'Queen of Missions' Is Located In San Antonio, Opened Week Days and Sunday

SAN JOSE MISSION — Founded in 1720 during the height of Spain's power in the New World, this old San Antonio mission is the best preserved of any in the United States. Visitors at San Jose and four other missions (including the more famous Alamo) are enriched by a glimpse of Spanish colonial life in the Southwest.

The crumbling ruins of the Franciscan missions in Southwest Texas are among the most impressive monuments to Spanish enterprise to be found in the United States.

Along a stretch of 12 miles down from the old Presidio of San Antonio de Bexar may still be seen the ruins of five missions.

Often called "Queen of the Missions," Mission San Jose is located a few miles from the heart of downtown San Antonio. Established in 1720, this is the best preserved and most complete mission establishment in the United States.

One can spend several hours touring the buildings and making pictures. The entire outer wall includes the restored Indian houses along it. Also on the compound are the carpenter shop, granary and work shop. An interesting restored old mill is the oldest in Texas. The Church is beautifully stone carved and contains the famous rose window.

Mission San Jose is now a national historic site and Texas state park. It is open from 9:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m. week days, and from Sunday noon until 6:00 p. m.

In the course of its colorful history, the beautiful old city of San Antonio has been under six flags: France, Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, Confederate States of America and United States of America. Each has left its mark.

With an average mean temperature of 68.9 degrees, San Antonio is an ideal vacation spot the year 'round. A day, a week end or a week can be pleasantly spent enjoying the many historic sites in and around the city.

In addition to the mission tour there is, of course, the celebrated Alamo in the center of town which is of interest to visitors of all ages, Texans or not; La Villita, the 300-year-old Spanish village which has been reconstructed and is open, free, seven days a week; the Spanish Governor's Palace, built about 1749; beautiful Brackenridge Park with its zoo, aquarium and Chinese garden; and four important military installations, usually open to the public.

The 1964 Wheat Certificate Plan Will Set the Pattern For Future Farm Programs

By Raymond Schroeder

When the multiple-price certificate wheat plan is examined closely, it is readily evident that it is a foot-in-the-door approach to "government supply management" for all agriculture. While supposedly limited to wheat, it is designed to operate in conjunction with a "government supply management program for feed grains. If "supply management" programs are put into operation for wheat and feed grains, the stage would be set for similar programs for dairy products, poultry, livestock, and other farm commodities.

The May 21st referendum applies only to the 1964 crop, but the Agriculture Act of 1962 is the law until it is changed by Congress. It will not be changed unless wheat farmers defeat the referendum.

Under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962, the Secretary of Agriculture would never have total authority over the production and marketing of wheat. He could:

1. Set the national quota as low as one billion bushels and the national acreage allotment as low as he deems necessary to avoid overplanting the quota.
2. Issue marketing certificate allocating the numbers of bushels each producer can sell at the higher of two price support levels without regard to quality or the use made of the wheat.
3. Set supports for certificate wheat as low as 65% or as high as 90% of parity (currently $1.62 and $2.24).
4. Set supports for non-certificate wheat at the level he deems "appropriate." There is no minimum support level for non-certificate wheat.
5. Require producers to retire acreage from production.
6. Make payments for retired acres but only in 1964 and 1965. He could require producers to retire land after 1965 but would have no authority to make payments.
7. He could require that the same land be retired each year.
8. He could enforce strict compliance by imposing heavy penalties for violations.

Congressman G. Purcell Introduces Code of Ethics Bill

Congressman Graham Purcell today introduced a bill establishing a Code of Ethics for Members of Congress and their employees. The bill provides for strict limitations on travel by Congressmen and their staffs, and strict reporting of funds spent on these trips. It would also require a sworn annual statement from each Member of Congress on his personal financial transactions. The bill provides further that any employee of a Congressman must actually do work for the Congressman in his official duties in Washington or in the home district of the Congressman.

Penalties for violations of the provisions of the bill range up to fines of $10,000 or imprisonment for one year, or both. "Congress must accept the responsibility of keeping its own house in order," said Congressman Purcell. "I hope that this bill will receive prompt consideration. We point to our system of government, in our efforts to guide emerging nations, as the most perfect governmental system ever devised by man. We must do all we can to keep the good name and reputation of this government untarnished."

Congressman Purcell concluded, "The activities for which individual Congressmen have been criticized have been highly publicized and, in many cases, grossly exaggerated. This, however, should not preclude action to prevent and correct existing abuses and prevent future abuses. It is incumbent upon Congress to take immediate action to end these irresponsible activities of the few."

Burk Edges Rider 8-7 For Loop Tile

Burkburnett's Bulldogs clinched the north half of District 4-AAA in a squeaker Friday, downing Rider's Raiders 8-7 behind the southpaw hurling of Johnny Koller who struck out 13 Raiders.

Rider jumped to a 5-2 lead in the top of the third, but a series of infield-outfield errors put Burk Burnett ahead in the bottom of the third, 6-5.

Starting righthander for Rider, Steve Oakley, got out of trouble in the top of the fourth when Rider rightfielder, Dick Foley made it to first on a passed third strike. Pitcher Oakley then moved Foley to third by slapping out a single and leadoff batter, Richard Wykes, tallied the tying 6-6 RBI as he singled to score Foley before the side retired.

Rider relief pitcher, Richard Teakell came in for the bottom of the fourth, but again Burk Burnett capitalized on Rider's defensive problem scoring runs in the fourth and fifth to go ahead 8-6.

Rider remained scoreless through the fifth and sixth, but rallied in the seventh as Buddy O'Neill drew a walk and made it home on a left field triple off the bat of Larry Negri. The rally died although Negri, representing the tying run, was stranded on third when the next two Raiders struck and flew out.

Koller's win gives him a 2-2 record and Burk a 3-2 mark for the season with a 3-0 showing in the district. Rider owns a 2-4 mark for the season. Oakley and Teakell stand at 1-2 each.

Burkburnett will now face the winner of the south half of 4-AAA, Graham for the district championship.

National Gaslight Day To Be Observed May 14 By Lone Star

National Gaslight Day will be observed across the nation, May 14, by Lone Star Gas Company and some 75 natural gas utility companies. W. T. Donnell, Lone Star Gas Company here has announced.

As a feature of this special day, Lone Star will offer a wide variety of gaslight models for sale at a substantially reduced price, Mr. Donnell said. The lights are now on display at Lone Star's local offices, Burk Burnett, Texas.

These tastefully designed appliances are finding new applications in home and business. Gaslights are now being used by airports, restaurants, shopping centers, and other commercial establishments for outdoor illumination. Builders by increasing numbers are installing gaslights as standard landscaping fixtures, and a number of new home developments are lighting streets with natural gas.

The new popularity of the gaslight has become so widespread that the American Gas Association estimates there now are more out door gaslights than there were during the fabled gas-lit turn of the century. A. G. A. estimates that there are approximately 750,000 gas lights glowing outside homes and businesses throughout the country today.

Today's gaslight combines the beauty of contemporary appliance design, the safety and convenience of 24-hour yard lighting, and the economy and dependability of natural gas.

Poppy Day Facts

The American Legion Auxiliary reports that wearing a poppy on Poppy Day will honor the more than half-million Americans who died and nearly one-million wounded during both World Wars and the Korean conflict.

The American Legion Auxiliary adopted the poppy as its Memorial Flower at the organization's first convention in Kansas City in 1921. After taking this action the Auxiliary pledged that 100 per cent of the Poppy Day contributions would go to welfare work for service men and members of their families.

Education Is Local Responsibility

If our schools are to be saved from the threat of government regulations, the Administration's mammoth $6 billion aid-to-education bill must be defeated so resoundingly that it will never be offered again.

Although the reasons for opposing federal-aid-to-education are many and valid and have been spelled out many times, it is important to re-state some of them here lest skillful bureaucratic propagandists win supporters for their drive in our community. The legislation should be rejected because:

* Education is not a federal function but a responsibility of state and local governments.

* Intellectual and political freedom thrive best in an educational system which is NOT subject to conformity in content and teaching practices dictated by remote control.

* Only under complete local jurisdiction will education be responsive to the needs and preferences of the community supporting it.

* Federal intervention will only aggravate and not solve whatever educational problems exist.

* It is not needed because states and communities are fulfilling their educational requirements.

Don't let the national government add a fourth 'R'—for REGULATION—to the curriculum of our schools.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BOONVILLE, IND., ENQUIRER: "The United States stands as a bulwark against nationalization and socialism (though we practice some form of socialism in our government, not calling it by name). One of the key reasons why we in the United States must keep our country strong and continue to set an example to the rest of the world, is the need for demonstrating that the private ownership principle, the free enterprise system, as we practice it, is the best system for free peoples."

RADIANT colors on supple jersey spell after-five elegance when fashioned into a graceful full-skirted dress, cut beguilingly low in back. Vacationing-space savers will welcome the packability of this luxurious, airy fabric of "Antron" nylon. It has the luster and opacity usually associated with fragility, yet here teamed with the easy washability of tricot lingerie. Heyette has introduced new fashion appeal to the sleeveless look by subtly extending the shoulder line.

PACKAGED MIX MAY BE USED TO STOP CELLAR LEAKS

If your basement may be converted into a swimming pool — but only during the rainy season — you may choose between two courses of action. You may purchase a dinghy or patch up the holes in the cellar walls and floors. We recommend the latter. You can do the job with little effort. Most openings are created as the house settles slowly in its foundation. Any major breaks should be inspected by a mason.

Most of the work is done with a dry, pre-mixed concrete patching mix such as Sakrete. The amateur cement mixer will find that most of the work comes in preparing the crack for the Sakrete mix.

The sides of the defective area are first chipped away with a cold chisel and a hammer. It is essential that the edges of the old concrete be undercut; the cut must be on bottom than on top. After cutting, loose material should dislodge all loose material with a stiff wire brush. The area is cleaned with water to remove dust. Sakrete is then mixed with water on a flat surface. The mixture is poured into crack and patch is filled slightly higher than water level. "Strike off the top with a piece of lumber wider than the opening. (Opening should never be less than one inch wide). Concrete patching mixture should extend a fraction of an inch above the floor or wall line. After two hours, surface will be complete. Surface may then be troweled to match the rest of the surface.

PHENYLKETONURIA

Q. What is phenylketonuria? Is there any treatment?

A. Phenylketonuria is an inheritable disorder of body chemistry often associated with mental defects. Progress has recently been made in treatment of this disorder through dietary means. Early diagnosis (during infancy) is essential in warding off the mental effects of phenylketonuria.

HEART CONSCIOUSNESS

Q. Lately I can not rest or sleep on my left side because my heart pumps so fast and hard. I am under medical treatment but not for heart trouble. What causes this?

A. Most people have probably had this experience. Thumping of the heart may be especially noticeable when everything is quiet and sleep seems far off. Change position in bed and the heart will "quiet down," or at least the heart beat won't be noticed so much. Awareness of body functions such as the heart beat is usually not a manifestation of serious disease.

towns represented were Frederick, Okla. Electra, Muenster, Seymour, Munday and Wichita Falls, Tex.

The setting for the flower show was a garden scene. Outlining the garden was a white trellis entwined with green ivy. Musical notes and figures of birds were placed at intervals on the trellis and a birdhouse was hung from the center. Pot plants, shrubs and flowers, placed on artificial grass furthered the illusion of a spring garden. Focal point of the garden was a Shepherd boy statue and a bird fountain surrounded by colorful flowers.

A coffee before the show at the home of Mrs. Glen Bear, with Mrs. Walter Riley as co-hostess, and a luncheon at the Methodist Church after the judging, honored the judges.

Judges were Mesdames J. C. Roberts and Jack Howard of Quannah, E. L. Derr and K. G. Davis, Chillicothe, L. A. Andrews, Crowell, Beckham Guthrie, Henrietta, Robert Roth, Bill Duncan, Joe Bathara, E. This protects the zipper with nylon coil from excessive heat or, if zipper is metal, it eliminates any possibility of scratching your iron.

KEY VALUES

Three of the most important properties lumber can have — stability, permanence and nail holding ability — all are enhanced by proper seasoning. This drying process "pre-shrinks" wood and establishes a condition of dryness essential to permanence. It can give an advantage of as much as 400 per cent in the ultimate nail holding power of a structure. Proper seasoning is a mandatory grade requirement for Southern Pine framing, paneling, siding trim and the like.

Wilbarger-Wichita SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Conservation activities continue to move at a rapid pace in the Iowa Park unit of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District. Various practices are being applied daily: land-leveling for irrigation, construction of waterways, terracing, pond excavation, sub-surface drainage, lining irrigation ditches with concrete, installing drop structures, tree-planting, and range seeding.

Cooperators who have recently leveled portions of their farms for the purpose of irrigation are: John R. Jones, Alvis Sewall, James Parker, Terry Brogdon, and Clyde E. Robertson. The irrigation systems installed on the John R. Jones, Alvis Sewall, and Clyde E. Robertson farms were cost-shared under the Great Plains Conservation Program administered by the Soil Conservation Service. The irrigation systems on the James Parker and Terry Brogdon farms were cost-shared under the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Program and installed under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service.

Farmers who have recently seeded newly constructed waterways to permanent grasses are: James Stewart, Arnold Kiesling and Frank Foster. The Stewart farm is located on Johnson Road and the Kiesling and Foster farms are in the Clara Community. James Foster, whose farm is situated on Farm Road 369 north of the Expressway, has just completed construction of three waterways on his farm. Clyde E. Robertson plans to sod the three waterways on his farm, to coastal bermuda grass as soon as moisture is available. E. W. Roderick in the Burkburnett area has just finished construction of two water-

Living Room Look in Kitchens Is Family's First Choice Today

By Mary Lou Holton

The kitchen is the first place most house-hunting families look for quality. Most wanted in a new kitchen are more space and a full complement of top-quality major kitchen appliances, according to builders sensitive to the demands of today's families.

One survey found that the average one-family home has only 150 square feet of kitchen space, and the average apartment only 103. Families who have endured kitchens of this size are quickly attracted to new homes with spacious, well designed kitchens.

Last year, in response to this yearning for larger kitchens, more than 80 per cent of the nation's builders included dining space within the kitchen area.

Next to space, the quality, size and number of appliances are most important. Kitchen designers who work with builders agree that today's smartly styled, labor-saving electric appliances such as ranges, refrigerator-freezers and dishwashers are important to the convenience and livability of a home. They also add to the sale and resale value of a house.

Today's built-in electric ranges are compatible with the "living room look" desired in modern kitchens. The variety of drop-in ranges, separate surface cooking elements and built-in wall ovens, double or single, makes it easy to design an inviting, convenient kitchen, regardless of its shape.

Electric ranges with automatic stop and start timers, easy-to-reach broilers, automatic meat thermom-

The kitchen is the first place to look for quality in a new house. This kitchen, with its ample cabinet space and work-saving electric appliances, has a feeling of livability and warmth. Its extra living space easily accommodates a good size table for eating or homework.

eters, large built-in double ovens, surface heating elements that are adjustable to pan sizes, and optional rotisseries are features women look for when they're shopping for a new home.

They also want roomy electric refrigerator-freezers.

Today's customer expects a refrigerator of at least 15 or 14 cubic feet for the average family, according to building authorities. Most popular are the large combination units that cut down on marketing trips by providing an ample larder for a week or more at a time.

In addition to plenty of storage space for frozen and fresh foods, women now look for electric refrigerator-freezers that never need defrosting, even in the freezer section. The new squared-off lines fit snugly under and between cabinets, adding to the built-in look so much in demand today.

An automatic dishwasher, new to most families only ten years ago, has quickly become one of the basic appliances home buyers expect to find in a modern kitchen.

Today's electric dishwashers hold more dishes, save more time, and get dishes cleaner than ever. They help keep sinks and counters neat and uncluttered, making the kitchen more livable all day long.

ways on his farm in preparation for terracing when well established in permanent grasses.

Cooperators who have recently excavated ponds on their farms are: Jack Walser in the Pankin Center Community, A. L. Holbrook, northeast of Electra, H. C. Preston in the Burkburnett area, and Lytle Gill, northeast of Holliday. All the above mentioned ponds are the damless type, often referred to as "pit type tanks." This type is designed primarily for areas where the topography of the land is such that there is little opportunity to impound water by a dam. Each of these ponds just completed are "conical" shaped. By "conical" shape is meant a perfectly circular top and bottom, usually with three to one side slopes.

A practice that deserves more attention in the Wichita Irrigated Valley is subsurface drainage. Land that has a high-water table under it and has a tendency to show signs of salt can in many instances be relieved by subsurface drainage. By "subsurface" drainage is meant the excavation of ditches to a depth that will intercept the free-water under the land and carry off to a disposal point. Steve Gose whose farm is located on Farm Road 368 has just completed this type ditch and has accomplished good results.

Another practice that is comparatively new in the Wichita Irrigated Valley, but gaining favor, is lining irrigation ditches with concrete. Concrete lined ditches have many advantages over earthen ditches, such as: permanency, no maintenance, no seepage, will flow more water in less time, no clogging by vegetation. Portable checks can be used anywhere along the ditch and syphon tubes used instead of concrete turnouts. Ramon Wood, has recently lined 2,000 feet of irrigation ditch on his farm with concrete. The ditch is four feet across the top, 22 inches deep and one foot wide at the bottom.

Dr. Ted Alexander and Clyde E. Robertson both cooperators with the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District have just completed installation of "drop structures" on their farms. These structures were designed and installed under supervision of Soil Conservation Service Engineers. Each were cost-shared under the Great Plains Program. The pipe is made of reinforced concrete, able to withstand tremendous pressure from without or within. The pipe varies in size, according to the amount of water it must handle in a given time. To install a drop structure properly requires much planning and supervision of installation. In most instances their primary purpose is to stabilize grade where a large over fall has developed and cannot be controlled with vegetation. Farmers who have gully problems on their farms should consult with local Soil Conservation Service employees.

Information Wheat Referendum

Note: This is the first series of articles appearing in the Wichita County Office Manual. The County Office Manual is published by the Wichita County ASCS.

BOB CROCKER
The major changes in the 1964 wheat program are the introduction of wheat certificates, which will be sold at a higher price, will be used for food and export purposes, and will bring a lower price for feed and for ificate wheat will have a loan rate of $1.30 per bushel which is the anticipated world market price.

Certificates will be issued to participating farmers on a basis of 80 per cent of the normal production of their farms.

The government will also share in the certificate program. For, though certificates will be issued for some 975 million bushels, on a basis of 80 per cent of the national marketing quota, the government also will receive certificates for their share of the quota.

The government's wheat will come out of CCC carryover stocks, thus helping to reduce the market-depressing surplus.

Now, if the certificate program seems at first glance to be complicated it isn't. Though it must, of course, be comprehensive enough to cover many situations, it will operate in a relatively simple manner.

Certificates will be issued through the county ASC office well ahead of harvest. The buyer of the grain will purchase both the wheat and the certificates, the wheat at the market price and the certificate at face value which is 70 cents.

Any unused certificates not needed due to low yields may be redeemed by the farmer at his county ASC office.

The certificate system constitutes a fine built-in insurance program for the farmer, because should he lose his crop due to hail or other causes, he will have his certificates and they will still be worth seventy cents each.

If this seems attractive, then the farmer should bear in mind that the entire program, including the certificate system, will depend upon a yes vote in the May 21 referendum. Two-thirds of producers must vote for the program if it is to become effective.

Should the program be voted down, wheat would be supported at approximately $1.20 per bushel for those farms that stayed within their 1964 allotments. Others would receive no support at all. This assumes no additional legislation will be passed by the Congress, and most qualified observers consider additional legislation unlikely for 1964.

For Wichita County farmers, planting time for the 1964 crop is only a matter of five to six months off. Thus, if it should seem, in considering a farm program, that 1964 is far in the future, it is a mistaken idea.

We remind voters too, that the certificate program will enable American farmers to compete on world markets without sacrificing their high standard of living.

William Howard Taft was the first President of the forty-eight states.

Welcome For Dessert And Coffee

Spontaneous invitations to drop over for dessert and coffee or to come in for a round of cards, can sometimes cause the best hostess to panic. The key to enjoyment of the casually delivered invitation, and its acceptance, requires little planning. Keep a variety of good cheeses on hand, an assortment of crisp crackers, plenty of fresh fruit, and coffee ready for brewing. While the coffee brews, put cheese in a glass-domed dish, pop crackers in the oven to toast, arrange the fruit and all is set. These attractive, inexpensive glass pieces in a glowing honey-toned tone will give a company air, yet may be whisked to the dish-washer to emerge sparkling for another impromptu party. Fruit bowl approximately 89c, luncheon plate 39c, cup and saucer 15c each. Available in variety stores throughout the country. By Federal Glass.

Legion To Observe Child Welfare Month During May

Frye-Vaughn Post No. 264 of the American Legion here will join the more than 16,000 communities organizations of the Legion throughout the nation and overseas in the 25th annual observance of Child Welfare month during May, Post Commander Gilbert E. Tereck announced today.

Commander Tereck pointed out that child welfare activities and programs are conducted by the American Legion throughout the year, but special attention is focused on this major Legion program during May.

Our rapidly advancing technology and the effects of continuing international tensions are creating increasingly complex problems for today's children, Commander Tereck said. "The American Leigons' Child welfare interest and objectives are a reflection of these problems."

Currently, child welfare matters recommended for special attention of American Legion Posts by its National Child Welfare Commission include Youth Employment and school drop-outs; Raising the level of physical fitness of American youth; improvement of the adequacy of community facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of mentally ill and emotionally disturbed children; and increased community efforts for the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency.

"The American Legion has conducted an extensive child welfare program for the past 38 years involving an expenditure of $177 million by the Legion and its affiliated organizations," Commander Tereck stated.

"These funds reflect only a part of the total Legion Program on behalf of children and youth which also has demanded much energy and effort be devoted to the revision of concepts of child care and the establishment of sound state and federal laws concerned with the protection and care of children.

A joint welfare committee from the local post and its Ladies Auxiliary has been selected by the Commander, Mr. Tereck and President, Mrs. Dorland. Mr. Jack Alexander, was appointed chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ramsa, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius, Mrs. Helen Fleming, Mr. Paul Stubblefield and Mr. Jim Jonsson are members of this committee, along with Fr. Lloyd Bloodworth of the Burk Burnett High School as associate member and technical advisor.
