Mattress Fire At 611 E. 3rd Street

An over-heated electric blanket was the cause of a fire at 611 E. 3rd Monday, the 24th at the home of S. Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper.

Mrs. Cooper had taken her husband, an instructor at Sheppard Air Force Base to work earlier in the morning and then had gone to Sears, Roebuck to do some shopping. Later, she visited a friend and arrived home about noon. When she entered the house it was full of smoke and the Fire Department was called. They found the mattress in the children's bedroom ablaze, and quickly extinguished it, then taking it into the back yard to keep it from causing further damage should it flare again.

Both the mattress and all the bedding, including the electric blanket, were completely destroyed.

Rotary Holds Inter-Club Fete

Approximately fifty members of the Burkburnett and Electra Rotary Clubs conducted an inter-club meeting at Town Hall in Burkburnett Tuesday, with Peter Hinchliffe, reporter for the Wichita Falls Record News and Times, as guest speaker.

Hinchliffe, who formerly lived in England, spoke on aspects of British life. Remarking that 1964 was the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, Hinchliffe described England as Shakespeare might see the country if he returned today.

Although much of the talk was humorous, the writer also pointed out that people in England "are very much like the people in the United States, France, Germany or even Russia."

Discussing the principles and brotherhood of Rotarians, he said, "When there are Rotary clubs in Russia, we can all breathe a sigh of relief."

Hinchliffe said "the answer to world problems will not be found at the table of diplomats, but as a result of human understanding and brotherhood, such as sought by Rotarians everywhere."

The speaker was introduced by Burkburnett Rotarian Allen Riddle, program chairman for the meeting. Presiding was Al Lohoefer, president of the Burkburnett club.

"There's one thing that can be said in favor of statues for politicians — they keep their mouths shut."

THETA EPSILON HAS PROGRAM ON HAIR FASHIONS

Mrs. Clodella Bridges held a business meeting in her beauty shop for Theta Epsilon Sorority February 24, 1964. For her program on "Hair Fashions of Foreign Countries," Mrs. Bridges had three hair dressers from the Continental Beauty Salon in Wichita Falls, who brought models.

Mrs. Bridges introduced Mr. Jim Samuel, Jack Brantley and Richard Hinkley, hair dressers, and models, Kay Burkett, Carol Norwood, Jimmy Lofton and Ann Johnson. The models had their hair rolled and the hair dressers began the program by dressing the girls hair into a combing the girls hair into a casual daytime style. They gave several good pointers on hair care and showed how each girl's hair was cut. They then combed it into an after-five style and then a late evening hi-style fashion. The hair dressers gave a lot of instruction on good combing methods and tips on hair care. The members enjoyed asking questions about their hair problems and learning how to comb their own styles.

Following this very interesting and informative program a short business meeting was held. The president opened the meeting and roll call was answered by seventeen members.

It was voted to have a Bake Sale Saturday, February 29, 1964 downtown to help pay expenses for our beauty queen to go to the convention in May.

The meeting was closed by all members joining hands and repeating the closing ritual.

Lovely refreshments for fortune cookies, German chocolate cake and small rolls, punch, Cokes and coffee were served

Houston (Miss.) Times-Post

...with an American Businessman.

I started in business in 1924.

In 1926 bootleg gangsters machine-gunned my place.

In 1928 Wall Street financiers pulled a bear raid and wiped me out.

In 1933 I laid off all my workers and cut all my prices so I could be in the Depression, too.

In 1936 my employees went on a sit down strike. They have been sitting ever since.

In 1941 I went into 24-hour production to save human freedom from the dictators. It was shipped to the Russians.

In 1943 I was carried out of my office and thrown in the street by the U. S. Army.

In 1945 I was prosecuted by the Government for selling above OPA prices.

In 1946 I was prosecuted by the Government for selling below Fair Trade prices.

In 1950 my men were reactivated and shipped to Korea to save America.

In 1956 I laid off my workers and cut all my prices so I could have a Recession too.

In 1962 30,000 U. S. Army Troops occupied my town and 300 U. S. Marshals tear gassed my establishment. A colored gentleman wanted to use the white washroom.

In 1963 my new five million dollar building was torn down and the vacant lot sold for five thousand dollars for urban renewal.

The only reason I'm staying in business in 1964 is TO SEE WHAT UNDER HEAVEN IS GOING TO HAPPEN NEXT.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

In line with repeated requests by the nation's independent businessmen, Congress did reduce foreign aid, although there is still a long way to go to whittle down the $3 billion voted.

But perhaps there is too much haste in this matter. Perhaps there are some lessons that can be learned from foreign aid for the good of the nation.

Congressman H. R. Gross, Iowa, reveals that foreign aid funds have been used to help African Kenya officials to buy extra wives. A man there can have as many wives as he can pay for, on a cash in advance basis. Of course, in America, a man taking a wife to himself often gets by with a small down payment, but then he keeps paying on the installment plan. So there is this difference in the two systems.

This is not to suggest that polygamy should be legalized in America. It is not only against public morals, but also must be considered havoc that would be wreaked with the income taxation if men could take deductions for ten wives or so, plus resulting progeny.

Yet, there seems to be a lesson to be learned here, and maybe certain aspects of foreign aid could be applied to American life. It is significant that although the long range benefits of the foreign Peace Corps have still to be assayed, there is consideration being given to setting up a domestic Peace Corps.

© National Federation of Independent Business

Thus, if this premise is sound, what is wrong with a plan for a domestic foreign aid program. In pointing out that foreign aid funds are used to buy extra wives for Kenya men, a challenging new vista opens for a domestic foreign aid program.

There are many men in America who practice polygamy, but on the installment plan, via the divorce courts. This is one of the basic differences between the American system and the Kenya system where a man pays cash for a wife and is through with payments. In America, those who practice polygamy on the installment plan pay alimony.

Thus, the proposed domestic foreign aid program could pick up all alimony payments.

This does not seem to be at all far-fetched. If the taxpayer's money can be used for wife purchase, so that African bucks can ease their way through this vale of tears surrounded by a galaxy of women paid for in advance, why cannot the same benefits be extended to the American male who goes through life with a succession of wives on the installment plan.

While it may be quite all right to tax people out of the necessities and also through taxes soak up profits needed by small business to expand to support foreign aid, this discrimination against American manhood is all wrong. If tax money can be used for the cash marital projects of African manhood, it can surely be used for installment plan marital projects by American manhood. Thus, a domestic foreign aid program should be strongly considered.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

WORCESTER, N. Y., TIMES & MONITOR: "Here is a good indication of the 'progress' being made in extending government supervision and attempts at control over the agricultural industry of the U. S. This is a fact to ponder: While the number of farms and farm workers in the U. S. has dwindled considerably since 1935, the Department of Agriculture has jumped up the number of its employees by quite a margin. Back in 1935 the Department hired one employee for 80 farms while at present there is one person engaged for every 28 farms in the U. S. Fewer farms but more folks on the payroll. That seems to be a familiar pattern in Washington."

WINNSBORO, S. C., NEWS AND HERALD: "One of the employees admitted he worked only half an hour a day on a country job." From a news story. A whole half-hour? Gosh he must not have much political pull."

ONTARIO, CALIF., REPORT: "On the New York Stock Exchange tobacco issues have gone down somewhat. But in many areas cigarette sales have gone up. Apparently some chain smokers were afraid that their favorite commodity might be taken off the market."

WHAT'S DIFFERENT?

What's new in fishing tackle? Amid the ballyhoo that accompanies the introduction of most "new" fishing lures and equipment, we sometimes tend to overlook the fact that almost everything now on the market has a direct descendant many years — even centuries — old.

Modern tackle is far removed from that of the horse-and-buggy days, observe the fishing authorities at Mercury outboards, but there's scarcely an item around that couldn't be obtained by Grandpa during his barefoot schoolboy days. It may not have been as attractive or as operative, but its results were fairly good.

Even our fur-robed ancestors of prehistoric times devised a tackle that would do the job. Small round stones, pointed on both ends with a line tied in the middle were effective in putting fish on the table more than 7,000 years ago.

The Egyptians of about 2,000 B. C. developed a proficiency with a reed rod and length of line very much like our familiar cane poles. In the 1400's walking sticks that were actually nine-foot telescoping fishing rods were common.

Even spinning rods, which Americans consider "new," had their origins as far back as the 17th Century in Europe.

The Romans came up with the first artificial fly, called the Red Hackle, and they also used clam shells as lures. Everything from stone and bone to steel has been fashioned into hooks.

Though the resemblance may be faint, conclude the Mercury folks, it's a rare piece of tackle that doesn't have a fascinating history.

So the next time you walk into a sporting goods store, don't ask what's new, ask what's different.

Competitive recruiting agents had to be coordinated. Delays in mustering units into Southern service had to be eliminated. In these and dozens of similar instances, the leadership and the patience of the state government faced the acid test.

A typical example of the mechanics involved in forming a unit took place at Marshall in late April, when enthusiastic young men hurried forward to enlist in the mounted W. P.

Lane Ranger Company. The

volunteers supplied their own mounts and the state agreed to furnish the necessary arms. On the announced date, the men assembled in the center of the town, had their horses superficially checked for serviceability, elected their company offi-stances this problem was abruptly solved by threatening that the unit involved would see no action until the soldiers had armed themselves on their own initiative. Usually within a few hours the company would reform itself bristling with an array of all sorts of weapons

—rifles, muskets, flintlocks, shotguns, pistols and knives. In some areas, the local citizenry would help in arming the men;

in fact, it soon became the unofficial duty of patriotic blacksmiths to grind fierce-looking knives out of used saw blades for members of locally raised companies.

To meet anticipated armament needs of the future, Governor Clark sent agents to purchase guns and ammunition in Mexico, Cuba and Europe. Also, the state government encouraged the establishment of arms factories and powder plants. As for other military equipment, such items as clothing, blankets and messing equipment would have to come from the penitentary cloth mill at Huntsville, from private donations, through trade with Mexico or from Confederate supply dumps.

Throughout most of 1861 the soldiers in Texas trained and manned defense along 2,000 miles of exposed coastline and Indian-ravaged frontier. Although Union fleet activity in the Gulf gave considerable grounds for worry, throughout this early period the horrors of war still seemed far removed from the Lone Star State. Unfortunately, this condition would not long endure.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 488 Madison Ave., N. Y. 22, N. Y.

Q. I heard a couple of professional football players on television, talking about their life insurance. Can they get life insurance at standard rates?

A. The buffeting and battering that professional football players take on the gridiron each weekend may be a hazard to limb, but seldom to life. Underwriters consider most professional athletes excellent life insurance risks. Their superb physical condition more than offsets hazards of football, basketball, baseball and hockey.

A leading underwriter has observed, "They're forced to keep in top condition and live clean lives or else they won't be professional athletes very long."

Most of them get life insurance at standard rates without the slightest difficulty, he said. "But, if a player is unusually prone to injuries, we might think a little bit before issuing him disability coverage."

A hefty football lineman's weight sometimes presents an insurance problem. The extra muscle and flesh that a 250 or 275 pound center carries may help him block an opponent, but doesn't help him live longer.

Although heart disease is no special problem among athletes, underwriters are very interested in how their hearts are standing up to strenuous activity.

Q. Since people today are living so much longer than they used to, doesn't this mean they have less need for life insurance?

A. Not at all. Data on life expectancy (which, incidentally, has leveled off in recent years, after rising for several decades) are only average figures for large groups of people. They do not apply to individual persons. For example, young men today can expect to live to be about 70 years old, on the average. But this is no help to the wife and children of a man who dies in his 20s or 30s as a result of a fatal accident or unexpected illness.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

BUILDING YOUR HOME

When you are ready to build, you will find that the law helps in many ways to make your home enjoyable and secure.

Have you decided on the type house you want and the amount you want to spend? If so, then let's go into details!

1. YOUR LOT. Junior's school or your church may be nearby, but find out —

(a) Whether they are planning to run a highway through the area or nearby, or make any improvement for which you can be assessed.

(b) What "Covenants" or restriction run with the land? To protect residents, the plats or basic deeds of some neighborhood call on you to build a certain size or type of house. Do you want to and can you afford to?

(c) Easements. Either you or your neighbors may need to run pipes, or string wires over each other's land or to share a driveway. Have the abstract checked carefully to disclose any easements.

2. ZONING ORDINANCES. For your protection the local government frequently zones some areas, for example, for single houses only, for multiple dwellings, for retail stores, for manufacturing, etc.

Unless the local government body changes its zoning ordinances, no filling station, for instance, can go up next to you in a residential area. Neither could you turn your home into a store. In any case, you should find out what your neighborhood zoning rules are.

3. BUILDING CODES. Be certain the plans and construction will meet the requirements of the local building code as to size, location and structure. Municipal ordinances usually impose strict standards for the building, the plumbing and the electrical wiring. In many cases only licensed building tradesmen are permitted to make the installations.

4. FINANCING. Financing contracts protect both you and the lender. Unless you pay cash, you will use credit to pay for your house, most likely a deed of trust or a land contract. Your installments often include principal, interest, insurance and taxes. Under a land contract the lender holds title to your house until you pay for it. If you fall behind, the holder can take the house back. With a deed of trust, the lender has a lien which he can foreclose if you default. You may get some of your money back on the principal; but you may also have to make up any loss the lender makes in re-selling the house.

Well worked out contracts can help you make your dream house come true. A construction contract or a so-called "earnest-money" agreement or receipt is no job for an amateur. Too many legal details are involved. Your lawyer is trained by education and experience to protect your best interests in contracting and closing real estate deals.

You know what you want. You should be careful to get what you want through careful planning and a properly prepared and executed contract.

News From The County Agent

A diet of nails and wire may seem odd. But many animals seem attracted to — to the dismay of their owners.

"Hardware disease," scientifically dubbed, "traumatic gastritis," causes considerable economic loss to livestock producers each year and much of it could be prevented, says County Agent, B. T. Haws.

One of the best preventive measures, he adds, is to keep the pasture, feedlot, barn and barnyard free of stray bits of metal. In other words, a good "housekeeping" program as it concerns the livestock operation will pay good dividends, Haws explains.

The problem is most common among cattle, especially dairy cattle, says the agent. Sheep and goats, being ruminants are also subject to the disease. The food is swallowed or gulped to be chewed later as cud. Small foreign objects may pass unnoticed into the stomach.

Sharp bits of metal may work their way through the stomach wall. This may cause only a temporary digestive upset if the metal becomes embedded in the stomach wall and surrounded by scar tissue. But the trouble is more serious if the metal penetrates the wall into other organs. The results may be infection or often death for the animal.

Some symptoms of hardware disease are similar to those of other diseases. For this reason, a veterinarian should be called to diagnose and begin treatment as soon as possible.

A man and his wife entered a dentist's office. "I want a tooth pulled," the wife told the doctor. "And don't bother with gas or novocaine. We're in a hurry."
"Well, you certainly are brave," the dentist exclaimed. "Show me your tooth."
"Henry," she said, turning to her husband, "open your mouth."

Two varieties of broccoli are All-America Selections winners for 1964. Above is Cleopatra, a hybrid form; below is Zenith, not a hybrid. Seeds for both are widely available.

It was not so many years ago that broccoli was widely grown in Italy and hardly known in America. This delicately flavored cabbage relative has since become extremely popular and is both widely grown and widely liked.

Because of this popularity plant breeders have been breeding better broccoli. Two new varieties, both All-America Selections winners for 1964, are results of this breeding program.

Variety Cleopatra is a first generation hybrid broccoli with the additional vigor that such hybridization gives. It is very early in bearing; sturdy in growth. The large, compact center heads, with their tight buds, mature at about the same time in a row of plants—good news to those who plan to freeze broccoli. And after the central head is cut and used, side shoots grow to produce smaller, later maturing heads for a long season of table use.

The second broccoli is named Zenith. This is not a hybrid, but is considered quite an improvement over the DeCicco strains of broccoli because it is resistant to "hollow stem," that annoying lack of solidity which causes dismay to cooks. Zenith also is considered especially tolerant of cold.

FOR A BETTER CROP

Treatment of seeds before sowing takes two forms: dusting with a seed protectant powder to control disease and inoculation with a bacterial growth stimulant to aid formation of nodules by bacteria on the roots of peas, beans, other legumes.

Two different kinds of seed treatment will result in the production of better crops. The first is dusting seeds with a protectant to control diseases which may be present on the surface. The second is inoculation of seeds with a bacterial growth stimulant.

Several types of seed protectants, each made specifically for certain kinds of seeds, are available. Read the label to make certain you are buying the right kind for the seeds you wish to sow.

Because many seedsmen pre-treat seeds of vegetables that particularly need such treatment, inspect the label on the seed packet first to find whether seeds have already been treated.

Otherwise, treatment is simple — as much of the protectant powder as will fit on the tip of a knife is added to the seeds in a packet. The packet is closed tightly and shaken to mix powder with seeds and then the seeds are sown. An added amount of protectant, in excess of that suggested by the manufacturer, can do more harm than good.

Inoculation is practised only with seeds of legumes—the plant group to which peas, beans and soybeans; lupine and sweet peas all belong. Only legumes can profit by inoculation for these plants alone attract certain bacteria which live on the roots of the plants.

These bacteria have the power to take free nitrogen from the air and "fix" it in nodules which they produce on legume roots. Since nitrogen is the chemical most closely associated with plant growth, it is a desirable addition to soil.

When leguminous crops are harvested and the roots allowed to stay in the ground to decay, valuable nitrogen is added to the soil and better future crops result.

Inoculation of seeds also is easy. The inoculant, which is of a different type for different crops, is mixed with water. This liquid is mixed with the seeds which are then sown.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH -- MILLIONS LEAVE THEM THERE

PROBLEM, THERE IS A SOLUTION

Such a predicament! Stuck in mud a foot deep! What to do? Just sit in despair? Wring your hands? Of course not! There is a solution. Obviously, this is a simple predicament. But what about the enormity of some of life's problems? There is an answer. There is help. God is "a very present help in time of trouble," the scriptures say. Try Him — try Jesus. Feel His presence and let Him speak to you in church this Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

W. E. McDonald's Safely Home After Accident Feb. 23rd

We are happy to know that Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McDonald of 623 E. College and their son, William, of Washington, D. C. are safe at home after a terrifying experience.

Sunday, February 23rd at 2:45 p. m., an automobile driven by Leeland Pace of Route 1, Burkburnett, was passing the McDonald car, five miles south of town when Pace saw another vehicle ahead, turning into Farm Road 1177. He stepped hard on the brake and swerved into Mr. McDonald's car, causing him to lose control and leave the highway where the car overturned. It was resting on its top when police arrived. Mr. McDonald was taken to the Wichita General hospital and thought to be suffering a brain concussion. His wife, who sustained several bad bruises, and the son were released. Pace was not injured.

Held for observation overnight, Mr. McDonald was released on Monday. "It wasn't luck which saved us," stated Mrs. McDonald. "It was God. He was with us."

The McDonald's both work, but will remain home for a few days. He works for Home Furniture Company; she works for Newmans Nursery, both of Wichita Falls.

Doreas Class Met In Home of Mrs. Goins

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. J. M. Goins Monday night with co-hostesses the Number Three Group. Mrs. J. C. Adams, chairman, presided for Mrs. Leo Foster during her leave of absence.

The President, Mrs. Nomie Wilkinson presided. The devotional was given by Mrs. Sylvia Lohofener found in Psalms, Planting and Reaping. Five seeds of planting was stressed:

1. Seeds of Friendship. Plant one each day and see the influence on others.

2. Seeds of Love. Love all people. Greater love hath no man, than to lay down his life for others.

3. Seeds of Study. Seek knowledge and good things will be found.

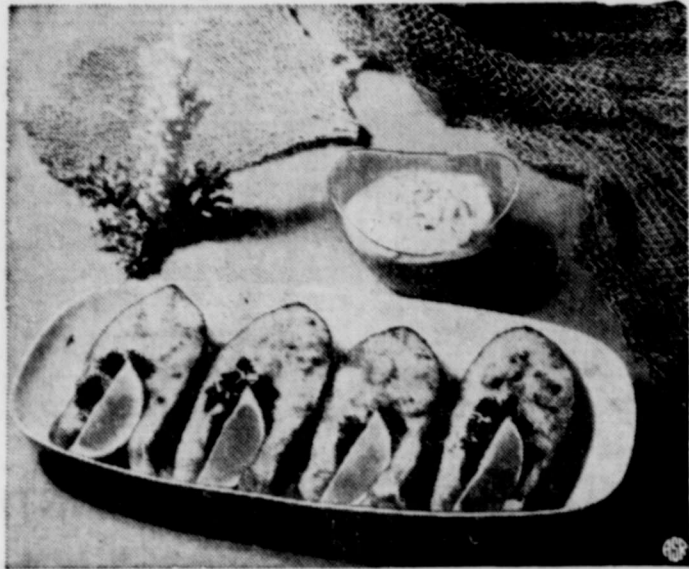

4. Work. It is the seed of Jesus footsteps. He was always busy.

5. Seed of Health Habits. Plant corrupt habits and you will reap corruptness. Plant healthy habits in Jesus name and they grow likewise.

The program chairman, Mrs. Geo. Brashears, related her time to the hostess, Mrs. Goins to show slides of a visit she and her grandchildren had in California.

One group was the much loved Rose Lawn Cemetery, how it originated and the creed for which it stands. The groups of small churches and the groups of Biblical scenes in carved

Fancy Fish Favors Flavor

When it's time to provide your family with a meatless meal, chances are that fish is on the menu. And when fish is about to be served, keep in mind that a food of such delicate flavor must be seasoned to perfection. Accent monosodium glutamate brings out all the sweet natural "fresh caught" flavor of the fish. Add a fancy touch to your favorite kind of fish steaks with a wonderful sauce made of sour cream enlivened with chives, dill, or parsley. Serve with baked potatoes, creamed spinach, molded fruit salad, corn muffins, and spice cake for dessert.

Broiled Fish Steaks with Sour Cream Sauce

6 fish steaks, fresh or frozen (allow to thaw if frozen)

Sour Cream Sauce
 1/2 pint sour cream 1/2 teaspoon dry or 1 teaspoon
 1/2 teaspoon Accent fresh herbs, minced
 1/2 teaspoon salt (chives, dill, or parsley)
 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Prepare sauce by combining sour cream with Accent and seasonings. Brush steaks with oil or melted butter and sprinkle with Accent and a little lemon juice. Place fish on preheated broiler pan. Broil about 2 inches from source of heat approximately 5 minutes, or until fish is done. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve with Sour Cream Sauce.

NOTE: It is not necessary to turn steaks if broiler pan is preheated. Fish should flake easily with a fork, but should be moist.

SPEEDING ALONG THE ROADS

SAFETY FIRST — IN SAUDI ARABIA. This newly constructed highway in Jeddah accentuates the positive in both English and Arabic — drive safely. Undertaking what is termed to be the largest project of its kind in the Middle East, Saudi Arabia expects to complete 3,420 miles of inter-city asphalt-paved road construction by mid-1965. Total cost: $297,000,000. This endeavor does not include the many miles of city roads that are being paved and widened in the capital city of Riyadh and other heavily populated cities, nor a 420-mile road to be paved between Mecca and Jazan. Work on the Kingdom-wide road network is under the supervision of Italian, German and American firms which will subcontract 25- to 125-mile segments to Saudi Arabian contractors. In addition to enabling travel in private car between main population centers, the new roads will connect agricultural areas with industrial and marketing areas and establish road contact with the Kingdom's Arab neighbors.

WAKE UP YOUNGER!

CRUSADE FOR MORE HELP, PLEASE!

Dear Helen: Thanks a million for your help in trying to liberalize Social Security to help disabled people like me. Please keep up the good work, especially in getting people to write their congressmen. I have now heard from members of Congress, Thomas B. Curtis, 2nd District, Missouri; Leonor K. Sullivan, 3rd District; Paul C. Jones, 10th District; and U. S. Senator Edward V. Long of Missouri. All very interested. Senator Long states: "I am of the view that the Social Security program is in definite need of revision to make it more consistent with the realities of present day life."

Helen, I hoped to get a letter from President Johnson, but I guess he is too busy. Thanks you for asking all your readers to write their Congressmen. I believe if we keep after them they will finally help us like they want to. Your Friends, BOYD W. WOOD.

Dear Readers: You'll remember that Boyd Wood is the 56-year-old permanently disabled victim of a car crash. He's been fighting a solitary battle to draw Social Security under the disability law, to help people like him, and those in mental hospitals who desperately need help. You can write him at 1200 Park Avenue, Apt. 521, St. Louis, Missouri. You can help all by writing to your Congressman to plead this cause! Good luck, Boyd! Stay in touch. Write to me direct, National Service Senior Center, Leigh Acres, Florida. Thanks for sending me all these official letters. I'm returning them today. Keep them in your files. They're important!

FRIENDLY VISITORS

Dear Helen: You mentioned Friendly Visitors in a column. It would be a wonderful thing if we had such a group operating in Greensboro, N.C. Where can I get complete information?

ARNOLD

Dear Arnold: Write to Friendly Visitors, 395 N. W. First Street, Miami 36, Florida. And tell me more about your Friendly Merchants!

HOW TO SELL A SONG

Dear Miss Helen: I don't know if you can help me, but our newspaper carries the note that people with problems can write to you. My problem is a popular song I wrote. It's a great song. I also wrote the music. My song is better than plenty of so-called song hits. How can I get it published? Should I write to one of the Broadway song-writers and send him my song? Or will he steal it?

SWEET WILLIAM

Dear Sweet William: One of my best friends is a Broadway writer, a big name in Tin Pan Alley with a string of hit songs to his credit. He and all his pals never steal songs BECAUSE they carefully do not open any mail that comes to them from people they do not know! They guard themselves against plagiarism and law suits! Gone are the days when a song needed to be published, as you put it. These days, a song is mounted on a "demo" record complete with orchestra and vocalist. This is mighty expensive. Next labor is to get the song "exposed" in radio, jukeboxes. This is mighty expensive. Next labor is to find the right connections to plug the song. This is mighty expensive. My advice? Start your song going in your hometown with friendly local musicians. If you can, I guess you already copyrighted the song? You must do this. If the song is really great, it might hit high-C all by itself!

NEED HELP ON A PROBLEM? Write to Helen Alpert, National Senior Center, Leigh Acres, Florida, or in care of this newspaper. Write today for the free list of the many booklets and services available to you, compliments of this column.

News From The County Agent

ROSES NEED PRUNING? To prune or not to prune is the question among rose growers. All roses need some pruning every year, says B. T. Haws, county agent, but in this area roses should not be pruned until the last of February. To prune too early may, during warm spells, force growth which will later be frozen, thus weakening or causing loss of the plant.

Haws says that generally now rose growers are not pruning as severely as they did a few years ago. The purpose of pruning is to improve the appearance of the plants, to remove dead wood and to control the quantity and quality of flowers produced. If roses are not pruned they soon grow into a bramble patch and the flowers are small and of poor quality. Sometimes undesirable shoots come from the understock. These should be removed as soon as they appear, regardless of the time of the year.

Spring pruning should consist of the following on hybrid tea and floribunda roses:
1. Cut all dead wood leaving no stubs.

2. Remove weak and spindly canes and stems.
3. Remove any branches growing toward center of plant.
4. If two branches cross one another remove the weaker.
5. Shape the plant by cutting the strong canes to a uniform height.

For growing exhibition blooms the plant is pruned more severely. Most home rose growers desire a larger bushier plant that produces more blooms that are not quite as large as those grown for exhibition. In this final step canes on strong plants can be left at a height of 24 to 30 inches if it is desired. A rose bed is usually more attractive if the plants are of a uniform size. Floribundas are generally not pruned as severely as hybrid teas.

Climbing roses should not be pruned until after the blooming season, however in the spring all dead wood and weak or diseased branches may be removed. Each year a few old canes should be cut off at the base after the blooming season will stimulate growth of new canes. Remember, blooms are produced on growth. Strong vigorous canes will develop to support structure.

Bulletins on growing roses may be obtained on request by writing to the county agent.

Two month's production of West Coast miniature roses, valued at a million dollars, can be loaded into a station wagon.

Optimisses Club Meeting Feb. 18

Burk Burnett Optimisses Club monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, February 18th in the home of Mrs. Bobbye Slusher. Things planned for the evening included a business meeting, a social hour, and a party. Mrs. Janice Gibbons was elected secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. W. W. Browning as leader. The program was presented by The Fuller Circle with Mrs. W. W. Browning as leader. Theme of the program was "The Chaplain and His Work" and was presented as a panel discussion with the following panelists, Mrs. L. B. Horr on "The Military Chaplain." She told us that Southern Baptists began a planned ministry to Army and Navy men in 1853 to meet their spiritual needs. The military chaplains role is that of pastor, teacher, preacher, counselor and world missionary. He must apply the teachings of God's word to the problems and decisions of young people who seek his help. He has the opportunity to preach from God's Holy word, seeking to bring the lost to Christ and to strengthen Christians. About 80% of Baptist Churches scattered around the world were started by Baptist Chaplains and service men.

"In our nation more than two and one-half million people live in institutions — we used to keep our sick and emotionally ill in our homes, now they are cared for in nursing homes and other types of welfare institutions. We have great need for chaplains in our prisons and juvenile detention wards. The work of the chaplain has been of great assistance in the treatment of the mentally ill, through them God is making a spiritual future for many of the inmates.

"The Hospital Chaplain" by Mrs. Miles Hayes. "More than 160 Southern Baptist ministers are hospital chaplains. These men have instilled a new spirit in the hospitals which they serve. Christian hospitals not only have the obligation to prolong life, but to enrich it. Hospital patients have emotional and spiritual problems which must be met if the patient is to have a speedy recovery."

"The Industrial Chaplain," by Mrs. J. G. Cheney. "In many of the large industrial plants there are conflicts and disturbances. A chaplain by counseling with these people one by one, he seeks to help them find for themselves satisfying solutions to their problems. Many of the people counseled had marital difficulties, some of their problems are job related and others are financial. Perhaps the pressing need of most frustrated employees is for a sympathetic listener.

Tasty Dish with Old-Time Flavor Tuna-Corn Country Casserole

Here's a wonderful tuna-corn casserole, easy as can be to make, and economical, too. Delectable morsels of convenient canned tuna provide hearty good taste and good nutrition, too. One serving of tuna provides more complete protein than a comparable serving of red meat. The casserole takes only minutes to prepare and then the oven does the work for you. The result—a marvelous dish with old-fashioned flavor reminiscent of Grandma's corn pudding, combined to a "T" with the delicate taste of the tuna. Tomato slices add a cheery note of color. Serve with a green salad and you'll have a meal to remember!

- Tuna-Corn Country Casserole
- 2 eggs
 - 1 can (10½ or 11 ounces) cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
 - ¾ cup milk
 - ½ teaspoon Tabasco (optional)
 - 1 can (1 pound) cream-style corn
 - 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
 - 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 - 2 medium tomatoes, sliced
 - ½ teaspoon sugar
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon butter or margarine
- Beat eggs; stir in soup, milk and Tabasco. Mix in corn, tuna and bread crumbs. Turn into buttered shallow casserole 10x6x1½-inches. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes; remove. Cut tomato slices in half; place around edge of casserole. Sprinkle tomato slices with sugar and salt; dot with butter. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes longer YIELD: 6 servings.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

It's got a frisky new engine
'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe
(that puts superior traction under you)

Some cars do best on the highway. Others seem tailor-made for city driving. Then there's Corvair—that gets along just great most anywhere. Swishing along a highway. Scurrying around in traffic. Or wading through a soggy trail.

Take highway driving. Corvair's got a bigger new engine with horsepower up nearly 19% in the standard version. But in case figures don't impress you, just wait until you head a Corvair for some far-away places. You'll get the message.

Take city driving. Corvair's trim size, light steering (because the engine weight's in the rear) and flat cornering make anything from rush-hour driving to parking a cinch.

Take back-road driving. The weight of Corvair's engine bearing down on the rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power on most any surface, whether it's loose, solid, dry, wet—or even snow covered.

Something else you can take note of, too: There's no radiator to overheat or run dry. No hoses to check or replace. No need for antifreeze. The engine's air cooled.

Beginning to sound like a car you can really warm up to? Then there's only one thing left to take: a ride in one at your Chevrolet dealer's.

PROBLEM CHILDREN
Q. I have a 5-year-old who can really up a storm. Why do children have tantrums?
A. Because they haven't learned self-control. Anger is a natural emotion. There are times when everyone would like to beat the rug. Many doctors say that children fly off the handle for two reasons: they have found that tantrums put them in the center of the stage (and like ham actors they all the attention). Or they may really be that they have been denied something they should have. The child doesn't participate whether you agree with him or not.

AGE AND HEIGHT

Q. People seem to get shorter as they grow older. Why?
A. Between each bone in the spine are moist, spongy discs (intervertebral discs) that act as shock absorbers. In later life they tend to lose water and shrink. Since there are 23 such discs in the vertebral column, slight shrinkage of each disc would amount to an inch or more in height. There is a tendency for the shoulders to bend forward as the elderly person becomes round-shouldered. This tends to accentuate the actual loss in height.
