Explore Palo Duro Canyon State Park At Vacation Time

With vacation time just around the corner, what better way to spend a part of it than exploring Palo Duro Canyon
State Park, 35 miles southeast of Amarillo.

Interesting sight-seeing is provided for the park visitor thru the unique natural phenomena
such as the "Lighthouse," a 270-foot sandstone formation that actually looks like a coastal lighthouse, and the "Spanish Skirts," a reddish exposure of the Permian Formation which is spread out over the side of Rustler's Draw and looks like the twirling skirts of a Spanish dancer. Both formations are said to have been named by the explorer Coronado when he visited the canyon in 1541.

To add to the visitor's appreciation, the park has a ski-lift that takes the rider on a breathtaking ride high above the canyon floor to the rimrock cliff walls more than 300 feet up.

A miniature train ride with lectures carries visitors into one of the park's side canyons, bringing to view formations that would otherwise be hard to see.

Visitors may rent horses to explore the more inaccessible portions of the park. Many miles of cliff-side trails hold in store endless breathtaking views of the canyon. Colors in the canyon change with every new position of the sun. There usually is a gentle breeze blowing through the park.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park
is comprised of more than 15, 000 acres. The width of the canyon is about six miles at the southeastern boundary at Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The canyon walls are more than 700 feet high.

This is truly one of the geological wonders in the state of Texas. Visitors to the park are increasing each year, more than 160,000 having registered in 1962.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS

FROM
The American Medical Assoc.

Artificial Respiration

There are many physical conditions that can cause breathing to come to an abrupt halt, but the most common of these is drowning. The real tragedy of the many deaths from drowning each summer is that many could have been saved if someone nearby had known how to apply artificial respiration.

The cardinal rules of artificial respiration are simple —

Start IMMEDIATELY. Don't wait for anything. Send someone for help, but don't wait for the ambulance. It will probably be too late.

Keep it up. There are cases on record of breathing starting again after a lapse of many minutes, when the rescuer kept steadily at work forcing air in and out of the lungs.

Special courses in lifesaving,
including artificial respiration,
are offered by the American Red Cross and other groups
each spring. The trained rescuer is better equipped to save a life. But an untrained amateur may save a life.

Most first aid experts today
favor the mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration.

First clear the air passages by drawing the tongue forward with your finger. Place the victim half way between a face up and side position, tilt the head well back to insure a clear air passage. Take a deep breath, place your mouth over the victim's mouth and breathe into his lungs until you see his chest rise and feel the lungs expand. In mouth-to-mouth breathing, pinch the victim's nostrils shut while breathing into his lungs. Remove your mouth and let the victim exhale, applying slight hand pressure between the ribs and navel to expel all air. Repeat the cycle 15 times a minute. You may cover the victim's mouth
with a single layer of a clean handkerchief.

Remember: Start immediately.
Check the mouth for obstructions. Loosen clothing and keep the victim warm, but don't delay artificial respiration to do this. After the victim revives,
be ready to resume respiration
if breathing halts again. Don't give up unless you're positive the victim is dead.

If you're called on to help in a rescue, keep calm and move rapidly to try to get the victim breathing again as soon as possible.

Few people need to be told of the discomfort caused by poison ivy or poison oak. And the time of the year when these plants are most dangerous is fast approaching, says B. T.
Haws, county agent.

All parts of the poison ivy plant can cause skin inflammation but the sap is especially poisonous, says Mr. Haws. Even small amounts of the toxins in its sap can cause dermatitis which can be transferred from one person to another. The smoke from burning poison ivy plants will also carry toxins, he says.

Clean-Up Campaign In Colored Community Began Last Thursday

A clean-up campaign in the colored community is proving to be a success as yards and vacant lots are being cleaned up. Growing piles of litter along the roads await pick-up Monday
by the city sanitation department. Much work is yet to be done but the people are behind the leaders and are working hard to improve their community.

The campaign began last Thursday when city officials met with a large group of interested citizens and made plans to begin clean-up efforts.
Directing the work are Rosie Ayers and Annie Freeman with the assistance of H. R. Hayes.
Plans are being made for a ball park and children's playground at the Community Center near the Providence Baptist Church. Edd Elliott has donated his time and equipment in getting the land ready and the Bohner Oil Company and Fresno Oil Company have donated the use of equipment in setting up the ball park. Help in beautifying the park has been promised by the Council of Garden Clubs, under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph White, and the Federated Study Clubs, led by Mrs.

Phillip Carpenter.

Anyone interested in donating play ground equipment is asked to contact Mrs. White or Mrs. Carpenter. The Community Center is in need of magazines and books for both children and adults.

Plans for a city-wide clean-up campaign are being discusse-

Grass Roots Opinion

VIRGINIA, MINN., MESABI DAILY NEWS: (Parents who send their sons and daughters to the private college are to be commended. They are doing much to keep private education moving and growing. It will be good for America if private education can be expanded. Keeping it flourishing will constitute a guarantee against too much state and political control over future learning in this nation—and conformity.)

JUNEAU, ALASKA, EMPIRE: "It might make the present day situation clearer in some minds if we realize that we are floundering between two different philosophies of government—not only in Alaska but just about everywhere. The first philosophy is that of the founding fathers of the United States. It's a philosophy of individual independence and freedom. The second philosophy holds that government is responsible for its people. The government is expected to maintain the health, welfare and prosperity instead of merely providing protection under which the people might maintain these conditions for themselves. This second philosophy, carried to its extreme, is of course, socialism or communism.

LOVINGTON, N. M. LEADER: Lawyers of the CIO-AFL and AUW, the legal heavy artillery of Big Unionism, are drawn up in battle array challenging the recent decision of the Florida Supreme Court that the 'agency shop' arrangement by which unions shake down non-union members is a violation of Florida Right to Work Law. By way of blasting this ruling, they are asking the Supreme Court of the US to overrule the clearly expressed intent of Congress. Labor's big guns contend that the states have no right to enact a law prohibiting the agency shop—under which workers who refuse to join a union must pay up anyway or be fired."

PITTSFIELD, ME., ADVERTISER: "The veteran head of a high school science department recently advised his school board that it should ask prospective science teachers, before they are hired, if they are willing to undertake further study and should plan to help them attain it. In mid-twentieth century the first necessity of life for a science teacher is the opportunity to keep on learning."

CLERMONT, FLA., SOUTH LAKE PRESS: "In our opinion regimentation has gone too far already. How long are we as citizens—God fearing citizens, if you please—going to stand idly by while our individual right, privileges and obligations crumble away from under our feet? The end result is tyranny, dictatorship and stifling of all those elements on which our country was founded and which have made it great."

ADEL, IOWA, DALLAS CO. NEWS: "Heard this one: 'One Man's Family' used to be on radio. Now it's in Washington."

MANHEIM, PA., SENTINEL: "Now that the rules on expense account deductions have been tightened, maybe we can get back to entertaining each other just for the fun of it."

by ALICE CARTER

The list gets longer and longer. Now brushing teeth has been added to the 20th Century's collection of push-button operations.

Let's take a look at history... there was a time when the Greeks considered the use of a toothpick a religious rite. Ghengis Khan was particularly proud of a golden toothpick.

It's a little more than three centuries since Sophia of Hanover recorded the first mention of a tooth brush in her memoirs. Long before that, ancient Arabs relied on the frayed ends of palm and myrtle twigs to do a dental job.

One of George Washington's doctors is credited with introducing the tooth brush to consumers. He sold them over the counter in 1789.

Now comes the latest milestone: a battery-operated brush as good looking as any modern toilet article.

Flying from New York to Nevada recently, I was fascinated when my traveling companion showed me the newest type of brush. The Brushmaster, manufactured by Seaman Industries, Inc., 8556 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles, California, seems perfect for those of us who shuffle from city to city.

Portable and small enough to insure capable handling by children, the unit sells for less than five dollars. Price, however, is just one feature. The batteries permit up to six months usage before necessitating replacement. A leatherette case provides protection when in transit.

As a student of Roman times I can't help but wonder what Cleero would think. It was he who instructed his legions on dental hygiene claiming "white teeth are the first requirement of beauty."

The Knowledge of the Lord

Habakkuk 2:14. "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."

The Church is chosen of God to spread the good news that God has a plan to redeem men and reconcile them unto Himself through the vicarious sacrifice of Jesus Christ our Lord. The Church will be so successful in spreading this glorious knowledge in the world that God says the earth will be as full of it as the waters that fill the ocean. Attend church and become a part of this great undertaking.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

OUTBOARDS DON'T MUDDY THE WATER Fishermen who have a habit of getting skunked regularly have lost another ally.

The old claim that outboards "muddy the waters" to the detriment of fish and fishing has been proved erroneous by scientific investigations in Illinois. This information has been passed on to us by Mercury outboards' fishing experts who are glad that the record has been set straight at last.

Under close scrutiny was Lake Bloomington in the center of the state. Medium-sized, about 550 surface acres, it was subjected to heavy fishing pressure, particularly on weekends. In checking silt-content records which have been maintained daily since 1951, marine biologists could find no evidence that outboards "stirred up the bottom," as is sometimes charged. They were able to detect no difference in degree of turbidity between days when boating usage was great and when it was light.

Murkiness that reduces light penetration and kills microscopic plants and animals, upon which fish feed, is caused by natural phenomena, the authorities said. Wind storms, silt-laden runoff and seasonal temperature changes which circulate bottom water produce turbidity — not boats and motors. Despite this academic proof, Mercury sagely predicts that this old alibi won't be buried overnight. After all, a guy has to think up some excuse for coming home empty handed.

News From Cong. Purcell

Over the past few weeks much has been said and written about a few isolated instances of irresponsible actions on the part of Members of Congress.

Historically, and I suppose rightly so, Members of Congress and other elected officials have been held much more closely accountable for their actions, whether public or private, than any other group of citizens. I will never be one to complain when irresponsible or unlawful acts on the part of elected officials are disclosed, whether by individuals or the press. For I feel that those of us who are fortunate enough to be entrusted with carrying on the public business should be held accountable for our actions.

The only thing that bothers me is that the public confidence in the Congress seems to be somewhat shaken by recent publicity about a very small minority of Congressmen and Senators. By and large, your representatives in Both Houses of the Congress are among the most dedicated and hard working people in our Nation.

In order to help restore the confidence of the public, and to prevent in the future some of the improper, if not illegal, activities of a few men, I have introduced House Joint Resolution 392. This bill, if enacted, would establish a Code of Ethics for Members of Congress.

The bill deals with several areas of Congressional activity. One of these is travel by Members of Congress, which has come in for more than its share of criticism.

The bill provides that travel cannot be authorized for any Representative, Senator or employee without a majority vote of the committee to which the person is assigned. It provides further that per diem allowances will be limited to those in the Standardized Government Travel Regulations, and travel allowances will be limited to the actual costs. It provides for full accounting by the individual of all funds spent on the trip, including the controversial counterpart funds. It provides that agencies which furnish counterpart funds to traveling individuals must give a detailed accounting to the House or Senate. These records would be available for public inspection.

The bill provides that any person on the payroll of a Member of Congress must actually be employed in the conduct of the Member's official duties, either in the Member's Washington office or in his office in the District or State involved.

Another provision would require that each Member of Congress file with the House or Senate a sworn statement of his financial transaction each year. This statement would include the source and amount of all income, stocks and bonds owned, business or real property owned, any gifts the Member received in excess of $25 in value, etc. Such report would be public records.

Any Member or employee of the Legislative branch of the Government who was convicted of assisting in the prosecution of any claim against the U. S. Government while in office, or within two years after leaving office, for personal gain would be subject to fine and imprisonment.

This would also be true for any Member or employee who owned an interest in a concern furnishing goods or services of the Federal Government for personal profit, who failed to file a detailed sworn annual statement. This record would be a public record also. The penalties for violation of the provisions of the bill range up to a fine of $10,000, or one year in prison, or both.

Let me repeat that this bill was not introduced because I feel there is any widespread unethical or irresponsible action going on. It was introduced because I feel the Congress should do all it can to prevent any such activity. Congress must continually keep a watchful eye on its own Members in order to prevent abuse.

Further, I feel that the business of Congress is the public business. The public has a perfect right to know about the money spent by its representatives for travel or other reasons.

Perhaps more important, I feel that the Congress should do all within its power to retain the respect for the legislative branch for which the American public has always expressed. This is most vital to the continuation of the United States as the Nation with the best form of government ever devised by man, and the Nation which is the leader of the free world in its fight for morality and freedom against the atheistic forces of communism.

Last week, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill by my good friend and colleague, Congressman Omar Burllesome from Anson, Texas, which provides for considerably more restriction of travel expenses by Congressmen. This is a step in the right direction. I am glad to see Texans in the forefront of the fight to retain the honor and integrity of the Congress.

I would like to have your comments on my proposal, House Joint Resolution 392.

ENLARGED HEART

Q. Is an enlarged heart dangerous? Can a person with an enlarged heart continue an active life and drink, smoke and eat whatever he likes?

A. It depends entirely on what is causing the enlarged heart. If it is due to heavy training in athletics or other forms of violent exercise the person involved should be able to get along quite well. If it is of recent origin, a physician should be consulted as to the cause. It should be remembered that alcohol, tobacco and improper eating (especially food high in fat) put an extra load on the heart.

THUMBSUCKING

Q. My eight-year-old daughter is a "thumb sucker." Is this due to a nervous condition? How can I break this habit?

A. You are correct in calling thumbsucking a habit . . . it's seldom anything else. Try stimulating her pride in her fingernails, keep her well manicured and teach her the beauty of hands with well kept nails. If this doesn't work, consult a physician.

ACOUSTICAL CARD OF THANKS

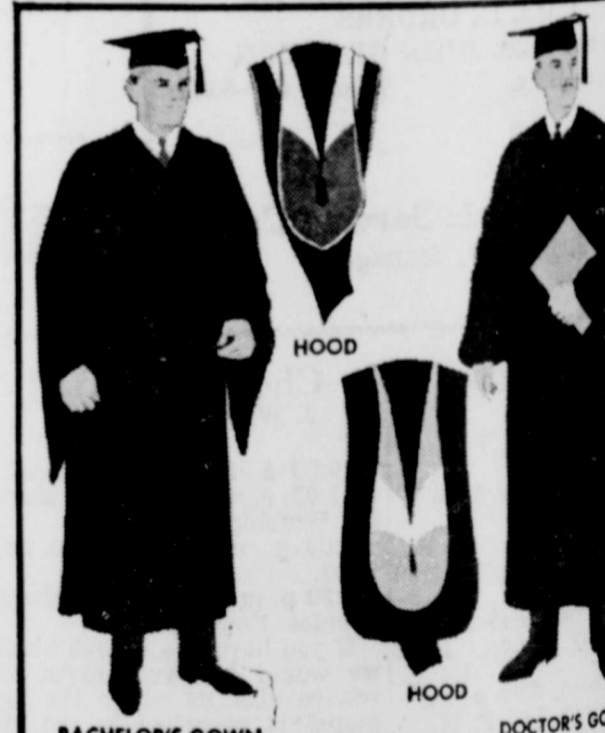

According to the Southern Pine Association, the acoustical value of wood is playing an important role in the construction of concert halls and music centers.

Typical structures of glued laminated lumber arches with wood roof decking are warm and inspirational. The acoustics of the deck improve the clarity and tone of music.

Our heartfelt thanks to who extended comforting pathy and help in our sorrow. For the beautiful ice, floral offerings and kindnesses, we are deeply grateful.

Mrs. Mayme Barnes and children. And Other Relatives.

CUSTOM OF THE COSTUME HAS MEANING

With graduation time approaching, a subject worthy of examination is the academic costume. There's more to the meaning of the cap, hood and gown than most people think, as the color and shape of each item of apparel has its own special significance.

The individual pieces vary for different level graduates. For example both the bachelor and master graduates wear the same basic black cap with the tassel hanging over the left side, but the doctorate graduate sports a silk and gold bullion tassel.

Encyclopedia International published by Grolier Incorporated, in its section on Academic Costumes, tells us the caps and robes have been worn in Europe since the early 14th century. It wasn't until the 1800's that American colleges and universities adopted the dress for graduation and other formal academic occasions. American educators drew up a code in 1895 in an effort to establish uniformity of practice among educational institutions. This was reviewed in 1932 and again in 1959.

The Encyclopedia International article points out the differences in the cut of the gown of the various graduates. The bachelor degree recipient's gown is always in black and has long sleeves and cuffs which flair down into points. The gown worn by a master graduate is somewhat like the bachelor gown, but differs in the sleeves. The master gown has full length oblong sleeves which are open at the wrist, plus panels which hang nearly to the knees.

The doctorate gown is considerably different. It has three velvet horizontal bars on each of the sleeves, and two wide velvet bars running vertically down the front of the gown. The hood of the academic costume is also important as a means of learning more about the individual graduates. Each hood has a velvet border, and the color of this border represents the graduate's field of study. Among the more predominant colors, and their meanings are these. Arts, letters and humanities all are represented by a white border. Law has more colorful borders. Purple, while budding philosophers can be spotted by their dark blue borders. You can identify science graduates by the golden yellow of their borders, and music graduates are easy to pick out by their pink borders. Equally easy to distinguish are medical doctors with their green borders, and theology students with their scarlet borders.

Why air condition your home? Air conditioning adds comfort in hot weather, but there are also many other reasons why air conditioning is important, points out Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

"Through research it has been found that two-thirds of those interviewed had improved health after air conditioning their home. Twenty percent had lower medical bills," the agent emphasizes. More than four-fifths reports air conditioning helps people suffering from allergies. Eighty-six percent said there was no more heat rash. Housework was found to be lighter by four out of five homemakers. Ninety percent reported there was need for less dusting, about 70 percent did less cleaning of walls, rugs and draperies.

Families owning air conditioning reported an average of over eight hours sleep a night, compared with less than seven hours by those without air conditioning. There was almost twice as much time spent together by parents and teenagers who lived in air conditioned homes.

"Air conditioning means changes in housework and new energy to do it. There is more rest, keener appetites, fewer allergies which resulted in less doctor bills, and more family recreation together. All of these facts should be weighed when making decisions about whether or not to add air conditioning. Miss Wirges reminds.

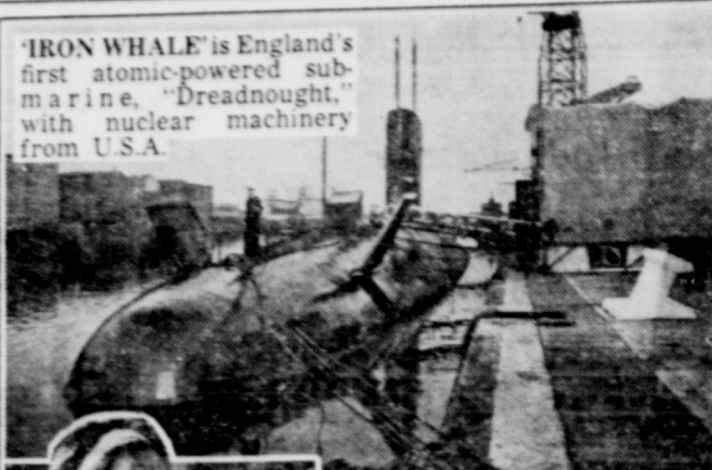

Mrs. Charlie Nordstrum is serving as home improvement demonstrator this year. Mrs. Nordstrum is beginning her demonstration by refinishing a bed room suit. The suit will be used to remodel a child's room. Curtains, bed spread, etc. will be made to complete the room.

Need some information on refinishing hardwood floors? Unattractive and long-neglected hardwood floors should be sanded before being refinished. Saggy, squeaky boards should be repaired before sanding starts. This will make it possible to sand nearer to walls and to remove possible accumulations of wax which may have collected and hardened near the quarter rounds, explains Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

Old varnish or paint can be removed and new finish added more easily if quarter rounds have been taken away from the floors and walls. You can rent a lightweight sander and polishing machine from a hardware or paint store, and ask for directions for sanding when you rent the machine. After sanding a good finish correctly applied beautifies the floor, brings out the handsome grain pattern and makes scrubbing unnecessary.

Penetrating sealers are recommended for finishing wood floors. Water resistant types are

The hollow pipe used in many closets for hanging clothes makes an ideal container for mothballs. Drill a few holes about six inches apart along the pipe and drop some mothballs in one end. Result: an effective moth repellent that is especially important in closets where wool winter garments are stored.

Planning an auto trip with small children? Take along a washcloth in a plastic bag or other container and keep it damp. Use it to wipe children's faces and hands after they've eaten cookies or other food items served on the road. It will keep them neat and clean and guard against grease marks on the upholstery.

If you recently installed a water conditioner in your home, be sure to revise your measurements of soaps and cleaning aides downward. Soft water uses less soap or detergents in laundering and requires smaller doses of household cleaners, and even less shampoo for hair than does hard water, and does a better job. A leading home water conditioner manufacturer, The Lindsay Company, also suggests you use about half as much tea or coffee grounds per cup brewed in soft-ened water.

Pass this tip along to men in the family. A few mothballs dropped into a tool box will prevent rusting of the tools. The mothballs absorb moisture.

When you're cooking on the outdoor grill this summer, keep a child's water pistol loaded and handy. It's just the thing for pin-pointing a thin stream of water to the right spot to squish flames from dripping grease.

Clear sealers are often preferred, but darker floors are fast becoming popular. A floor the color of walnut furniture or slightly lighter seems to be in favor, the agent says.

The floor may be stained after sanding or color may be added to the penetrating sealer.

YOU SHALL NOT KILL

Ten Commandments For Drivers

Released By Texas Highway Department

1. Thou shalt check the vehicle for defects. The first requisite of a good driver is to know that his vehicle is in proper operating condition and to put forth every effort to keep it that way.

2. Thou shalt look with caution when backing. Backing is the most hazardous thing you are called on to do with your vehicle. It requires your entire attention, and you may have a helper to assist you when backing, any time you have during this operation is your full responsibility.

3. Thou shalt keep back a safe distance from the car in front of you. Following too closely. An accident of this kind is not the fault of the vehicle that stops, but the fault of the one following.

4. Thou shalt signal intentions before moving from a parked position. Pulling or backing from a curb into a lane is your responsibility to know the way. If your vehicle is in a lane, it is your fault.

5. Thou shalt be sure it is safe before crossing an intersection. Entering an intersection is each driver's duty to have his vehicle under complete control. There is no such thing as having the right-of-way only; you have the right-of-way only when the way is clear.

6. Thou shalt not take chances when passing.

Improper passing is one of the most prevalent infractions of traffic rules today. Unless you have sufficient room on the proper side, don't try to pass.

7. Thou shalt use every precaution when stopped on a highway for any cause.

If your vehicle breaks down or becomes disabled in any way it is your responsibility to pull off the highway or to otherwise protect traffic and your own vehicle with proper signals.

8. Thou shalt keep thy temper in traffic.

Impatience in traffic causes more serious accidents than any other factor today. If some reckless driver insists on placing his life in jeopardy, don't let him do the same for you. Under all circumstances keep calm, cool, collected and above all courteous.

9. Thou shalt remember pedestrians.

Pedestrians have the right-of-way at intersections even when crossing against the light. Be especially careful for persons stepping out from parked cars. They may not have the right-of-way, but neither do you have the right to maim.

10. Thou shalt not run away after an accident.

If you are unfortunate enough to have an accident, stop and render every assistance. Do not admit any responsibility, but get the names of all witnesses you can, together with addresses and phone numbers.

Poppy Day Set Sat., May 25th

Each year, usually on the Saturday before Memorial Day, millions of Americans walk to their homes and offices wearing little red poppies. These small flowers are offered to the public by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary and other volunteer workers who donate their time and effort for this purpose.

Of course, most of you already know the poppies are worn in memory of the men who lost their lives in our nation's wars—but I wonder if you know just how the poppy came to be the memorial flower.

From 1914 until 1918 the battlefields of Europe were trampled by the boots of millions of fighting men. From 1917 until 1918 American troops were part of the Allied forces which fought to bring peace to Europe and liberty to its subjected peoples. Months of hard fighting and thousands of lives were the price paid for this objective. As American troops advanced thru France and Flanders the only touch of life and beauty they saw were the wild poppies that bloomed amid the rubble of war.

Along the trenches, around the shell craters and among the barbed wire and wreckage the little poppies grew and bloomed. The tiny blossoms also covered the graves of American fighting men who had fallen on the battlefields; they soon became a symbol of sacrifice to the living. Other wars have been fought since that time, and it is still the emblem of high ideals for which these fighting men gave their lives and many of their comrades suffered injury.

This is why we pin on a poppy as a tribute both to the dead and living American servicemen. The poppies still cover the fields of France beneath which many of them lie. On Poppy Day we all have an opportunity to place this memorial flower over our hearts in tribute to the sacrifice which they made.
