What idea, what philosophy, dominated the minds of the men who founded this country, and laid down the principles they meant it to abide by. Thomas Jefferson expressed a fundamental thought perfectly when he said: "I am for a government that is rigorously frugal and simple, and not for one that multiplies offices to make partisans, that is, to get votes, and by every device increase the public debt under the guise of being a public benefit.'

Admittedly, there have been vast changes in the nation and the world since the great Jefferson's day. But this does not excuse the development of an attiude which makes the attraction of votes the paramount objective of heavy explosions last fall, the wails of anguish ill begreat numbers of government officials who show small concern for the value of the dollar and who seek more and more monolithic and dictatorial power.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. I read that life insurance companies are now basing their policies on a new mortality table which reflects a lower death rate. Does this mean I am being overcharged for my old life insurance policy, which was issued prior to the new table?

A. No. The Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary mortality table is based on the death rate of all ordinary life insurance policyholders from 1950 to 1954. This table is used mainly to calculate the minimum reserves that life insurance companies must maintain and the cash values of policies currently being issued. But premiums charged by each company are based on its actual mortality experience with its own policyholders, rather than on a standard table, and are periodically revised to reflect changes in the policyholders' death rate. The premium rate for your policy is based on the latest revision by your company at the time you took out your policy.

Q. I have a life insurance policy on which my premiums have been paid-up for many years. Recently I learned the company that issued it is no longer in business. Does this mean my policy is no longer any good?

A. Unless your policy has lapsed or expired, it should still provide you or your beneficiaries with the benefits it stipulates.

For sound business reasons, life insurance comparies-like other business firms-occasionally change their names or merge or are bought out by other companies. Such a step may result in the disappearance of a company's name, but virtually never in a loss to policyholders. The policyholders' rights are "reinsured" by the surviving company, even though it may have a different name. In such cases, every reasonable effort is made to notify policyholders. But-especially if they are no longer paying premiums-some may not receive the information.

If your life thourance agent capof Life Insurance, 488 Mali a Avenue, New York 12, N. Y. Include the full name and eddress of your original company as shown on your policy, and the year the policy was issued.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Beaver. Mrs. Perry Bowman left a line of clothes hanging on her clothes line last Thursday. Thieves made off with a line of wash she had on the line as

Mrs. Bowman returned home at 1:15 p. m. and went directly to gather her clothes in and found them all gone. The thieves did leave

It's the dramatic touch you add to entertaining that makes you a long remembered hostess. Food flamed at the table, especially by candlelight, is particularly gala. Even a novice can do it with the 151 proof rum with the purple label. Fill a deep ladle with rum, pour it over the food in a fire-proof dish and light it. Be sure the rum is burned out before serving. Rum gives many main dishes and desserts an exciting flavor, but it must have quality. Try this delicious dessert suggested by the makers of Ronrico for a grand finale.

Slice bananas lengthwise (one small or one-half large one per serving). Sauté in butter in chafing dish (three tablespoons of butter for four servings). Bake bananas until golden brown on gach side. Dust one teaspoon of confectioners' sugar on each. Spoon three tablespoons Ronrico 151 proof rum on bananas. Set affame, bring flaming to table. Serve as is, or top with ice eream or heavy cream.

Mark Twain, in his reporting days, was instructed by an editor never to state anything as a fact that he could not verify from personal knowledge. Sent out to cover an important social event soon afterward, he turnd in the following:

"A woman giving the name of Mrs. James Jones, who is reported to be one of the society leaders of the city, is said to have given what purported to be a party yesterday to a number of alleged ladies. The hostess claims to be the wife of a reputed attorney.

Farm Facts

The 1959 Census of Agriculture reported that there were 3,704,000 farms in the United States. This is the smallest number (for the 48 states) of any census since 1870.

There were 1,079,000 fewer farms in 1959 than in 1954. About 232,000 were no longer counted as farms because of a change in census definitions. To be considered a farm, a place must have a minimum of 10 acres of productive land as compared with a minimum of 3 acres under the old definition. If it has less than 10 acres, sales of agricultur-al products must add up to at least $250 annually. Even without a change in the definition of a farm, changes in farm size and number were great between 1954 and 1959. Total farm acreage dropped from 1,158 million in 1954 to 1,120 million in 1959. The average size of farms increased from 242 to 302 acres. Results of the 1959 census selling $10,000 worth of pro centration and specialization of agriculture in the United farms of 1,000 acres or more.

Removing the THORN

Almost everyone that has ever removed a shoe and run barefoot through the fields, knows of the wonderful feeling of freedom that this gives. Most, also have known what it is to remove a sticker or a thorn. The first attempts to pull it out are usually handled so gingerly and slowly, and then, screwing up your courage you yank it out, and find that this was the easiest way after all.

There are many thorns in life, and these evils should be removed swiftly, and put out of our lives. Attend Church, receive help and encouragement in removing the thorns from your life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Book Defenders - The men and women who run the public schools came out in strong support of the present method of selecting textbooks in Texas.

Plan had been under attack by some witnesses at recent legislative hearings.

Texas Association of School Board, meeting in Austin, found no fault in the system by which a textbook committee selects as many as five books for each course, and then local textbook committees decide which of the five they will use.

School board members also took no action on an Ector County proposal that central state purchasing of school buses be ended.

Removing the THORN Almost everyone that has ever removed a shoe and run barefoot through the fields, knows of the wonderful feeling of freedom that this gives. Most, also have known what it is to remove a sticker or a thorn. The first attempts to pull it out are usually handled so gingerly and slowly, and then, screwing up your courage you yank it out, and find that this was the easiest way after all.

There are many thorns in life, and these evils should be removed swiftly, and put out of our lives. Attend Church, receive help and encouragement in removing the thorns from your life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
