AD-TORIAL LA WANDA HENRY

There is a mistaken belief that newspapers run "house ads" simply to fill space. Newspapers advertise their services for exactly the same reason they urge others to do so. Because they believe newspaper advertising is the best possible way to reach customers with their message.

Because newspaper space is NOT free to publishers (any more than any product is free to any merchant), advertising departments must "sell" their publishers an ad idea. And he like all advertisers, wants the most for his advertising dollar!

When you read an ad telling of the services your newspaper offers, it is to tell you, as a customer of that newspaper, you are important!

When you decide to use newspaper space to present your message to your customers, everyone who works for that newspaper starts working for you! Every effort is made to assure your success.

Sharon Wooten is spending this week in Oklahoma City visiting with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Knappenberger.

Methodist Youth Bus Ready And Rolling

Last fall the First Methodist Church purchased a discarded school bus for the MYF, which was in need of much repair and presented quite a challenge to the youth and counselors. Now, after a few months of hard work of repairing, replacing parts, painting and etc., it is something to be proud of. We hope you will take notice of it. It is painted silver-blue with gold letters, the MYF colors.

The youth did as much of the work as possible, such as cleaning it up, painting the seats, helping repair the floor and sanding the outside. The welding, outside painting and mechanical work was done by Page Brown, Clarence Endres, Earl Martin, I. R. Reagan and Bill Kolter. Also, we are especially grateful to the Joe Eastman Auto Repair, Major Russell Mobil Station and Bill Bryant, for their contributions, as they really enabled us to get it fixed up. The youth had work projects to earn the money for the license plates and insurance.

Our next trip will be a weekend retreat to Lake Bridgeport Methodist camp, and later our annual trip to Six Flags.

Seymour will stage its 68th annual Rodeo and Old Settlers Reunion July 15, 16, and 17th. Activities will get under way with a big downtown parade at 4 o'clock on Thursday. Rodeo performances will follow each evening at 8 o'clock.

Old settlers of Baylor County and the area will convene for their annual reunion at the city park in Seymour on Thursday morning, July 15th. Around a thousand are expected to attend. Over eight hundred were fed at last year's affair.

Adrian Parker, Producer and Arena Director for this year's show, promises toughest stock ever and amateur rodeo contestants from a four-state area are expected to participate. Junior events will be another big feature of the rodeo this year as well as the selection of a Rodeo Queen.

Reserve seat tickets for the affair can be obtained through the Seymour Chamber of Commerce, Seymour, Texas.

The aim and goals of the Library board were discussed. Mrs. Marjorie Kauer was appointed to look into the possibility of securing the services of a qualified librarian to serve as a technical advisor to the Board.

It was reported that the Library Fund is off to a good start. Heading the project is property donated by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohner, appraised at $25,000. Other donations are $1,000 donated by the Bohners, $50.00 by the Contemporary Study Club; $30.00 by the Friendly Homemakers Club; $25.00 by the Hardin Home Demonstration Club.

Any interested persons, civic clubs or organizations, who wish to make a donation to this project can do so by contacting any of the board members, depositing a donation to the Burkburnett Library Fund at the 1st Savings and Loan or at the City office.

Mr. Floyd Jackson, who has been working in Snyder, Texas, suffered a blood clot in the chest Monday and was admitted to the Snyder Hospital. It is reported that he is doing nicely at the present time and will be hospitalized approximately three weeks.

Methodist Youth Activity Week Held July 4 Thru 10th

The First Methodist Youth Activity Week was held July 4-10th, under the direction of Rev. Bill Kolter, with assistance from counselors, Mr. and Mrs. Page Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith, Earl Martin and Mrs. Kolter.

The youth met at the church several mornings to do projects around the church and to deliver Revival literature. Each evening began with a snack-supper, prepared by the Adult Sunday School classes; after the workshop and program, which presented several out of town guests, there was a different activity each evening, such as skating, volleyball, with the Scotland Methodist church, swimming, a picnic-hayride, an all day trip by bus to "Wedgewood Park" in Oklahoma City, and winding up the week Saturday evening at the City-wide Youth Rally.

It was a most successful week, with over fifty attending each evening.

WHY HANDICAP HIM?

TO CREATE JOBS

The need for concerted action to create long-term job opportunities for American youths is vital to national well-being.

However, positive measures to create more jobs for the unskilled, particularly those just entering the work force, could be jeopardized by the wage and hour proposals being considered by Congress.

For instance, increasing the penalty rate for overtime work would not result in any spread of job opportunities, but instead would inflate prices and increase competitive difficulties of domestic firms in international trade.

The proposals for an increase in the statutory minimum wage; a shorter work-week and extension of the Fair Labor Standards Act would not only impede economic growth but would erect higher barriers to the creation of employment opportunities for young and unskilled workers.

W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers made good sense in testifying before the House Labor subcommittee, it seems to us, when he said:

"These proposals are defeatist and not in the interest of a growing America. Emphasis should be placed on the creation of jobs, rather than on rationing them. We should encourage employers to grow and thus create more jobs, by providing a good economic and competitive climate."

THE CORRECTIVE

Washington reporters are saying that the vote on repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits the states, if they so choose, to pass Right-to-Work laws, is apt to be extremely close and could go one way or the other.

Just why this should be so is a puzzle. Right-to-work doesn't discriminate in any shape, manner or form against labor or the unions. It simply gives each worker the right to choose — to decide for himself, without fear of union or employer coercion, whether he wants to belong to a union or doesn't. If that isn't a fundamental right essential in any free society, what is?

The compulsory union shop makes for labor monopolies comparable to the financial and industrial monopolies that were outlawed long ago. And the compulsory union shop leaves the way wide open for exploitation of the membership—the worker must join or become jobless and is without power to fight abuses. Right-to-Work is the corrective.

The United States increased its proved reserves of crude oil and natural gas liquids by 93 million barrels during 1964.

ROGER W. BABSON

AUTOS HASTENING CITIES OF THE FUTURE

We are heading for swift changes in our cities and their immediate suburbs as a result of the traffic explosion. Already most urban centers — particularly those that overflow into one another, such as all along the Atlantic Coast, — are swamped by highway and parking problems that are becoming more desperate every day. Fortunately — with the population skyrocketing, and per capita auto ownership along with it — solutions are closer than most of us realize.

More Highways Not Enough Of An Answer

Our huge highway programs, both federal and state, are fine for the long haul, but they are no answer to the in-city dilemma. That requires imagination, ingenuity, and an entirely new concept of transportation planning. Those who take the long view have been trying for some years to alert government officials, city planners, and the apathetic public to the need for taking realistic steps to keep the auto invasion from choking the life out of downtown areas. Now at long last more than one metropolis has planners and engineers at work plotting the inevitable city of the future.

That city will, of necessity rely more and more upon rapid public transit — requiring the rehabilitation of feasible railroad and trolley systems once thought obsolete and the construction of new very fast moving conveyances, both between city centers and into them from the key suburbs. Monorail transport, already tried out in a few places in this country and even more ambitiously in Japan, is in the cards for a number of jam-packed localities. It is no longer a question of whether we can afford it; it's a matter of simply having to do such things to save our cities from traffic "death."

Outer-Ring Highways Will Connect

In the years not too far away, our modernized cities will have strict regulation on traffic movement, especially in busy commercial cores. There will be convenient highways looping around the urban limits, connecting with strategically placed rapid transit terminals with spacious parking facilities. From these terminals passengers will be whisked downtown to, or very close to, their destinations. Even in heavily populated suburbs there will be increasingly drastic restrictions. While it may sound like a fantasy right now, there will be wide reliance in restricted areas upon tiny motor-or-electric-driven carts and buses, as well as upon more conventional shopping scooters and bicycles. Heavy auto traffic will be prevented from funneling off cross city highways and turnpikes into urban and suburban streets which simply cannot handle the input.

Plazas And Malls Will Flourish

City centers will be enhanced by plazas—such as those already successfully established in Rochester, N. Y. and Fresno, Calif.—which will be easily reached by transit lines coming in from the outer loop highways. Access will be available in these attractive, heated, and or air conditioned plazas to the finest department stores, restaurants, offices, museums, and entertainment centers. As new plans are blocked out in more and more cities, business men, bankers architects, and designers should take full advantage of the opportunities offered by these emerging cities of the future. Businesses dependent on auto traffic alone should be sure that they are not left holding the bag in a locality destined to become nearly — or even maybe entirely — devoid of the auto traffic that once filled their crowded streets.

Are Summer Bugs Bugging You?

Identified below are eight major insects that infest home gardens in summer and the suggested Spectracide method of control.

 APHIDS. Also called plant lice. Soft-bodied, many colors, under 1/8 in. long. Infest all garden plants, feed by sucking plant juices. Some transmit plant diseases. Spray entire plant.	 BERMUDA MITES. Need magnification to be seen. New pest of Southern lawns. Suck sap from grass causing wilting and stunting. Spray complete lawn regularly.	 ARMYWORMS. Great hordes can appear suddenly. Attack vegetables, lawns and flowers. About 1 1/2 in. long. Spray with Spectracide at first sign.	 BILLBUGS. Grubs of Snout Beetle. Feed on roots and crowns of grass plants. Brown or black, 1/4 to 1/2 in. long. Spray with liquid or spread granular insect control.
 LAWN CHINCH BUGS. Evident by yellowish spots in lawn that turn brown and die. Several species in U.S. About 1/8 in. long. Suck plant juices. Use spray or granular Spectracide.	 LAWN MOTHS (Sod Webworms). Cause irregular brown, dry spots in lawn. Night feeders, they are 1/2 in. long caterpillars. Usually found in silken webs. Adults are small whitish-gray moths. Spray complete lawn.	 LEAF HOPPERS. Many species, green, yellow or brown. Rarely over 1/2 in. long. Attack all garden plants, some transmit diseases. Spray every seven days with Spectracide.	 LEAF ROLLERS. Green caterpillars up to 1/2 in. long. Feeds inside rolled leaves. Found on fruit trees and garden plants. Adult moths 1 in. wide. Spray to wet inside rolled leaf.

For control, it is recommended that a regular spraying program be established — once every ten days to two weeks. Spectracide® lawn and garden insect control will keep all these insects in check. When spraying, wet the entire plant with properly mixed Spectracide — spray both sides of leaves, stems and flower stalks. More frequent spraying may be necessary in wet or hot weather. In extremely hot weather, spray only in morning or late afternoons.

22nd Birthday Being Observed By Sheppard Training Center

Air Training Command, of which Sheppard Technical Training Center is an integral part, quietly observed its 22nd birthday anniversary July 7th. Born during the troubled years of World War II the fledgling command was given the basic mission to train men to fly and maintain aircraft for the world's mightiest air force.

Since then, approximately 10 million men have passed through the classrooms of the command, which has become the world's largest schooling system.

The Army Air Forces Training Command (AAFTRC) was originated in Fort Worth, Texas on July 7, 1943. In January 1946, the command headquarters moved from Fort Worth to Barksdale AFB, La. Three years later the headquarters moved to Scott AFB, Ill., where it remained until 1957 when it moved to Randolph AFB, Texas.

In July 1946, Air Training Command replaced the three-year old title of Army Air Force Training Command.

In 1943, basic pilot trainees flew the T-6 propeller drive aircraft with speeds up to 150 mph. Today undergraduate students pilot train in the supersonic T-38 which attains speeds of 850 mph.

If one person were to attend every course offered by ATC today, it would take him nearly 380,000 hours, or 244 years, to graduate. At present it costs $80,000 to train one Air Force jet qualified pilot at any one of eight pilot training bases.

Each year, more than 100,000 specialists graduate from one of 2,000 technical training courses available. During 1964, for example, to meet the challenge of the ever present Cold War, ATC graduated 1,790 pilots, 1,000 navigators and more than 100,000 specialists. In addition, 187 mobile and field training units provided technical training for more than 300,000 Air Force personnel at their stations throughout the free world. To do the job, ATC maintains 18 training bases to support the skills of 11,500 technical training instructors.

It costs $10,000 to train one Air Force electronics technician with some courses lasting up to 53 weeks.

With basic, technical, on the job, and advanced technical training, it would be possible for an airman to spend three years of his initial four year enlistment in training for his future duties.

The impact of the space age has been great in ATC. Ten years ago the first intercontinental ballistic missile was developed. Today, ATC is training missilemen in 485 courses of the 12 major missile systems.

More than 85,000 missilemen have been graduated from ATC missile schools. These schools taught men to maintain and operate the Atlas and Titan I before those weapon systems were phased out of the inventory, and now each man in the operation and maintenance of Titan II and Minuteman Missiles.

The years ahead promise even greater advancements for ATC — especially with space travel on the horizon. But whatever the requirements may be, ATC will be there to "Prepare the Man."

"Born in the purple," meaning royal birth, is derived from the fact that the room in the Roman Imperial palace where the empress was confined was lined with purple imperial porphyry.

TIPS FOR TOURISTS

How to Treat Feet

If you're bound for far-off places, the home folks may wish they were in your shoes. But how will you like being in your shoes — after days or weeks of trotting around to see the sights?

Protect your "basic transportation" — by heeding these foot-saving pointers from experienced tourists:

1. Take only shoes of proven comfort — leave home the new pair that needs "breaking in." You may break first!
2. Take along enough shoes to permit several changes. Don't wear the same pair two days in succession. In hot weather, many people find comfort in changing shoes two or three times a day.
3. Favor leather shoes over synthetic materials. Leather has pores which "breathe" and let moisture evaporate — important in guarding against athlete's foot.
4. Be sure socks and stockings as well as shoes fit properly — tight hose not only cramps the feet, but interferes with ventilation. If your feet perspire excessively, you may be helped by wearing cotton socks.

5. If you suffer from athlete's foot, see your doctor before you leave. He can prescribe a new fungicide, Tinactin, found to cure 75-80% of clinically tested cases. Taken along and used at the first flare-up of athlete's foot, Tinactin can help make your trip more pleasant.

6. At day's end, soak tired tootsies in a warm foot bath. But don't forget to dry feet thoroughly!

7. Limber tired feet by wiggling your toes. Each night, try this 5-minute exercise: sit in a chair with shoes off, extend legs, move feet up and down as far as they'll go.

New from New York

"This is the year of the curly, small head," according to New York hairstylist Julius Caruso. Mr. Caruso, who is also style consultant for Lilt Home Permanents, likes to describe the look as "hair rushing toward the eyes from two angles—from the top and from the sides."

The curliness is a tousled effect that springs from a puffed fullness at the crown and back of the head. Hair is swirled into loose, moving curls and waves and then falls into a short, "snuggle" finish at the nape of the neck.

The formula for one of these new, feminine hairstyles is very simple, according to Mr. Caruso, even for the "do-it-yourself" woman. What's needed is 1) a good cut, 2) a permanent for body and manageability, 3) a neat roller setting, and 4) thorough brushing.

For professional results at home, the addition of a new roller method to Push Button Lilt's home wave makes permanenting as easy as setting your hair. Added to that, the new sponge end papers included with the Lilt permanent assure you of easy winding and a neat, professional set.

Keep Your Summer Tan from Fading

Women who tan easily, usually love wearing the sun on their skins. If not taken to extremes, to the point where it seems leathery rather than gilded, the golden look of a sun-touched skin is youthfully attractive... especially when it contrasts with light-colored summer clothes.

If getting a tan doesn't present a problem — holding on to it often does. When sunbathing is limited to weekends at the beach, or has to be condensed into a two-week vacation period, you won't want to witness its fading—you'd like to keep it as long as you can. Don't worry about it. There is something you can do to hold the golden tones in your skin, even if your sunbaths are few and far between.

This year, you can count on Pond's new improved Dry Skin Cream to help prevent your tan from fading and flaking. The cream is as rich as it always was, but now has a new lightness of texture and deeper penetration that leaves your skin feeling freshly moisturized, almost "bathed." Smooth it into your face, shoulders, arms and legs when you come in from the sun... and your tan will stay freshly sun-toned, glowingly golden much longer than it ever did before.

When you think of it... it's fun to be a woman in this day and age. Every year we're presented with something new and something better. And this summer, you can count on a tan that lasts and lasts and lasts.

From Colonial Days to Modern Times, Volunteer Citizen-Soldiers Have Been Defense Backbone

Someone once said, in reply to the question "What is a National Guardsman?" that the National Guard volunteer soldier was "a civilian some of the time, a soldier part of the time, and a patriot all of the time." This describes a system which goes back to earliest colonial days, when the very first Guardsmen were members of volunteer militia bands formed to patrol the trails around the settlements in the early and middle 1600's.

The National Guard is the nation's oldest military organization, older than the country itself, with some units that can trace their history clear back to 1636. Today's modern Army Guard stems directly from the militia system of yesteryear. The first President was a Guardsman. George Washington, at 22, commanded a Virginia militia regiment in the French and Indian War, personally exemplifying the creed he would express in later years, that "every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government owes not only a portion of his property but even of his personal services to the defense of it."

Sam Houston is remembered chiefly as the architect of Texas independence. Less known is that, following War of 1812 service under General Andrew Jackson, he became the Adjutant General of Tennessee. He was Tennessee's No. 1 soldier from 1818 until 1823, when he entered the United States Congress.

In the Mexican War, a cry rang out above the din of battle on a fateful day at Buena Vista—"Stand Fast Mississippians!" This was the beginning of the legend of the famed Mississippi Rifles whose commander was—Colonel Jeff Davis.

The name "National Guard" was first applied to a state militia organization on August 16, 1824, when New York's famous Seventh Regiment, acting as honor guard for the Marquis de Lafayette during his visit to this country, adopted the name in tribute to his service to this country during the Revolution and in honor of his command of the Garde Nationale in Paris in 1789. By 1896, most states had adopted this title.

The National Guard has served in every war fought by the United States, and the caliber of service was summed up by the German High Command just after World War I, when six of the eight U.S. divisions they rated excellent or superior were National Guard divisions.

During World War II the National Guard put more than 300,000 men into service, nearly doubling the size of the U.S. Army. They entered active duty in the form of 18 infantry divisions and many non-divisional units, including air observation squadrons. It has been estimated that nearly 82,000 Guardsmen won commissions during this war, either through officer candidate schools or on the battlefields. National Guard units participated in seven assault landings and 34 separate campaigns, and were awarded over 150 Presidential citations. National Guard divisions suffered nearly 200,000 casualties, and over 25 individuals who entered as Guardsmen earned the Medal of Honor, for valor.

Again, during the Korean emergency, the Guard responded to the country's call by supplying 183,000 men in eight infantry divisions, 22 air wings and many other units. Of these, two divisions and two wings and many individual Guardsmen saw action in Korea. The National Guard was called upon, since Korea, to reinforce the U.S. position during the Berlin crisis of 1961.

Ground Crew Care the R Factor for Army Aircraft

Weekend training, in many States replacing the traditional drill night, is helping to build the effectiveness of the Army Aviation arm of the Army National Guard. At the present time there are nearly 1,000 aircraft—both fixed-wing and helicopters—assigned to a variety of different Army Guard units. Army Guard aviators must become skilled at landings and take-offs from unimproved airstrips which are a far cry from paved runways found at most airfields. A skilled mechanic making an adjustment on propeller of an O-1A "Bird Dog" is a member of an Aviation Battalion getting valuable weekend training at a strip which closely resembles the sort of terrain Army Guard birdmen would be likely to encounter in actual operations.

Guardsmen Raft Bread over Troubled Waters

Engineer troops use skills learned as Army Guardsmen to ferry needed food supplies across a swollen river in coming to the aid of a flood-stricken community. This particular incident was recorded during floods which engulfed far western states in 1964, but is a scene which has been enacted, in one form or another, in every State in the United States, where the National Guard has long been the only trained and equipped military force available to the Governor in time of civil disaster. Army Guard engineers, familiar with problems of transporting tanks, artillery and giant tractors over water obstacles, found this large transport van no problem.

Miss Peggy Groat Honored With Tea

One of the loveliest parties of the summer was the introductory Tea given in honor of Miss Peggy Groat, bride-elect of Allen Neal, by Mrs. E. L. Groat and Miss Sandra Akridga, both of Wichita Falls served punch, cake and dainties from a beautiful refreshment table. Miss Groat's chosen colors of blue and white were carried out in the lovely blue table cover with arrangement of Shasta daisies and Carnations interspersed with tiny wedding bells. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Clay Neal and Mrs. C. R. Neal of Wichita Falls, who were aunts of Allens. Approximately 100 were on the guest list. The Neal-Groat's wedding is scheduled Aug. 6th in the First Methodist Church of this city.

Communist Spying Methods

CONSIDERABLE insight into Communist activity in our country has been gained through the recent court action against Robert Glenn Thompson, a former American Air Force enlisted man who has pleaded guilty on charges of spying for the Soviet Union. Once the Communists found that he was willing to cooperate with them, they pursued him and pressed him for more and more information. The Communists wanted Thompson to provide information about water supply systems on Long Island, gas lines between New York and Long Island, and power plants and gas storage tanks in the same area.

Why are the Communists interested in such information as this? There can be no other reason than that they are planning for some future day when they hope to take over this country. The destruction of such installations would paralyze great communities, and throw large segments of our population into a state of chaos.

It must not be forgotten that the Communists are the world's greatest revolutionary strategists. They have developed a revolutionary science detailing the most effective methods of taking over a country. All of their methods have been tried, tested, and proven in many parts of the world and under all circumstances. A small number of highly trained guerrilla specialists can plant bombs in just the right places and bring about such a state of chaos that military forces many times their size are rendered almost helpless.

The disclosures of former spy Robert Thompson, who later recanted and regretted his association with the Soviet spy system, should awaken Americans to the fact that we have a dangerous and desperate enemy in our midst. Americans who are exerting their influence to oppose anti-Communist organizations and educational activities should take due notice of the experience of Robert Thompson and the shocking facts which he has revealed. Those who love our country and desire to preserve our way of life should lend a hand to every worthy effort seeking to expose the nature and philosophy of Communism and all of its evil strategy for subverting and eventually taking over our country.

Hit the Dirt—Hometown Style

Army National Guard automatic rifleman drops into firing position in a combat attack exercise made available to Army Guard units by local and State authorities across the nation has played an important part in the development of the Guard's increased readiness status. Through weekend training, which in many States is taking the place of traditional Armory drill nights, Army Guard units get outdoors into areas where there is the elbow room soldiers need in order to accomplish realistic training. Guard and Active Army leaders believe that units which have emphasized outdoor weekend training through the year, will be ready for more advanced training—even participating in Army Maneuvers—during Annual Field Training.

Before Dust Settles, Infantry Attacks

An attack against an "enemy objective" is launched by tough Army National Guard infantry troops in a highly realistic weekend training exercise. Many Army Guard units will be ready to undergo more demanding Army activity during Annual Field Training, because this practical experience, in place of traditional drill nights, has materially stepped up unit readiness. Guard units get help in State and local communities in obtaining the use of land for training sites to provide troops elbow room needed to practice platoon and company level tactics.

A "rainy day" box belongs in every home.

Any cardboard carton or lidded box will do. You can decorate it for cheerful appearance by covering it with plain paper and letting the children draw raindrops and umbrellas with crayons. Or use gift paper of the type suitable for showers.

Into a rainy-day box go all kinds of objects a child can play with — buttons, paper cups, toothpicks, colored string, straws, cardboard tubes, cereal boxes, empty spools. Most are household items.

And a reminder to parents is passed on by the editors of Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wisconsin. The counters of variety stores also have assorted fun boxes, sewing cards, paper doll books, crayons, magic slates, colored pencils, make believe money and other play materials that are handy in a rainy-day collection.

The box gets taken down from the closet shelf when it rains. It provides dozens of projects for the youngsters. Some children will think up their own ideas. Others need help.

Making games is a popular pastime. A bean bag can be made by making a pocket of leftover fabric, filling it with dried beans or macaroni or rice, then sewing the top. Holes can be cut out of a large piece of cardboard, with each opening then marked with a score for throwing. The children take turns pitching the bean bag for a winning score of 100.

Round cereal boxes can be turned into doll cradles for girls. Or the boys can make a toy telephone by attaching a wire between two boxes.

A flotilla of bathtub boats can be made out of floating soap.

A game of "store" can be played with canned goods, play money, and crayoned signs.

Paper cups can hold a bouquet of bright flowers drawn in crayon and mounted on paper straws.

All these projects keep dispositions sunny — even when the weather isn't.

Round 40 percent of the volume of timber harvester in the state is pulpwood, including chip residues from sawmills, reports the Texas Forest Service.

Donald R. Redman Named Soldier Of Month In Germany

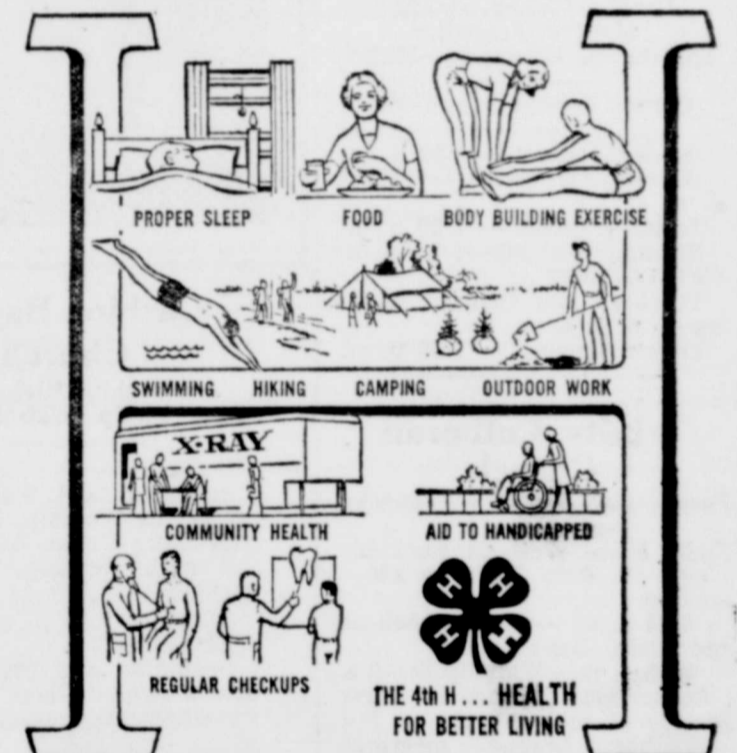

Army Specialist Four Donald R. Redman, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Redman, 522 N. Ave E. Burkburnett, was named soldier of the month for the 287th Military Police Company in Germany, June 25th.

An operations clerk in the company, Specialist Redman was selected for his soldierly appearance, knowledge and performance of duties and military courtesy.

The 1958 Burkburnett High School graduate entered the Army in August 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Polk, La., before arriving overseas the following December.

4-H Youths Keep Fit

When boys and girls club work first started in the early 1900's, the emblem was a 3-H clover symbolizing Head, Heart, Hands. Around 1911 the 4th H was added to represent Health. Ever since, both here and in about 75 other countries, this emblem has represented the equal training of "head, heart, hands and health for better living."

Health projects have grown over the years in knowledge, activities and membership, says the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H programs. And keeping fit is one important segment of the national 4-H Health program which today enrolls some 677,000 boys and girls.

It is easy to keep in good shape during summer months through sports, games, hikes, camping and outdoor work. But, cautions the 4-H Health bulletin, there is more to maintaining good health than strenuous exercise.

This recent publication points out the need for three nutritious meals a day, plenty of sleep, periodic physical checkups and a sensible balance of work and play. It also urges 4-H Club members to look for ways to improve family and community health.

Individual members and clubs can win awards for doing an outstanding job. Winners are selected by the Extension Service. Award donor and sponsor of the 4-H Health program for the last 10 years is Eli Lilly and Company.

The boy or girl judged best in the state will be a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago next fall, and will compete for one of six $500 scholarships. In the county, the best four club projects will be recognized with a certificate and medals will be presented to as many as four top individuals.

Likeness

The artist is capturing the physical likeness of this lovely girl on her paper. The likeness is amazing. But her inward beauty, her wonderful Christian heart and soul, can only be captured fully on God's canvas. The Bible says that "Man looketh on the outward appearance but God looketh on the heart."

How would God's painting picture you and me?

One good way to improve your heart condition is to attend church and hear God's word proclaimed from the pulpit. Learn God's plan for your life by listening to His word. We invite you to attend the church of your choice this week.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
 THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mobile Traveling Tourists Spent $524,739,000 To Tex.

Tourists traveling by automobile entered Texas last year in any prior year in the state's history. The 1964 automobile visitor survey added the total of $524,739,000 to the state's economy. This was enough to rank the state high on the industry's most important items of revenue.

attractions and providing information and descriptive literature to prospective visitors. Last year the Department serviced 704,000 inquiries for the traveling public. Eight Travel Information Bureaus are operated by the Department at key point of entry locations and in the rotunda of the State Capitol in Austin. These information centers played host to 492,000 visitors last year, of which 225,000 were from out-of-state and 267,000 were Texas residents. The hospitality centers provided visitors with current travel information, descriptive literature on points of interest, State Highway maps, information on scenic and historical attractions, special events and state parks. Current road condition information is also made available to the highway traveler at the centers. During 1964 the Texas Highway Department received via mail and filled 212,000 requests for all types of information about the State. Some 18,000 of this total were coupons received by the Texas Tourist Development Agency as a result of its media advertising program. Data covering out of state automobile travel to Texas in 1964 were collected and analyzed by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department. The sample included nearly 10,000 Texas

Only 8.2 percent of the total comments were derogatory in nature. An estimated 37 percent were visiting Texas for the first time. Over 52 percent of the total visitors to Texas last year were here for vacations. Some 30 percent were visiting family and friends and 18 percent came to Texas for business reasons. Motels were a heavy favorite for overnight accommodations with 58 percent selecting these roadside facilities. Of the remainder, 20 percent were housed in private homes, 7 percent stayed in hotels, 7 percent camped out and 6 percent had their own trailer accommodations. Two percent of those polled reported no preference. Businesses catering to the basic needs of the traveler are the first to feel the impact of the tourist dollar. However, every segment of the Texas economy benefits as this income spreads throughout the state in a demand for services, supplies and labor. A recent study of the Texas visitors expenditures indicated the travel dollar is spent as follows: Automobile, 30c; Food and refreshments, 27c; Lodging, 24c; Clothing, 9c; Souvenirs, post cards, etc, 4c; Entertainment, 3c; Drugs, 1c; Other expenses, 2c. Last year tourists from all 49 states came to Texas. Distant California was first in total numbers with 1,786,000. Neighboring Louisiana was a close second with 1,740,000. Oklahoma was third with 776,000. Florida was fourth with 647,000. Department studies indicated the vast majority of Texas visitors traveled by automobile. This agrees with the American Automobile Association findings that nationally 90 percent travel by private conveyance. To bring the "big picture" of the Texas Visitor Industry into better focus the Texas Highway Department has included a commercial carriers section in the 1964 report. The Texas Tourist Council, which is headquartered in Austin, undertook this phase of the study. It polled the various commercial carriers in an effort to obtain information upon which an estimate could be based that would reflect the approximate number of visitors who came by airlines, buses and railroads. Its poll indicated that some 2,461,000 persons used commercial transportation and this group added $154,771,000 to the automobile total. The Council reports that interstate airlines played the most important role of the commercial carriers. During 1964 they brought to Texas 1,770,000 out of state travelers who remained an average of four days and spent $17.50 per day. Another 691,000 visitors came to Texas by bus and railroad. According to the Council's figures their average stay and rate of expenditures were approximately the same as that of the automobile tourist. In addition, many visitors came to Texas via private craft and commercial ships. This group could not be included in the report since estimates were not available.
