Lt. Gen. Merrell Speaker Armed Forces Day May 9

A close up look at the gigantic B-52 Stratofortress and its companion, the KC-135 Stratotanker will be afforded all visitors to the Armed Forces Day "Open House" to be held Sunday afternoon, May 9th, from 1 to 4:30 p. m. at Sheppard Technical Training Center, Texas. These powerful and magnificent teammates for the "space age" will be on static display with several other aircraft, all depicting the hardware inventory of the Air Force and emphasizing again the theme for the Armed Forces Week celebration, that of "Power For Peace". Other aircraft which may be inspected by the visitors are the KC-97, C-124, C-130, T-28, T-37, T-38, T-39, F-100 and F-102. There will also be several helicopters and the two stages of the Titan II Missile. The Departments of Training of 3750th Technical School will also have exhibits of their training equipment and various items of interest. These will be set up in Hangers 1040, 1080 and 1090 adjacent to the Technical School ramp where all of the aircraft will be parked. These exhibits will feature Aircraft Maintenance, Civil Engineering, Missile and Space, communications, Comptroller and Transportation. During the afternoon, spectators may witness several demonstrations, all planned to give an insight to capabilities of today's aerospace force. There will be a fire fighting demonstration by the Sheppard Fire Department, a pole climbing demonstration by students of the Communications Training Department, and a loading demonstration by students of the Transportation Training Department. The handlers of the sentry dogs of the 494th Bombardment Wing (SAC) will take their dogs through a routine to show how they operate. There will also be rocket fuel combustion demonstrations. The drill team will present precision drills. Fort Sill has been invited to send Army equipment for the static display for the Open House. Other units invited to participate in the Open House are the National Guard and local reserve units. The public is invited to be guests for the occasion. Persons attending the Open House are asked to use either of the north gates at the base, now known as Gates 3 and 4. Plans for the Open House as well as all other Armed Forces Week activities are being made by a committee headed by Lt. Col. Arthur K. Weathers. Guest speaker for the luncheon, traditionally hosted by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be Lt. Gen. Jack G. Merrell, comptroller of the Air Force in Washington, D. C. A graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., General Merrell will speak on a subject in keeping with the "Power for Peace" theme. A native of Pennsylvania, General Merrell assumed his present duties as comptroller of the Air Force in November 1964. General Merrell will be introduced by Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, commander of Sheppard Technical Training Center. The climax of the week-long observance will be the colorful parade beginning at 10 a. m., Saturday, May 15th in downtown Wichita Falls. Sheppard will be represented by nine masses of troops of more than 700 marching men, the 761st Air Force Band, a float prepared by 3750th Technical Training School, the SAC sentry dogs and their handlers, and the two stages of the Titan II missile.

SAD LOSS

A "See the U. S. A." instead of traveling overseas campaign is under way. Its purpose is to ease the balance of payments problem by discouraging Americans from going abroad and spending their dollars there and encouraging them to vacation within our own country.

All citizens should visit as much of this wonderful varied nation as they can. At the same time, the "See the U. S. A." idea has brought a thoughtful comment from the Portland Oregon, Journal: "A better way to redress the tourist balance than keeping Americans from exploring the world is to encourage more foreigners to visit us." Rising incomes abroad, it went on, are making this practical, and of late the influx of foreign visitors to our shores are materially increased. More could and should be done in this promising field.

Then the Journal said, "The new isolationism which seems to be growing in this country can only be harmful in the long run. Americans need to travel abroad as well as at home. We need to learn, each for himself, that our country is not after all the center of the universe, but rather a particularly beautiful and admirable part of a much larger and more complex world. Temporary controls on foreign travel, if they become necessary, will be a sad loss to American education as well (as) to American freedom."

One of the hopes of this jet age is that the vast expansion of world travel it makes possible will lead to a deeper understanding among peoples. We should not allow the balance of payments problem to interfere with that.

LOOK ABROAD

Before Congress imposes a system of government health care on this nation, it should give intense analysis to what similar action has produced elsewhere.

England's socialized health system seems to be approaching chaos. Doctors, plagued by low pay and by intolerable working conditions which often impede care of those seriously ill, has been in near revolt. Some 10,000 family doctors gave notice that they will resign from the National Health Service unless major improvements are made.

A short time ago, eight prominent British doctors, including the Queen's personal physician, charged that most of the government-owned British hospitals are a menace to health, for such reasons as lack of proper ventilation; improper sterilization of instruments; cramped wards; and grave structural defects due to lack of modernization and repair.

In both England and France, the social security systems are in serious financial straits, primarily because of the astronomical costs of providing health services to everyone, regardless of need. It would be folly to say that cannot happen here. The medicare proposal, it is true, applies only to the elderly. But its benefits — which are far more limited than most people know — would be given to all in the age group, whether or not they were able to pay the costs themselves. And it is inevitable that if one group is to be so favored, it will be only a matter of time before political pressures extend it to others.

We can help the needy elderly without imperiling a system of medical care which has no superiors anywhere. An example of a practical way to meet the problem is the eldercare program, under which government would pay all or part of the cost of health insurance policies for the low-income elderly, depending on need, not just age.

WAITING FOR HANDOUTS

What is the ultimate effect of a welfare state on the individual? A striking and unusual little editorial which recently appeared in the Richmond, Virginia, News Leader helps answer that question: "In Mount Rainier National Park, Washington, a ranger cautions visitors against feeding the animals. The ranger explains that deer grow accustomed to visitors' handouts and lose the ability to fend for themselves. Bears, he says, come to believe that free food is their due — and become grouchy and violent if they don't get it. Chipmunks and squirrels congregate where handouts are supplied, and thus upset the balance of nature.

"There is a lesson here for people — and for their governments."

There certainly is — and it's about the most important lesson we can learn. The welfare state is the enemy of individual pride, individual responsibility, individual initiative and individual freedom. It makes for a faceless mass of human statistics, waiting supinely for handouts from their masters.

The Story of SHENANDOAH

EXCEPT for Gettysburg, the bloody battles of the Civil War raged across the fertile, rolling farmlands of the Confederate states. Cannon blasts, musket fire, bayonets, and the ravages of men at war turned whole countryside like the lush and peaceful Shenandoah valley of Virginia into stripped and stricken wastelands.

IN FOUR YEARS of terrible struggle, one million men who wore the Gray or Blue were killed or wounded. But, not all the dead were soldiers. The battlegrounds spilled over into homes and cornfields, enemies met in farmyards or on the road to town, scavengers looted unprotected homes, and women, children and men who had not joined either army fell victim to the war.

PEOPLE uncommitted to either cause, who hoped to stay neutral, soon found that a war fought close at hand had to involve them and their loved ones. The story of such a family is tenderly told in Universal's "Shenandoah". In the film, James Stewart is head of the family caught by circumstance in a war they had tried to ignore.

VACATION TOURIST TRADE PROSPECTS

While tourist travel in the continental United States smashed all records in 1964, even that all time high is likely to be surpassed during the upcoming months when vacationing reaches its peak. This will be of great importance to industry, and to retailing, wholesaling and service trades of practically all types. For there are very few fields that are not affected to some degree — either directly or indirectly — by volume of tourist traffic webbing the country, particularly from early spring to early fall.

Could Top 1964 By 10 to 15 Percent

With national income and family spendable funds at historic heights and still heading persistently upward, it would not be surprising to see over-all tourist spending during 1965 top that of last year by as much as 10-15 percent — a truly impressive advance. One of the most heartening indicators in this direction is the consensus of travel agencies, tour planners such as gasoline companies, and resort establishments that spectacular gains are already visible all along the line.

Helpful also to domestic travel is the Administration's continuing plea for Americans to travel at home instead of abroad in order to help stem the outflow of the dollar. Even though it looks as if our citizens still plan to go in for heavy overseas travel this year, there will be a good number who will heed the Administration's appeal. Perhaps the most significant results here will stem from the number of business groups that have already changed — and others that will change — earlier plans for meetings outside the country to state-side arrangements. Foreign cancellations are showing up more frequently.

New Auto Sales Another Barometer

During the first quarter of 1965, sales of new autos soared to another record for that period. There is no question that more families have at least one new car than ever before in the nation's history, — and there are few things more conducive to stimulation of the travel urge than a brand new, trouble free car just waiting to go. The unending threads of highways are an invitation to far vistas and natural wonders, and the combination of fast, comfortable cars and high speed turnpikes make longer trips more attractive.

Nor should the almost incredible growth of interest in boating over the past few years be ignored. This, too, means a fantastic addition to many facets of vacation business and trade, for both fresh and salt water localities. In the warmer climates, the boating mania prevails the year round, bringing profitable rewards to boat builders, marinas, shore resorts, novelty shops, and boating service establishments of all kinds.

Preparing For Tourist Sales

There will be few areas indeed that will fail to receive some filip from the big upswing in tourist traffic. Those catering to vacationers would do well to increase their inventories by perhaps as much as 10 percent, especially in the case of experienced, well-established operations. There will be healthy gains for motels, hotels, resorts, restaurants, camping sites, entertainment centers, gift shops, roadside stands, service stations, garages, cottage rentals and transportation of many sorts besides automotive.

Trade and service establishments that do not have an adequate staff of skilled employees will lose heavily over coming months to those who prepared more carefully. Attentive and friendly service will reap a rich harvest, since buyer resistance will be encouragingly slight during the most prosperous summer this nation has ever enjoyed.

Foreign Visitors Will Help According to travel authorities, there may be 15 to 20 percent more foreign visitors coming to the United States during the height of the vacation season. This, of course, will add its measure to the tourist boom. Hence businessmen and merchants who are on their toes should easily chalk up the best year ever in terms of tourist trade alone.

"TAIL LEAD"

If you are trout fishing with bait and the bottom is rocky, try this tip to prevent hanging up. Where you tie the leader on to the snell loop leave a two-inch "tail." Now put your BB shot on this tail. If it hangs, BB will pull off saving the hook and bait.

... and God bless Mother

This little one is aware of his mother's tender care, and responds with love. It would be wonderful if all of us showed our love for our Mothers all of the time. Even if we have been a little neglectful, we have an opportunity to go all out this Sunday, and express to her our love and appreciation for her goodness to us. The Bible tells us to "Honour thy Father and thy Mother."

On this special Mother's Day attend church and share in celebrating this time with others.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Safety Shells

If you want to be extra careful about not getting the wrong size shell in a shotgun always buy one color for each gun. Green for 12, red for 20, blue for 16 and so forth. Paint inserting edge of shotgun's chamber the same color. Unless colors match as you load up, something is wrong.

Gunpowder, invented in China early in the 8th century, was not used for blasting in quarries until the 17th century.

Nashville, Tenn
THE PSUEDO-BUSINESSMAN

A newspaper wireservice reports that "twenty-two of Alabama's most influential business groups, possibly indicating a crack in the state's hard-line segregation stand, today called upon the people of Alabama to obey the civil rights law." In the light of recent developments in Alabama, we feel that the business community has an obligation to speak out for what it believes to be right.

And what is it that the business community feels to be "right"? Making a profit. That is almost the only thing most of the business community is interested in. I have had long experiences first hand with the business community. And my contempt for it is colossal. I say this in spite of the fact that I have actively opposed Socialism and promoting free enterprise for 31 years; and in spite of the fact that I have owned my own business for 18 years.

The businessmen who made the above pronouncement are anonymous. That's par for the course. They took their stand through the Chambers of Commerce and various manufacturers associations.

They are petrified at the mere thought that the federal government plans to cut off federal aid and federal loans to all states, communities and individuals who "discriminate." They are frightened sick at the threats throughout the nation to boycott Alabama products.

So, what's new? At the Battle of Little Rock, "Main Street" was the first to capitulate. I was in Oxford, Mississippi the second day after the occupation. The first businessman I approached on the Square was despondent: "Look what this has done to business," he moaned.

Recently I was talking with a clubwoman who declared: "We should go ahead and integrate. Integration is only right, and besides that, it's inevitable. What she really meant was that she thinks it is inevitable, and you should relax and enjoy it. She? She is the Queen of the Country Club. Equality? She doesn't even speak to most of the members. At this particular Club, there is a social system just like cows and chickens have. The "in" group, a thin layer of cream, greet each other with kisses. To the next layer they speak cordially, and so on down to the grunt and stare, and finally the turn of the back.

I replied: "Yes, and the first thing we should integrate is your Country Club." She looked at me in horror. Her Country Club, where she plays golf daily as the country goes down the drain, is not only white, but you have to come from a long line of the most white and most advantaged to belong.

Historically, most of the fatcats always "go along" with those in power. They played ball during the Russian Revolution, they played ball with Hitler, and now they're in Johnson's pocket. They will do anything to stay on top, which is one of the main reasons we're on the verge of a corporate Socialist dictatorship. The same scoundrels who are frantically installing Negro vice presidents (near the windows) to appease the almighty government are selling wheat to Russia to get the almighty dollar—so they can send their children to posh, segregated schools and belong to segregated country clubs and maintain two-inch thick drawing room carpets upon which no black foot will ever be permitted to tread except as a servant.

BLOCKS LINT

If you want to seal a shotgun barrel from lint after oiling, put an empty shell of appropriate size in the breech, then insert a cork in the muzzle.

By Mary Whitman
Gold coins are the most beautiful and respected legacy of our monetary past. Although gold has not circulated as money in the United States since 1933, it continues to serve as the yardstick of monetary values. Gold processed by the U.S. Treasury in the form of bullion is held as a reserve to back up our token or representative money.

Coinage of gold was authorized by this country in 1849 and a total of seven denominations were minted over the next 84 years, says Ken Bressett, numismatic editor at Whitman Publishing Co., Racine, Wis.

These included gold dollars; quarter eagles ($2.50); $3 and $4 coins; half eagles ($5); eagles ($10); and double eagles ($20).

A gold surrender order was issued after price of the metal rose to such a point that it exceeded face value of the coins. Price of gold was then fixed at $35 an ounce, where it has remained ever since.

"As a result, all of our gold coins have three separate values," notes Bressett. "First, the face value, which you would receive if you turned the coin in to a bank; second, the intrinsic gold value, based on $35 an ounce; and third, the numismatic value, which is generally higher than the former two."

While it's technically illegal to own gold coins, collectors are entitled to possess numismatically important pieces.

And the government encourages you to sell them at numismatic value, rather than turning them in to banks. Any gold pieces received by banks must be melted down, which can needlessly destroy coins of great value to collectors.

"Gold coins are generally available through coin dealers and do make an outstanding collection," says Bressett, whose firm is the nation's leading manufacturer of coin collecting supplies.

"But premium value is usually not much higher than face value, because of relatively low demand."

A collection of gold coins is more to be prized for its beauty and historical value than its investment potential, he concludes.

"Canned Heat"

Put a roll of toilet paper in a coffee can. Fill with alcohol or Kerosene. Pour off excess and light. Burns for hours with warm cheerful flame.

That's Some Mouthful!

Once solid foods have been added to your infant's diet, you can begin to combine them for better nutrition and taste variety. Naturally, you should be certain the child has reacted favorably to each before mixing them. For example, if your baby takes lamb, farina and evaporated milk, there would be no question about feeding him Lamb-Farina Delight. In this recipe developed by Carnation Company, a leader in infant feeding, strained lamb is stirred into a mixture of farina and Carnation's evaporated milk.

Recommended for infant feeding by pediatricians, Carnation's evaporated milk is more nutritious and easier to digest than fresh whole milk. As a matter of fact, one world-wide authority on baby and child care suggests keeping your child on evaporated milk long after the bottle has been forgotten. Evaporated milk costs less, too, and unopened cans can be stored indefinitely without refrigeration.

LAMB-FARINA DELIGHT

(Makes 2 servings)

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water
3 tablespoons farina
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
1 jar ($3\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) strained lamb*

Heat undiluted evaporated milk and water to just below a boil. Stir in farina and salt; cook 3 to 5 minutes. Stir in strained lamb and serve.

*Fruit-Farina: Substitute 1 jar ($4\frac{3}{4}$ ounces) strained fruit for strained lamb.

Parents and Loan Associations Launch Program to Help Parents Teach Children Value of Money

One problem for parents in teaching children is teaching them to handle money. Helpful advice for parents of children of all ages is given in a comprehensive booklet, "What You Should Tell Your Child About Money."

The booklet is available at the Savings and Loan Association in Burk Burnett.

It covers a variety of subjects—how large an allowance at what age, how much supervision parents should give children in their spending, how to teach youngsters to save, how parents can handle the ticklish matter of teen agers and money, what to do about clothing allowances, charge accounts, and part-time jobs, and how to handle the problem of extra money.

The booklet also offers guidelines for parents in fostering healthy attitudes in youngsters about money, Mr. Dillard said. Among points the booklet makes:

The way parents talk about money at home and the way they treat articles of value help to shape a child's attitude toward money. This method of learning begins at an earlier age than many parents realize.

The primary purpose of an allowance is to teach a child to live within a fixed income, which most people have to do all of their lives.

Theta Epsilon Sorority to Install Officers Monday, May 10th

Mr. Merchant: YOU LOSE 3 OUT OF 10 Customers Every Year

... AND THIRTY PER CENT OF YOUR BUSINESS GOES WITH THEM. HARD TO BELIEVE, BUT TRUE. IF YOURS IS AN AVERAGE BUSINESS, YOU NORMALLY LOSE APPROXIMATELY THIRTY PER CENT OF YOUR CUSTOMERS EVERY YEAR. IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE IT, LOOK THROUGH LAST YEAR'S ACCOUNTS AND SEE HOW MANY ARE NO LONGER ACTIVE.

Why do you lose them?

Through death, hard feelings, moving to another community or through the efforts of hard-driving competitors . . . a variety of reasons . . . some of them beyond your control.

AT THE SAME TIME THERE IS A NORMAL BUSINESS INCREASE OF ONLY FOUR PER CENT EVERY YEAR. THAT LEAVES YOU FACING A TWENTY-SIX PER CENT HANDICAP EVERY YEAR . . . A HANDICAP YOU MUST OVERCOME IF YOUR BUSINESS IS TO REMAIN HEALTHY AND PROFITABLE.

What to do about it:

The answer lies in better merchandising, better planning and more vigorous promotion of fast selling goods and services.

The Surest Most Profitable Method of Sales Promotion Is Consistent Timely Advertising In Your STAR and NEWS.

Parents shouldn't expect more of a child than he is prepared to handle at his particular stage of development. Stinginess with money is to be avoided just as is the other extreme, recklessness. "What You Should Tell Your Child About Money" is being published as a public service by The Savings and Loan Foundation, Inc., of Washington, D. C.

Anche Grove Met April 28 and Home

anche Groves Circle of Baptist church, met in the home of Mrs. Butts gave the call reading from Rev. Van Deren gave the last meeting, approved. Reports different committees of the mighty working of the Holy Spirit, and of the changes in people's lives as a result of this.

It was eight years after she volunteered for service that she was appointed a missionary in China. She stated that she learned her most valuable lesson after she arrived on the mission field. Her first mission was at Peking, China. The area in which she first began to serve was very hard to reach and she traveled by mule for four days. She was the eighth missionary at this particular station. She immediately began to teach English to students. She also began to learn the Chinese Language which was very difficult and usually takes several years to master, but in only two years of the study of this language, she was asked to take charge of a Chinese boarding school. Such was the power of God in her life. She then studied for three more years.
She says that one of the greatest disappointments she had when she reached China was the desecration of the Sabbath. Instead of worshipping on the Sabbath, they made it a holiday by buying and selling their products. When the mission areas refused to take part in this, the Chinese people were amazed. The students in the school had organized a society which they called the "No God Society". This was indeed a great challenge to the missionaries. Her heart was sick because the people did not know God.

Through the work of the Holy Spirit, she learn of God. She considered herself in the Lord's School and as she taught other people she also learned. She taught that God's grace is sufficient for his servants and that he supplies our every need.
Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mesdames Marie Hinkle, Mae Welborn, Sue Vaughn, Mae Van Deren, Gail Butts, Gerry Burton, Dorothy McCandless, Helen Tisdale, Sue Cantwell, Margaret Parrish, R. P. Thaxton, Frank Parrish.
Cherokees formed the largest and most important Indian tribe east of the Alleghenies.
