the pool be started. In August, 1960, when the pool was completed and temporarily opened to the public, a loan was negotiated at the local bank in order to make the final payment on the pool contract and construct a bath house. In June, 1961 the lovely pool and bath house were officially opened to the public and a Red Cross swimming program offered.

We are proud of this project which started out as such a problem, not only because it added charm and appeal to our community landscape, and summer activity for our children, but because it awakened Burkburnett to the potential achievement possible with this new "community cooperation." Burkburnett has and will continue to have "growing pains," but it is hoped that through the newly organized Community Council the most pressing "pains" can be determined and eased quickly by funneling the total community endeavor into one huge flow of concentrated effort.

BEAUTIFUL DAHLIAS COME FROM PROPER PLANTING

When the frosty winter gives way to mild weather of spring and the Dahlia roots which were buried last fall in peat moss or sand begin to show signs of new life and growth, the Dahlia enthusiast begin preparation of the soil for his tubers.

Dahlias need from six to eight hours of sun, preferably the morning sun and not more than two hours of afternoon sun. Shade after three o'clock allows the blooms to freshen up so that in the twilight hours, which are the nicest in the garden, they will be fresh and beautiful to behold. Strong winds damage plants when they are exposed to the full force but a gentle breeze in summer and spring is beneficial. Along the seashore and the larger rivers, dahlias can be grown in full sunshine and the flowers will always be beautiful since the cooling breeze from the water perks them up; but they must always be protected from strong drying winds.

Prepare Soil

Well drained soil is very important. Dahlias cannot thrive in low muddy places. If no slope is available, be sure the soil is porous enough to let the water through. Add a generous amount of sand to the bottom of each hill to facilitate drainage. From the consideration of these three important requirements, it will be seen that the choice of location is the primary factor of success.

When your decision has been made, spade the soil as deeply as possible, leaving it in large clods so that the rain can do the work of pulverizing them. Cover the ground with two inches of barnyard manure or other organic material, but do not use chemical or commercial fertilizer. Just before planting time, spade it again, turning under all organic material. Then rake over until the surface is smooth.

The proper time for planting varies with the climate but the general procedure is to start three or four weeks before the last spring frost in the locality. Do not plant too early as the roots if placed in cold ground are likely to lie dormant and may decay.

After the soil has been worked as finely as possible, the stakes are placed. All large Dahlias should have support as their rank growth is heavy. The stakes should be from one to two inches square, and three or four feet high in order that the plant can be tied securely. The stakes should be placed in rows from three to four feet apart each way, and driven into the ground twelve to fifteen inches deep. Later the plant may be tied to hide the stake from view.

Placing Tuber

After all is in readiness, dig holes a foot across and eight to ten inches deep in front of each stake. Put a gallon of sand mixed with garden soil and one cup of bone meal in each hill. Take a trowel and scoop out four or five inches and lay the root or tuber down flat with the crown end two inches from the stake. Cover the root with three inches of loam and water immediately. Nothing further need be done until the sprout is four or five inches high when you begin to cultivate by bringing soil to the plant. This gives support and feeds the small feeder roots near the surface. Cultivation should be continued after each rain or watering until the Dahlias are mulched in the middle of July. After this time, water freely, keeping heavy mulch on the surface, and no more cultivation is necessary.

Disbud and Prune

To get large flowers on long stems it is necessary to disbud and prune. When plants come up, leave only one stake. After three sets of leaves appear, pinch out the crown or center. This makes lower and bushier stalks. On the back row of Dahlias in your garden, do not prune so they will grow tall, but disbud for large blooms. In a short time a top pair of laterals will appear, which eventually will be a branch of the Dahlia bush. When the flower buds appear leave only one of the three buds that usually come in clusters, pinching out the side two. New branches will start in the form of laterals between the leaves and the stalk. Pinch out the first two nearest the flower bud. This will keep the plant low and bushy, and it will have many flowers on long stems from the low branches which will develop rapidly.

OUR EASTER PROJECT

Our class, 5-3 Sheppard-Burkburnett Elementary School had an Easter Party. We made favors for the children in the Sheppard Air Force Base Hospital.

The favors were made of colored construction paper, doilies, cardboard, nut cups, cellophane, grass and an Easter Bunny. We put jelly beans in the nut cups, after the favors were finished.

We made them because we thought Easter was a nice time to think of others. Everyone enjoyed making the favors.

Afterwards refreshments were served by our room mothers.

Temperature Taking Important

Q. I have read that rheumatic fever develops after a child has had strep throat. How can a parent tell the difference between strep throat and an ordinary, harmless sore throat?

A. The parent can't be sure but here are some helpful suggestions: Fever and sore throat are two symptoms that should warn the parent of the possibility of streptococcal infection. Whenever a child does not seem up to par, take his temperature four times daily. This is especially important if the child complains of a "scratchy" or sore throat. If fever is present (temperature by mouth of 101°F. or more) a physician should be consulted.

In cotton, fashions has taken on a soft look this season. American designers have rounded and gentled the silhouette for dresses, suits and coats of cotton, according to Thelma Wirges.

Skilfully used are ruffles, pleats, capelets and paneled skirts for a purely feminine fashion mood.

The new suit design in cotton, matelasse and floral brocade, as well as cotton tweed and novelty weaves, have effortless little jackets which take many forms. One of the most important is the cropped, above the hipline shape tailored with a graceful curved front and eased at the back for a look of gentle shaping all around.

Narrow, set in sleeves and small, notched collars which stand away from the neck are other important styling details.

The cape shape also contributes to the spring suit story. Miss Wirges said. Capelets, fly-away backs and capelet sleeves which flutter gracefully will be seen often. These, along with newly softened skirt lines, contribute an important note to the growing trend softness and femininity in American fashion.

New ensembles and costumes are freshly fashioned to please the traveler. Trim, chanel-inspired jackets or fluid, street-length coats covering easy sheaths made for versatile day into evening fashions. Designed in soft, pliable cotton fabrics such as hopsacking knit, poplin and pique, these outfits are seen in a delicate range of pastels and white, neutral beiges and gray, as well as sophisticated black.

The coat story also is an exciting one, with all weather designs holding the spotlight for versatility and variety of silhouette. Roomy cape shapes and tapered or barrel version which gently adhere to the body in front make news for the coming season and echo the theme of soft tailoring for 1962. Designers execute these cover-ups in light weight, textured cottons in practical poplin and in spongy corduroys.

When a group of women got on the car, every seat was already occupied. The conductor noticed a man who seemed to be asleep, and, fearing that he might miss his stop, he nudged him and said:

"Wake up."
"I wasn't asleep," the man protested.

"Not asleep? But you had your eyes closed."
"I know. I just hate to look at ladies standing up in a crowded car."
