ECONOMICS QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—How is productivity measured in practical terms?
A—In industry, if five basket factory works make 800 baskets in 40 hours, the average per man-hour is 4. Here's why: 5 employees times 40 hours equal 200 man hours. 200 man hours into 800 baskets equals 4 baskets per man hour.

Tragic Failure

This modern world provides the best example in recorded history of the ancient saying "that government is best which governs least."

The "most governed" nations are the communist bloc. These are the nations that threaten not only the peace of the world but the existence of mankind. The masses of their people certainly are not warmongers. They, like peoples everywhere, want peace, happiness, a good life. But living under all-powerful government, they have nothing to say about what is to happen. A power drunk dictator need only order a button pushed and Armageddon comes.

And the sins of big government certainly are not confined to the dictatorships. In our own country, as in England and other free nations, big government has saddled us with a debt of almost unimaginable size along with cruel taxes. We cannot blame all this on past, present and possible future wars, whether hot or cold. The Welfare State philosophy which holds that government should be all thing to all men, and should exercise more and more control over our lives and destiny while providing a dubious cradle to the grave security, must bear much of the blame.

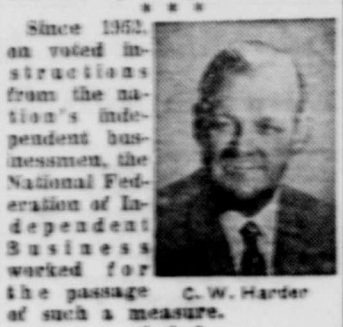

The people by endorsing more and more government encroachment on their lives and activities, steadily restrict their opportunities as free men.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

It is perhaps not too early for self-employed business and professional people to consider how they can best benefit from the retirement program enacted by Congress.

Since 1962, an voted instructions from the nation's independent businessmen, the National Federation of Independent Business has worked for the passage of such a measure.

While the legislation, sponsored by Rep. Eugene Keogh does not meet exactly the wishes of the independent business and professional man, in view of the strong administration opposition to any measure of this type based on the protests of U. S. Treasury Dept. it is considered a step forward.

For one thing it is now recognized that the needs of the independent entrepreneur are equally as valid as considerations of those of corporation executives, or union members under a welfare program.

Briefly, in 1963, the self-employed can put aside 10% of his yearly income, up to a maximum of $2,500 into a private retirement program. There is no compulsion to lay aside the maximum permissible under the law. Any lesser amount can be set aside. Half of whatever is put aside is tax free.

The interest and earnings of money set aside is also tax free provided withdrawals are not made on the fund before reaching the age of 59 1/2 years. If funds are withdrawn before reaching this age, the tax free part of the fund will be assessed for taxes.

But if the fund is left until retirement age, it can be drawn on with tax paid only on that part which was tax free when paid in.

There are many decisions to be made by the first of the year by those wishing to take advantage of the benefits.

During the battle to get the law through, a "joker" was slipped in by the socialist element that makes it necessary for the business or professional man, wishing to set up his own retirement program, to also set up and pay for a retirement program for full time employees with three or more years of service.

A full time employee is one who works 30 hours or more per week, or for five or more months in a year. Thus, there will be undoubtedly a great deal of study to determine if employment of full time help can be reduced, or eliminated.

Retirement plans can be worked out with banks, insurance companies, and in a number of other ways.

However, the Treasury Dept. is still somewhat vague as how it will define the wishes of Congress. It will be well for everyone contemplating such a plan to seek counsel from accountants and tax attorneys, as the Treasury will have to approve any plan set up. And in view of the Treasury having fought, the measure, it can be anticipated every possible difficulty will be raised.

been appropriated? We are deceiving ourselves if we believe we can reduce taxes and spend more. This is an inflationary measure and we are still in an inflationary spiral. If you doubt this last statement, talk to any merchant you may meet. Retail prices on many articles may be going up only a few pennies on some items, but the merchants are having to absorb an increase in wholesale costs from the manufacturers."

FORT PAYNE, ALA., TIMES-JOURNAL: "We feel there is a need for people to respond and band together to stamp out, the mutilations and deaths of highway accidents. There is no fund drive here. There is no humane society for the prevention of these atrocities. Yet, every driver is exposed to these hazards. Why should there be an apathetic attitude against a killer and maimer that is not a germ? Perhaps the apathy is due to the fact that it takes more than money to fight this hazard. It may seem easier to donate to others to fight a cause than to have to dig deeper than the pocketbook."

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. A recent article suggested that we turn to an agent for advice as to how much and what kind of life insurance we should buy. Does this mean we should leave it to an agent to decide this when he stands to make money on the deal. What's more, he doesn't know our circumstances.

A. No, the decision as to whether to buy a policy, how much to buy or what kind to buy is one to be made by the buyer—not the agent. The agent should be consulted to give his technical explanation and advice as to what is available, how to measure your needs and how to buy most economically and effectively—but the decisions all have to be made by the buyer. As for his not knowing your circumstances, you are not providing him with all the necessary information on which to base his advice, if you have not confided in him all the essential facts. What you should do is regard this agent in relation to your financial situation, as you would your family physician in relation to your health situation.

Q. An agent has been pressing me to "re-check" my life insurance. I did this only four years ago and surely nothing has changed in that short time. Why do it again? A. Experience has shown life insurance agents that people's conditions, as they affect their life insurance, change continuously over a lifetime, with some small change almost every year. Many of these changes go unnoticed and yet some of them may result in the insurance not doing exactly what was intended. Inasmuch as the "re-check" costs you nothing, why not have it done—every year, if you can manage it? For example, has your job changed, your income, your family status. Have your children reached college age? Have you bought a home? Have the tax laws changed in any way to affect your program? These are all things that should be checked from year to year. Certainly four years could see quite a number of changes, with their effect unknown to you.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON

THE WHITE HOUSE HELPS SMALL BUSINESS

Now and then I hear someone say that the day of small business is over. That seems to me. Is this really so?

To be successful does an operation have to be vast, enormous, colossal? The answer is NO... in spite of the growing number of 'milelong' supermarkets and giant industrial complexes. Like thousands of others I have always liked the personal touch, the "Good morning, Mr. Babson, I have saved your paper for you." So long as you and I want this kind of neighborly, friendly service, we must be optimistic about the future of small business in this country.

"Smalls" Can Be Durable

Huge size does not necessarily mean huge success. This fact reminds me of that fighter of earlier days, Bob Fitzsimmons, who became famous for his quotation, "The bigger they come, the harder they fall." Philosophers might even point out that bones of extinct and childless prehistoric monsters decorate our museums. But take a look at the tiny insects, the microscopic microbes, for instance. They have done very well down through the ages, and their descendants are still keeping busy and fit — and may one day exterminate man himself.

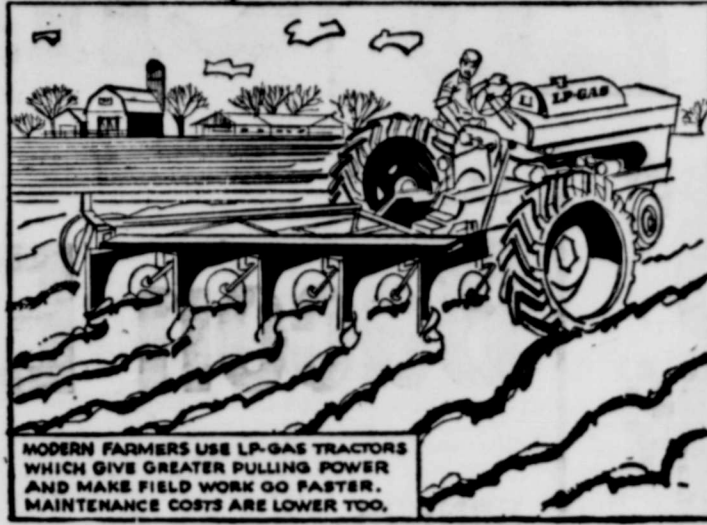

I do not mean by this that the small businessman can just coast along without a worry. The mark of the successful independent in business is his industry, his absolute determination to give his utmost in personal consideration and service. He must present himself as an individual that the buying public can rely on completely. This is surely not easy. But it is encouraging to realize how many tens of thousands of small businessmen throughout the country have the imagination and the ambition to succeed in this way.

Always A Future For Small Business

I have watched with much interest the development of electronics and aerospace businesses over recent years. While the big boys might have been expected to hog the field, countless small producers have also done a tremendous amount of the experimentation, research, and actual production of new, complicated items. Analysis of available figures proves that most smaller concerns are getting along extremely well, not just in civilian production and trade, but also in the booming aerospace, defense, and other electronics fields.

Some time ago I heard of a perfect example of what can be done by a small businessman with get-up-and-go. A large prime contractor bought and installed in his tiny plant costly machine tool equipment. The proprietor of this almost one-man shop was, of course, a highly trained expert. He put in endless hours of over time, operated the complex machines, personally, and turned out finished work, on schedule.

Talent Is Capital

This incident reveals how success can be attained by businessmen who may rate very low in number of employees and dollar assets, but who rate very high in personal industry, stick-to-itiveness, and talent. If you look around, you will find similar examples in your own locality. They prove better than statistics and the most logical theories that the roots of economic success go far deeper than dollar capital. It is true that you cannot operate a business without capital, but I am sure that the White House does not measure capital only by bank balances. The White House desires that any man or woman should be able to "capitalize on skill, diplomacy, patience, good taste, and other intangible resources. Too many think only of going to the bank for the needed capital, and never think of tapping their own resources of mind, energy, and spirit. Large business concerns feel that Robert Kennedy, the Attorney General and the President's brother, treats big business unfairly, and I am sympathetic to their position; it would be impossible to build up foreign trade without "big business" to fight for us. However, I know that the White House wants to help "small business" in every legitimate way. Write your Congressman if you need help; but ask him to go and talk with President Kennedy's advisers and friends at the White House.

The career of a great man remains an enduring monument of human energy. The man dies and disappears, but his thoughts and acts survive and leave an indelible stamp upon his race.

Care Of Your Feet

There are several precautions every fisherman should take in the care of his feet.

Wear only well fitting, fairly new socks, and socks with no rough seams or darned places. If your feet are tender, dust them and your socks with foot powder often.

Wash your feet each night after fishing — and change socks.

Wool socks are easily washed in luke warm water. Clean socks are very important.

Conserving Nature For Tomorrow Studied By Burkburnett Study Club

"Conserving Nature For Tomorrow, Because Nature Is Man's Teacher" was the program presented at the January meeting of the Burkburnett Study Club held in the home of Mrs. Rudolph Robinson. Roll call was answered with Mineral resources. Mrs. F. C. Royce leader for the evening presented Mrs. Glen Bear who spoke in "Rare Earth Minerals." She stated that only in recent years has it been possible to isolate the RARE of the elements in sufficient quantities to permit undertaking this research program. Even at present the production methods of some of them is not great enough for them to be used in large scale operations. The terms RARE EARTH MINERALS is used to designate a group of elements which are closely related chemically. They were originally called EARTH as they resemble the alkaline earth, and RARE because they were thought to be scarce. The Rare Earth Minerals and their associated minerals are located in India, Brazil, South Africa, Australia, Ceylon, Indonesia, Korea and the following states: Idaho, Montana, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina and California.

An illustrated talk was given by Mrs. D. H. Smith on "Saving Our Wildlife from Extinction." She asked us to appeal to our law making bodies, both state and national, to pass strict laws protecting our wildlife. Today, we are faced with a dilemma which is hard to believe in his land of plenty. Certain species of our wildlife are doomed to extinction. Although there is still a great abundance of wildlife on the North American continent, we must not let false security misguide our judgment. The grizzly bear is growing dangerously low in number the greatest number are found in Alaska. Another wild creature, whose fight for survival has been widely publicized, is the whooping crane. The United States and Canada have joined together to protect this bird, as its breeding grounds are in Canada while its wintering grounds are in Texas. There is only one flock of whooping cranes in existence. All Americans should join together to assure added safeguards in a renewed effort to preserve the living symbols of America of the past, for the Americans of the future.

Mrs. M. E. Bean gave a most timely talk on "Concern for Tomorrow - Water Pollution." She said, "As pure, clean water is the source and sustaining force of life, health, and cleanliness so contaminated water is the source of death and corruption, and the contamination of our diminishing supplies of fresh water is one of the scandals, and one of the crises of our times. Water pollution is the most immediate and pressing of our contamination problems. Our survival is at stake. We must become convinced of this so strongly that we shall immediately move our governmental and industrial leaders to vigorous and effective action. Half measures at present cannot satisfy responsible citizens, or what is really at stake is not merely the incidental pleasures of life, but life itself."

The second session of a "Food Management" Work Shop for Wichita County homemakers will be held, Tuesday, January 29 in the Wichita Falls, Texas Electric Auditorium.

Two food management subjects will be included. Mr. Carl Morton, local manager for the Parkers Square Parker's Food Store will help homemakers with their buying problems. Dr. Jerry Broadway and Dr. Carl Davis well known dentists in Wichita Falls will work with the work shop group on planning family food for healthy teeth. Ninety-five per cent of the American people have tooth cavities, so it seems very evident that there is a need for improved food management practices, changed habits and proper care of the teeth. All area homemakers are welcome to attend this work shop, sponsored by the Wichita County Program Building Subcommittee on Foods and Nutrition, Mrs. Jack Marshall is chairman.

At most meat counters poultry, and pork hold the spotlight price wise unless you watch for special lower prices on beef chuck and rounds. Ham, bacon and picnics are featured pork items. "Family size" turkeys, fryers and eggs continue as top protein buys in many stores. Cheese is a real summer food. Use it in salads, sandwiches, casseroles or along with a fresh fruit plate for a dessert.

News From The County Agent

The Wichita Falls Junior Beef Show will be held at the 4-H Barn on February 5-8. This show is sponsored annually by the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce. Twenty-six Texas and Oklahoma Counties will participate in the show. There will be approximately 150 animals entered in the show. The general public is invited to attend the show.

Now, when soil and weather conditions are nearly ideal, is the time to soil test field to be fertilized next spring, says B. T. Haws, county agent. The county agent says that samples sent to the laboratories now will avoid the spring rush of sampling and fertilizing and that recommendations will be returned in one to two weeks.

The way the sample is taken is very important because the tests can be no better than the samples tested. They should be representative of the field tested and the field should be divided into uniform soil areas, explains Haws. If there are marked differences in the slope, color or texture of areas of the field, these should be tested separately because there may be fertility differences in these areas and thus differences in fertilizer needs.

If part of an area has been fertilized, limed, manured or cropped differently, it should be sampled differently. Your county agent can help you in your soil sampling and provide you with an information sheet for the job. A farmer can send soil samples to one of the three soil testing laboratories at Lubbock, Seymour or College Station.

One of our neatest packaged and most nutritious food items—the egg—should be in ample supply during 1963 and at prices favorable to the consumer, says B. T. Haws, county agent. He adds that supplies may average for the first months of 1963 a bit under those for the same months in 1962 and prices up correspondingly. The average prices for the year, however, will be close or a little below those for 1962.

A Radiant CLEAN LIFE

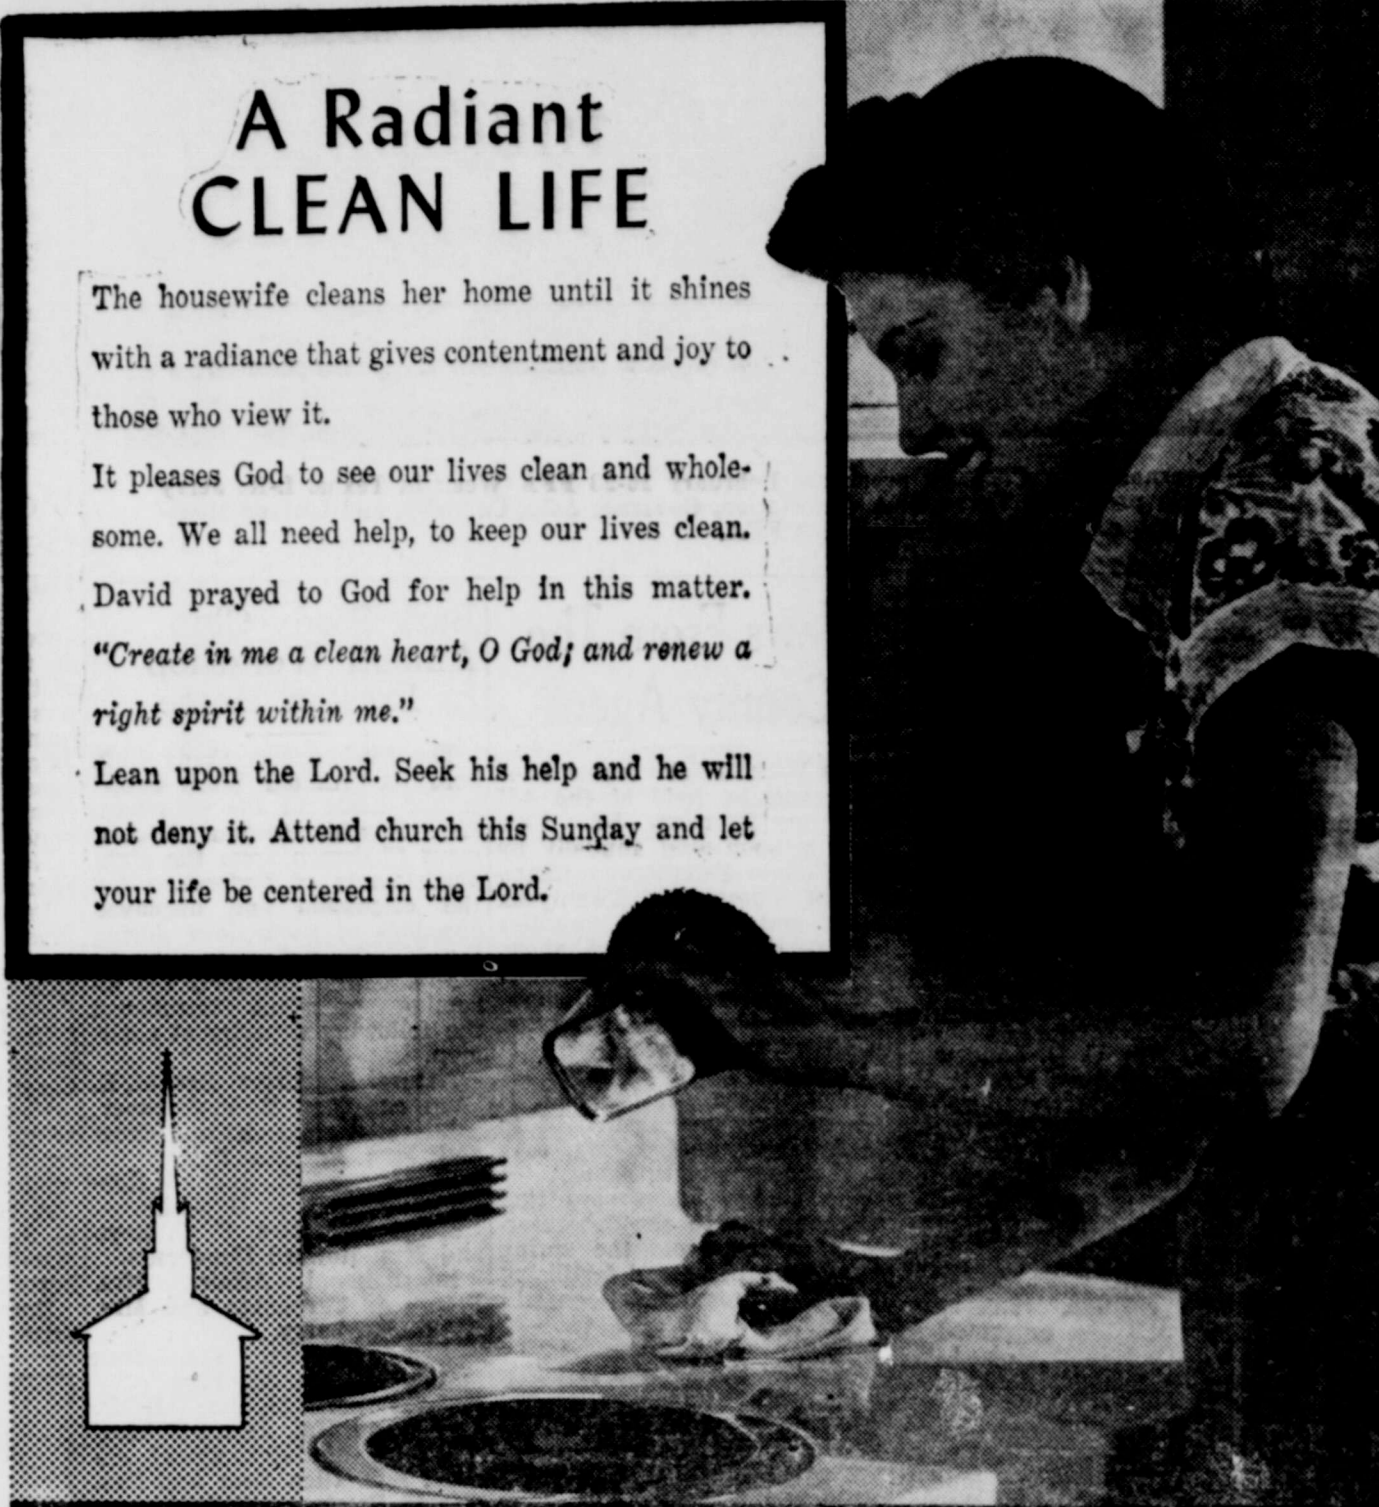

The housewife cleans her home until it shines with a radiance that gives contentment and joy to those who view it.

It pleases God to see our lives clean and wholesome. We all need help, to keep our lives clean.

David prayed to God for help in this matter.

"Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

Lean upon the Lord. Seek his help and he will not deny it. Attend church this Sunday and let your life be centered in the Lord.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Friendship Class Met In Home Of Mrs. E. R. Burns

The Friendship Class of the First Baptist Church met in the lovely home of Mrs. E. R. Burns Thursday, January 17th, with members of Group Two as co-hostesses.

The meeting opened with the class singing, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord." This was followed by a prayer by Miss Ella Billingslea.

Mrs. Earl Van Deren, using the Chapter "Worship," from a book of meditations by Carolyn Rhee, brought out many thoughts that should be remembered. The writer says that worship is giving, not getting. The best way to worship is to be thankful and this would be pleasing to God. In John 4:22-24 Jesus says: "We know what we worship. . . God is a Spirit and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Mrs. C. R. Chambers reviewed one of Billy Graham's sermons, "The Beginning of Days." Mr. Graham says: "The New Year affords an opportunity to

Shipping Your Oars

Often you must ship your oars in a hurry when landing a big fish. This makes an awful racket, splashes water everywhere, and frequently barks your shins.

You won't have to ship oars if you prepare a little before hand.

Before going out next time, cover about ten inches of heavy steel wire with rubber hose. Bend it to an "S" shape. Make a couple and hang one to each oarlock, or over the side of the gunwhale.

They will support the weight of the oar blade without getting in the way of landing the fish, making shipping unnecessary.

Texas Safety Association

Some of the worst Texas weather of the winter season may be expected during January, according to J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association.

"The perils of winter pavement are very much with us this time," he warned.

"Motorists must care for their vehicles and reduce speed on slippery roads, maintain longer distances between vehicles, make gradual rather than sharp maneuvers in braking and turning, and use reinforced tire chains for extra traction if driving during snow and ice conditions," Musick said.

He warned again that faulty driver vision — the inability to see danger in time to avoid an accident causes too many deaths and injuries on Texas roadways in winter.

He said many drivers fail to keep windshield wipers in top condition. When bad weather strikes they are a hazard to themselves and others because they can't see.

"Check windshield wiper blades and arm pressure frequently," he advised. "An ounce of wiper arm pressure or each inch of wiper blade recommended by engineers for most efficient operation. He gave motorists these additional driving tips:

(1) Use good tires. snow tires if you prefer, but in event have a set of reinforced tire chains in your trunk ready for snow or ice conditions.

(2) Get the "feel" of the road. To avoid unintentional sliding and spinning of your wheels, occasionally try your brakes or gently press your accelerator while driving slowly as traffic and highway conditions permit. Then adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.

(3) Follow at a safe distance. Keep well back of the vehicle ahead so you have plenty of room to stop. It takes from three to twelve times more distance to stop on snow and ice as it does on dry pavement.

(4) Pump your brakes to maintain best steering control when braking on ice or slippery snow. "Pumping" is a fast application and release of the brakes one, two or more times per second. This gives short intervals of maximum braking separated by short intervals of effective steering while wheels are rolling.

"Snow and ice, early darkness, sudden snowstorms and splattered wind shields are causes of the high auto death

Farm Facts

The number of horses and mules on farms decreased from 11,626,000 in 1945 to 2,089,000 in 1960, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

While horses and mules have been disappearing from the farms, the number of tractors has been increasing at an impressive pace. In fact, tractor numbers more than doubled from 1945 to 1960. There were 2,254,000 tractors on farms in 1945 as compared with 4,770,000 in 1960.

Since about three acres of land are needed to feed one mule, a drop of more than 8,000,000 in the horse and mule population released 24,000,000 acres for other purposes.

Mules, however, are stubborn critters and are making a mild comeback in some areas. Wade Tribble, who operates the last mule barn in Memphis, sold 100 to farmers during the first eight months of 1960 as compared with a total of 80 for the year before.

A Birmingham dealer says

The number of horses and mules on farms is less than 1/5 that of 1945.

he can sell all he can get — as many as 5,000 head a year. In 1957, he wasn't selling enough to meet expenses. Tribble says farmers with small acreages of cotton and tobacco consider mule power the most economical.

and injury toll at this time of year," the safety spokesman said. "There's one sure way to cope with January driving. Be prepared for it."

BASEMENT REMODELING

According to the Southern Pine Association, it's often possible to double the available living area in a home through basement remodeling.

In many instances, the conversion is accomplished simply by the application of finishing materials, such as wood paneling, to existing surfaces. The sunshine golden color of Southern Pine transforms dingy basement areas into bright new rooms.

Placement of simulated windows with wood shutters establishes an above-ground impression in a subterranean setting.
