housewives, teachers, doctors, bankers, nurses, businessmen—the members range from 18 to their 70's. They are unpaid non-professionals and sing only for the joy of singing, but the Choir has been hailed by leading critics as one of the world's truly outstanding musical organizations. An important and traditional part of each Choir broadcast is "The Spoken Word," given by Sterling W. Still, a well-known author, broadcaster, and church and civic leader. These brief messages, covering a wide range of subjects, are invariably stimulating, provocative, and inspirational. A survey conducted by missionaries in the Wichita Falls area revealed that 67.2% of those interviewed favored the Choir. KNIN presents the first broadcast at 6:45 a. m.; KWFT follows at 10:35 a. m. with the CBS network presentation. The FM broadcast is at 2:00 p. m. through the facilities of KNTQ. Latter Day Saints missionaries located in Burkburnett relate that there is a ward of the Mormon Church located at 3200 Cheryl Steet in Wichita Falls. Services are held at 10:00 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. every Sunday.

The Postal Hike and You

January 7, 1963 may go down in history as Stamp Act Day in commemoration of Another Consumer Tax—a one cent hike on every letter or postcard you mail. In addition, you may even pay more for mail you receive if your newspapers and magazines are forced to raise subscription rates to cover postage increases.

The increases were intended to produce new revenues of $603 million to balance the postal budget. But Congress came right back with another deficit by tacking on a wage raise of $368 million for postal employees which you, the taxpayer will eventually have to pay. We don't quarrel with the wage boost for postal workers because we assume Congress checked that out carefully. Our quarrel is with significant lack of increased productivity per postal employee. Failure to mechanize is the prime cause of this productivity problem.

It was not until 1920 that the Post Office got its first mechanization—the postage meter, which Congress authorized private industry to use to cut down on some Post Office operations. It has done little else in the way of mechanization to eliminate many manual chores.

That same year, 1920, the telephone company started installing dial telephones, to the consternation of many who felt that great numbers of the then 292,000 telephone employees would be thrown out of jobs. Now the automatic telephone is almost universal, the service is greatly improved, the cost of a coast-to-coast call is only $2.25 as compared with $16.50 in the '20s and, most important, the company employs 730,000 persons, two and a half times the 1920 number. Without the dial system, perhaps every single woman in the nation between ages of 18 and 30 would have to be employed today to handle the 90 bil-

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

The clamor is not over yet. It can be expected new Congress will continue investigation of television with renewed zeal.

There is shocked disbelief that American Broadcasting System would present as a witness on a program devoted to the political career of Richard Nixon, a convicted perjurer, Alger Hiss.

This feeling prevails among not only avid Nixon admirers, but also among those who strongly dislike him, and all shades of feeling in between.

The public could not have been more shocked, perhaps, if ABC had presented Khrushchev giving his views on Pope John, or Liz Taylor giving her views of the morality preachments of Billy Graham.

While the incident is glaring, Congress must look deeper into government for the forces that made such an outrageous presentation possible.

At one time, radio and then TV stations, because they are granted the use of the public air, were supposed to confine programming to entertainment, education, and an objective presentation of the news.

Then a few years ago, the bright idea was developed of using the public air to present propaganda for the United Nations, for foreign aid, and any other scheme favored by the existing administration.

It seems quite a coincidence that the head of American Broadcasting news programming service is James Haggerty, who was press secretary under the previous administration, when the air was used a great deal for propaganda.

Then there came along as head of the Federal Communications Commission quite a brash young man who has proceeded to castigate TV programming, urging broadcast operators to present more "public interest" material.

FTC Chairman Newton Minnow even advised that station managers should present editorials. The result has been in cities all over the land station managers editorializing over the air. The only qualification many of them have is that they were star salesmen of TV time.

No legitimate newspaper would have ever printed what Alger Hiss thought about a former Vice President of the United States. After all, newspapers have been conditioned by tradition of many years to maintain a responsibility to the public. The broadcasting industry, even though given exclusive rights to the use of segments of the public air, have no such tradition of responsibility. In addition, because bureaucrats can revoke their licenses to use the air, broadcasting stations must always be alert to what is the prevailing mood in the current government circles.

Thus, Congress will seek new ways, probably led by Rep. Emmanuel Celler, to prevent the broadcasting industry from using prerogatives that rightfully should be exercised only by a free press not dependent on bureaucratic whims for a license to publish.

lions calls made annually. In the same period, the Post Office has retained its long outmoded hand operations, even though it has examples aplenty that mechanization increases, rather than decreases, jobs, while cutting costs to consumers. At the rate it is moving, the Post Office soon will be a shrine of antiquated industrial Americana—if it isn't already.

The word ACT in Stamp Act can be meaningful if you will act now to let your Congressman know that you insist on a postal system as modern as America itself.

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

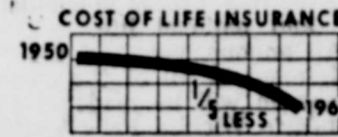

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. Recently I saw an article about "living benefits" of life insurance, in which it was said that they run larger than death payments. Could that be true and what are they?

A. "Living benefits" are the payments by life insurance companies to their policyholders, as contrasted with payments made to the beneficiaries of policyholders who have died. Yes, today they run larger than death payments in the aggregate, because the uses of life insurance have so expanded over the years. A generation ago, life insurance was primarily used for death protection, but now it is used for a broad range of living uses as well. In some cases, policy proceeds are used to provide college funds, travel money, retirement income, mortgage repayment, charity contributions, emergency cash, and many other "living" uses. Many policies, bought for death protection in the earlier years, are diverted to these "living" uses in later years, after the primary protection need has gone.

Q. Why does life insurance cost so much more today, if people are living longer? I just bought a policy that cost me half again as much as the last policy I bought ten years ago.

A. You are incorrect in thinking that life insurance costs more today than ten years ago. Actually, the average annual outlay per $1,000 of insurance, today is about one-fifth less than ten years ago. What you have to remember is that many things enter into any measure of the "cost" of life insurance—notably the kind of policy and the age at which you purchase it. Naturally, any policy you buy today would cost you more than a similar policy purchased 10 years ago for the simple reason that you are 10 years older. The risk and therefore the premium on a given type of policy increases with every year you add to your age. From your question, it is impossible to give a more specific answer, but generally speaking, policy costs have come down and not increased in the past decade.

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY
J. B. ADY, Manager JO 9-3373

News From Cong. Purcell

January 29, marks the first anniversary of my service as Congressman. On that date I stood before the House and took office as Representative of the 13th District of Texas. It was an experience I shall never forget. It was the 19th wedding anniversary for Mrs. Purcell and we will have a double anniversary on January 29.

That I have learned a great deal in that year. It is almost impossible to conceive the large number of problems and issues which a Congressman must deal with most daily. These range from raising pecan prices to constituents who are difficult with their Security payments, to the policy of the United States in between these could be a number of items covering a number of things most never dream would come to a Congressman's office.

My first exposure of a Congressman to his duties in his office, the Committee on Agriculture in my case, is enlightening. It has been a graduate course in development. A Congressman must develop, if he does not possess it, a very thorough knowledge of the field covered by his committee. During the course of hearings in a session of Congress, he will be called upon to listen to and evaluate testimony from the foremost experts in the field. On the basis of this testimony and available information, the committee decides which bills are to be considered by members of the House.

This year has been the most interesting and rewarding. I have met hundreds of interesting people, both out of government. This all I had an opportunity to do in Antarctica, including the South Pole, where I had a chance to talk with our scientists and military support people there and learn firsthand about our meteorological and other scientific work in this most interesting area of the world. I would like to say, incidentally, that I was most impressed by the energetic dedication of these young men we have stationed on this barren ice-covered land.

As I reflect on this past year, I think also of the thousands of people in the 13th District whose work and whose support made this year possible. I try to think of adequate methods to express my gratitude and appreciation. For it was not my effort primarily, but the efforts of dedicated people vitally interested in their government, who made this year and those to come possible.

The world has greatly changed during the past year. We have gained a major foreign policy victory in Cuba, though the situation there is far from being resolved. We have embarked on a dramatic new program in world trade under the 1962 Trade Expansion Act. We have seen the Peace Corps flourish as the most effective new element in our foreign policy.

The future promises to move even faster. The changing world of the rapidly advancing technology, the growing population, automation and many other factors combine to present problems that could not be foreseen a few short months ago, and opportunities that are unparalleled in any period of history. And the changes in the future promise to be even more drastic and develop even more rapidly.

This is a challenging time we live in. But I do not look ahead with fear. Although I respect the size of the formidable challenges which face us, I look ahead with optimism, for I still have faith that the American people retain the qualities of pioneer spirit and dedication to freedom and self-improvement which gave our forefathers the ability to make this the world's greatest nation.

I count it the highest honor and privilege to serve in the nation's highest legislative body during these times. I hope only

Farm Facts

The European Common Market is already the biggest foreign cash buyer of U. S. farm products, according to Raymond A. Ioanes, administrator of the Foreign Agricultural Service.

It includes France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg. Eventually, as in the U. S., there will be no restrictions on movement of goods, capital, services, and workers within the area.

"The population of the Common Market as now constituted is close to that of the United States. Another 55 million persons are added by the overseas countries and territories. However, the addition of countries seeking membership or association could well bring the population to over 300 million," Mr. Ioanes notes.

"A strong demand exists in the Common Market for a long list of the farm products we want to sell. The quality of our food and fiber is high, and our prices are competitive."

that I can live up to the trust that has been placed in me by you.

As it has been noted in many newspapers in the 13th District, I have introduced two bills at this session of Congress. One calls for a systematic reduction of the national debt. The other would provide an additional $600 exemption on personal income tax for the parents of mentally retarded children.

Recent visitors from home to the Washington office have included: Mr. Joe Lake from Gainesville; Mr. Bob Nichols, Mr. Bill Drenner, Mr. Bill Parker, and Mrs. Bill Rosch from Denton; Newell Langford, formerly of Nocona; Mr. Earl Nunneley of Decatur; and Mr. Dave Dary, who has just returned to Wichita Falls.

FOR RESULTS — ADVERTISE

MODERN VERSION

In shape, the wood A-frame vacation home is not unlike the old Indian tepee. But it's far sturdier and more functional version.

In lieu of poles that held up the wigwam, the A-frame is supported by thick wood beams which rise diagonally from foundation to converge at the roof apex. The bearskin or deer-skin covering of the ancient tepee is replaced by solid two-inch thicknesses of wood decking applied to the outer edges of the beams. Stronger wood species, such as Southern Pine, are used.

According to the Southern Pine Association, the A-frame is economical since walls and roof are one and the same. The strength of the frame permits large window areas and an ample interior view of lakeshore or wooded scenery.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Says Congress Supplies Money to Buy Stocks

First, we must remember that the margin requirement has been reduced from 70% to 50%. This enables those with only a few dollars to speculate. These office workers, etc., buy a few shares today and sell tomorrow.

Demand and Supply
Holders of older dividend-paying stocks do not want to sell. The Dow-Jones Average is largely made up of the older dividend-paying shares. They are mostly in the safe deposit boxes of their owners who do not want to be bothered with going to get them. Hence, during 1962, the demand for these Dow-Jones stocks exceeded the supply, insofar as the market was concerned.

There are currently 2,500,000 civilian employees on the federal payroll, whom, I estimate, received $15 billion during 1962. This is included in the total $300 billion salary and wage portion of the personal income figure. Also, during the year, their savings accounts were being increased and their debts were being decreased.

$50 Billion Paid Out Annually

The above figures are for civilians in the government employ. Along with these should be considered the 2½ million men in uniform throughout the world—over one million in the army, 666,000 on the navy, 884,000 in the air force, and 191,000 marines. It is estimated that the pay received by them is spent and saved largely by nearly a million U. S. families.

I estimate that these families receive $11 billion annually. All the above means that the Kennedy administration pays about $40 billion per year direct to U. S. voters. If to this amount we add the wages paid by the contractors engaged in defense contracts, we reach a conservative figure of $50 billion in cash which is paid out in Washington annually to U. S. people.

I am not saying that the stock market will not continue to go up and down. However, Wall Street's stock market may today have a far better foundation, which makes it safer than in 1929. Then, the Federal payroll was comparatively small; and very little was going into pension funds, mutual and other funds.

What People Save or Invest

We know that the American people increase their savings about $3 billion annually. Adding this to their earnings makes a total of over $50 billion. Much of these savings were used to buy stocks in New York. I, however, believe that at least 20% was savings deposits which banks loaned to the public to build homes and make improvements to homes already constructed. This shows approximately where $10 billion went from the U. S. Treasury.

The above figures leave about $40 billion for merchandise, services, taxes, insurance, and other household expenses. Now I guess that 10% of this $40 billion reaches Wall Street. This means that our Federal government is supplying annually $4 billion, for Wall Street.

What Is Sent to Wall Street

During 1962 the average of daily transactions on the New York Stock Exchange was about 3,500,000 shares. If an average price per share is assumed to be $30, this means that $100,000,000 was needed to buy said daily total; but probably only about 10% represented new commitments, on balance. That is, on an average day, only $10 million of new money was needed to keep Wall Street rolling. Multiply this by 250 days, and we have $2.5 billion of new money needed each year.

From where does it come? Of course it comes from a great many sources, mostly from "larger" individual investors, pension funds, trust funds, and investment or mutual funds. But if to this is added 8% of the Federal Government payroll, estimated above at $50 billion, this means that a substantial amount would be coming basically from Washington. Furthermore, an increase in these government employees of only 1% would add $50 million annually to the above. Hence, to answer my question, the needed money to buy stocks comes largely from Washington.

Removing Skunk Odor

Sportsmen often have the misfortune to run over a skunk, or come so near it that the animals sprays the car.

If the noxious odor is not removed soon, the odor will stay on the car for months.

Should this misfortune happen to you, dissolve a couple of cups of mustard powder in a bucket of hot water. Use an old mop, or an old rag tied around a broom, to swab car body, wheels, and other parts that may have been sprayed.

The sooner the cleaning operation is done, the more effective it will be.

Clip Dog's Nails

Unless a hunting dog gets all the exercise nature intended, his nails will grow too long.

This is most likely to occur during the summer months.

When you notice his nails are getting too long, take time to cut off the dead ends with ordinary nail clippers. Otherwise the pooch may be badly crippled by the time hunting season rolls around.

NATIONAL OUTLOOK

The "Official" View On 1963
By Ralph Robey

Under the law it is required that the Chief Executive make reports in the early days of each session of the Congress. The State of the Union Budget Message, and Economic Report. Every prediction is always optimistic. This is true for both Democratic and Republican administrations. The question is the degree to which it is predicted. Near the Kennedy Administration was too optimistic of its quantitative predictions. For example, it estimated for the year as a whole that the total value of all services, or gross product, would be $570 billion. The actual figure was $550 billion. The president now says, in his economic report, "I do not expect a fifth postwar recession to interrupt our progress in 1963," but the upturn is expected to be moderate. Four specific reasons are cited:

1. Business investment will rise "at least modestly" as a result of the tax credit enacted in 1962, the change in depreciation schedules, and the proposed tax reduction of this year.
2. Home construction will continue at about the 1962 level.
3. Total government spending—federal, state and local—will rise by about 8 billion.
4. Consumer buying will go up in harmony with rises in government and business activity.

From the budget message we get some quantitative predictions. Gross national product is forecast to rise $24 billion to $578 billion. Personal income is to go up $19 billion to $459 billion. And corporate profits before taxes will advance by $2.1 billion to $53 billion. Each of these is a smaller dollar increase than took place between 1961 and 1962. It is assumed, of course, that the proposed tax bill, or something close to it, will be passed by the Congress during this session.

One of the most interesting facets of the Administration's views on the business outlook is the continued rise in government expenditures. It is proposed in the budget to spend $98.8 billion, which is an increase of $4.5 billion over this year. Thirty years ago, the total spending by the federal government was $6.5 billion. That was in 1935, and the public debt at that time was $28.7 billion. The estimated debt in June 30, 1964, is $315.6 billion.

From 1931 to 1946, inclusive, we had a federal deficit every year, and we have had a deficit in 12 of the 18 years since then, including the one that clearly is ahead for 1964. The greatest federal spending in any previous year was $98.3 billion in 1945, which was a reflection of World War II, and the largest peacetime deficit in our history was in 1959. That deficit was caused by a heavy increase in expenditures in an attempt to prevent a recession.

The currently proposed deficit is of quite a different character. The Administration does not anticipate a recession, but believes the great volume of spending is desirable, and necessary, in order to get the nation to increase its rate of growth.

The upcoming tax bill is designed for the same purpose. But there is a curious quirk in the reasoning back of this thesis. It is that our basic trouble today is a lack of purchasing power. If this is increased, it is reasoned, business investment will grow, profits will rise, and everything will be improved. One cannot say that there is nothing to this theory, because obviously business will not invest unless it can see the possibility of selling the product. But it is the opportunity, or hope, of making a profit which causes investment—not merely that the products can be sold.

But, for what it is worth, the Administration sees better business ahead, and it firmly believes that it can be made still better by increased government spending, larger deficits, and further redistribution of the tax burden.

Permits Being Issued By City To Burn Trash

According to Jess Whately, City Manager, the City will issue a special permit to residents to burn trash, weeds, grass, etc.

It is necessary to get the special permit because there is a city ordinance against burning trash within the city limits. When a permit is issued, the Police Dept. and Fire Dept. will be notified, which will cut down on the confusion which might arise from unauthorized burning.

The property owner taking out the permit agrees to "take the necessary precautions to prevent the fire from spreading beyond the premises of the above location."

There is no fee for the permit. However if you wish to burn trash, be sure you have your permit, otherwise you will be subject to all penalties applicable to unauthorized burning.

"BLUE CHIPS"

During the last decade, more than a thousand lumber companies in the South have been equipped with debarking and chipping machinery.

Logs are stripped of bark at the outset of lumber manufacture and this clean condition permits the use of slabs, edging and other "leftovers" for pulp chips. The later, in turn, are supplied to paper companies. According to the Southern Pine Association, more than 15% of the region's material for paper manufacture comes from the "leftovers" of lumbering.

Conservation impact has been enormous, with entire forests released for further growth and future use.

FULL VALUE

According to the Southern Pine Association, full sizes mean full value in lumber.

That's why the buyer should specify lumber that's properly seasoned and "pre-shrunk" before being surfaced to final dimensions. Lumber is priced and sold by the board foot, with charges based on the amount of footage the purchase involves.

Childhood PLEASURES

"Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right."

A mother only has to glance at her child to know if his play is pure, or if it is leading to mischief. Our Father in heaven can as easily look on our hearts and judge our ways. "A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things: and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things."

Seek the Lord in his house, so that your heart will be right with God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Umbrella Tent Tip
Here's a handy tip for your umbrella tent. Apply luminous paint to the center pole and the spreader arms. This will help them absorb sun or lantern light, and glow all night. Results — no more bumped heads when getting up during the night.

THE FORD IDEA: build the fun in... build the worry out!

Spend fifteen minutes at your Ford Dealer's — see how much difference the right idea makes! These cars are more fun than cars have ever been before. The Super Torque Ford (foreground) has V-8's up to 405 horsepower, a $10 million ride, rich interiors and luxury features like an optional Swing-Away steering wheel. The sleek new Fairlane middleweight (center) is quick, nimble, solid as a bank — and offers America's newest V-8! Don't miss Falcon (top) — now with a new dash of fun, including the first Falcon convertible. The '63 cars from Ford are designed to be less trouble than cars have ever been before. They're tight, quiet, solid as they come — and all* have Ford's Twice-a-Year (or 6,000-mile) Maintenance!

America's liveliest, most care-free cars!

Upside Down Cake Is Always Welcome

Always welcome is an old time favorite, upside down cake. This delicious version is made of lemon flake cake mix and juicy, golden peach halves. For the most enthusiastic compliments, serve it warm with dollops of whipped cream.

Peach Upside-Down Cake

- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/3 cup butter
- 2 tablespoons peach juice
- 1 package lemon flake cake mix
- 8 to 12 drained canned peach halves
- 1-1/4 cup water
- 2 eggs, unbeaten

Spread sugar evenly in 13x9x2-inch pan; sprinkle with peach juice. Arrange peach halves on sugar mixture. Dot with butter. Set aside.

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add water and eggs. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy. Pour batter carefully over fruit mixture in pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 55 to 60 minutes. Cool cake in pan 5 minutes. Then invert on serving plate or tray and let stand 1 minute before removing pan. Serve cake warm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

TEENAGERS ARE IMMATURE

No. In fact some are more mature than adults. How do we know? Well, we have talked with them. Many have savings accounts at our Association. When we ask them their purpose in saving money, we receive replies such as this: 'My parents can not afford to pay for all my college education. By saving money now, I will make it easier on them when it comes time for college.' Another remark, 'I am saving money now because I know that sometime in the future I will see something I really want and need and I want to be able to buy it.' And still another, 'I worked hard for this money. I do not plan to spend it foolishly.'

Statements like these are not immature. They show intelligent thinking on the part of these individuals. We have a large number of teenagers who save regularly with us. We think it is very commendable. Don't you?

'14 Reasons Why RAMBLER '63 Wins Motor Trend Magazine's Award as "CAR OF THE YEAR"

Rambler Classic 770 Four-Door Sedan

Rambler won this great distinction over all other cars. How come? Read these comments from the Motor Trend experts who tested the American, Classic and Ambassador:

1. You get room for six 6-footers. Interiors of both Classic and Ambassador are roomy and comfortable... plenty of legroom.

2. Classic and Ambassador have cleaner, more functional design... apparent from almost any angle.

3. The basic-engined Classic gave an overall average of 23.1 miles per gallon.

4. The Ambassador V-8 is a sportier, more performance-oriented vehicle (test car had opt. 270 HP V-8, 250 HP std.).

5. Rambler is now one-up on every other car... with its new sports-car option, Twin-Stick floor shift with overdrive.

6. New Advanced Unit Construction... results in a unit so strong it'll take punishment longer and, naturally, hold its resale value."

7. Rambler's exclusive "reclining bucket seats with headrests are options well worth the extra expenditure."

8. "Rough roads can be stormed with confidence. There isn't any pitch or choppiness noticeable."

9. All Ramblers have, in effect, "two separate braking systems for the front and rear wheels. If either one should suddenly fail, the remaining one can bring the car to a safe stop." Self-adjusting brakes standard.

10. "Quality has always been one of American Motors' largest selling points and continues to be in the new models."

11. The sedans' trunks are "large with a good amount of usable space."

12. "We've never seen a heater that produced more heat. At its maximum it should be up to any climate."

13. "In addition to long-recognized owner-appreciation features... the factory has doubled the new-car warranty to 24 months or 24,000 miles!"

14. Rambler's "an even better buy this year," according to Motor Trend experts. Examples: Every Rambler, including the American—lowest-priced U.S. car—has such exclusive long-life features as Deep-Dip rust-proofing and Ceramic-Armored muffler—just like the Classic Six and Ambassador 250 HP V-8.

RAMBLER '63 Winner of Motor Trend Magazine Award "CAR OF THE YEAR"

24-Month, 24,000-Mile Warranty—Your Rambler dealer at the dealership, for 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first, will repair or replace, without charge, any Rambler part which is defective in material or workmanship, except tires which are covered by the tire manufacturer's warranty. Owners will be responsible for deterioration, misuse and normal service maintenance, including normal replacement of such parts as filters, spark plugs, ignition points and wiper blades.

CONTACT LENSES

Q. I have heard many people say that contact lenses can go blind from wearing contact lenses. Is this true? Will carrots help improve eyesight?

A. Some people have difficulty in adjusting to contact lenses but we are not aware of any evidence that they can go blind. Many competent ophthalmologists (eye specialists) recommend contact lens under certain conditions. We feel certain that they would not do so if blindness might be the result. However, some people insist on wearing contact lenses in spite of undue irritation and this could be dangerous. Carrots contain vitamin A. Lack of vitamin A causes so-called "night blindness," a condition in which dark adaptation is slowed. If a person is deficient in vitamin A, eating carrots will probably help. Otherwise, vitamin A has no special effect on eyesight.

NOSE DROPS

Q. I have hay fever. Nose drops help at first but now it seems that drops and sprays just cause more clogging. Should I switch to another brand of drops?

A. No. Stop using drops and sprays and see a physician. With continued use, tolerance to these preparations gradually builds up to a point where the more you use the greater the obstruction. See your family doctor or an allergist. If the trouble is due to allergy, specific treatment will help. There may be associated sinus disease of some type of nasal deformity. Such conditions can only be treated by a physician.
