Friends and supporters of the Burk Burnett Youth Center are growing daily. Pledges and donations continue to arrive almost hourly. Members of the Board of Directors for the Center report that they are stopped on the streets, in the stores and shopping area, and even at the swim pool and Little League by boosters of the Center and presented donations and pledges.

In addition to funds, Chairman John Larson reports the donation of two large air conditioners by Gene Turner, thereby making the Center useable throughout the Summer months for indoor activities.

In addition to the financial aid the Board continues to receive volunteer hobby and craft teachers and leaders. Many of these programs can be started immediately.

City Manager Jess Whatley To Remain, Draw Up Plans For New, Revised Policy For City

"A lot is at stake. The different interpretations of portions of the recently adopted policy on water operation can split the council and split the town. By airing the problem publicly, the correct information can be given—and proper chain of command restored." So spoke one of the many citizens who attended the City Council meeting at Town Hall Monday night.

Jess Whatley, City Manager, whose resignation was to have taken effect June 15th, will draw up recommendations for a new or revised policy for submission to the board. A period of 90 days has been set for adoption or rejection of the new policy.

In other action the board voted to allow city property, formerly used as an archery range, to be used by Boy Scouts for that purpose.

The city's garbage contractor, Walter West, requested that Burk Burnett residents be given information concerning proper trash receptacles to be used in the city.

BOOMTOWN RODEO TICKETS GO ON SALE

Tickets to the Annual Boomtown Rodeo, June 23-24-25 are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce, Burk Burnett Bank, First National Bank, Corner Drug Store and Texas Electric Service Co.

Among Other Matters

LaWANDA HENRY

A lot of people in Burk are very attractive these days in their vacation tans. The rest of us, having turned green with envy, present an interesting color contrast!

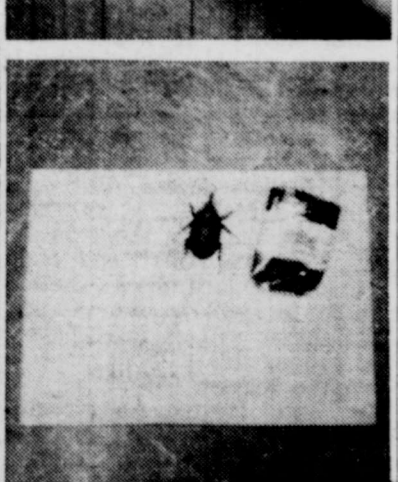

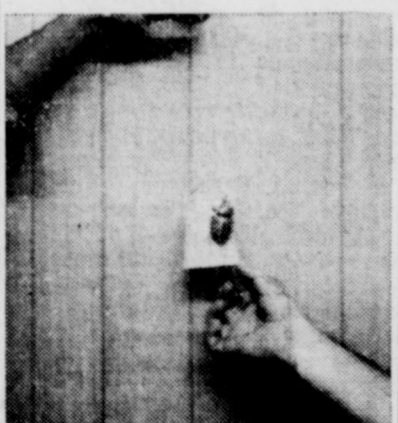

Ave. D can be interesting. Saw Police Chief Gage stopped near the curb Tuesday. Our newspaperman's eyes sharpened, thinking we might be about to witness the arrest of a dangerous criminal. Nope. The chief was apparently watching to see that a diapered 2-year-old got out of the busy street and into the yard where he belonged.

A block or two further along, a driverless car backed all the way across Ave. D . . . onto the school yard.

A few more blocks . . . we saw a rope stretched across the street, but moving. Closer inspection showed adults attached to each end and many preschool children holding tightly to the rope . . . we assume . . . safely cross the street. Looked like a giant centipede . . . or could it be . . . newspaperman's eyes have lost their sharpness??

Met Capt. Billy Lundberg this week. Nice, like his Mom and Pop. He is moving his family here before reporting for his next assignment.

We imported BEATLES from England . . . now a BEETLE has arrived in Burk Burnett from Asia. It landed at Wolfe Ford and measured about three inches long and someone who has seen grown ones said this one was a BABY. A rhinoceros beetle, it was, according to the only authority available . . . and it did have a horn, but otherwise looked like a giant lady bug. (Didn't smell like a lady though . . . that WASN'T Chanel No. 5!)

The Burk Burnett Auxiliary Council for Retarded Children will meet June 20th instead of June 27th at the Burk Burnett Community Room.

$5,000 Won By Local Clubs In Community Improvement Contest

Burkburnett and the Burk Burnett Council of Federated Clubs won second-place honors and $5,000 Wednesday night in a $150,000 nationwide community improvement program of the General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Announcement of the community improvement winners was a highlight of the GFWC Convention being held in Chicago, Illinois.

The 140-member Burk Burnett group won its award for revitalizing the community and sparking a drive to build a library. The council also began work toward a historical museum and organized a Community Service Council to work on local problems on a continuing basis.

Mrs. James Frye, representing the council, received national recognition and a Diamond Jubilee Trophy at the awards ceremony in Chicago. The cash award, to be used for further community improvement, will be presented in a Burk Burnett ceremony later.

First-place award—$10,000 in cash—went to the Pawhuska, Okla., 30-member Heeko Club for a wide range of community improvement programs. The award was based on the club's achievement in helping to build a new hospital, organizing adult education and senior citizens programs, working with the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Citizens Jubilant Over Winning

By MARJORIE KAUER

The announcement that Burk Burnett placed second in the Community Improvement Program sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs brought excitement and gratitude to many in Burk Burnett Wednesday night.

Although initiated and administered by the eight federated study clubs that compose the Burk Burnett Council of Federated Study Clubs, the Community Improvement Program entry was based on participation of more than 46 organizations in the community, in the two main parts of the program.

Federated club women began the community improvement program with a library and a museum as their goal. After months of study and planning by a committee of more than 30 individuals, after donations ranging from a few pennies to the gift of a house and lot, the library is in the final stages of planning.

Budgets Set Up
As soon as part three of the application for $45,000 in state aid has been approved, bids will be let and construction should soon follow. The City of Burk Burnett has already set aside $45,000 as its share of the cost and approved a $6,000 budget for library expenses during 1966.

The second part of the program is the Community Service Council which was developed through efforts of federated clubs as a coordinating center for the more than 50 clubs and organizations in the community.

Its effectiveness was demonstrated in a fall clean-up campaign in which every school child and adult in Burk Burnett had a part. Youth participation in civic enterprises was evident in the Christmas lighting contest as Boy Scouts and other youth organizations helped publicize the event.

The youth committee of the Service Council has stimulated an expansion program for the Burk Burnett Youth Center and more than seven acres of addideveloping a museum and park for campers, and working with a community council it helped to organize.

Mrs. William H. Hasebrock, GFWC president, and William F. McCurdy, president of the Sears Foundation, noted that 11,000 women's clubs participated in the program. They pointed out that "thousands of communities across the nation are better communities today because of club women who cared."

A special award honored Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson "for her leadership in community improvement through her beautification program." Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall accepted for Mrs. Johnson.

Third-place award—$3,000—went to the Amory, Miss., Council of Federated Women's Clubs for planning and building a community center, establishing a park and developing a full-time recreation program.

The Community Improvement Program, inaugurated in 1955, is designed to stimulate club women to develop and complete community self-help projects. Emphasis is placed on involving entire communities in efforts.

Awards granted at all levels of the Community Improvement Program total $80,000. Another $70,000 is allocated to education, including regional seminars, communications and other program expenses.

tional park area are being landscaped for recreation purposes under a park board.

Prize for Book Fund
The $5,000 Burk Burnett will receive as second prize was earmarked for the library book fund as soon as it became known that Burk Burnett had placed in the nation's top 10.

The federated study clubs also have voted to enter the 1966-68 Community Improvement Program with completion of the library and expansion of its facilities as the first goal. Other projects also will be developed.

In commenting on the award, Mayor C. J. Lippard said, "My congratulations to the fine clubwomen of Burk Burnett upon winning this generous award. This is an example of the wonderful co-operation we have between the Federated Study Clubs, the Community Service Council and the civic clubs in Burk Burnett."

"This is a red letter day for Burk Burnett. Winning this award goes much deeper than receiving a plaque or money. The greatest award is not tangible but the feeling of satisfaction everyone has when they know they have worked together and their efforts have been recognized," commented Joe Salter, President, Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce.

"It has been said that all good things come to him who waits and this is the culmination of eight years working and dreaming by the club women of Burk Burnett," commented Mrs. Hazel McMurtry, President Council of Federated Study Clubs. "It is indeed a pleasure to receive the news of the award made today. My utmost thanks to the citizens of the community who have made this possible and to the clubwomen of Burk Burnett who have worked so untiringly."

FLAG DAY

EMBLEM OF DIGNITY AND JUSTICE

Speaking at the Flag Day celebration, Washington, D. C., on June 14, 1914, President Woodrow Wilson said: "This flag for the future is meant to stand for the just use of undisputed national power. No nation is ever going to doubt our power to assert its rights, and we should lay it to heart that no nation shall henceforth doubt our purpose to put it to the highest uses to which a great emblem of justice and government can be put. "It is henceforth to stand for self-possession, for dignity, for the assertion of the right one nation to serve the other nations of the world — an emblem that will not condescend to be used for purposes of aggression and self-aggrandizement; that it is too great to be debased by selfishness; that has vindicated its right to be honored by all nations of the world and feared by none who do righteousness."

REPEALING HUMAN NATURE

Right now, the United States is busily engaged in the creation of the most gigantic structure of public welfare that the world has ever seen. The resources which we have at hand to turn over to government for distribution to groups of citizens entitled to benefits under ever-broadening welfare legislation are immense. Of course, all this wealth was created under a different philosophy which put a premium on individual initiative and provided the incentive of rewarding the productive people and enterprises.

The history of this country should have demonstrated one fact: That all men simply are not equal, never were and never will be. An editorial in the Colorado Trumpet and the Public Ledger points out that: "The Declaration of Independence asserts that all men are created equal, but it says nothing about the duty of a government to maintain citizens at an equal level thereafter." A good example of welfare state "equality" is provided by the following: "Two families living side-by-side are a dramatic example of government favoritism. The one with an income of $3,100 a year is entitled to special tutors and medical checkups for their four-to-six-year-old children, summer jobs or free summer seminars on college campuses for their high school kids, and Youth Corps benefits for the school dropouts. They reap numerous other special privileges as well, but the family next door with an income of $3,300 a year gets nothing."

As taxes go up and dollars go down in value, it becomes more and more apparent that the superwelfare state may bankrupt us, but it cannot ever make us equal — except perhaps in the sharing of universal national poverty.

Weekly Report Roger W. Babson

DE GAULLE'S POLICY

Babson Park, Mass., June 9, 1966 — Twice in this century, France has been laid prostrate by German conquest. Both times—at tremendous cost in men and materials—the U.S. has been a mighty help in recapturing French soil from its despoilers and in restoring French sovereignty. Why then does President de Gaulle so distrust us? Why is he so intent upon pursuing what seems to be an anti-American campaign?

The secession from NATO
In both World Wars I and II, our efforts in behalf of France were veritable crusades, reflecting not only our horror of aggression but also our affection and our gratitude for the oldest of our nation's allies. Without French help there might well have been no successful end to the American Revolution. So it is that President de Gaulle's decision to have France withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to direct NATO officials to remove their military headquarters and bases from French soil not only surprises us, but hurts us deeply.

President de Gaulle is an ardent nationalist, a complex personality, a man of mystery. On the surface, it would appear that in his disenchantment with NATO he is obsessed with the idea of breaking up the whole alliance. Certain it is that NATO's operations will be severely crippled if France persists in her withdrawal... and especially if she should forbid NATO flights over her territory.

The Pilgrimage To Moscow
While de Gaulle's government and the 14 other powers belonging to NATO are busy jockeying for position as the withdrawal of NATO forces from France is arranged and accomplished, President de Gaulle himself will go to Russia. What he expects to accomplish there is not yet clear.

Of course, France and Russia do have two things in common: (1) A mutual mistrust of German power, and (2) a mutual interest in promoting Franco-Russian trade. Some observers claim that the de Gaulle visit to Moscow is in the nature of a pilgrimage, but many others find it hard to picture the French leader as a pilgrim seeking advice, or solace, or help. For all his isolationism, de Gaulle is not stupid. He knows very well that, in the larger sense and for the longer term, there can be no broad Franco-Russian accord. But de Gaulle is a realist, too, and he will be probing for the chinks in the Russian armor and for whatever opportunities there may be to strike a short-term bargain that will at least have good propaganda value.

What Price Glory?
By and large, Americans view de Gaulle's upcoming withdrawal from NATO as stemming from the man's stubbornness. Here in the States, the popular portrayal of de Gaulle is of a leader preoccupied by his own importance and by the grandeur of France. The glory of his nation's past is said to be ever present for him. His ambition to restore that glory ought not to be scorned. Would that America had more patriots of such caliber!

No matter how you view it, de Gaulle's decision to get out of NATO and to force the military arm of NATO out of France is a failure for U. S. diplomatic policy. It marks the beginning of a split in the Western alliance that makes the Communist world rejoice

GARY PLAYER... GOLF'S TOP BANANA

GARY PLAYER MADE GOLFING HISTORY IN 1965 WHEN HE WON THE U.S. OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP... THUS BECOMING THE THIRD MAN IN THE HISTORY OF THE SPORT TO WIN ALL FOUR OF THE WORLD'S MAJOR TITLES.

UPON WINNING THE OPEN, PLAYER PROMPTLY GAVE AWAY HIS PURSE. HE CONTRIBUTED $20,000 TOWARDS THE PROMOTION OF JUNIOR GOLF IN THE UNITED STATES AND $5000 FOR THE FIGHT AGAINST CANCER.

PLAYER WHO CREDITES MUCH OF HIS SUCCESS TO THE DIET AND PHYSICAL FITNESS ROUTINE HE FOLLOWS IS KNOWN TO CARRY BANANAS IN HIS GOLF BAG AND EAT THEM BETWEEN HOLES OF A TOURNAMENT. THEY GIVE ME QUICK ENERGY, HE SAYS.

and that ought to make us uneasy.

America's Opportunity
The postwar establishment of NATO was a significant diplomatic achievement. It was the right move at the right time. Also, it was eminently right that the young NATO should be dominated by the powerful U.S., since most of its other members had been sorely ravaged by the war. But the years have passed, and Western Europe—aided in great measure by the security and the opportunity provided by NATO itself—has grown strong in manpower and in resources.

De Gaulle should not be criticized for having perceived the shortcomings and the inequities of NATO in today's awakened and more sophisticated Western Europe. One day we may be glad he has now ruffled our feathers, for he has presented America with a challenge and an opportunity. NATO needs a new thrust, a new dimension, a more realistic power structure. What a chance this crisis provides for President Johnson who is so well versed in the arts of persuasion and of compromise!

Health and Safety Tips From AMA

RECREATION

The month of June is National Recreation and Park Month. It is an excellent time to remind ourselves that the ancient saying, "All work and no play . . ." is still very sound advice.

Everyone knows that recreation is important, but all too often we become so busy with work and home duties that we forget to play.

Every parent knows how important play is to the young child. Through play, he gains physical strength, develops physical skills, and establishes warm relationships with his parents, brothers and sisters, says Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family.

But the values of play and recreation are not restricted to the young. All ages need relief from boredom, relaxation from tensions and the self-fulfillment found in recreation.

Recreation is not all physical activity. Recreation may range from active physical pursuits to quiet activities, such as reading. It may bring excitement or relaxation. It includes both solitary activities and those with groups. It may range from cultural and educational pursuits to trivialities.

Many agencies — governmental, voluntary, and religious — offer recreation programs. Many of these are fine, but the home still remains the most important center, not only for recreation itself, but also for developing lifelong recreation interests, skills and tastes.

The possibilities for home and family recreation, combined with the neighborhood parks and other play centers, are almost unlimited. Each family will have its own special tastes. Some of the fundamentals are books and reading, conversation, music, art and drawing, photography, home improvement projects, gardening and many others. The backyard can accommodate equipment for all sorts of games and sports.

Leisure activities are powerful forces in the home. They can cement family ties, create wholesome attitudes, and foster understanding among members of the family. Many an avocational interest has turned into a career.

June is a good month for American families to take stock of their approaches to play and recreation. Some things can be done by the family as a group; others by family members as individuals. This month might be the time when Father and Mother can ask themselves: Do we play enough in our family? Are we becoming too busy to do some of the things we enjoy doing?

Your doctor and his American Medical Association prescribe play and recreation for the physical and emotional well-being of all of us. Heed this advice.

If we sent bills for telephone repairs here's what they would look like

That's right — there's no extra charge for telephone repairs. Any repairs are covered by your regular payments for service. Today's telephones are so trouble-free you'll seldom see a repairman. But in the rare event something does go wrong with your service, we fix it. Fast. And you'll never see a repair bill. Southwestern Bell wants to make your telephone service — already the world's best — even better.

Science, business and politics are moving at a faster pace than ever before. Students must prepare themselves to adjust to the ever changing world, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

What you learn in school today will help you meet the changes of tomorrow. Are you going to be ready for one of those top jobs? Whether you make your way to the top depends upon what you are doing now to prepare yourself for the future.

Today's student has three factors to face which earlier groups of students did not: the increased amount of knowledge in the world; the advanced stage of education given every pupil, and the pressure of ever-improving techniques.

Thousands of companies are going to succeed or fail 20 years from now depending upon whether you or some other youth has learned to understand the technical and social effects of change and respond to them effectively.

Miss Wirges suggests that the most efficient tool, whether it is a computer or research microscope, is only an extension of men's capabilities. In order to use existing tools or to invent and use new tools, you must develop capabilities.

This means not only spending more time in school, but spending that time in a well-organized effort to learn. You need to adopt some principles of your ancestors, adapt a little to meet changed circumstances, accept a little from other people's experiences, and add a few tricks of your own.

Read, study about and visit as many different businesses and talk with as many professional people as possible. Keep up with the happenings in your community, state, and nation as well as what goes on in the foreign countries.

Knowledge about many different occupations will help you decide what preparation you need for the future. Remember, too, you may need to make adjustments anywhere along the way. You must be ready and willing to meet the challenge.

A baby sitting course will be offered at the East Side branch of the YMCA beginning June 15. Miss Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, and Miss Sandra Harrell, assistant agent, will teach the course. Any girl may register at the YMCA or at the Wichita County Home Demonstration office, 305 Federal Building.

Nursing School Begins In August

Bethania School of Vocational Nursing, Wichita Falls, is now accepting applications for a new class to begin in August. Bethania Vocational Nursing School is a one year program approved by Texas State Board of Nurse Examiners. Qualifications are: male or female, high school graduates between the ages of 17 and 50.

The vocational nurse fills a real need for trained personnel in nursing homes, doctor's offices, and community hospitals.

power on jobs in the United States today? Women earn about one-fifth of the nation's income in the form of wages and salaries and from self-employment, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. Their total earnings are estimated at about $60 million.

Of the over 25 million working women, the Department of Labor reports over 4.5 million were "professional workers, managers, officials and proprietors." Nevertheless, only 144,000 women in our country earn $10,000 or more.

Incidentally, the Social Security Administration reports about 62,200,000 women had Social Security numbers at the end of 1964. Only 53,900,000, however, had earnings credited to their accounts.

Six out of 10 women have life insurance and although they owned policies amounting to about $130 billion at the end of 1965. This ownership figure includes all women, whether full-time homemakers, employed, self-employed, or students.

Working women who have their own individual policies and annuities use them for the double purpose of protecting their dependents while building funds for their own future. Working women also share increasingly in group life insurance protection for their families. Present indications are that women own approximately $40 billion of group life insurance.

In addition, women's contributions to business and industry are being recognized by the increasing amount of key-man and other business insurance on the lives of women.

Several million working women are among the nearly 35 million workers belonging to various kinds of pension and retirement programs, exclusive of Social Security. Over half of non-farm workers are now enrolled in such retirement plans.

A Letter From An Old Church

By The Scribe

Returning from the Annual Training Conference for the Episcopal Churchwomen, I am truly filled with the Spirit of Pentecost to proclaim the Good News thru the Church of Jesus Christ to the community. The Training Conference was held at the Inn of Six Flags, June 3 and 4. Speaking at the Friday evening dinner, Bishop C. Avery Mason spoke on three major developments during the coming year. First the extension of the Fund for work among the helpless and homeless, the derelict and the alcoholic; our work for the minds of our young people on the college campuses and, lastly, our camps and training centers. Secondly, the development of more prayer groups in each parish and mission. And thirdly, the building of the development of the Retreat and Conference Center at Grapevine.

Yes, the activity is really increasing at St. John the Divine even though its vacation time. Mrs. Joyce Morgan, Altar Guild Directress has instruction classes for the Jr. Altar Guild on Thursday afternoon at 4 p.m.

The rooms on the back of the Church building are being painted and furnished for our new vicar due here July 1st. I'll be writing more on this next week.

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

Versatile Colors

Modern finishes for interior woodwork offer infinite variety of color, natural appearance and high retention value.

The natural golden color of Southern Pine is left unchanged by a natural finish. A fascinating array of tones — even ebony — may be obtained with stained effects. Such finishes are transparent so that the grain pattern is exposed with the applied shade seeming just as natural as the wood's actual color.

WHAT IS THE FATHER'S WILL AS TO HOW WE MUST BEGIN A CHRISTIAN LIFE?

Besides Hearing the Word, Believing that Jesus is God's Son, Repenting, and Confessing the Lord with our mouth, isn't it His will for us to be Baptized? . . . Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." Mark 16:15-16. After saying "preaca . . . to every creature," what more does He say? Does He say: He that is baptized shall be saved and then he will believe later? Does He say: He that only believes is saved, but should be baptized? Or, ISN'T THE FATHER'S WILL: he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved?

Laminated lumber is often referred to as "shop-grown timber." Clear spans in excess of 300 feet have been obtained with Southern Pine arches.

WORD POWER!

One of our popular publications, encourages the learning of new words, and in each edition prints a few words that we can add to our vocabulary.

Words have swayed thousands, even changed the course of history. It is through the use of words that men are saved.

"For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe."... "Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men."

ATTEND CHURCH... HEAR GOD'S WORD PREACHED

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The uproar in the California vineyards perhaps illustrates the mischief that is wreaked when huge corporations get into agriculture.

In California there are some 400,000 acres of vineyards, most of it in small holdings, worked by families, except for some help at pruning and picking time.

In certain small areas are grown the specialty C. W. Harder grapes out of which the world famous California quality table wines are produced. Another large share of this acreage is devoted to raisin grapes.

But there is a big block devoted to the growing of grapes used to make a cheap wine euphemistically called dessert wine. After the grapes have gone through their natural fermentation, there is added to it a raw brandy, called high proof, distilled from waste grapes, to bring it up to 23 per cent alcohol.

Federal tax on a gallon of distilled liquor of 100 proof alcohol is $10.50. But the Federal tax in this fortified wine is 67 cents per gallon. A lot of this is retailed at $1 per quart. Now 20 per cent alcohol by volume is the same as 40 proof. Thus a quart of this fortified wine-selling at $1 is lower in price than the Federal tax on a pint of 80 proof vodka, which is $1.05. But both deliver the same amount of alcohol.

Out of approximately 140 million gallons of wine produced in California annually, roughly 100 million goes into this product. It is consumed chiefly by those too economically depressed to afford high taxed distilled liquors, and by those on the nation's skidrows.

Several thousands of acres of the grapes used in this manner is owned by one of the three large distillers that virtually monopolize U.S. liquor business.

Thus, to pick up volume from the poor and those who can no longer afford distilled spirit, in a kind of a "cradle to the grave alcoholism" plan, the big distiller has been a factor in the fortified wine business.

The labor issues involved in this matter are quite fuzzy. It has been brought out that good pickers paid 10 cents per box can make $20 or more per day. A small group of alleged farm workers have been agitating for 25 cents per box, or a 250 per cent increase.

The Achilles heel of the entire vast California grape industry was the fact that this big distillery combine owned huge acreage of vineyards. Through a well integrated national propaganda effort, a boycott was organized against the products of this distillery. This caused the distillery to surrender to the proposed union.

At this writing, no one knows what the final result will be as the bona fide independent grape growers still resist the pressures against them.

But it can be pretty well predicted that once again due to monopolistic greed, the small farmer will be hurt. And the consumer will be paying more for raisins.

BE SURE IT'S DRY

All freshly cut lumber is saturated with water inherited from the parent tree.

As the moisture evaporates, wood cells contract and the lumber shrinks. This loss of size is inevitable — regardless of species. It should occur at the mill, not after lumber is in service.

To protect consumers, the Southern Pine Lumber Industry restricts moisture content of framing and other items through provisions in grading standards. To meet grade requirements, the lumber must be properly dried and pre-shrunk before being surfaced to final size.

DEVOL NEWS

Mrs. C. O. Woodley

Wheat harvest only lasted a very short time this year, and most custom cutters had moved on north to other assignments by Monday, June 6. The Harlin Mills Elevator bookkeeper reported about one-half as much grain brought in as last year, when one-half million bushels of wheat was brought in, compared with between 250,000 and 300,000 to date this year.

Mrs. A. J. Adams was returned to her home Sunday from a Lawton hospital where she had been undergoing tests and observations. She is reported feeling much better at this time.

Mrs. O. D. Nalls was admitted to a Frederick hospital Wednesday. Word was received here Monday that she was much improved and may be home in three or four days.

Mrs. Callie Baumhardt of Sherman, Texas visited her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClendon over the weekend. Mrs. McClendon and Gillis drove to Wichita Falls Saturday to meet Mrs. Baumhardt. Mrs. W. M. Harrison of Grandfield spent Wednesday night in the McClendon home.

C. W. O. Charles Woodley of March AFB, Riverside, Calif. arrived Thursday to visit his mother, Mrs. C. O. Woodley before leaving the last of May for an 18-month tour of duty in Guam. His family will remain in Riverside. Monday morning the Woodleys received a message that a baby girl had been born to Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bohlken of Riverside. Mrs. Bohlken is the former Miss Linda Woodley, daughter of CWO and Mr. Charles Woodley and the first great grandchild of Mrs. C. O. Woodley.

Devol Demonstration Club will meet Thursday with Minnie Smith in her home.
