CITY WATER DEPARTMENT

Dear Customers: In a Regular Meeting of the City Commissioners of the City of Burk Burnett of April 28, 1958, a decision was made by the Council to require all delinquent utility bills to be paid in the following manner:

"Pay the current bills when they become due, by the tenth of each month and to pay at least one-third of their delinquent account at the same time. Services to be discontinued at any time the current bill and at least one-third of the delinquent is not paid"

This policy by Council action has not been rescinded and the present Board of Commissioners are of the opinion that this is a very necessary policy in order to maintain collections to operate the utility service and to make the necessary improvements in our city's water supply.

A $2.00 service charge is made when it becomes necessary to disconnect and re-connect the service. The City Council and the City Manager ask your cooperation in eliminating the need of this policy enforcement.

Winston Freeman Displays Antique Auto At The Burk Burnett Bank

Winston Freeman recently returned from Charlotte, North Carolina with a 1931 Ford town sedan in tow.

He had seen the anti automobile on a previous visit and was so impressed by the excellent condition to which it had been restored that he began negotiations to buy it.

Restored to original condition from the frame up, the car is lardardy blue with black top and fenders. Fourteen coats of hand rubbed lacquer finish have been applied to the exterior.

Original upholstery has been duplicated and among other features inside the car are let-down arm rests.

The showroom of The Burk Burnett Bank is the temporary home for this car and everyone is invited to inspect it while it is on display.

Registration For High School.

THE SEARCH CONTINUES

The search for oil has always been a risky, long-shot undertaking, in which the odds against the driller are heavy. And nowadays the risks are greater than ever.

For one thing, wells must be sunk deeper and deeper to find untapped new resources far below the level of the earth. Wage and equipment costs have risen steadily, and in offshore drilling, which holds out hopes for finding vast new quantities of oil, costs are astronomical.

To take just one example, drillers are at work searching for oil off the rugged Oregon coast. The heart of the search is a $5 million barge. This costs the company $17,000 a day, regardless of the amount of drilling that is accomplished. In rough weather, when work must stop, the cost is still $15,000. A newspaper interview quotes the head geologist on the scene as saying that there is only one chance in nine of finding any oil at all, one in 18 of finding it in commercial quantities, and one in 50 or more that a really big new field will be discovered.

But, long as the odds are, the search continues in the far-flung corners of this vast nation and the world. It continues because the risk-takers see the chance of making a good profit when and if Lady Luck smiles and a strike is made. That chance exists because the tax laws wisely and necessarily recognize the great and special financial hazards that are in inescapable part of the driller's world. Without that recognition, the outlook, so far as the meeting of our almost insatiable demand for oil products is concerned, would be bleak.

OF NATIONAL CONCERN

The drive to further extend the hand of the federal government in producing and distributing electric power, at the expense of all the taxpayers of the nation, takes various forms. But one thing is always true — it never ends.

Take for instance, a current example.

The Bonneville Power Administration is again asking Congress to appropriate funds to start a transmission line running from a federal dam in Oregon into southern Idaho. This request has been refused by Congress in the past. And the reason for that is that there is absolutely no need for the line, and that it would be a gratuitous waste of the taxpayers' money. Since 1959, there has been a contract with the Idaho Power Company under which it wheels energy to federal customers in the area concerned.

Should Bonneville now get its way, that contract, which does not expire until 1976, would be repudiated. The company, incidentally, has offered to extend it to 1985.

Moreover, there can be no question of the contract's fairness and worth. It was the subject of special congressional scrutiny. A Senate committee not only approved its terms and the rates charged for wheeling, but highly complimented both the power company and the Interior Department for negotiating an agreement so evidently in the public interest.

The issue here is of national concern as a matter of principle. The question is whether more of the taxpayers' millions should be spent on a line which would duplicate the facilities of heavily-taxed investor-owned enterprise — and, on top of that, whether a contract is worth the paper it is written on.

HANDS OFF

Judging by the increasing rate of juvenile delinquency too many parents are leaving to the schools or the police departments the job of training their children in concepts of right and wrong. Thus parents are delinquent before their children are.

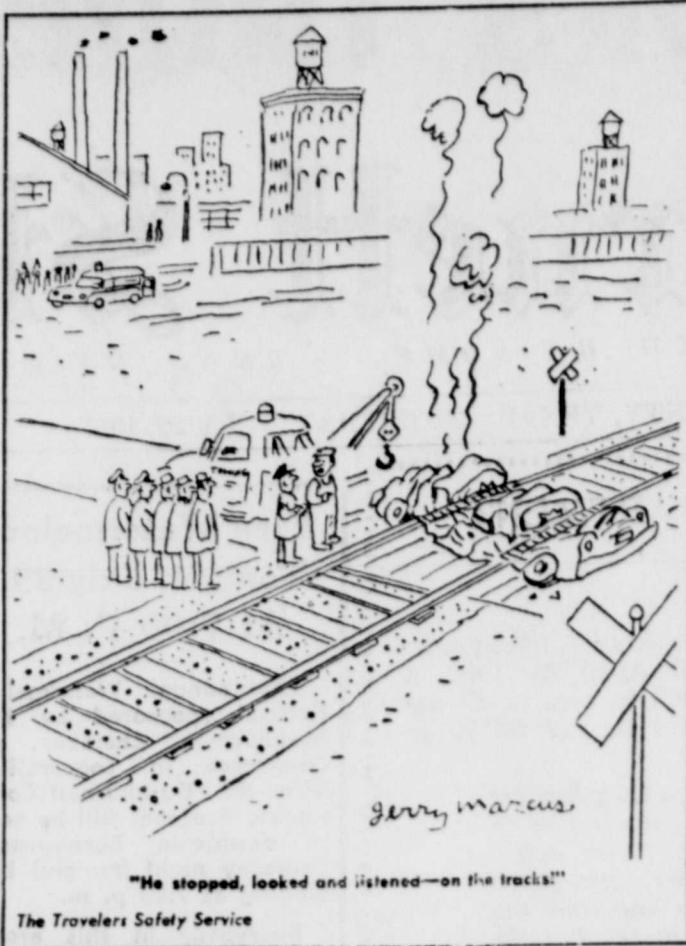

It is now being proposed that courses in ethics or rules of behavior be added to the curriculum of American high schools. That would be a good thing.

But before that, every child at home and in grade schools and high schools should be impressed over and over with one simple rule, namely, "Keep your hands off other people and other people's property."

If this simple rule were followed through life, the record of crimes we see in the papers each day would be practically non-existent.

Next to the parent, the schools should drill this rule into the head of every student, not just occasionally, but every day when classes open. Examples taken from the daily news could be used to show how following that simple rule would save inestimable suffering and grief for juveniles and families.

VIETNAM AND THE DRAFT OUTLOOK

Millions of young men are wondering what the continuing escalation of war in South Vietnam is going to mean to them personally—what is the likelihood that they may be drafted. So are their parents, relatives and friends, and—in many instances — their employers. Hence, we indicate for our readers the probabilities as well as they can be weighed at this point of crisis in Southeast Asia.

No Early End Of Commitment In Sight

U. S. forces are now actively involved in the fighting — in addition to their earlier role as trainers and consultants — and there will be steady build-up of both material and manpower in Vietnam for an indefinite period. Almost certainly there will be no slowdown in our shipment of troops for at least several months — even if unexpected progress should be made toward a negotiated truce and a potential cease-fire. Readers can be sure of one thing: President Johnson does not want to settle for anything short of complete independence and freedom for South Vietnam like that achieved in South Korea.

While there are reported to be about 75,000 of our men in Vietnam at this time, more will be needed. The Pentagon has implied that as many as 250,000 men could be sent to Southeast Asia without our having to increase our over-all armed forces strength of 2.6 million. But the government knows well that further escalation in Vietnam could prompt the Communist world strategists to complicate matters. They could rekindle trouble in Korea; and they could inflame any number of festering sores in Africa, Malaysia, Cuba and Central and South America.

Draft 'Take' Will Climb

So it is wisest for all concerned to prepare for the worst and count on heavier draft calls for some time to come. Up to now, the military has expressed no intention of drafting married men. Nor is there any expectation that student deferments will be revoked; boys already in college can still hope to complete their education and get their degrees. Little has yet been said officially about business deferments; but if we should go on any sort of emergency basis, the pattern of World War II would probably be followed. This would mean by-passing those younger industrial workers considered essential to the war effort and not easily replaceable by older men. Specialists in the space program would surely be added to the list for deferment.

All inducted men are put through a regular basic and advanced training program of 12 weeks, at minimum, before they can be sent overseas. Until the U. S. forces in South Vietnam extended their efforts recently from the advisory field to open combat, relatively few draftees were sent over because they lacked experience and special teaching skills. However, draftees rate no separate consideration; they may be sent to Vietnam after what the Pentagon considers thorough preparation. So it is likely that their number will henceforth edge upward proportionately, especially if the war intensifies.

Over Half The Men 19 to 26 Will Serve

The U. S. Department of Defense reports that 58 percent of the nation's youths either are serving—or have served—by the time they reach 27, the age when eligibility ceases. About 30 percent fail to meet physical, mental, or moral requirements. The remainder are deferred in accordance with basic draft-board regulations. The military would prefer a system that would give them the younger men first instead of the older. Certainly, some changes may be made along these lines if manpower needs have to be increased substantially.

In summary: Young men today face more than a 50-50 chance of military service, as either draftees, volunteers, or reservists. Even if there should be a distinct improvement in the international situation, this is undoubtedly the way things will be for some months to come. Personal and business plans should therefore be lined up accordingly.

NEW FALL FASHIONS ARRIVING DAILY
OUR WINDOW THIS WEEK FEATURES
JONATHAN LOGAN FALL FASHIONS

From The Office Of SENATOR JOHN G. TOWER (R-TEXAS)

The Congress has been busily engaged this past week with bills concerning our military servicemen and the nations defense forces. I long have believed new initiatives were needed in this field, and the past week has been a most beneficial one as the nation faces up to the tense international situation.

The House of Representatives has passed 410 to nothing a military raise bill giving our servicemen an average 10 percent increase. I regard this as a vitally important bill, and the Senate Armed Services Committee, upon which I serve, will proceed quickly to its consideration.

The Defense Secretary has asked that the military pay increase be limited to only one-half as much as the House of Representatives thought necessary. But, I feel an increase in the area of 10 percent is vital if the Armed Services are to retain the skilled technicians they need today.

I will be doing all I can to obtain Senate approval of a meaningful military pay raise, so that we no longer will be faced with the stigma of seeing military families need public welfare funds and of having servicemen "moonlighting" in second jobs so as to make financial ends meet.

The defense of our nation is a full time job. It demands full time attention, and it must provide full time pay.

As matters now stand, untrained youths who enter the anti-poverty Job Corps are paid more per month than any Army privates, Navy seaman, and the Air Force's basic airman. And, quite often these basic soldiers are high school graduates with substantial skills.

This situation must be immediately corrected with a pay raise for the servicemen.

Over here on the Senate side of the Capitol Building, two major actions were taken during the week which add to the benefits provided military servicemen and military veterans.

The Senate adopted a "GI Bill" that would provide education and loan benefits for all veterans who have served since the Korean War. This omnibus bill is particularly expensive and is opposed by the administration, the Defense Department and the Veterans Administration.

As you know, I have urged throughout this year that a "Vietnam G. I. Bill" be enacted so that veterans of service in Southeast Asia may receive education and loan assistance upon their return home. I believe this is needed even more today in the face of our increasing manpower commitment to Vietnam.

Because of the opposition to the omnibus G. I. Bill, the House of Representatives has refused in the past to accept it. Again this year, House Veterans' affairs experts say they cannot accept a bill covering all veterans who have served since Korea.

But, I voted to send the Senate bill to the House in hope that the House will consider the general need involved and will compromise with the Senate. Such a compromise will result, I expect, in enactment either this year or next of the "Vietnam G. I. Bill" we so badly need.

The Housing Bill recently passed by the Senate also contained provisions designed to help both servicemen and civilians connected with the Defense Department.

One provision of that bill—an amendment which I offered during committee work on the measure—provides a moratorium upon housing loan payments for civilians displaced or laid off because of closing of a military base or installation. This will be beneficial to those persons in Waco and Amarillo where bases were ordered closed last November.

Another part of the Housing bill—this one a joint amendment offered by myself and Senator Sparkman of Alabama—provides that the Defense Department can buy up houses in areas affected by base closings. This, too, is designed to provide temporary resettlement assistance to affected civilian and military personnel.

And, the Senate accepted another of my amendments during floor debate on the Housing bill. This amendment provides for a new FHA loan insurance program, affecting all veterans who have not previously received government loan benefits.

It would enable veterans to obtain a no-down payment, insured mortgage for the first $15,000 of cost of a house. And it would insure a loan for a $30,000 house if the veterans provided only a six percent down payment.

Our nation always has provided special benefits for our fighting men: benefits that accrue to them during their service and resettlement benefits applying to them when they are veterans.

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I'll be doing all I can to see that we continue to provide veterans benefits; that we provide a substantial military pay increase; and that we achieve eventual enactment of a "Vietnam G. I. Bill."

Turtle Raft

Make a raft 3 ft. by 3 ft. in the center attach a wire basket baited with chicken or fish guts. Around the basket fasten gang hooks. Turtles try to get the bait, get caught in hooks. (Don't get "caught" taking them off.)

Banks where you can't bank

You yourself can't do business with Federal Home Loan Banks, but everyone benefits directly or indirectly from their operations. In 1932, Congress authorized the establishment of 12 regional Federal Home Loan Banks. These Banks serve more than 4,900 savings and loan associations.

The Federal Home Loan Banks provide a reservoir of credit available to member savings and loan associations for greater liquidity and for mortgage lending. The capital, provided by their member institutions, amounts to more than $1,000,000,000, and other funds are obtained from the general money markets.

These 12 regional Federal Home Loan Banks operate under the supervision of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, a three-man bi-partisan Board appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. These banks are self-supporting and no taxpayers' funds are involved.

Year after year, these banks provide a dependable source of additional funds for their members—more than $30,000,000,000 since 1932. In this way, they serve the 36,000,000 people who save and the 9,000,000 families who finance their homes through the Insured Savings and Loan Associations throughout America.

Burk Corvettes Win Trophy In League Play-off

The Co-Captains of the Burk Burnett Corvettes, Diane Beavers and Debbie Small, accepted the trophy presented to the Corvettes for a second place finish in the Wichita Falls Girls Softball League Play-offs which concluded on Friday, July 23, 1965. This trophy was presented by the Co-Captains to Mr. Albert S. Dillard, Manager of the First Savings and Loan Association of Burk Burnett, the 1965 sponsor of the Corvettes. Mr. Dillard is proudly displaying the trophy in the front window of his company.

Play-off games began in Wichita Falls on July 16, 1965, following a successful season for the Girls Softball League in which the Corvettes won a third place berth with a record of 5 wins and 4 losses. During the first round of the Play-offs the Corvettes drew a bye; in the second round, they met the Texans of Wichita Falls and were defeated 10 to 0. Although this put them in the losers bracket, they came back on Monday night, July 19, 1965, to take the next game from the Kemp Kats by a forfeit. They then went on the defeat First Baptist Church by a 28 to 21 score on July 20, 1965. Next, it was a close decision over the Texans of Wichita Falls 16 to 15 on July 22, 1965. This brought the Corvettes to what proved to be the final game of the Play-offs, a meeting with the League-leading Rebels of Wichita Falls and a defeat in the sixth inning, 15 to 5. The Rebels were undefeated in regular League Play and also in the Play-offs. The Corvettes lost to them 21 to 20 and 9 to 8 during regular League play. Mr. Harry C. Small and Mr. Thomas L. Sawyer coached and managed the Corvettes. Much credit is given to them by the players for their untiring efforts in behalf of the team.

Members of the Corvettes, in addition to Diane Beavers, who pitched all games, and Debbie Small, catcher, are: Nancy Davis, first base; Vicki Ponder and Vickie Watkins, 2nd base; Karen Metz, short stop; Bonnie Lokey, 3rd base; Carol Davis, 3rd base and outfield; Susan Elliott, catcher and outfield; Candy Munson, 2nd 3rd and outfield; Pam Sawyer, outfield; Martha Lokey, outfield; Connie Bloodworth, outfield; Susan Bohnstedt, outfield; and Nikki Radanovic, outfield.

CARD OF THANKS

The youth of First Methodist Church express sincere thanks to each individual and business that provided work during the "Slave Sale", raising money for camp.

Who has 36,000 employees going to school?

More than 36,000 men and women—about 42% of all employees in the savings and loan business—are taking educational courses in order to serve you better.

Many are studying in local classes or home study courses, conducted by the American Savings and Loan Institute, the educational arm of the business, which was organized in 1922.

At the management level, executive development schools are held in cooperation with the University of Washington, the University of Georgia, and the University of Connecticut, while the graduate school of the Institute is conducted at the University of Indiana.

These are only the highlights of a comprehensive training and educational program aimed at keeping local management at peak efficiency and providing it with every necessary skill in the management of your money.

More than 86,000 men and women are now employed by the Savings and Loan Associations serving America. To them the savings and loan business offers satisfying careers. During the past twenty years it has also provided the stimulation and opportunities which come with tremendous growth.

Nickel-Copper Coins Hard To Tell From Current Silver Ones

What will our new coins look like? Most of us will have to wait about six months to actually get our hands on one of the new cupronickel coins, but the truth is that they will look very much like the silver ones now in use.

New cupronickel coins are only a shade less shiny than silver coins and are identical in size, design and weight. Their only truly distinctive feature is a band of copper visible on the edge of the coin. This is because the coin is a metallic "sandwich" made of a copper core with a cupronickel face on each side.

Local 4-H Member Raises Wheat And Oats For Project

Charles Klinkerman, a member of the Burkburnett Community 4-H Club, has selected grain marketing for his main 4-H project again this year. He has been in 4-H club for 5 years and has completed 4 years of grain marketing projects.

Charles knows the value of wheat following a legume. On 25 acres of wheat following Austrian Winter Peas, he averaged a yield of 42 bushels per acre. On a check plot of wheat following wheat, his yield was only 32 bushels per acre. He planted Crockett wheat which was treated before planting. He also practices stubble mulching of grain land and summer fallows lands 4 to 5 times depending on weather conditions.

Charles has also experimented with oats. On a 15 acre plot he ran a soil test and then applied 60 pounds of 16-20-0 at planting time followed by a top dressing of 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre in February. His yield was 80 bushels per acre on fertilized land and 50 bushels per acre on unfertilized land. Charles uses Bronco treated seed oats, one of the varieties recommended by the Iowa Park Experiment Station. They will not winter kill and make lots of grazing for livestock. He also creep feeds calves on the oats.

Charles helps his father in harvesting small grain and oats, plowing and other chores. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klinkerman of Burkburnett.

TEST YOUR DRY FLY

Ever have bass ignore your fly, when it looks to you exactly like the live flies you see all around?

Well, the bass has sharper eyes than you and he can see the difference. Make your own comparison by casting the imitation among the drifting "naturals" and observe how the colors and patterns differ from the living insects.

Here is a delightful way to make light of Summer—in a chalk white jumpsuit designed to set off a sun-browned skin. Perfect for lounging at patio or poolside, this exciting fashion by Vicki Cooper for Ulla, is knitted of lustrous Durene mercerized cotton. A brightly-colored sash (pink, orange and green) accents the slender spill of white. Because Durene is a mercerized cotton yarn, knitted fashions such as this have a brighter, more luxurious look. Moreover, they feel better, look better and wear longer than ordinary cotton clothes.

Kitchen Shower July 27 Honored Miss Janeile Hinkle

Miss Janeile Hinkle was honored with a kitchen shower Tuesday night, July 27th in the home of Mrs. Joe Salter. Mrs. Salter and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell were hostesses.

Miss Hinkle is the bride-elect of Mr. Billy Rudd of Big Spring, Texas. The wedding will be Sept. 3rd in the First Baptist Church of Burkburnett.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of gold and white were carried out in decorations in the party rooms. Centerpiece for the refreshment table was a large ivory color candle surrounded by a garland of flowers and greenery on a gold color doily. Miss Sally Mitchell served punch and Miss Jan England registered the guests.

Games were enjoyed by the group, then a lovely assortment of gifts were presented to the honoree.

The guest list included approximately 30 close friends of the bride-elect.

TRY ISOMETRIC YOGA Something new, under the sun

Take your sun in easy doses, and your exercise, too. Everybody knows that, but does everybody observe it? And be sure that the tanning lotion you pop into your beach bag has a good sunscreen, like Bronztan, for instance.

You might also take along a fascinating new book like the one about Isometric Yoga Exercise, wherein your emotional and mental outlook are duly considered, as well as your muscles. It is all devised for the housewife and the girl who works in an office, and if you've ever had the "kitchen kinks" or "shoulder blade tension," you know how you need it.

Yoga for the average young woman as presented by Mr. Richard Hittleman, in "Yoga for Physical Fitness", gives exercises for releasing tension, adding suppleness to the spine, back, legs, knees, ankles and feet; for better circulation, muscle toning, posture, headaches, even weight control, insomnia and eyestrain.

If your date is along on your next sortie to the shore, d-double-dare him to try the Yoga "Full Twist", the "All Fours", the "Locust", or the "Posture Clasp". (They are somewhat different from the Frog, the Monkey, and the Watusi.) And be sure to let him use your Bronztan Lotion if he forgets to bring his own. We repeat—it has a good sunscreen. Nothing like it for up-to-four-hours of protection without burning. It lasts even after a dip in the water, and leaves a luscious bronze tan on YOU!

An ancient exercise for relaxation. . . Lie flat, arms relaxed, eyes closed, think of your toes. Gradually concentrate on foot, ankle, calf, knee, thigh, relaxing the muscles. Continue slowly upward through torso, neck, arms, face. Then, for one minute, visualize your body filled with light. If it fades, bring it back.

A. THE "CORPSE" POSTURE
Lie flat on your back, arms at your sides, feet together. Relax completely.

B. OVERHEAD SQUAT
(For Grace, Balance, Poise. It also firms and strengthens legs.)
Slowly bend knees, lower the body, back straight, until you sit on your heels. Immediately push up slowly, on toes. Drop to flat feet. Repeat 5 times.

C. MODIFIED HEAD STAND
(For headaches, tension)
Take position 1. Forehead on the floor. Raise the body to position 2. Go as far as you can, and hold—for one to three minutes.

D. THE LEG CLASP
(To strengthen legs)
From standing position, slowly bring trunk forward and clasp hands behind knees. Do not bend knees. Gently pull trunk toward knees without strain. Count 10. Repeat with hands clasped behind calves and again behind ankles. Straighten up slowly each time. Do twice in each position.

E. THE LION
(For face, throat and neck)
Sit as shown. Lean trunk forward, open eyes wide, tense muscles. Try to touch chin with tongue. Feel face and neck become tense. Hold count; slowly return tongue, relax. Repeat 3 times.

F. ARM AND LEG STRETCH
(For grace and poise)
Stand solid. Raise right arm for balance. Slowly lift left foot behind you, grasping with left hand. Pull foot close to body. Drop head back. Hold—count 5. Bring arm and leg down. Twice on each side.

G. THE COBRA
(For back and spine)
Lie on tummy. In slow motion, tilt head back, raise trunk. Then place hands as shown. Push up slowly. Hold—for a count of 10. Lower slowly in reverse manner. Allow body to go limp. Perform twice.

H. PRELIMINARY LEG PULL
(For back and spine)
Sit erect. Slowly raise arms overhead, leaning backward. Bring arms forward, lean forward. Take a firm hold on knees, pull trunk downward without strain. Let neck go limp. Hold—count 5. Slowly straighten up. Repeat grasping calves, and then ankles. Perform three times.

I. SHOULDER STAND
(For circulation)
Lie flat, relaxed. Swing legs up and back so that hips leave the ground. Prop hands against hips. Straighten. Hold—one to three minutes. Bend knees and lower legs as shown. Roll downward slowly, allowing body to go limp.

Mrs. Frank Hunt Honored On 90th Birthday July 23rd

Mrs. Frank Hunt of Burkburnett was honored with a party Friday night, July 23rd at the City Park on the event of her 90th birthday. She was born in Palestine, Texas, and has lived in Burkburnett since 1919.

A beautifully decorated cake and home-made ice cream, furnished by Mrs. Clarence Bridges, was enjoyed by the relatives and friends who attended.

The honoree was presented with a nice selection of gifts.

Out of town guests for the occasion included Mrs. Hunt's daughter, Mrs. Norman Force and son Larry of Columbus, Ga.; and a granddaughter, Mrs. James Wicker and daughter, Michelle, of Fort Worth.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. I have been talking to my life insurance agent about buying another policy now that my family has increased, and he mentioned something he called a "limited pay" policy. I'm not sure I understand how it works. Would you explain it? What are the advantages?

A. The limited-pay policy calls for premium payments over a specified number of years, at the end of which it is all paid up. Of course, the annual premiums run higher than they do in a "whole-life" policy. Your circumstances, including your occupation and job outlook, should be considered in deciding between these types of policies. Some men with a relatively short high-earning period, for example professional athletes or airline pilots, find the limited-pay policy particularly suited to them. But the use of this policy is by no means limited to such persons.

Q. Why do I have to pay interest on a loan I take on a life insurance policy of mine, when it is my policy and my cash value?

A. Although it is your policy, as you say, the cash value belongs to you only if you actually take it out and drop the policy too. Until that time, the funds you are building up in your policy are part of a general fund in which all other policyholders are participating. You can always borrow any amount up to your policy's cash value from the company, of course, but you must pay the interest rate that is specified in the policy, usually 5 per cent. Interest has to be charged, as the whole life insurance plan is based on anticipated earnings on the total accumulated funds. The entire system would be defeated if non-interest loans were to be made. If the companies did not earn money on its loans and investments, the cost of life insurance would be materially greater than it is. In fact, investment earnings equal about one-fourth of total premiums, speaking for the business as a whole. Earnings on the loan values in your policies are part of this. In fairness, all policyholders and to stabilize the cost structure of insurance, policy loans thus must contribute to earnings.

Housing and land cost represent about 45 percent of the capital investment of a poultry farm. Therefore, it is important that poultry housing costs be kept within the range that makes it possible for earnings to justify investment.

While minimum housing cost is desired, this should not be confused with flimsy or inferior type construction, advises county agent B. T. Haws.

Poultry housing in Texas needs to be constructed with special emphasis on providing maximum comfort to birds during the period of summer heat, while protecting them against the few severely cold days that will come with winter. Field observations indicate that the addition of ceiling insulation in the magnitude of 13 R can be most beneficial in helping to maintain a satisfactory environment in all weather extremes, says the county agent.

Many factors, such as natural drainage, running the ridge of the house east and west, extending overhang to shade side walls, and a minimum side wall height of 8 feet, should be considered when plans are being developed.

Plans and suggestions for poultry housing are available from the offices of the local agents.

News From The County Agent

Insects are still a problem in cotton fields in the county. Farmers are still urged to check their cotton field on a weekly basis. Boll weevils and fleahoppers are the two that are doing the most damage. Grasshoppers and worms are also problems in some fields.

Wichita County will be represented by three 4-H Club members at the State Horse Show in Dallas to be held on August 14-15. The girls attending are Denise Cozby, Scotta Lavender and Judy Golden.

Are crossbreds a good thing for the cattle industry? That depends on the results, and all indications seem to favor crossbreeding. Superior performance, and not hair color, is the thing in the feeding and meat business. And crossbreeding should not hurt the purebred business, because it takes a good straight bred to produce a good crossbred. In the end, figures, not sentiment, are likely to tell the story.

Regardless of what a cattle feeder may think of crossbred calves, he may find himself seriously considering feeding them some day simply because they are more profitable. Also, crossbred cows appear to offer important advantages to the calf producer. I would say that feeding hybrid grains and other hybrid feedstuffs to hybrid cattle is the direction for the cattle feeder and breeder to follow for optimum profit in the future.

Hybrid characteristically exhibit what may be only a slight degree of superiority for several breeds for any given trait. However, characteristically, a small degree of superiority for several important traits compound to produce considerable advantage. For instance in Texas A and M research Brahman-Hereford crossed dropped more calves than purebred cows, and more crossbred calves survived until weaning. The crossbred calves were heavier at weaning and gained slightly more in the feedlot than purebreds. The combined advantage of the Brahman - Hereford crossbreds over the better parent breed is about 25 percent.

While minimum housing cost is desired, this should not be confused with flimsy or inferior type construction, advises county agent B. T. Haws.

Poultry housing in Texas needs to be constructed with special emphasis on providing maximum comfort to birds during the period of summer heat, while protecting them against the few severely cold days that will come with winter. Field observations indicate that the addition of ceiling insulation in the magnitude of 13 R can be most beneficial in helping to maintain a satisfactory environment in all weather extremes, says the county agent.

Many factors, such as natural drainage, running the ridge of the house east and west, extending overhang to shade side walls, and a minimum side wall height of 8 feet, should be

DO YOU RECALL.....

THOSE WONDERFUL YEARS...
They shall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodness... The Lord has blessed us with children and now grandchildren. Our lives, and now theirs have been molded in the church. One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts. Pass on this priceless heritage to your children and grandchildren.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

nothing succeeds like success

Behind every success story in the world of business, one can usually find a man, an idea, or a particular product people want and need.

This can certainly be said about the success of mutual funds. Twenty-five years ago—in 1940—the mutual fund industry had assets of only $500 million. Today, these assets are valued at more than $31 billion.

But how and when did it all start? Going back in history—to 1924—you will find the proper blend of ingredients—a man with an idea and, of course, a need or market for the kind of service the mutual fund offers.

For the first time in this country, people of modest means were given a convenient and economic way to invest their money and share in the growth and development of American business and industry.

For the shareholder, an investment in a mutual fund is a means to an end—and that may be added income taken now, or reinvested for use at a later date; funds to pay for the education of children, or extra cash for retirement.

At any rate, when asked by the Investment Company Institute, the national organization of the mutual fund industry, what they liked about their investment, these shareholders put professional management at the top of the list.

All mutual funds have professionals who guide your investments for you on a continuous basis. These portfolio managers buy and sell constantly, being always alert to sudden changes in the economy and the sundry other factors which may or may not affect the securities in which you have a vested interest.

One fund share, in fact, represents a proportionate interest in a pool of assets making up the securities of as many as a hundred or more companies. This is diversification, an important consideration in any investment program because diversification means that you have spread your money over the stocks of many, not just one or two corporations, and thereby have reduced the risk factor inherent in any investment situation.

Witnesses Home From Assembly In Lubbock, Tex.

Delegates from the Wichita Falls Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned home this week after almost a week's stay in Lubbock, Tex., attending the "Word of Truth" District Assembly sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society.

Harold P. Bruce, Presiding minister of the Wichita Falls Congregation, reports that 5,011 Bible students from 27 states and 2 foreign countries convened for the four day assembly.

According to Bruce the convention was highlighted by the discourse entitled "World Government on the Shoulder of the Prince of Peace." The address delivered by H. A. Fetzik, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in Texas, Oklahoma and nearby states, will have been repeated at 30 similar gatherings in the United States and Canada by summer's end, said Bruce.

Bruce said Fetzik stressed "Civilization has reached a point where the very continuity of the human race depends on world government. This is the only condition in which the nations can survive in an atomic age." The speaker then asked, "But can it come by human means?" He answered with the daughter of Whiteright and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Spannagel.

Mrs. Bill McSparrin returned to home in 29 Palms, Calif., Thursday of last week after a 3 weeks visit with her mother in the Burkburnett rest home and friends in Randlett.

words, "God foretold the setting up of the world government of endless peace, for the rulership would rest upon the shoulder of one who was to be called the 'Prince of Peace.' This title was to be borne by no one else but the one who would rule over mankind."

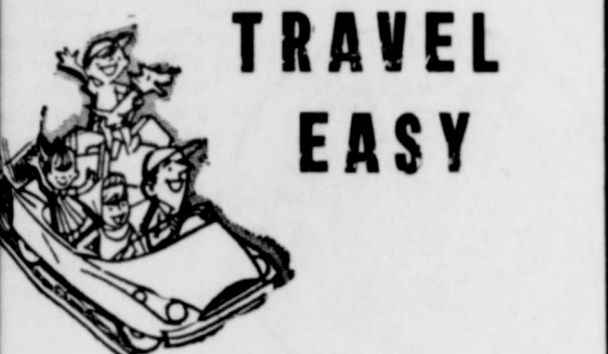

Refreshed by the scriptural information received during the four day program, the Wichita Falls Witnesses are better equipped to meet the needs of interested ones locally. Bruce said all regular meetings at the local Kingdom hall will resume this week.

Sen. Jack Hightower Appointed To Interim Committee

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith today announced the appointment of Senator Jack Hightower of Vernon to the interim Election Law Study Committee.

The 27 member group, creation of which was authorized by resolution during the recent legislative session, will make a complete study of the Texas Election Code with a view to recommending changes which may be necessary or desirable. It will report to the Legislature in 1967.

Senator Hightower is serving his first term in the State Senate. He was a member of the House of Representatives during the 53rd Legislature in 1953. During the 59th Legislature this year, he was chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Management Relations and a member of the following additional standing committees: Agriculture and Livestock; Contingent Expense; Counties, Cities and Towns; Insurance; Legislative, Congressional and Judicial Districts; Military and Veterans Affairs; Oil and Gas; State Affairs; and Water and Conservation.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

Each year, for the past 5 years, over 2,000 fires occurred annually in the pine-hardwood area of East Texas, burning 47,000 acres of valuable timberlands. In addition, improvements such as homes, barns, fencing, and improved pastures were destroyed. These fires were man caused, for the most part, and could have been prevented if someone had used care with firebrands out of doors. Your Texas Forest Service urges you to take every precaution when doing any outdoor burning.

should be applied with sponge or cloth only the surface with motion. Then remove of solution as possible shampoo machine. A sponge in clear water allow the carpet to dry. This solution used too may cause more staining since carpets are rinsed thoroughly.

If buying carpets home the agent as homemaker to get guarantee for quality as a selling point. Roberts is one who these days Mrs. Roberts is one who checked quality as prices, and is getting guarantee which is done with her bill of sale case she gets the carpet.

"Be kind to your faced floors, as well as areas," says Thelma Miss Wirges is quoted Wichita County. "Are your floors well? Or are they neglected? The agent is equal to assure housewives that floor care is what with the wide electrical equipment attachments available moderate cost."

Wichita County has available to the brands of floor care from which to choose. A cleaning solution removes dirt from floor coverings and will be chosen that will the floor finish. "The agent," means the neutral cleaner is to your floors. Then, phizes, "read the turers directions on the same way. You want to know," Miss Wirges "whether it is a solvent-type wax or a solvent-type wax follow the direction label if you want to right kind of wax for in your home."

A vinyl finish is now available. It is dries to a high lacqures no buffing. The gloss after a wax has become dull, re-finish.

Says the home agent floor can be ruined by using the wrong ducts as by the lack care.
