Little League Baseball Program Underway Monday, April 12th

P-R-O

What does this mean? You have seen this in our paper each week since 1962 and I cannot help but think that many are not familiar with its meaning. P-R-O was our theme by this year's Chamber of Commerce president, Mr. Albert Dillard and for "People, Resources, Organization." These are the first three letters of an important word, PROGRESS.

Progress for a city like Burk Burnett requires things such as: Fine System, City Government, Churches, Recreational and Good people. We must have the balance of this for the discussion of these items Recreation. The definition of Recreation is: "Refreshment of strength and spirits by diversion or a mode of play." Burk Burnett has many recreational facilities.

Team sponsors for date are Pee Wee League: United Super Market, Whites Auto Supply, Corner Drug Store, Riley Machine Shop, Preston Dairy, Piggy Wiggly Store, Randlett Gin, Grandfield and Chattanooga. Midget League: Mills Grain Co., Burk Burnett Bank, Owens and Brumley, Wolfe Ford Co., First National Bank and Chattanooga.

Practice among Little Leaguers started last Monday afternoon and much enthusiasm was evident among the boys. Data for regular season opening has not yet been set but will be announced in the near future.

It would be well worth one time to drive by the Midget Baseball Field near Hardin Park and see all the improvements that have been made and the work that has been done by those interested in Little League Baseball in Burk Burnett. The ball park is in fine shape and the committee in charge certainly appreciates the work of those who gave so freely of time and effort in behalf of the youngsters of the city.

Playing fields for Pee Wee and Babe Ruth Leagues will be at the Burk Swim Pool area and Senior High School grounds respectively. Jack Aaron, president of the Burk Burnett Bank, has been chosen general chairman of the Little League group. Archie Faulk is secretary-treasurer and John Brookman is chairman of Umpires. Sgt. M. T. Dial is Commissioner of Midget League; J. D. Taylor, Commissioner of Pee Wee League and Wallace Robinson, Commissioner of Babe Ruth League.

Coaches for various teams will be Paul Bebo, Bill Holland, Wallace Robinson, Leo Solomon, J. D. Taylor, Norman Roberts, Less Landers, L. H. Edwards, John Larson, Mike Dudenhofer, Lonnie Taylor, Max Smith and Murray Baugh.

Team sponsors for Babe Ruth League are to be obtained. Many more leaders, coaches and sponsors are needed for the overall program according to Chairman Aaron and he urges all who will to lend a helping hand toward making the Little League program a success in Burk Burnett.

Practice among Little Leaguers started last Monday afternoon and much enthusiasm was evident among the boys. Data for regular season opening has not yet been set but will be announced in the near future.

Receive Music Scholarships

Wayne Dark, Toni Savage and Janet Linnell, members of the Burk Burnett High School Choral Club, were presented Music Scholarships to East Texas College.

Location Of A New Library

The library movement is under way in Burk Burnett. Many people are part of it and have progressed to the "do" point. To go beyond this point, the interested citizens must have the understanding of all. Financing and locating the Library are two main problems now.

What the local, state and federal contributions will be able to do are mostly known, but they rely on other actions required locally.

For one thing, the library will have to be located downtown according to the best advice. This is because more people frequent the downtown area and subsequently will find that location handier to receive and to return books. The library will have a greater circulation.

Next consideration then is how big and what building will be used. How big means how many books will make a good start for a library. This complex problem, for the advice of a professional is needed to determine the type of books needed.

Without further discussion, it is plain to see that help from people who know and are willing is needed. Secondly, the understanding of all the people is necessary. Those with children understand and appreciate the value of a library in town. So do businessmen. The complacent and out of touch citizens often feel they are not needed; this is not the case, lend your talents and efforts to the library movement now.

WHAT TIME IS IT?

News Note: Confusion in changeover dates and times should be eliminated.

IT'S TIME TO UNSCRAMBLE TIME

The uniform time legislation introduced in both houses of Congress to end clock confusion is long overdue.

On Sunday, April 25th, America will again live on "scramble time." More than 100 million Americans will advance their clocks to daylight saving time, while 90 million people will not change.

"This annual time scramble complicates the operation and scheduling of the transportation industry. It confounds the television viewer, bewilders the vacationing traveler and aggravates the businessman," Senator Norris Cotton (R-N. H.) said. "A flood of missed appointments, and late arrivals will plague many Americans," he continued.

Let's see what happens:

- 15 states start daylight saving time the last Sunday in April and end the last Sunday in October.
- 16 other states either start or end daylight saving time—or both on different dates.
- Of the 31 states, 15 observe it on a statewide basis, while the others have local option.
- And across the country isolated areas observe "wildcat" DST without official sanction.

Some states do not observe it at all.

This legislation to have time and date uniformity, wherever daylight saving time is adopted should be encouraged.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CLANTON, ALA., NEWS: "In the United States, the government is forever seeking to make everyone and everything more productive and more efficient. In the Soviet countries, the government is apparently trying to do the same thing. The difference in the results, of course, is the Free Enterprise system, which is the father of ingenuity and initiative. Take away the freedom of choice which we are supposed to enjoy; take away the personal desire to achieve; the individual will to improve and make better, and we have little more than Communism in Socialism."

CORYDON, IND., REPUBLICAN: "Administration ears-to-the-ground are hearing welcome applause from across the nation in anticipation of the cuts in wartime taxes on 'luxuries' that the President has promised. It's been a long time since V-J Day and citizens have long taken a dim view of taxes designed to put a damper on sales and production and release workers for the war effort."

OPPORTUNITY, WASH., HERALD: "It's an amazing thing how the human mind can interpret the same set of facts to suit its own peculiar prejudices. For years now, we have been assured by our self-styled experts that the reason we in America need to have more government direction of our economy is because it has gotten too complex to operate as a completely free system. The 'cover' story in a recent Time Magazine reports on the apparent trend in Soviet Russia to copy capitalism in an effort to increase industry production. There, say Soviet experts, the economy is getting too complicated for central planning."

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON
PROMOTING EMPLOYER-EMPLOYEE CO-OPERATION

Whether a firm is large, middle-sized, or small, it gets best results in terms of productivity and profits if there is mutual loyalty between management and workers. And this is much more difficult today than it sounds. Employers, for one thing are so caught up in the competitive rat-race that they tend to concentrate on production and marketing, and leave labor relations pretty much to unions and department heads. Employees, on the other hand, are apt to forget the good of the company and think only of fatter pay envelopes, more fringe benefits, and looking for richer jobs.

Mutual Concern Pays Off

Both attitudes are self-defeating and costly for all concerned. Astute employers recognize that their workers are not just cogs in the machinery of turning out products and getting them to market, but that they should be—and often are—co-workers and salesmen, ambassadors of good will. The extent of their value in these extra-curricular pursuits is up to the foresight and imaginative vision of the employers themselves.

Naturally, it is management's responsibility to provide attractive working conditions, fair pay rates, and reasonable fringe benefits compatible with others in the same field and locality. But beyond this point the employer must start playing by ear. If he deals for instance, in consumer goods, he can be certain that his personnel, their relatives, and their friends are possible customers. If he is wise, then he will keep his work force constantly informed, not only regarding the workings of the factory but concerning the final products and how they may best be used. Company manuals and work time demonstrations can easily generate employee interest and prod workers to spread the word concerning the quality and utilization of what they make.

Even if an employer's products are non-consumer in nature, employees can still offer very valuable publicity if they are intimately acquainted with the special qualities of the goods they are helping to turn out. If they are shown in what respect their products excel, they will be proud of their association with the company and will enjoy being experts. Through private and personal employee contacts have come many lasting and rewarding accounts for firms whose employer-employee relations are lively and friendly.

An intelligent employee recognizes that whatever he is doing for his company he is doing basically for himself—and for his fellow workers. To build up the company for which he works, to light up the image of its products, to help make its brand-name a byword, is to ensure his own job security and eventually to enlarge his own income and that of his co-workers. This relationship between management and staff must, however, work two ways if there is to be a truly healthy stability in any business concern.

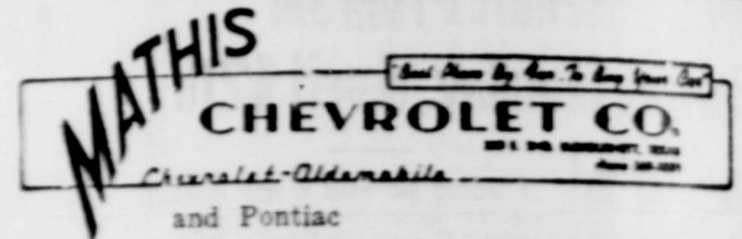

Especially For Young Companies

Small concerns—just getting under way—will find it helpful in bucking the better rivalry in all important lines today if they will sell every employee, from the beginning on the idea of becoming a salesman for their products and services. If a man is made to feel that he is a vital part of the company he works for, that he is trusted and taken into confidence in its problems as well as its successes, he is much more likely to stay put.

Labor turnover is, of course, one of industry's heaviest financial burdens, particularly today. Hence, everything should be done to promote an employee co-operation and mutual understanding for the purpose of building up a firm that can local expansion without being replaced by restless ers. Whether a firm is sized or not, it can make employees proud of their tion with it and eager its name and its prod more widely known.

The record will be released about April 20th.

Salmon Eggs

Steelhead fishermen use fish roe for bait and find small squares of nylon stockings perfect for holding eggs in a cluster. Hook threads through four corners to close package.

New Lettering

Small lettering on your shotgun choke sometimes gets hard to read. Take a small paint brush and some white paint and fill letters. Rub off excess with finger. Marks show up.

What do you use when you need a hook disgorger and left your home? Use your rod tip, of course. It doubles as one when you need it.

Clara - Fairview HD Club

The Clara-Fairview Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Elmer Klinkerman on Tuesday, April 8th at 2 p. m. Mrs. W. Ray Stimpson, president, called the meeting to order.

The members repeated The Lord's Prayer and sang a song. Roll call was answered with One Requirement of a Good Home. The thought for today is "Giving our Best Today is the Recipe for a better Tomorrow."

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the chairman of the standing committees gave their reports. Each member is to bring two gift items to be sold at the Wichita County HD Bazaar on April 28th.

Miss Judy Klinkerman and Miss Marian Bentley from the Burkburnett 4-H Community Club brought the program. Judy prepared a date nut bread and told about its vitamin content, how to prepare it, the cost of making 3 loaves and other interesting facts about the bread. She also set a card table with a center piece and prepared a days menu to go with the date nut bread.

Marian Bentley gave an interesting talk on Milk, The Perfect Food. She told about milk, its vitamin and mineral content, why its important to have milk in our daily diet, different ways to use milk in menus and she prepared a tasty cheese dip which was served to the members and guests.

A Tupperware party was held after the demonstrations were over. Several games were play-

Wanted: Better Beef Livers

The beef industry will lose more than $7 million in income in 1965 because of a disease complex few cattlemen ever see evidence of on the hoof. It is estimated that Fasciolosis, or liver abscess complex, occurs in approximately 5 per cent of all beef slaughtered in the United States.

The paradox of this disease is that the first signs are usually observed at slaughter, when hundreds of thousands of livers must be condemned. While no visible symptoms of sickness will normally occur in the live animal, except in severe cases, the cattle leader's profits are definitely affected in the feedlot. For cattle with liver abscesses are less than economical gainers and take extra feed to make a pound of gain.

Scientists have noted over the years that cattle on rations of 3 to 1 concentrate to roughage, or greater, appear to be more susceptible to the condition. Also, when cattle go into the feedlot, the rapid change in diet from roughage to concentrate often causes liver abscesses.

Dr. Ralph Elliott, manager of animal industries for American Cyanamid Company, says good feedlot sanitation and management are of definite value in preventing liver abscesses. He notes that the continuous feeding of supplements containing a low level of the broad spectrum antibiotic Aureomycin has proved highly effective in killing the causative organisms. Results of trials

With 1,190 animals have shown that Aureomycin reduced condemnations for liver abscesses by 56 per cent.

Today, meat packers are alerting cattle producers to the seriousness of a disease complex that causes them to discard thousands of condemned livers. The answer for cattlemen lies in this philosophy: start cattle as you would drive your car or truck: begin in low gear. Move cautiously from a roughage to concentrate. And, secondly -- use continuous medication. A broad-range antibiotic.

ed and Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Schroeder won prizes. Every member and guest won a Tupperware prize.

Mrs. Joe Slama and Mrs. J. H. Bentley won the door prizes. Refreshments were served to guests Mrs. F. D. Martin and Mrs. W. E. Warren from the Ray HD club in Wichita Falls, Mrs. Fannie Owens from Crossett, Arkansas, Mrs. Raymond Schroeder, Mrs. Gellner, Mrs. Catherine Frost from Burkburnett and Judy Klinkerman and Marian Bentley.

Next meeting will be April 20th at the home of Mrs. Robert Norris, Miss Thelma Wirges, Wichita County HD Agent, will bring the program.

you ever stopped to think how lucky you are to live in the United States? We have freedoms that our fathers fought for. This is the line to our programs. They started by many ways, mostly by taking baseball. Today we get our mitt and go to the field. In our days the aristocracy of New York spent leisure days playing or watching like "Cricket" brought England by the Settlers. Some time the people of were playing a game called "Cricket and Rounders." These two important joint ancestors of the great American game Colonial youngsters acted the development they wanted to play, they had to make their own equipment out of whatever they could find. And with the same originality, they made their own rules. They took the rules of rounders and roughened them up a bit. One player, known as the "feeder" would toss the ball to the striker, underhanded and slowly to be sure he hit it. The "striker" would hit it as far as he could and then try to run to a nearby stump or stake and back before either the "feeder" or the "Scout" could return the ball and throw it with all his force to hit the runner before he could reach home. This was the rowdy simple game that eventually became baseball. As more people joined the games, they simply set out more stakes around which the "striker" had to run before getting back home. The youngsters called their game "Town Ball."

The people of New York changed the name of their game from "Cricket" to the "New York Game." Then in 1845, Alexander Cartwright gave

A Real "Dutch Treat"

When a prospective bride is given a shower by her friends, it seems that all the work and very little of the fun is the hostess' lot. So, why not give a real "Dutch Treat" shower for the bride and actually have all her friends participate? In this way, the work load doesn't fall on one person, and today's busy women can plan this type of shower even after a hectic day.

The "Dutch Treat" theme is carried out in every sense of its meaning. Each guest brings one part of the refreshments, and the hostess has only to furnish the pretty and imaginative table setting made with Bondware Blue Delft paper plates and a large pot of steaming coffee. The girls can get together so that one can provide little sandwiches, another can bring a dessert and another a first-course of refreshing fresh fruit cup.

With the dessert, the hostess can serve a choice of two or three kinds of coffee. Coffee with chicory has a robust, zesty flavor which brings out the full deliciousness of the brew. A pot of steaming coffee can be the basis for the guests to help themselves to either black coffee or by having a bowl of vanilla ice cream on the table, the coffee with chicory can be topped with a dollop of ice cream for Viennese coffee. A jar of cinnamon sticks will give the dieting black coffee drinkers a chance to try Chicory Cinnamon Coffee, without adding a calorie.

The Dutch Windmill Centerpiece is easily made by placing two Delft Bondware cups bottom to bottom and gluing them together. Cut a 9" cross shape from white paper and pin to top cup. For the Tulip Fruit cups, cut 7 petals from yellow paper and tape around each sherbet glass. The hot drink cups can be decorated with "girl and boy" faces of colored paper if desired.

the orderly touch of the draftsmen to developing the game. He designed the first baseball diamond. The New York Game got its trial on a field in Honkers, New Jersey, between the New York Nine and the Knickerbocker Club. The New rules of this first game in 1846 had nine men on a team. A turn at bat was called a "hand" and a circuit of the bases was called an "Ace". The first team to score twenty one aces won. The ball was made of solid rubber. The bat had a broad, flat hitting side. The rules, equipment and playing technique were steadily improving to make the game of skill and stamina to what we now know it.

April Is Month Of Cancer Crusade

Rodeo Dates Set June 3-4-5th

At a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at Town Hall, rodeo dates for 1965 were announced for June 3rd, 4th and 5th.

The group voted to lend every assistance possible to the local Fire Department when the West Texas Firemarshals and Firemans Association holds its convention here in May. President Albert Dillard appointed himself, C. J. Lippard, Joe Salter and Buddy Byars on a committee to work with the firemen.

Jerry Thomas, recently named a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, plans to attend a convention of that group in Abilene April 29-30 and May 1st. Buddy Byars, manager of the Burk C of C, also plans to attend the Abilene gathering.

NOTICE

Applications are now being taken for a lifeguard and manager for the Burk Burnett swimming pool which will open in the near future. Mail applications to H. R. Hayes or Harold Van Loh, Burk Burnett, Texas.

NYLON ROPE

Always carry a short length of light strong nylon rope when you are deer hunting. Makes tiresome hauling job easy.

Sometime in April one of your neighbors will pay you a visit. A very important visit, one that may your life.

The neighbor who will come to call will wear an American Cancer Society armband and will have something to give you—a little folder. The title is: "Answers to Questions about Cancer Which Concern You."

This folder explains how you can best protect yourself against cancer, describes the symptoms, and answers questions, including the big one: cure?

According to Jack Aaron, publicity chairman, half of today's cancers are curable. But the cure depends on early detection. And that is the individual's responsibility.

"The little booklet your neighbor will give you during the annual Crusade against Cancer," said Mr. Aaron, "lists the Seven Danger signals of Cancer, but the fact you may have a Danger Signal does not necessarily mean that you have cancer. Only your physician can make an accurate diagnosis. Prompt medical diagnosis and treatment are essential."

The booklet also tells why a complete physical checkup every year is necessary, regardless of how well one may feel. An annual health examination is life insurance against cancer of the rectum and colon, uterine cancer in women and other cancers which may not give early warning symptoms.

The neighbor who calls, said Mr. Aaron, is participating in the ACS Crusade against Cancer to raise funds for research, education and service to cancer patients. When you are asked to help support the Society's program, please give as much as you can to hasten the day when all cancer is brought under control.

Miss Melissa Adams Honored April 6th On Second Birthday

Miss Melissa Adams was honored on her second birthday with a party Tuesday, April 6th in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, Jr.

Invitations in the form of a train with real wheels of colored mints were mailed from 219 Laurel Lane in Mimosa Heights, to six little girls and boys.

On arriving, they were greeted by Missy and her mother.

The table was covered with a birthday cloth and a pink birthday tree filled with pink bows. The cake was in the form of a train decorated with colors of spring. The plate favors were train cars filled with goodies and the name of each guest printed in gay colors.

During the hours from 2 to 4, many came to wish her happiness, including her grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Adams, Sr.

The honoree received calls and packages all day from other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Georgia Keeter of Wichita Falls, a former room-mate of Melissa's mother, assisted with the hostess duties.

Punch and cookies were served to little Misses Lee Ann Inman, Lisa Goins, Jacque Fitz Simmons, Master Ted Robertson, Kurt Wolfe and the honoree, Miss Melissa Adams.

MILK CARTONS

Milk cartons make good freezer boxes. Fill with game, fill with water, freeze and store in freezer.

This year, an estimated 295,000 Americans will die of cancer. Except for lung cancer, death rates for cancer are generally leveling, and in some cases, dropping off. To help continue the decline in cancer death rates—support the American Cancer Society's April Crusade.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN OTHER PEOPLE?

If one is genuinely interested in other people, there are some things one should do for others. This is not what one can get out of it but because one cares about the needs of others.

There are many helpful things one can do for others in many realms of life. The most important is in the spiritual realm.

If you are a Christian, the natural result should be interest in other. Jesus Christ was compassionate in His dealings with people.

Ways in which a Christian can show his interest in others are to live the right kind of life before them, to pray for others, to speak kind words and do kind deeds, "I told my neighbor that I have something as a Christian that I want to share." That man said something very important and that is that a Christian has something to share and that is his testimony about what Christ has done for him.

At this season of the year, you have special opportunities to tell others about the sacrifice of the Son of God on the cross and about the hope we have because of the resurrection.

First Baptist Church is offering another special opportunity for Christians to express interest in others. During the week of April 18-25, Robert Cheek of Baytown, Texas and Charles Lowrey of Wichita Falls will be sharing a message of hope and peace.

You as a Christian are invited to attend the services at 10:40 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. on Sundays and 10:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on weekdays — only at 7:30 on Saturday.

AND, if you are really interested in other people, bring someone with you.

EASTER DAY OF TRIUMPH

"He is not here; for he is risen, as he said."

Thus, on the third day our Lord rose and conquered death, fulfilling his promise. There are many other promises of wonderful things that our Lord has made to us. These are given to us in the Holy Bible. Enter his house this week, on the day set aside for celebrating his triumph, and hear the full story of this great victory. Make this a new beginning in your life too.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. Doesn't inflation make life insurance a bad bargain — since a policy is eventually paid off in cheaper dollars than were paid in premiums?

A. Inflation obviously has an erosive effect on all the financial resources, including savings, pensions, investments and, of course, life insurance. But that hardly makes life insurance a "bad bargain." And the impact of inflation is not as direct as you indicate.

First of all, inflation seldom happens suddenly. Instead, the cost of living inches up gradually or in spurts over a long span of years. There are also intermittent periods of deflation.

PAYMENTS "AVERAGED" OVER THE YEARS

1951	1952	1953	1954	1955
100	100	100	100	100

Life insurance premiums are rarely paid in a single, lump sum. They are usually paid in small amounts over many years. So the dollars paid for life insurance in later years are "cheaper" than those paid in earlier years. The effect is somewhat like "dollar averaging" in other types of investments.

Also, unless a policyholder lives to extremely advanced age, the amount his family receives from his life insurance at his death is substantially greater, as a rule, than what he has paid in premiums.

However, you should not ignore the impact of inflation on your life insurance. Instead, you should make sure that you have enough protection to do the job you want it to do despite the long-term erosion of the dollar.

WAKE UP YOUNGER!

with Helen Murray

WHAT'S REALLY IMPORTANT?

Dear Helen: In your column you give us news of many state and private organizations for older people's help. You call our attention to leaflets, magazines and other publications written for our information; you tell us names, addresses, cities and services, we should know. All of us want a good life in our later years. In your opinion what's the most important thing we should aim for, to live a good life?

Senior
Dear Senior: We all reach "a good life" by different roads, because not one of us is a carbon copy of another! Recently in Massachusetts the 5 essential ingredients for a good life were outlined by Ivan A. Nestingen, Under-Secretary of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. He listed these 5 points a place to live something to do; something to do with; someone to do for; and someone to care. Add them up to a total sum called self-worth, and you're really living! Self worth is feeling good about yourself and your existence. Frankly, the most important thing that has taken place in the field is today's accent in self worth. Whatever you do to earn it is as great an achievement as climbing Mt. Everest.

Health Diary
Dear Helen: We're 2 couples who just returned from an auto trip. Drove 5,000 miles. My wife and I got sick, but the "Health Diary" we got from you was a godsend to the doctor in a strange town. Now the other couple wants the diary. Have you got any left? I told them I'd write to you right away.

Uncle Jim
Dear Uncle Jim: Good to know that the Health Diary fulfilled its prime purpose—to show at a glance the state of your health, previous illnesses, current medications—a compact case history! Yes, I have a fresh supply from the American Medical Association. Tell your pals to send 10c for the "Health Diary" to cover its actual cost and handling.

Low Income Retiree
Dear Helen: I read a joke somewhere about a woman who says that retirement is having twice as much husband on half as much income. I feel like that woman, but it's no joke. Everybody talks about increased Social Security as the answer. To us, this is not enough answer. Isn't anything else in the works to help people like us? I know there are plenty who don't need help, but there are plenty who do.

Help Mate
Dear Help Mate: Did you see the three point program proposed at a conference in West Point, N. Y. by Dwight S. Sargent? He was chairman of the Employment Security and Retirement section at the famed White House Conference on Aging. Point one was a survey to ascertain how many live on inadequate income in each community, how many can work full time or part time, what jobs can be found for them, what housing can be produced. Point two: Take specific steps to make people self-supporting, mostly by removing obstacles that block incentives. Point three: More adequate public assistance for those who cannot work. To put your retirement time to good use now, why don't you and your husband go to your nearest agency, or civic club, and offer yourselves as the first volunteers to help canvass your area, block by block on a survey for facts. In helping to row someone else across a river, that's how you get across it, too! I hope you start today!

QUACK, QUACK
Dear Helen: Your column is swell. This is a fast problem, and one quick question. What's the best way to spot a quack, especially the fakes and swindlers in the health field? My aunt is on the verge of spending $200 for a device to relieve arthritis. I begged her to wait until we hear from you. Here's the circular they sent. A fake?

Harry
Dear Harry A fake. It's nothing but some colored lights and panes of glass. The Food and Drug Administration has a set of questions to ask yourself. Your answers will get you to the truth. Here are the questions: "Is the formula or treatment hailed as a Secret? Does it promise a Quick Cure? Is it advertised by testimonials from people? Does its manufacturer clamor for medical investigation and recognition? Does it sponsor claim that medical men are persecuting him, or fear his competition? Does it belittle the recognized treatments? "If you answer "Yes" to any of these questions, the blinders are off, Harry!

Live Cricket
Bream fishermen tie a tiny rubber band on their long-shanked hooks and anchor live crickets with the rubber band. Crickets stay alive longer that way. Works with frogs too.

THE HIGH ROAD

L. W. PRENTISS, Executive Vice President
AMERICAN ROAD BUILDERS' ASSOCIATION

America the Beautiful

A recent drive over newly completed Interstate Route 95 North of Augusta, Maine, gave me a new insight about the scenic possibilities of America's highways.

Maine's State highway department engineers designed this highway to take full advantage of the natural beauty of the region. The two roadways frequently are at markedly different elevations and, instead of being laid out in identical parallel ribbons, have a varying width median which causes them to drift apart and come close together again in conformance with the natural roll of the landscape. The traveler is presented with a new beautiful vista with every smooth turn in the road. White birches are silhouetted against dark evergreens and both are interspersed here and there with stark rock outcroppings. This separation of the roadways not only helped blend the highway into the landscape but also served the practical purpose of minimizing the glare of headlights on cars traveling in the opposite direction.

Not every State is blessed with the scenic grandeur of Maine. But it is true, in every State, that highway engineers are increasingly aware of the importance of highway aesthetics and are working creatively to make the highway an attractive part of the landscape.

The biggest problems task of making highways beautiful arise in building new highways in urban areas. Sometimes the highway traverses areas that are unattractive to begin with—there is no scenery to be saved. At other times, regrettably, economic or engineering factors make it necessary for the highway to displace buildings which are architecturally attractive or which have historic interest. Whenever possible, the highway engineer routes the highway to preserve the most desirable property and to displace the least desirable.

The national highway program is a major force in urban renewal. It has given a strong impetus to the reconstruction of slum areas, the relocation of industry in efficient industrial parks, the formation of suburban shopping centers and numerous other important developments in the reorganization of urban land use.

Not all of our freeways are appealing to the eye, unfortunately. This is especially true of some of the earlier toll roads, which were designed when engineers were concentrating on designing straight and level highways with a minimum of distracting features. In later years, however, a more complete understanding of the value of aesthetics has led to creative highway design that is both efficient and pleasing to the eye, relieving monotony and decreasing the danger of driver fatigue.

Highlight of the meeting was officer election for 1965-66: Mrs. Lyle Eaton, president; Mrs. Clarence Bridges, vice president; Mrs. Joe Jancke, recording secretary; Mrs. J. A. Tibbitts, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wayne Johnson, treasurer.

Next meeting will be April 26th in the Candle Light Room of the Cardinal Inn honoring Mrs. Ed Hancock, who will receive her jewel pin at the meeting.

Delicious refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostess, Mrs. James Spinks.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. I have a $10,000 life insurance policy with a Canadian insurance company — although I am a U. S. citizen, living in the United States, and I bought my policy here. Since the Canadian dollar is now worth only about 93 cents in our funds, does this mean my policy is worth only about $9,300?

A. Definitely not. Life insurance benefits from policies issued in the United States by Canadian companies are paid in U. S. funds. This is only fair, since you undoubtedly pay your premiums in U. S. funds. Canadians who buy policies with U. S. life insurance companies receive their benefits in Canadian funds.

However, with policies originally purchased in Canada by Canadians who later move to the United States, the benefits would generally be payable in Canadian funds. And policies of U. S. citizens who move to Canada are generally still payable in U. S. funds.

Q. What is "straight" life insurance?

A. A type of insurance that provides lifelong insurance protection at the lowest yearly cost. The premiums, based on the policyholder's age at the time the policy is issued, never increase as he gets older. The premium rate assumes that he will continue to pay the premiums as long as he lives — although in later years he can use the policy's cash value to provide a smaller amount of fully paid-up protection on which no further premiums would be due.

The policyholder also has the privilege of using the cash value to provide a guaranteed income for himself. The low cost and flexibility of straight life insurance makes it better suited to the needs of most families than any other type of policy.

LOSE A SINKER

Lose a sinker and save hooks and swivels by tying line to a three way swivel when you fish swift rocky water where hanging up is expected. Tie hook to one eye, sinker to the other. Use very light line to attach the sinker. Hang up and light line breaks, all you loose is a sinker.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

Over the past several years strong emphasis has been given to physical conditioning in America. The suggestion to exercise is a good one. But if we are to be realistic, we must exercise to something enjoyable. Otherwise, many folks tend to "forget" or perhaps adopt a "do-it-tomorrow" attitude.

My suggestion is to exercise to the pleasurable sport of fishing. In the schools of our nation, especially, there is a fine opportunity to teach the sport. Through fishing, exercise can be tailored to individual capacities.

Admittedly, team sports presently occupy the central place in our schools. Team sports encourage cooperation and teach the individual to work within a group. But team sports are selective. What percentage of our high school and college students are on football teams, for instance? And how many of them are girls?

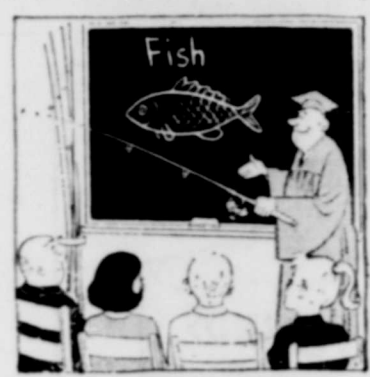

Fishing allows participation by all — large and small, male and female — for a lifetime. The sport can be rigorous — like rowing a boat or hiking to remote fishing spots. It can be more relaxed, like following a meandering trout stream or casting from a lake shore.

And it just could be that we are emphasizing "groupism" a little too much in our schools. Fishing places refreshing emphasis on individualism and provides for privacy — harder and harder to find in today's world. In addition, statistics show a remarkably low delinquency rate among youngsters who fish. Perhaps accounting for the low delinquency rate is the fact that youngsters who fish need never be plagued by idle hours.

Equipment cost to teach fishing would be low when compared to outfitting a football team, for instance, and participation would reach a far wider base. A half dozen spinning outfits, such as the Mitchell 200 and No. 2508 Garcia-Conelso rod, and a like number of baitcasting and fly rod outfits would be sufficient for all but the largest of schools.

To back up the schools' efforts, a large number of fishing films are available from many tackle manufacturers and other concerns. The Garcia Corporation, Teaneck, N.J., maintains an excellent library of fishing films available free of charge to requesting groups.

If you're interested in developing a fishing program for this area, you could take action to help begin one through FTA, board of education or faculty curriculum planning committee.
