Bulldogs Make Ready For Coleman Homecoming Game Friday Night

Underwood
The Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Each FIRST MONDAY At Town Hall, Everybody Invited Each Pays For His Meal

The Bulldogs are riding the 147 win over the Vernon Lions, but must win this game to maintain their position as the top team in the conference. Coleman has a 15 season mark. The Bulldogs are an up and down team, but they are expected to win this game. Past history proves that a team as that is more than a team that always wins. Most scribes rate the Bulldogs as a team that draws a slight nod in their favor and Coleman in the past.

Jaycees Head Drive to Clean Up the Town

The Burk Burnett Jaycees, in cooperation with the Community Service Council, is asking every citizen of Burk Burnett to join them in a city wide clean-up next week.

Mayor Jim Frye states, "This could be one of the most profitable campaigns Burk Burnett has ever undertaken. Not only will the City be more attractive, but it will bring better health, reduce fire hazards, promote safety and upgrade neighborhood property."

Fire Chief Marion Thornton stated, "This will be a great step forward toward protecting private property, by removing the fire hazards created by unattended vacant lots and accumulated trash."

"If this cleanup campaign is to be successful, everyone must do his part. The citizens of a town are judged by their surroundings. Let's all take pride in our home and community by joining together in this worthwhile project. After you have cleaned your yard and alley, trimmed and pruned your trees and shrubs, pitch in and help your neighbor clean the "no man's land" near you, urges Jaycee President Clyde Conway.

The City of Burk Burnett and County Commissioner Gresham have agreed to haul off all trash collected. They ask that items to be hauled off be placed in the alley, if one is available or near the street for pickup.

Pickup days by areas are as follows: Tuesday, Nov. 9, the area west of the railroad; Wed., Nov. 10, the area north of Tidal Street; Thursday, Nov. 11, the area south of Tidal Street. Everyone is urged to have their trash ready and in place on their appointed pickup days, however, if you were missed it will be picked up on Friday if you will call 569-2263.

COULD CUT $2 BILLION MORE

The budget slashers are not doing so good! The House of Representatives, in dealing with appropriation requests amounting to $88.6 billion thus far, reports the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, "has made real cuts of only $900 million, or about one percent." Furthermore, the Council assures us, the Senate will restore a sizeable wad of these savings!

Hopefully, however, Eugene F. Rinta, director of research observes that the $9 billion budget requests that remain to be considered "are much more susceptible to budget cutting than are the major part of the $88.6 billion on which the House has already acted." This remainder includes the regular annual appropriation bills for foreign aid and military construction, public school aid, the expanded war on poverty and some minor activities in the public works program and HEW that seek only a few hundred millions apiece. And Mr. Rinta says it is "feasible" to cut $2 billion out of the $9 billion to which these odds and ends add up.

Certainly a billion or so could come off the so-called foreign aid request of $3.459 billion (which is only one of 15 requests totalling $7.5 billion that are actually foreign aid items.) And, since the military is disposing of establishments of various kinds, Congress should take a hard look at the $2 billion request for new construction. As for the $1.3 billion school aid request, the taxpayers will soon realize they were better off before Federal aid intruded on local control of schools. Of course, since there is now a Law, there's got to be an appropriation, but whatever is cut out of this request will be all to the public good. And the same goes for the items in the boondoggle department.

Realistically, therefore, Mr. Rinta's suggested figure of $2 billion would represent very moderate cutting. But don't expect it. Should it happen, we might gather some hope for fiscal responsibility in Congress. In fact, such a token of maturity should cause dancing in the streets.

THE LATE-LATE SHOW

We applaud President Johnson's prompt action at the outbreak of the Dominican crisis. This marks the first time in recent years that an American President—including Mr. Johnson, himself—has given the protection of American lives priority over all other considerations in a foreign trouble-spot.

Even so, a serious question remains as to why the Administration was again caught flatfooted. Why was there no warning of this impending conflict sufficiently in advance that the President and his advisors might take action before the event, instead of only afterwards? Mr. Johnson acknowledged in his May 2 telecast that events "outran" U. S. planning; noting that the revolution erupted "while Ambassador Bennett was conferring with the highest officials of government" about the Dominican situation. Even several days after the revolt's outbreak, there were some seemingly delays in U. S. action. The President said that on the following Wednesday he was sitting in his "little" office reviewing the world situation with Secretary Rusk, and Secretary McNamara and Mr. McGeorge Bundy when he received word that "things were in danger" for U. S. interests in the Dominican situation.

It is possible, of course, for anyone to be caught short once in a while. But belated realization of impending crisis or danger has been the rule rather than the exception with U. S. policy officials for the past decade. Suez, the Berlin Wall, Soviet Missiles in Cuba, repeated chaos in the Congo — are but a few of many examples of events outrunning U. S. Intelligence and planning. Even in Viet Nam, where our policy planners have been intimately involved for years, new developments, crises and coups have repeatedly caught them unprepared, resulting in flurries of "fact-finding" missions by one after another of the very persons who are suppose to know what's going on in the first place.

Considering the extensive and expensive character of our intelligence gathering and processing agencies, there seems to be little excuse for that much confusion and uncertainty.

As soon as he is through taking bows for his stellar bit of protecting American lives in Santo Domingo, President Johnson should hurry backstage to make some overdue changes in the direction of the whole show.

Nearly 200 million road maps were issued to motorists in the United States in 1964.

THE EROSION OF MORALITY

"What the hell has morality got to do with it?"

This question was thrown at me recently after a speech in Boston, as I was being interviewed by an arrogant group of young reporters.

"Morality has EVERYTHING to do with it," I replied. "Erosion of our national morality is the main reason we're being taken into a one-world, socialist non-profit 'brotherhood.' When and if we lose our morality, we will lose our freedom. Freedom and morality are indivisible." After stating unashamedly that he was for a one-world, socialist, non-profit brotherhood, a young long-haired reporter asked: "What IS morality? Who is to say what it is?" This approach is used to justify as being right anything which a particular person THINKS is right. Thus if a psychiatrist, a teacher or the National Council of Churches leaders can convince young folks that free love is not sinful — if it's really love—then why abstain? (This can sometimes be difficult for a teen-ager to ascertain in the back seat at a drive-in movie.)

Morality is what our Judeo-Christian religion says it is. If the collectivists can destroy our religion, they will destroy our nation. And they're well on the way. Our problem is not our housing slums but our moral slums. Our poverty is not of food and clothing but poverty of religion and morality. What makes a slum? People! Not slummy buildings but slummy people make slums.

The erosion of our national morality is a frightening thing to behold. It is not concentrated in the slums. Immorality prevades the White House, the Congress, the Supreme Court, the communications system, business, education, every facet of life. And the rottenest elements are at the top, not the bottom. Little criminals get their inspiration from big criminals who go free.

The time could be approaching when the question will be not whether America can be saved but whether America is worth saving. Only the moral deserve to be free. The Apostle Paul said: "Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty." (II Cor. 3:17)

The war for the world is not between haves and have-nots, blacks and whites, educated and uneducated. The war for the world is between good and evil, between God and atheism. How can we bring the world to God when we have godless leaders?

How can we make Communism fail when we are promoting it? How can we win the communist world to freedom under God when our own leaders obviously don't believe in it?

Edward Gibbon lists the following reasons for the decline and fall of the Roman Empire:

1. The rapid increase of divorce; the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis of human society.

2. Higher and higher taxes and the spending of public money for free bread and circus for the populace.

3. The mad craze for pleasure; sports becoming every year more exciting and brutal.

4. The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy was within, the decadence of the people.

5. The decay of religion — faith fading into mere form — losing touch with life and becoming impotent to guide the people.

Who Wants Self-determination?

THERE is a raucous and persistent clamor in left wing circles in our country, in the United Nations, and throughout the communist and socialist nations of the world on behalf of self-determination and the end of what is called "colonialism."

Not one of these voices was raised however when India seized Goa, when Sukarno seized the Moluccan Islands and West New Guinea and now threatens Malaysia, when China seized Tibet and invaded Korea, when the U.S.S.R. broke its solemnly signed treaties with Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia and invaded, crushed and annexed those free and independent countries.

After mass deportation and wholesale executions, those who are left of these captive peoples still suffer under totalitarian despotism. What voice has been raised in the U.N. in favor of these three Baltic countries and in opposition to their total suppression under the heel of ruthless communism? The left wing clique in America is strangely silent and thereby proves that it is not really interested in self-determination, but rather in the transfer of country after country throughout the world from western orientation to membership in the communist block. Those who really believe in self-determination are just as eager to have it applied to the satellites of the U.S.S.R. and China as to the colonies of the western powers. Most of the latter colonies have already been freed, but not even a beginning has been made toward freeing the many countries that have been wiped out or dominated by the Communist giants.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. Five years ago, when our daughter was born, we bought an escalator life insurance policy on her, for which we pay a yearly premium of $9.64. Just 4 1/2 months ago, our son was born and we want a similar policy on him. But we would like to find out what plans other than life insurance companies offer. We contacted two companies, but the premiums on their policies are close to $50 yearly. Do you know of an escalator policy for about the same premium as our daughter's?

A. Your letter does not say what the "escalator" provisions of your daughter's policy are. But, from the premium you are paying (for a policy issued on a newborn girl), we assume that it may be a $1,000 whole life policy with some type of "guaranteed insurability" provision for adding more insurance in later years.

Most life insurance companies offer this type of coverage, although the premium for your son may run a little higher (since many life companies have lower rates for females, even for babies). An additional premium would have to be paid for any insurance added in later years.

The policies you were offered for close to $50 a year may have been "jumping juvenile" plans—for example, providing $1,000 of insurance immediately and increasing to $5,000 when your son becomes 21 years old, but with no increase in premiums. Many families find this an excellent way to start building a life insurance program for a youngster. Many life companies offer this type of policy.

Some life insurance companies offer other special types of juvenile policies that are modifications of the "guaranteed insurability" or "jumping juvenile" plans.

Very few life companies issue individual term insurance policies on children. But many companies issue some type of "family plan" that combines whole life insurance on the father with smaller amounts of term insurance on the mother and each minor child.

American Way

WHAT 'MEDICARE' CAN DO FOR YOU

By Harry Browne

The consequences of the new "medicare" program are thoroughly predictable, as are the long-term consequences from any economic act by the state.

The bureaucratic "experts" have determined that X number of people are eligible for the program; and that these people have each used an average of Y amount of medical services yearly; and that the average medical service has cost them Z dollars. Therefore, we multiply X times Y times Z dollars and we have the yearly cost of "Medicare." Simple, isn't it?

But what would happen if your family doctor sent you a note saying that for the time being his services would cost less than one-half of their normal charges? Obviously, you'd take the kids and yourself and your spouse to the doctor — get a thorough checkup for everything you can think of; and thereafter, you'd run to the doctor with the slightest ailment. "No use taking chances with one's precious health," you'd say. "At least, not at these prices."

And you'd be no different from anyone else. Lower prices always stimulate greater purchase of an item. Even the dyed-in-the-wool socialist must recognize the existence of the law of supply and demand.

So what does "Medicare" mean? The cost of "Medicare" will be subsidized—it will be paid for mostly by those who are NOT entitled to use it. Therefore, those who WILL use it will respond to the new, lower prices (to them) with much greater use of the program than the "Medicare" planners dreamed possible.

Any doctor who participates in the program — and thereby allows some of his patients to take advantage of the subsidy — will find his offices crowded with "Medicare" users. Other patients will find it hard to understand why their family doctor has become so much more popular. Actually, he hasn't; he has no NEW patients, but SOME of the older ones are using his services far more often.

Sooner or later, some doctors will realize that some non-Medicare patients will be willing to pay extra to get to the head of the line — either because of medical emergencies or a desire for convenience.

These doctors will cater to the higher-paying demand — and we will find something formerly unknown in America: two distinct "classes" of doctors. One will give you prompt service because their higher fees will have kept their clientele

Where or how to display your greeting cards at home, office or at the shop no longer needs to be a problem... it can be solved easily and quickly with this do-it-yourself Greeting Card Tree.

You can make this tree from Homasote board with easy-to-follow plans. The board can be bought at local building material dealers, already color-coated or natural grey, to paint or decorate yourself.

Its tough, rigid surface takes pins and tacks perfectly to hold cards securely. You can also make outdoor and indoor displays of holly wreaths, candles, choir boys and many other holiday decorations from weatherproof Homasote board.

It makes a sound-deadening base for model trains and race car tracks.

Write to "Holiday Plans", Box 441, Trenton, New Jersey for your FREE set of Holiday Decoration Patterns, and you can have your tree and decorations completed in time for the holiday season.

reasonably small. The other will charge less, but will put you on a long waiting list.

And those politicians and bureaucrats who swore in 1965 that "Medicare" was not "socialized medicine" and that "Medicare" involved no control of medicine, will scream for coercive price controls to keep doctors fees down and medical services available to the poor.

Many doctors will quit the profession (some already have because of this) and fewer will be willing to undergo the rigorous training when the rewards are so few.

The same story will apply with regard to hospitals.

And the once-great American medical profession will be no more. Long waiting lines, greater demand, and fewer doctors will make America a sick nation.

This is not "maybe." This is certain economic truth—repeated over and over and over and over and over again in history. It is going on now all over the world — but we think it won't happen here. It will.

It's going on right now in New York City, with the water shortage caused by the politically-owned water system. Can you imagine private enterprise accusing its customers of "hoarding"?

MEMO for MODERNS

By JULIA HUNTER
Home Economist

With the children back in school and cooler weather on its way, now is the opportune time to freshen up the home.

A study of housecleaning methods has provided many interesting and helpful hints to make the job easier. Trouble spots, such as window and mirror glass, refrigerators, shower curtains, window sills, hanging pictures, unlaquered brass and copper, stainless steel counters, ovens and marble-topped furniture can be cleaned easily in the following ways:

To clean heavily soiled window or mirror glass, wipe with a damp cloth; then wash with warm water and ammonia. Use 1 tablespoon ammonia and 1 quart water. Polish with a cloth or chamois.

Sweeten the inside of refrigerators and freezers by wiping all surfaces with a damp cloth sprinkled with baking soda. Rinse with clear hot water and dry. Wash all ice trays, crispers and food containers in a solution of 3 tablespoons soda to 1 quart water.

To remove heavy soap film from shower curtains, take the curtain from the rod and place in the bathtub. Run warm water into the tub to cover the curtain. Add enough packaged water conditioner to make the water feel silky soft. Let stand for half an hour, drain the tub and refill with enough warm water to cover the curtain. Rinse the curtain in clear water, shake off excess water and hang on the rod to dry.

Wax window sills with furniture wax or paste wax. They will resist to clean and will not stain from rain spots.

Pictures should be taken down and thoroughly dusted—front, back and frame. The wall behind the picture should be dusted to prevent dark outlines from forming. Picture frames made of wood should be waxed and polished, like wood furniture. Gilt frames need very careful treatment. They should not be rubbed but kept dust-free with a very soft-bristled brush.

Unlaquered brass and copper is cleaned quickly by a solution of salt and vinegar or lemon juice. Half of a lemon, dipped in salt, used as a scouring pad is a convenient method.

Stainless steel counters and general work areas can be cleaned easily by using a mild solution of ammonia and water. Rinse with clear water and dry with a clean cloth. A solution of vinegar and water is effective for removing greasy finger prints and splatter marks.

An easy way to remove baked-on stains from the oven is to let a shallow dish of ammonia stand in the oven overnight. The stains will be easy to wash away in the morning.

To keep marble-topped furniture bright, wash with a solution of baking soda and warm water—3 tablespoons soda and 1 quart water. Let stand for a few minutes and then rinse with warm water. For stubborn stains, scour with a soda paste. Dry with a soft cloth.

With these tips and a few of one's own, the home will take on a fresh new look—one that will be enjoyed by the whole family during the coming winter.

Suede, corduroy, and hopsacking are the fashion fabrics for winter. They lend their rugged good looks to a wide array of men's sweaters, jackets, slacks and overcoats, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. Newest suede-front sweater designs feature perforations and fancy stitching. In outdoor, suede goes to all lengths to produce a luxurious, rugged appearance in jackets, car coats, and dressy long lengths. Rawhide adds the Western touch with shearing insides, cowboy yokes and snaps outside.

The waist is the thing in this season's crop of corduroy styles — narrow, medium or wide. New styles also feature vertical, horizontal or diagonal patterns. Corduroy is used in panels, man-sized herringbone patterns and are multicolored. Some new examples are traditional trousers with thick rib corduroy diagonally cut like twill.

Shirts are made of vertical corduroy front panels with horizontal corduroy pockets. Stadium and car corduroy coats are lined with bright blanket plaids, pile fabrics or shearling. Even Western jeans are made of corduroy with all the rugged Western detailing.

Hopsack takes the prize in the winter fabric picture. Its uses vary from traditional suits to sport shirts. It makes colorful stadium coats and parkas. Sport suits of plaid or striped hopsack combine with slacks made of "Oxford" hopsack.

There's more to wearing a hat than just grabbing it off some hook and jamming it on your head, says Thelma Wirges.

The right hat style, correctly worn, will do as much to enhance a man's appearance as any other item in his wardrobe. Unfortunately, some men don't know how to wear a hat correctly.

Many men wear their hat too low in front, forgetting that they lower it another inch when they snap the brim. Most hats should be worn down to the hump on the back of the head, and up near the hairline in the front. Exceptions to this are the hats without snapped brims, such as a Homburg, derby or western styles. These are worn pulled down in front to compensate for the brim not being snapped.

Snap brims should be tilted to one side. The more the tilt, the sportier the look. A good general rule, is to let the brim touch the ear on one side, and clear the other ear by one half to three-quarters of an inch.

Make sure that you're wearing the right style to suit your build. A tall, slender man should wear a hat with a low tapered crown. The vertical lines will be broken by use of a contrasting hatband. An extremely tall man should avoid an extremely narrow brim.

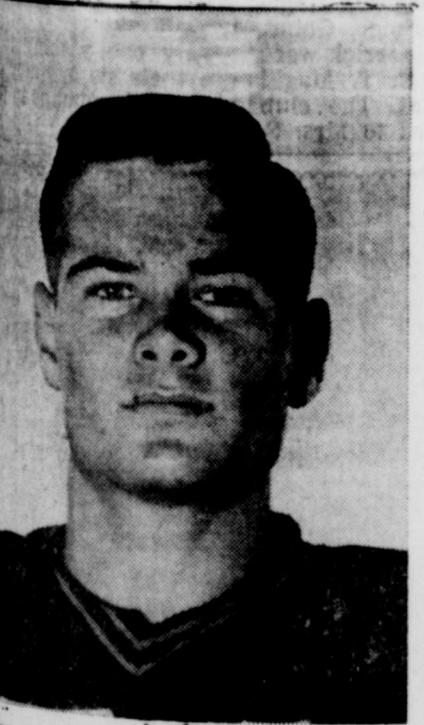

If you're tall and on the heavy side, you need a hat big enough to balance face and figure. It is more important to have a full crown than a wide brim. Make sure to snap the brim from ear to ear.

The slender fellow who is small-statured adds to his appearance by also wearing a hat with a well tapered crown and a turned-up brim. If a snap-brim is desired, it should be fairly flat set in front. While a tapered crown is a must, it should not be too low.

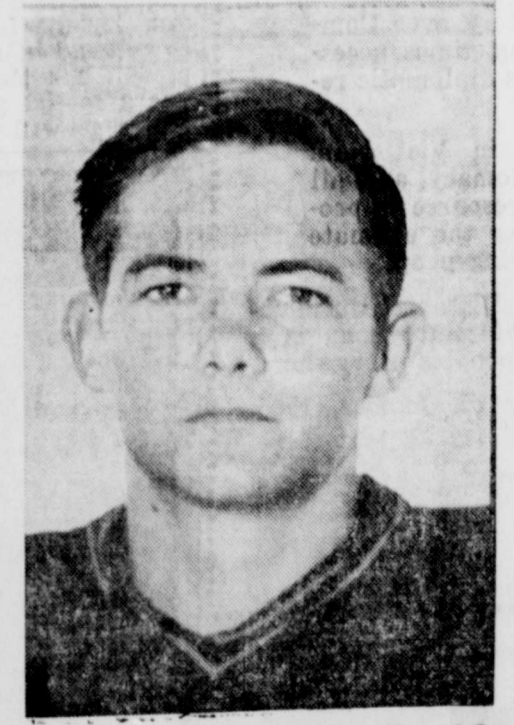

If you are short and a little bit stout, practice moderation in your choice of hats. A style with a moderate crown and brim is best, with the brim snapped its full width.

Plans are being made for a special interest meeting on "What Women Should Know About Men's Clothing." Plans for this and other work in the field of clothing are made by the Wichita County Building Subcommittee on Clothing. Mrs. Jim Roberts is chairman of the subcommittee.

Cub Scout Pow Wow Is Slated For November 6

Final plans have been completed for a Cub Scout leaders conference, the annual Pow Wow, November 6th, 9:00 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Barwise Junior High School, Wichita Falls.

Warren Jackson, Pow Wow general chairman, indicated Wichita Falls will be host to 200 adult Cub Scout leaders and parents from the 13 counties of the Northwest Texas Council, Boy Scouts of America.

This councilwide conference is the culmination of 12 months of preparation and is designed to offer an opportunity for Cub Scout leaders, parents of Cub Scouts, and others to learn about the character building program of Cub Scouting and how it works.

There will be specialized sections covering Cub Scout games, Ceremonies, Pack Administration, skits and stunts, cubcrafts, and the Webelos den. There will be hundreds of exhibits of Cub Scout Program ideas for the coming year and a carnival like Midway where all persons attending will have a chance to practice Cub Scout skills and fun events. Special training booklets will be available for each session.

Jackson will be assisted by his wife Nina, who will serve as conference co-chairman and as an instructor in the games section. Sara Longley and Ann Cross will cooperate as leaders of the game section. Harry and Wilma Davey will be chairmen of the cubcraft section, where den mothers and mothers of Cub Scouts will learn together the crafts that go into the Cub Scouting Program. Harry and Wilma will have many new ideas to share with those attending the session.

Harriett Bates and Marilyn Vandiver will direct the skits and puppets session. Both these ladies have had many years experience in Cub Scout leaders training and will demonstrate a number of new ideas and themes in this field. The section on Pack Administration will be led by Bill Thomas and Bob Faulkner. This phase of training will be of great help to committeemen and cubmasters. Sections on Pack ceremonies and an added feature, the Webelos Den, will also be offered.

Larry and Irma Mascari, former past general chairman of the Pow Wow, are in charge of promotion. Bob Birdett and Harry Essex are chairmen of the Midway and exhibits. Luther Schoffit and Don Shelton are chairmen of the physical arrangements.

Lowell Longley, Assistant Council Executive, who is serving as council coordinator for the Pow Wow, indicated that this years Pow Wow will be bigger than ever before.

Those who are planning to attend are reminded that baby sitting facilities have been arranged and that a sack lunch is to be brought for the little ones. A fully catered dinner will be served at noon to the adult leaders who are registered for the Pow Wow.

RESOLUTION

RESOLVED THAT:

The Burkburnett Junior Chamber of Commerce always has stepped forward in the defense of freedom because we believe oppression and wars against free men anywhere constitute a threat to the life and liberty of free men everywhere. Our nation is now engaged in the defense of freedom in Viet Nam where the God given rights of free men are threatened by Communist subversion and aggression. The Burkburnett Jaycees are young men who believe:

1. That to protect our own rights, we must always fight for the rights of others, especially when they ask for our help because no man can be completely free as long as another man is enslaved.
2. That to achieve total victory over Communist aggression it is sometimes necessary to use force as well as diplomatic resources.
3. That responsible action in Viet Nam using military force, diplomacy, and all other public and private resource to protect these principles is for the ultimate benefit of all freedom loving people.

We are proud to inform the citizens of Burkburnett, Texas, that the attitude of young men is a positive one for freedom of all peoples everywhere.

The Investment Revolution

Time was when the stock market was largely the haunt of men of wealth who could readily afford the luxury of full-time investment counselors to worry over their investments. How times have changed! The rich can still afford the best in services, of course, but now their position is no longer exclusive.

Forty-one years ago — in 1924, to be exact — the first mutual fund was established. This development, more than any other, perhaps, helped to popularize and broaden the appeal of equity investment in this country.

Over the years mutual funds have helped to "democratize" the investment of capital in American business and industry, permitting individuals of modest means to share in the growth and development of the national economy.

In the years since its birth, the mutual fund industry has grown steadily until today it manages assets worth more than $31 billion for more than 3.5 million Americans, according to the Investment Company Institute, New York.

Basically, mutual funds provide a simple, convenient way for individuals, regardless of economic status, to pool their money and become partners in American business and industry.

Mutual funds offer professional investment management, at reasonable cost. They incorporate the sound principles of diversification of investment risk and continuous investment supervision. One fund share represents a proportionate interest in a pool of securities of as many as a hundred or more companies. Actually, the ownership of such a portfolio by an individual of average means would be difficult, if not impossible, except through the medium of the mutual fund.
