In the back, Tommy Cranford and John Ford Motor representatives.

Awards Banquet Held June 10th Wolfe Ford Service Department

Motor Company sponsored Awards Banquet held June 10th in the Wolfe Ford Service Department, for Ford owners and employees.

Approximately 110 persons attended and enjoyed bar-becued beef, ham, ranch styled beans, potato salad, cole slaw, cherry cobbler. Coffee and iced tea were also on the menu, provided by the Underwood Catering Service of Wichita Falls.

Mr. Harold Wolfe welcomed the guests and two representatives of Ford Motors from Dallas, who then took charge of the program. Tommy Cranford, Zone Sales Manager, presented the Burk Burnett (Wolfe) Ford Dealer's highest award, the Distinguished Achievement Award, which is awarded to only 26 of 192 dealerships in Texas.

Only three dealerships in this zone have earned this honor. Wolfe Ford is very proud of the award which reads:

"Ford Motor has honored this dealership with the Distinguished Achievement Award for serving its community with the highest standards of quality representation during the year 1963."

Cranford told those present that the award is given in recognition of progressive management, modern sales and service facilities, high quality standards and continuing interest in rendering superior service to Ford owners during 1963.

A beautiful Golden Truck award was also presented to the dealership for selling the largest number of trucks in this zone in the year 1963.

Walter Leonard, service manager, Bob Carter, parts manager, for Wolfe Ford Company, received Golden Circle Awards for outstanding performance of their duties.

Tommy Cranford is Zone Sales Manager for Ford Motor. John Boyle, Used Vehicle Manager, was the main speaker. Boyle informed those present, the 1964 cars are safer than ever before, the sales of standard transmissions is better than the sales of the automatic and steadily on the increase.

Other interesting facts related by Boyle were 7,800,000 cars were sold in 1963 with the youth market greatly on the climb during the past two years. He used film to stress several points of his talk.

At the conclusion of his oration, Boyle called upon a guest to draw twenty-two cards, which had been filled in earlier, from a box. As the names were called, the persons came forward to receive keys to shiny new Fords.

The cars waited outside for the drivers who would use them for one week. Happy faces got behind the wheels and feet pressed the accelerators to begin flow of gas from full

Wild Brahma Bull Riding Is One of the Main Events At the Boomtown Rodeo June 25th, 26th and 27th

Brahma Bull Riding Is Most Dangerous Event

Hang on to your seat for the most dangerous and unpredictable event in the rodeo.

Although there are few bucking horses that can get through a season unriden, there are quite a number of almost unrideable or impossible bulls as the cowboys call them.

Despite their size, Brahma cattle are surprisingly quick and have tremendous power. These traits, coupled with a naturally vicious nature, make them pretty tough competition in the rodeo arena.

Not only are the bulls tough in the chutes, hard to ride and quick to turn on a fallen rider, they have the ability to strike a rider in the face with a horn while he is sitting squarely in the middle of the bull's back. In addition to facing these hardships, the bull rider has to do without the services of pickup men used in the other riding events and has to dismount by himself if he is lucky enough to last out the timer's signal.

The comic bullfighters are an invaluable aid to the bullrider. Without them, there would be few entries in this event.

During the Civil War the Alamo in San Antonio was used by the Confederacy as a Quartermaster depot.

'NEITHER HARSH NOR PUNITIVE'

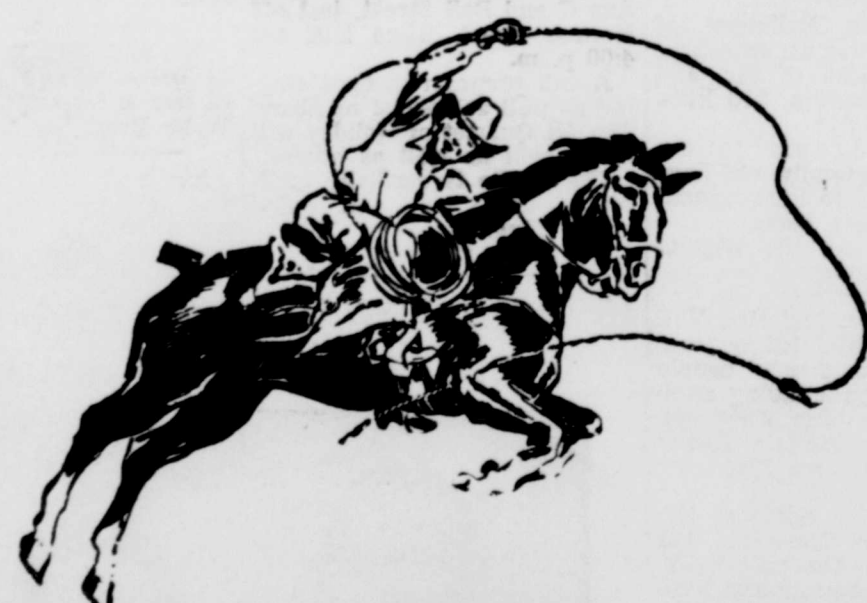

It can be reliably stated that opposition to current Rural Electrification Administration activities and projects, and to the special privileges granted by an old law to REA co-ops, is growing, and fast. And this is finding its reflection in Congress.

The prime example is found in a bill introduced by Senators Lausche and Bennett — a Democrat and a Republican. This would end the two per cent interest rate at which co-ops can borrow the taxpayer's money — an interest rate which is roughly half of that the Treasury must pay on its long-term borrowings. All REA loans would be made at the average rate of interest the Treasury must pay. In other words, so far as borrowed money is concerned, the co-ops would be required to pay their own way, instead of leaning on a taxpayer subsidy.

Furthermore, the bill stipulates that no REA loan be made "except for the sole purpose of furnishing electric energy to persons in rural areas who are not receiving central station service . . ." This was the obvious intent of Congress when the REA movement was authorized back in depression days. A provision to that effect was written in the original bill. However, the wording was apparently imprecise, and many co-ops have moved into service areas which haven't the slightest connection with true rural electrification.

The Milwaukee Journal, which is certainly no foe of providing rural areas with abundant electric service, has said this of the bill: "The Lausche-Bennett proposal is neither harsh nor punitive. It should threaten no existing service. It simply would insist that the REA hoe the row Congress originally set for it." High time!

RIVERTON, WYO., RANGER: "Czechoslovakia provides an up-to-date illustration showing the inherent weaknesses and miserable failure of Communism as a political and economic system. At the end of World War II, Czechoslovakia was a highly industrialized society. Its factories were less damaged than other European countries . . . Over the past ten years the Czech government has consistently invested from 30 to 35 percent of the national budget in the economy. Billions have been spent on new plants. But maintenance costs increased geometrically with plant expansion. Quality of workmanship has fallen so low that last year $200 million worth of Czech products were rejected because of shoddy work. A rigid central planning system continues to turn out vast amounts nobody wants to buy."

HIS FAVORITE...

Ah! Just smell that... This is his favorite... prepared just the way he likes it. He's in for a real treat. Everyone has certain foods that they prefer over others and this is his. Many people have favorite scriptures... these words can excite and satisfy the soul as certain foods satisfy the taste palates. The soul needs nourishment too. The church offers the best opportunities to satisfy your spiritual needs.

ATTEND CHURCH
SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Burk Ginners Strengthen Connie Mack Lead — Beat Hawks, 3-2

Fred Berry drove in the winning run with a single in the seventh and Johnny Koller turned in a stellar pitching performance as the Burk Ginners remained the only unbeaten team in Connie Mack, defeating the Guthrie Const. Hawks of Iowa Park, 3-2, at Spudder Park, Tuesday, June 16th.

Koller had a 2-0 lead wiped out as the Hawks took advantage of errors to tie the game, but didn't let it faze him. He struck out 14 batters, gave up three hits, no walks, and of course, no earned runs. The big left handed ace, who becomes an Oklahoma University Sooner this fall, remained steady and displayed a vast amount of "cool headedness" throughout the contest.

The Ginners took an early lead in the last half of the first inning. After Charlie Herring singled and was thrown out trying a steal, Gary Owen drew a base on balls and did steal second. He advanced to third when Berry grounded out, then came home when Koller was safe on an error. The Ginners then loaded the bases, but left everyone stranded.

The Ginners added another run in the second after Mike Musick walked and took second on a passed ball. Bobby Hubble's ground out sent him to third. Charlie Herring flied out to left field and Musick scored after the catch.

After being set down in order for two innings, the Hawks greeted Koller with a double off the bat of Keith Burkhart to open the third. He took second on a boot by the first baseman, then scored when a ball went through the second baseman's legs into center.

With two out in the fourth, the Hawk's Emmett Irby singled, then stole second. Burk's catcher threw the ball over the shortstop's head into center, and Irby came all the way home. That tied the score, 2-2.

In the bottom of the seventh, with one out, Owen drew his second free pass of the night. He stole second and rolled into third on the catcher's overthrow. Then Berry, 0 for 3 at this point, stroked a single into right centerfield to score Owen with the winning tally.

The Ginners record is now 3-0. Koller's individual record 1-0. For Burk it was 3 runs, 5 hits, and 5 errors, and for the Hawk's, 2 runs, 3 hits, and 3 errors.

Jerry Brookman of the U. S. Navy returned home last week after 5 1-2 months of sea duty and has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brookman, and his wife, Lawanna and girls, who stayed here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Penn, while he was away. Jerry and his family left Wednesday morning for their home in San Diego, Calif.

Frank Rush Of Cache, Oklahoma To Stage Boom Town Rodeo Thurs.-Fri.-Sat., June 25-26-27

FRANK RUSH

CACHE, Oklahoma — Frank Rush, prominent Southwest Oklahoma rancher and rodeo producer, this week was done to produce the annual Boom Town Rodeo in Burkburnett, June 25, 26 and 27.

"With Rush at the helm of arena activities, the 1964 Boom Town Rodeo promises to be one of the biggest and best in the history of Burkburnett," Floyd Marten, rodeo chairman, said today.

"Rancher Rush is a strong believer in keeping a rodeo moving fast with no delays between events," he added. "His famous Rocking R Ranch, near Meers, Okla., produces some of the finest stock to be found in the Southwest.

Thrills galore are forecast at the Boom Town Rodeo with exciting arena events—bronco busting, calf roping, trick riding, fancy roping, wild steer riding and bulldogging. Rodeo arena clowns also will be on hand to provide laughs.

Rush is well known throughout the rodeo circuit. He has produced top-notch rodeos at Altus, Cache, Guthrie, Walters, and Carnegie. Main base of Rush's operations is the 1,500-acre Rocking R Ranch in the beautiful Wichita Mountains.

A member of a veteran rodeo family, Rush and his family have been in the production business from 1935 to 1945, and then branched out into the amusement business.

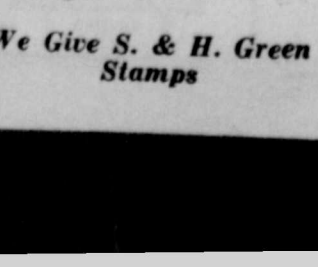

Three years ago, the Rush family decided to return to the arena spotlight when the rancher traveled throughout the United States to corral his basic stock. Since then, Rush has culled, sold, bought and traded and worked to come up with the toughest string of rodeo stock in the business.

"It's a real pleasure to come to Burkburnett next month to produce the Boom Town Rodeo and work with the fine people of your community," Rush said.

Rodeoing is a family affair with the Rushes. Rush's daughter, Suzy and her husband, Tommy Self; his wife, Janelle, and their son, Frankie, Jr., all play major roles in the big rodeo operation.

Mrs. Suzy, an attractive blonde, serves as rodeo secretary, recording entries, keeping the books and tabs on all the cowboys while in the arena. Self, a school teacher by day es are that the com- responsible for the ro- today has planned detail of the show for months in advance. First of all, a stock contractor or producer must be engaged to supply the rodeo stock. There are several competent stock contractors in the business today, and contractors are usually decided on competitive bids. Your committee has given considerable thought to the selection of a contractor and has been careful to choose one whose stock and ability fit the particular needs of this rodeo. Stock contractors usually work for a guaranteed price, although they sometimes agree to a percentage of the gate receipts or perhaps a small guarantee, plus a percentage.

Contract performers or speciality acts are paid on a flat rate basis. This group includes the announcer and the people who provide the colorful entertainment between con- test events. Much thought is given to their selection in order that you may see the tops in the profession and also that you may have the opportunity to see something new and different every year. In some in- stances the stock contractor books the acts himself, with the approval of the committee, and includes the cost in his contract with the committee.

The rodeo judges, who score the riding contests, are also paid a guaranteed rate for their services. In the same category and working in close conjunction with the judges are the timers who hold the stop watches for all the timed events.

One of the most exacting jobs at the rodeo is that of the arena secretary. The secretary records all the entries in the various events, keeps the pay books, issues prize money to winners, and records all stock drawn for each contestant. Much of the secretary's work is done in the small hours of the night long after rodeo fans are in bed.

The local committee's job is to arrange and coordinate all these operations and create a fast smooth-running rodeo for your entertainment. It is a difficult task with little reward except the fans' appreciation.

Bill Hood To Be Funny Man In Arena At Boomtown Rodeo

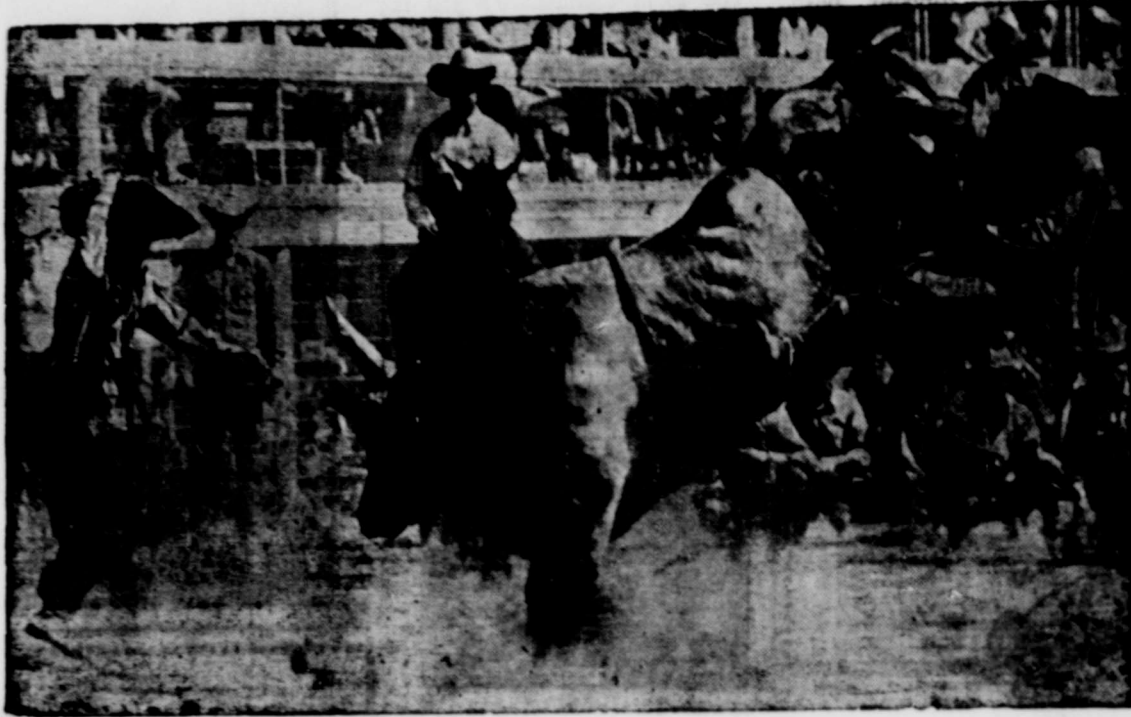

The funny man in the arena at the Annual Boomtown Rodeo, June 25-26 and 27 is a loveable comic named Bill Hood, who has made a name for himself in rodeo arenas throughout the Southwest.

Famous for his Bucking Ford, Hood also has a mule and an Appolossa horse, which have proved to be quite popular with both young and old. In addition to his crazy arena antics, Hood also is a top contestant in his own right, entering bareback bronc riding and bull riding in the rodeos where he performs. He has been a top attraction in Frank

Rush produced rodeos for several seasons.

A native of Guthrie, Oklahoma, Hood found his goal early in life in rodeo work. And he has made a profession of making rodeo fans laugh as he goes about his business.

He decided he would become a clown, but being funny is not a complete job for Hood. He also realizes he must protect the cowboys at all times.

Diverting the attention of Brahma bulls is serious business at all times. As a consequence, Hood has become quite adept at the art of bull fighting.

There's a real art to performing as a rodeo clown — much different than that of being a white-faced circus clown. Hood has found the difference, which has made him one of the top rodeo clowns on the circuit.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q. While visiting Williamsburg, Va., I saw many handsome wood panel doors of Colonial design. How do I go about getting an authentically styled copy without the cost of custom carpentry?

A. Unless you need an odd size, you don't have to have a door custom made. Most local building materials dealers carry a wide variety of stock doors made of ponderosa pine that are exact copies of Colonial Williamsburg designs.

Q. Can lacquer be applied directly on top of a previously varnished surface?

A. No. Lacquer acts as varnish remover and will smear the finish badly. You'll have to remove the varnish completely before applying lacquer.

Build With Concrete Any Time Of The Year

Ready, set, go! You no longer have to wait for warmer or cooler weather to start that concrete building project.

New ingredients and techniques now make it possible for concrete contractors to begin new jobs at any time of the year.

Concrete has emerged as the glamour material of the building industry, and is no longer limited only to footings, foundations and structural members.

Thanks to steady advances in concrete technology, concrete is being used in fancy facades, colorful patios, and dramatic free-form "flying roof" designs.

Moreover, according to the Master Builders Company, manufacturers of admixtures to improve the performance of concrete, year-around concreting is economical.

Today, a delay of even one day on big building projects adds to the cost. Builders insist on materials that can be used regardless of temperature. And with modern methods and admixtures, concrete meets this requirement.

A chemical admixture is included with the cement, sand, water, and gravel or stone of the concrete mix to control its rate of hardening at different temperatures.

In cold weather, for instance, the ready-mix concrete producer preheats the ingredients and adds an accelerating admixture. The area where the concrete is to be placed is enclosed and heated. The admixture shortens the setting time and speeds up the early strength of the concrete, which are slowed by low temperature.

There is another type of admixture that is used to delay the setting time of concrete in hot weather, giving workmen more time to properly place and finish it.

With this kind of concrete control, you can have your contractor proceed with the project whenever your impulse and money match.

Everything comes to him who hustles while he waits.—Thomas Edison.

Modern Windows Have Olden Charm

A new home in Norfolk, Va., has classic lines of traditional styling. Like the 17th Century homes after which it is named, it features double-hung wood windows and paneled doors—all stock millwork items made of ponderosa pine.

Millions who buy 20th Century design homes because like their looks and layout they have the advantages without the drawbacks the designers had to put up with.

For example, take the wood windows that are traditional in old homes. At the time the windows of Salem, Mass., were being shipped and loading unloading sailing ships, windows were laboriously made, and it took great skill to make them fit even reasonably well.

Today, faithful copies of old wood windows in ponderosa pine are turned out in factories using modern precision equipment and fabricating techniques.

Temporary wood windows like the originals, with all their enduring charm, but for family comfort and economy, are not exact duplicates.

Perhaps the greatest improvement in modern wood windows has been made in the built-in weather stripping. Many new windows utilize materials that didn't even exist in Colonial America. Plastic, metal, synthetic and natural fibers are all used today to make wood windows, regardless of style, truly weather-tight.

Long ago, a common way to keep a double-hung window open was to insert pegs in holes drilled in the side jambs. Today, a variety of effective methods, including compression springs or plates, and clock spring balance mechanisms, make it infinitely easier to open and close this popular type of window.

Insulating glass, which is particularly compatible with wood windows, is another innovation that adds to comfort and helps reduce heating and air conditioning bills.

Rodeo Rules Are Governed By Contestants

Rules governing rodeo contests are established by the Rodeo Cowboys Association with headquarters in Denver, Colo. A new rule book is printed every year and if the RCA has decided that changes in any of the rules are necessary to improve the sport or rodeo, amendments are made.

All stock is drawn for and no cowboy may have the same head of livestock twice at any one rodeo, except in the event of a re-ride. Stock drawings are conducted by the rodeo judges and may be witnessed by contestants.

Riding scores are determined solely by the two cowboy judges and are not subject to change. Stock in the riding events is marked with a point score of from 65-80 points. The rider is scored from 1-20. Total of the two judges markings constitutes the rider's official score.

In the timed events, time is computed from the barrier flag to the field judge's flag. A penalty of ten seconds will be added for breaking the barrier in both roping and steer wrestling.

Rules for each event are outlined briefly below:

SADDLE BRONC RIDING

The rider must leave chute with spurs over the point of the shoulders and spur high up front the first few jumps, then spur behind cinch for remainder of the ride.

Rider may be disqualified for failing to spur horse in shoulders out of chute, changing hands on the reins or losing rein bucking off, losing a stirrup, or touch horse or gear with free hand.

STEER WRESTLING

Wrestler and his hazer may leave chute with steer, but cannot touch steer or jump until starting line is crossed and flag is dropped. Wrestler will be fined ten seconds if barrier is broken. Cowboy must stop steer and twist it down with all four feet in the same direction and head straight.

BULL RIDING

Equipment in this event consists only of a loose rope rope around the bull's belly. Rope is held tight by rider's grip only. No knots, hitches or trick holds are permitted. Free hand must not touch animal. Rider does not need to spur to qualify, but his marking will be improved if he does.

BAREBACK RIDING

A rigging or surcingle with single handhold is used in this event. Horse must be spurred over point of shoulders as gate is opened and rider shall continue to spur until timer's signal. Same offenses disqualify as in saddle bronc riding.

CALF ROPING

Roper cannot leave chute until starter drops flag. Penalty for breaking barrier is ten seconds. This is a catch-as-catch can event and any catch that holds until roper can get to calf is legal. Calf must be thrown by hand and in the event he is busted by the horse, roper must allow calf to get to his feet and hand throw him. Any three feet can be tied, but tie must be passed by judge. Roper is allowed two loops. Failing to catch with either, he will receive no time.

Homemade Chutney

Chutney, the traditional accompaniment to curry dishes, is equally delicious when served as a relish or accent to any meat. Imported chutney is very expensive, but it is an easy matter to make your own from the following recipe. To make it more elegant, add preserved ginger and use small golden raisins.

APPLE AND JELLY CHUTNEY
12 tart apples, peeled and chopped
1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
2 green peppers, chopped
1 sweet pepper, chopped
1 cup jelly
Juice of 4 lemons
2 cups sugar
1 Tbsp. salt
2 cups vinegar
1 cup seeded raisins
2 Tbsp. Lea & Perrins Worcestershire Sauce

Combine all ingredients except raisins and Worcestershire in large saucepan. Simmer 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add raisins and simmer 1 hour longer, stirring occasionally. Add Worcestershire. Seal in hot sterilized jars. Makes four pints.

Term Rodeo Is Spanish Word

Rodeo, a Spanish word, signifies the round-up of cattle on the open range, and is the only

American sports contest originating in America. As football came from rugby and baseball from crickets, the rodeo was founded many years ago in the cattle country during the various round-ups. Rivalry among the cowboys in sports of their own devising naturally developed in that frontier, period, and this was the beginning of the rodeo.

Out in the open-range country, far from the athletic fields, the cowboy in years gone by was content to find sport and amusement in the horse and cattle industry—the things that were his daily life. Supremacy in riding bucking horses and roping cattle furnished the tests of superiority.

Thus the rodeo is not only the original American sport, but is also the only sport which is the direct outgrowth of a profession—the cattle industry. Local ranch champions began challenging champions of neighboring ranges of their own and neighboring states, consequently the rodeo several years ago ceased to be confined to the time or place of the cattle round-ups. Today rodeos are being successfully staged from California to New York.

A genuine rodeo is first, last and all the time a contest of superiority where cowboys and performers assemble at their own expense, pay an entry fee in each and all the events, ride and rope according to drastic rules, and their wages are paid in purses and prizes depending upon each one's ability to excel.

Wild Big Steer Wrestling Is Job for Big Man

Small wiry men usually make the best bronc riders, but the steer wrestling event is where the big, brawny cowboys excel. You will probably notice that several of the steer wrestlers use the same horses while competing in this event. Good steer wrestling or bulldogging teams are scarce and practically priceless, so the men fortunate enough to own them let other contestants use them for a share in their winnings. This can be a lucrative arrangement with a top team of horses involved.

The contestant and his mount must execute almost perfect timing as he swings from the horse at full gallop onto the head of the running steer. The wrestler must get in position to stop steer immediately and twist him to the ground. Judge considers the steer thrown only when it is lying on its side, all feet out and head straight.

Although steer wrestling in rodeos originally began as an exhibition feature, it is now one of the most spectacular and highly competitive events in the arena.

Point Award System Is Used By Contestants

Rodeo has a unique but fool-proof method of naming the annual world champions in contest events and the all-around.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association was organized in 1945 from the old Cowboy Turtle Association and one of the first items on the business agenda at that time was to arrive at a workable system of determining champions on a national basis.

With more than 500 RCA approved rodeos throughout the nation, the first problem was to establish a scoring unit applicable to all rodeos and all events.

The use of average total times in the timed events and aggregate points in the riding events were considered. Major objections to this system was varying arena conditions which made the idea impractical, particularly in the timed events.

The final answer to the problem was simple and dependable

Saddle Bronc Riding Is One of the Main Events At the Boomtown Rodeo June 25th, 26th and 27th

Frank Rush, producer of the 1964 Boomtown Rodeo, is bringing some of the wildest bucking brones ever to be put in a bucking chute. Those wild eyed critters have just two things in mind—get the rider off and then run over him, or better yet, stomp or kick him. It takes a mighty brave man to mount one of these hellions.

Bareback Bronc Riding Offers Highest Thrills

Don't confuse the circus type of bareback riding with what you see in the rodeo arena. This is a fast, dangerous, and bone-jarring event that will keep you on the edge of your seat.

The horse is allowed to perform any type of antic that appeals to him in trying to unload his unwelcome burden, but the rider must remember what he can and cannot do in order to make a qualified ride and have a possibility of winning some of the prize money. Self preservation being the first law of nature, most of us would have a tendency to forget the prize money and do everything in our power to continue seeking life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Not so the cowboy. He will usually do his utmost to make a qualified ride regardless of the problems he encounters along the way.

This event calls for a strong grip and a keen sense of balance. Watch closely—you'll enjoy the bareback bronc riding.

Steer Wrestling

Adult Sewing Class Scheduled June 15-19 at Burk High School

Would you like to learn to sew—improve your techniques and skill? Now you will have the opportunity, for the home-making teachers of BHS will conduct an adult class and workshop each morning, 9-11 from June 15-19th, in the Home-making Department of the school.

A demonstration will be followed by individual help. The presently popular shift will be the garment demonstrated.

New aids, techniques and equipment will be taught and explained.

The final lessons will teach methods of making belts and set in sleeves.

Get your shift or jumper pattern and material and join the fun which will take place in the new Home-making Department of the new new high School, with new equipment.

It is hoped even experienced seamstresses will learn a few new tricks, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Faulk assisted by Miss Tanya Stapp.

Mrs. Faulk attended a Bishop Workshop at the Texas Woman's University in Denton, in 1962, which was conducted by Edna Bishop, a world reknown authority on clothing construction.

She is Educational Director of the Advance Pattern Company. Persons from as far off as Thailand, have attended her workshops.

Mrs. Faulk said she learned many new basic methods of sewing she is most anxious to pass on to you.

Come have fun while you learn from very capable instructors.

Over 3000 Rodeo Contestants Are In the Contests

Some 3,000 persons carry membership cards in the Rodeo Cowboys Association, an organization of professional rodeo contestants. Many of these devote full time during the season to their rodeo activities. Others are ranch cowboys who compete in a few rodeos in their own immediate locality.

The full-time professional cowboy leads a strenuous life, not only in the arena, but in his travels from one rodeo to another. It is not unusual for a cowboy to drive all night at top speed to arrive in time to take out two or three head of stock, charter an airplane, and compete in another rodeo half-way across the country the next day then return over night to the first stop to finish there, pick up his car, and head for the next rodeo down the line.

The annual all around champion cowboy, so named because he is the top money winner of the year, will usually win in excess of $40,000 for a season's work. To win this much money he must compete in many rodeos, often two or more simultaneously, and will spend many thousands of dollars for plane fare, high powered automobiles, travel accommodations, entrance fees, and medical expenses.

Ropers and bulldoggers who carry their own horses are unable to work as many rodeos as the waddies who are unencumbered by livestock and can fly from one rodeo to another. Those men owning good horses can often supplement their income, however, by loaning their roping or dogging horses to other cowboys for a percentage of their winnings. This is common practice and a profitable one for the owners of top horses.

Most rodeo cowboys hail from the western states and were raised or worked on ranches or in some phase of the livestock industry. A few of the top competitors, however, come from the east and learned their profession in the school of hard knocks, by starting from scratch in small rodeos and moving into championship contention as their ability increased. Many would-be cowboys find the going too rough both physically and financially as there is no momentary compensation for the rodeo hand who is not adept enough to win in competition.

Despite the frequent injuries the possibility of sudden death and the other rigors of their trade, few rodeo cowboys would swap jobs with anyone.

Snow on Roof Is Sign Of Comfort Down Below

Covering of snow on roof is sign that house is insulated thoroughly. Blanket of mineral wool keeps heat inside house, prevents it from escaping up through roof and melting snow.

Like to get a rough idea of how effective your insulation is? After the next snowfall, see how long the snow remains on your roof compared to others in your area—if the weather remains below freezing, that is.

The longer the snow stays, the better the insulation. In a house that's properly insulated, heat is effectively blocked from escaping through the roof and walls.

In a poorly insulated house, heat pours out through the roof, melting the snow on its way. It's a safe bet that these houses are drafty and that heating bills are needlessly high.

If your house fails the snow test, don't despair. Even though you own an older home, it probably can be insulated to recommended standards without any exceptional fuss or expense.

Existing homes of all shapes and sizes and with a variety of exterior materials have been successfully insulated with mineral wool by contractors who use pneumatic equipment and special installation techniques.

The type of mineral wool used to insulate existing homes is called "blowing wool". Its consistency permits it to be blown into the spaces between ceiling joists and wall studs to provide a protective barrier against heat loss.

A reliable insulation contractor can up-grade your insulation to meet current standards by following the recommendations of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. These call for mineral wool to be installed to provide a resistance to heat loss of R-19 or R-24 in ceilings, R-11 in walls and R-13 in floors above unheated spaces.

Insulation that meets these standards will assure added comfort — winter and summer — and will help keep both heating and cooling costs low.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

PRESS reports state that the General Board of the National Council of Churches has adopted a resolution calling on its 31 member denomination to become involved in politics and call upon the churches to exercise their "Christian responsibility in the 1964 election." The press dispatch before me declares, "The group advocated having churches discuss political issues and candidates during election campaigns. In the first place, for the churches to do this would make them ineligible to continue enjoying their tax exempt status. We agree that church members bear heavy responsibility to seek solutions to economic and political problems, but this should be done through secular organizations and not through the churches. Men and women honestly differ on most economic and political questions such as the common market, the gold standard, tariffs, foreign aid, urban renewal, farm subsidies, rent control, and a host of others. For the church to make pronouncements in such areas is to alienate a large portion of its membership. On the other hand, if the church centers its efforts on the regeneration of men and women, these reborn individuals will find ways through their secular organizations of improving society. This is not a plea to ignore the problems, but rather to confine the church to its divine function of spreading the Gospel and regenerating men. If it succeeds at that task, there need be no worry about secular problems. Let us keep the church functioning in its proper sphere and address ourselves with renewed vigor through political parties, labor unions, chambers of commerce, civic clubs, and parent-teachers associations, to the problems of freedom, self-government, peace, and prosperity.

BULL RIDING provides Rodeo's most harrowing moments. Boarding his ugly, hump-necked Brahma, the cowboy takes a one-handed grip on the manila rope wrapped around the bull's belly. For eight interminable seconds he must stay astride the half-ton of furiously twisting, turning, kicking, high-jumping beef. He may spur to increase his score, but must touch nothing with his free hand. The bull is also scored on performance. Rodeo's unsung heroes—clowns in oversize Levi's—are constantly alert to distract an angry Brahma away from a fallen rider.

Saddle Bronc Riding Does Not Favor The Rider

This is rodeo's classic event. A graceful, highspurring rider atop a good saddle bronc can provide thrills and action unequalled in any other sporting event.
 In the words of the bard, "there never was a horse that couldn't be rode and there never was a cowboy that couldn't be thrown." While this bit of knowledge was undoubtedly penned many years ago, it is still true today. There are several bronc riders in the business today who are almost impossible to buck off and they will take only a few falls during the course of a season. And there are some saddle broncs in rodeo strings around the nation that will allow only a few qualified rides every year.
 Most modern day bronc riders are balance riders who give their mounts quite a lot of rein and rely on a delicate sense of balance and a high spurr-ing motion to keep them in the saddle. A few years back more riders took a shorter hold of the buck rein and did more spurring ahead of the cinch than they do now.

 Saddles used in this event must conform to specifications outlined in the rule book. While some riders prefer to remove or bend the saddle horn on their rigs, the saddles are all basically alike, thus guaranteeing an even chance for all contestants.

Jehovah's Witnesses Meet In Wichita Falls Ends Sunday

Jehovah's Witnesses' 16 congregation meet at Wichita Falls was concluded Sunday, when H. A. Fetzik, district supervisor from New York, spoke on the subject, "Facing Up to the Urgency of our Times."

Fetzik pointed out the urgency of our times by quoting Jesus prophecy, (Luke 21:26) "Men become faint out of fear and expectation on the things coming upon the inhabited earth."

Fetzik in speaking to the 383 persons assembled said, "Knowledge of God's Word is to the eye of discernment what light is to the natural eye." Paying attention to that Word enables the Christian to make right decisions in facing up to the pressures of our time."

Wallace D. Goff, supervisor of Circuit 12, in his closing talk "Protect the New Generation," quoted the Apostle Paul, "And you, fathers, do not be irritating your children, but go on bringing them up in the discipline and authoritative advice of Jehovah."

To protect the new generation," Goff said, "we need to instill in the mind of youth, the principles of Christian conduct. The Congregation overseer of Wichita Falls, Harold P. Bruce said, "The theme, 'Around the World with Jehovah's Witnesses' was emphasized with a two hour color film showing scenes in 22 countries and 36 cities in a global assembly held last year.

Bruce commented, "With an analysis of our activity and the weaknesses to be corrected

Scout Troop 155 To Participate In Nation Wide Program

Troop 155, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by Methodist church, Burkburnett, announced today that they will participate in a nation-wide Strengthen America's Heritage program through June and July. The purpose of the program is to make boys in Scouting and people of Burkburnett more aware of their American Heritage.

The program is being co-sponsored by the Boys Scouts of America and Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. Over 136,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer units will participate. The program will culminate on July 18th at the Sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. where over 50,000 Scouts will celebrate American Heritage Day with special patriotic campfire meetings. Scouts not attending the jamboree will conduct their own "heritage" campfires in their respective camps and communities.

In order for boys to participate in the Strengthen America's Heritage program, they must meet certain requirements. These are: 1. Advance one rank in Scouting; 2. Invite another boy to join their unit; 3. Display the flag properly on appropriate holidays; 4. Learn about the Nathan Hale award from Freedoms Foundation; and

5. Write a 25 to 100 word statement on "What a boy can do to preserve his American Heritage."

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge has provided Troop 155 with a colorful facsimile of the Declaration of Independence and Preamble to the Constitution which will be on display at the Methodist Church. The Troop also received a scroll from Freedoms Foundation signed by President Johnson which all boys have signed as part of their pledge to participate in the America's Heritage

The scroll will be presented to the church on June 22nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank and children of Okla., visited friends here for several weeks.

ROPING is a partnership between a cowboy and his horse. When the calf is released, the cowboy must reach his peak stride immediately from a standing start, stop abruptly as his rider's hands mark, and keep the rope taut while the cowboy throws the "dogie." When the calf is released, the cowboy ties its two hind feet and one forefoot together and throws both hands in the air "finch." After a five-second wait to make sure that the calf stays tied, time is scored. The contests are so competitive that a fraction of a second often decides the winner.

Calf Roping Is Teamwork By Man and Horse

This is probably rodeo's most highly specialized event. Here the years of practice are essential and the consistent winners in the calf roping event are the men who make every move count, both in the saddle and on the ground. Prime requisite for success in this event is a good horse and the roper who finds himself "a foot" (poorly mounted) will find the pickings mighty slim regardless of the talent he has. Most calf ropers specialize in this event and few of them enter the other contests as any stiffness or a minor injury could ruin his chances in a contest where winners are determined in split seconds. Watch the roper and his horse from the moment they leave the starting chute. Notice how the highly trained cowboy follows the calf's every turn, how he digs in to stop when the rope is dropped over the calf's head and how he keeps the rope taut while the calf is being tied. Calf roping as a contest sprang from the actual range work of roping calves for branding and medication. It is a highly scientific sport requiring skill, speed, agility and superior horsemanship.

Good Curing Doubles Strength of Concrete

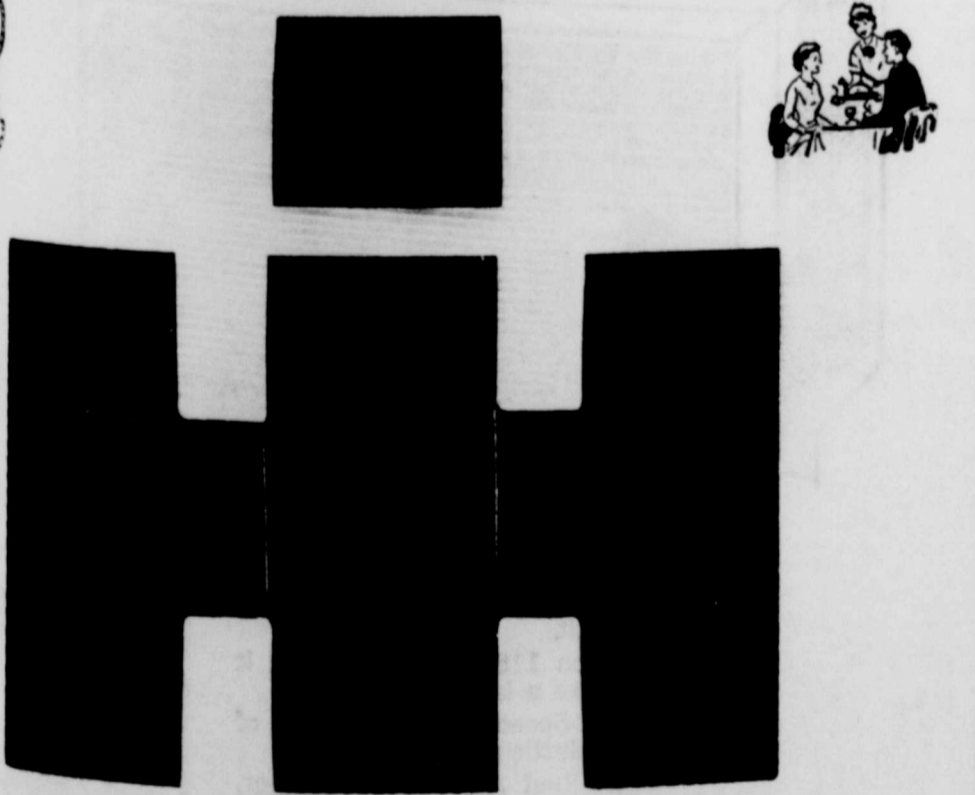

Proper curing can increase the strength and durability of concrete by as much as 100%. "Curing" is the technical word for the strength-building period immediately after the concrete is placed, when it must be kept saturated with water and protected from low temperatures. During the curing period, there is a chemical reaction between the water and the cement, which forms the "glue" that holds the sand and stone together. The reaction continues as long as there is water in the concrete mixture and the temperature is above freezing. If the concrete is allowed to dry out, the reaction stops. According to tests conducted by Master Builders Company, one of the leading producers of chemical products for improving concrete, the freshly placed concrete should ideally stay damp and at about 70°F. for at least a week. The longer the curing period, the stronger the concrete will be. For example, if the curing continues for 28 days, the surface will be twice as strong and wear resistant as concrete cured only 3 days. Well-cured concrete also has far greater resistance to dusting, cracking, crazing and spalling. Tests by Master Builders show that there are several good methods of curing. Water spray or damp burlap are acceptable, if the concrete is kept damp continuously. Waterproof paper or plastic sheets may be used to prevent moisture from evaporating from slabs, if adequately overlapped and edge-sealed. Liquid curing compounds, in wide general use, coat the concrete with a moisture-retaining membrane. They can be sprayed onto freshly finished concrete and require no further attention. Earth, sand, straw and hay are no longer in general use. Good concrete is a joint responsibility. Your ready-mix producer can deliver a high-quality mix; it's up to the contractor and owner to assure that it's properly cured.

TUBERCULOSIS
In the GOOD OLD DAYS
Back in 1920, folks called tuberculosis "The Walking Corpse". TB was, in fact, our leading killer, and it snatched millions of young men and women and left their families bereft. Today, however, it's a disease that's almost a thing of the past. This is an example of how prescription drugs not only save lives, but also reduce the cost of living. The price of today's medicines is remarkably low. Only 25 prescriptions in a household as much as $10. The average cost is only $3.25. No wonder "Today's prescription" is the biggest bargain in history!
