Travelers Urged To Use Extra Care July 4th Weekend

Speed, alcohol, impatience and fatigue are only four of the deadly horsemen that will ride the highways over the 4th of July weekend. But with a little planning a large share of the holiday accidents can be avoided.

If at all possible arrange your trip so that you will not be on the road during the first or last twelve hours of the holiday. It is always the early and late hours of each holiday that are the most hazardous.

Plan and execute your preparations carefully and don't forget to prepare yourself as well as your vehicle for the trip. Start packing early enough so you won't become impatient or upset with last minute delays. Get plenty of rest and don't drink before or during the trip. You will need to be extra alert and not tired. Frequent coffee breaks will also help to keep you alert. Slow your speed at dusk and stay off the road after dark. Most accidents occur during this period.

The safety-minded driver will also recognize the heavier loading, hot roads and the congestion of holiday traffic impose added requirements for vehicle safety and increase the probability of vehicle breakdown. Make sure that your brakes, lights, tires, steering system and windshield wiper blades are in good condition and watch those tire pressures.

Finally remember that impatience, distraction and bad judgment are your greatest enemies on the highway. Statistics show that most holiday drivers aren't killed by "some crazy driver" but that they meet death at their own hands. Heed traffic signs. Obey them; they are your signs of life.

Mrs. D. C. Dodson will act as treasurer of the council and as chairman of the parks and beautification committee. She is a past president of the Burkburnett Council of Federated Garden Clubs.

Rotarians Hear Educator Speak On New Programs

Harold Wolfe brought the program, introducing speaker I. C. Evans at the June 28th Rotary Club luncheon meeting.

Evans discussed the federally involved programs in the local schools and the prospects for expanding these programs and adding others.

He said that through these programs, educators were reaching facets of society not reached before.

Citing figures of forty-two million children in public schools and another five million in private and parochial, Evans said the shifting population is creating some educational problems.

Education must keep pace, Evans said, because in 15 years, 15% of the people in the country will be earning their living at jobs that do not exist today.

The next meeting will mark the beginning of the new Rotary year with a new slate of officers taking up duties. Earl Brown, President and Marvin Taliferro, Secretary will replace outgoing President Bill Donnell and Secretary T. M. Cornelius.

It was also the last meeting for Rotary Sweetheart Sally Mitchell. Outgoing District Governor, Walter Riley was absent from the local club meeting, attending his last official District meeting in Cisco, Texas.

Is there any type of summer program being offered to the girls of Burkburnett?

With some 300 boys involved in the kid baseball program... it would seem there would be an equal number of girls who would enjoy taking part in an organized sport program. Possibly more diversified than the boy's baseball... but one that would be competitive... teach sportsmanship... be supervised... and be fun!

The Burk Star received a news release incased in a fire-cracker shaped box... labeled "Hot News". Among the facts brought out... there are less injuries caused by fireworks in states where they are legal... than where they are outlawed.

Also... the experts say... fireworks provide an emotional outlet for kids!

KEEP IT SAFE AND SANE

INDEPENDENCE DAY 1966

One hundred and ninety years ago, the Liberty bell rang out to proclaim the Declaration of Independence to the American colonists, marking an entirely new concept in the development of human progress.

The immortal words of Thomas Jefferson asserted that "all men are created equal" and "that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights . . . life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Just what does Independence Day mean to us today? Is it just another day off . . . a long weekend . . . a parade or fireworks display?

The celebrating of Independence Day can be more deadly than the war it commemorates. For example, from 1900 to 1930 more Americans were killed (4,290) and more maimed (96,000) by fireworks than were killed in the eight-year Revolutionary War in which we lost 4,044 killed and 6,188 seriously wounded.

Public display accidents now account for one-third of all major injuries from fireworks. Accidents along the highways continue to take their everincreasing deathly toll, but the fatality rate in relation to the highway mileage is decreasing.

Let us take a minute to pause and reflect on the basic precepts which are as true today as they were that memorable day in Philadelphia. Make this a safe and sane holiday, so we may live to enjoy the guarantees of freedom, and retain them in our minds, hearts and deeds.

SMALL ENTERPRISE - BIG JOB

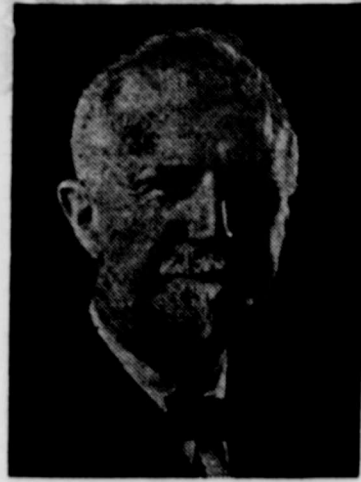

In an age when bigness seems to have become a necessity in government, and industry — in fact in virtually any activity you can name — it is gratifying to find one place where size is not necessary to success and has no relationship to quality or service nor the importance of the enterprise. That is the hometown community newspaper.

A national directory of weekly newspapers reports that there are more than 8,000 "hometown" newspapers in the country. These newspapers reach approximately 32 million homes. While metropolitan papers have been beset by circulation troubles, strikes, and shutdowns, the smaller papers have been flourishing and enjoying steady circulation increases.

The thousands of smaller papers are a bulwark of independent thought. Without them, there would be no freedom of the press. There would be no record of community life, no reporting of important community events, no expression of editorial views or opinions that gradually crystallize into public sentiment on issues of the day.

In fact, without the thousands of editors to give it meaning, the institution of a free press would wither and die and with it the freedom of the people. The local newspaper is a small enterprise that does a big job.

THE "NEW ECONOMICS"

Babson Park, Mass., June 23. Before World War II, most economists and businessmen accepted cycles as being "normal" as marriage and babies. The Biblical fat years would be followed by the lean years. The upward, or action, phase of the business cycle would be followed by reaction. Babson's made Newton's theory of action and reaction famous . . . as applied to economics . . . during the early decades of this century.

Outlawing Depressions
But after World War II, people began asking: "Must we have the hardship and pain of recessions?" Across the seas in England a new economics prophet emerged . . . Lord John Maynard Keynes. He greatly influenced the thinking of President Roosevelt before the war, and later the attitudes of Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, and Kennedy. In a word, Lord Keynes said that business cycles were not necessary, that they could be flattened out by the government's applying stimulants to a lagging economy and curbs to a booming one.

Generally, Keynesian economics held that, when conditions were depressing, government should spend more heavily to offset lack of spending by consumers. Then, however, and this is most important . . . the English financial wizard held that inflation should be avoided by the administration's collecting more in revenues than it paid out. Apparently, he recognized that if more and more were spent and more and more lent, prosperity would degenerate into inflation and a grand bust. So impressed were the politicians in the U.S. that they passed the Full Employment Act of 1946, making it the government's business to see that depressions would be outlawed.

Enter the Inflationists
During the terms of Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, there was a strong disposition to avoid overstimulating the economy. But, toward the end of President Eisenhower's time in office, and especially during President Kennedy's short stay, a great impatience with the nation's rate of economic growth spread thru an important group of young, "liberal" economists. They emphasized that other Free World nations were growing faster than the U.S. They blamed this on our government's habit of applying the brakes too soon.

The "New Economists", as they are now called, promoted inflation as a way of life. Claiming that a "little" price advance was far better than the sufferings of unemployment and meager profits, they preached perpetual prosperity. Growth must never cease . . . our economic climb must be more impressive than anyone else's.

A Rose By Any Other Name?

Under the Administration of President Johnson, the New Economists have had things pretty much their own way. U. S. growth has been admittedly phenomenal. But in the last year the price level for consumers rose almost 3%. Strangely enough, the same public who accepted this 3% cut in their purchasing power without a whimper would have hollered to high heaven if the President had suggested a 3% sales tax on all production to pay for the Viet War.

Also, it should be noted that the New Economists readily admit that some inflation is the price we must pay to avoid the hardships of recessions. But no one of them has stated flatly how much is enough and how much is too much. And that is where the big danger lies. To many of us old-fashioned economists, it looks as if the new theories are no more than the old boom - and - bust credit sprees that were first made infamous by the South Seas Bubble in England and by John

Law in France over two hundred years ago.

Signs of Fatigue
And while the controversy rages we notice that it is taking more and more dollars of inflation to make a lesser addition to the dollar price of our Gross National Product. In the last five years government spending rose by 47% and Federal Reserve credit climbed 50%; yet GNP was able to move up only 34%. If this trend continues, we may find that the medicine of the New Economists will "work" only when first applied. Like so many other stimulants, the long-run effect may turn out to be bad.

Four local girls are spending a week at Quartz Mountain Christian Camp at Altus, Oklahoma. They are Judy Klinkerman, Paula Swan, Pat Busch and Jo Gail Hutchinson.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

A Better Way

JOB Corps enrollees are said to be costing from seven to ten thousand dollars per year during their training period. It is highly probable that if our laws and our unions would permit these youngsters to work at apprentice wages, they could receive far more effective on-the-job training.

Dr. Kershner

Most of these boys and girls cannot earn the minimum wage, but they could earn something, and could be trained on the job by their employers if that were legal and permissible under union rules. A similar system works very well in Germany and other countries in Europe that are not plagued by excessive unemployment among the ranks of the non-skilled.

Indeed, the government might go a step further and offer small training fees to companies willing to give these young people on-the-job training. Most of them no doubt could actually be placed in industry at far less than the $7 to $10 thousand a year it is said to be costing them for training in the Job Corps.

I wonder what would happen if our government should offer, say $500 a year, to any firm that would employ a Job Corps enrollee. If that were not sufficient, it might be raised to one thousand dollars, which would be only a small part of the cost of the training now being given the Job Corps enrollees.

Conditions in the Peace Corps must have reached a new low in moral standards to cause Prime Minister Hastings Banda of Malawi to deliver an ultimatum to U.S. Peace Corps workers in his country either to behave themselves or leave. The Peace Corps workers were accused of setting a bad example before the African people, whom they are supposed to be helping. They are accused of drunkenness and of living with African girls and engaging in political activity. Not only that, but they wallow in luxury with many servants and in general are making themselves objectionable to the African people.

We have often said that the Peace Corps is a great waste of funds and not nearly as effective as American missionaries. With a fraction of the cost the missionaries will accomplish far more and will set a good example of clean, constructive, useful living before the natives in the lands to which they are sent.

Sheppard AFB — Twenty-five cadets and three senior members of the Wichita Falls and Hustler Composite Squadrons of the Civil Air Patrol converged here June 18 for an eight-day encampment.

During their encampment the cadets were schooled in military customs and courtesies, discipline, safety consciousness and the overall Air Force mission. They slept in Air Force dorms (19 male cadets in bldg. 393 and six female cadets in the WAF Squadron, bldg. 1615), ate their meals in Air Force dining facilities and used the various recreational and entertainment facilities to be found on Sheppard. For all practical purposes, they experienced an entire week of Air Force basic military training.

The CAP program was realistic right down to basic drill. The cadets marched to and from all classes and meals, spent time drilling in the afternoon and prepared for their graduation review held on the last day of the encampment, Sat., June 25.

Their rigorous training also included several classroom lectures and tours, acquainting them with the many Air Force organizations and functions. They received small arms familiarization at Sheppard's rifle range, where they saw a fire-power demonstration of the M-1, the versatile M-16 and many other weapons familiar to the Air Force.

The high light of the encampment was an orientation flight during which cadets received rides in jet aircraft.

All base activities provided maximum assistance to assure that this 1966 summer encampment was worthwhile, educational and enjoyable for the cadets.

While at Sheppard, the CAP maintained its own staff to carry out the various duties associated with the successful operation of the encampment.

Lt. Col. Luther B. Rice, 3750th Air Base Group base operations and training division, was the STTC Camp commander. Major (CAP) William Hays, Wichita Falls Composite Squadron commander, was the encampment commander.

The Commandant of Cadets was Lt. Joseph C. Edwards, commander 3774th Instructor Squadron, and he was assisted by SSgt. (CAP) Darryle Kazen. Lt. Susan L. Snider, 3773rd instructor Squadron, was commandant of the female cadets. She was assisted by A3C Silvia Rodriguez.

The Civil Air Patrol is a non-profit charter organization authorized by the Congress of the United States. It is an official civilian auxiliary of the Air Force. Members, both male and female cadets, are considered potential airmen.

The encampment ended Saturday. Cadets departed confident that they had gained a greater understanding of the complexities of the Air Force mission and that they, too, played an important role in the defense of the American way of life.

Tax Man Sam Sez: GIVING MONEY AWAY

A lot of taxpayers have a very serious question—"Can I give my money away? How much can I give away without filing a federal gift tax return?"

The law is actually liberal on allowing gifts without tax. You can give $3000 a year to your son or daughter—or anyone else—without having to file a gift tax return. A husband and wife with community property can give $6000 each year without filing a gift tax return. The law also allows you a $30,000 lifetime exemption for gifts before you pay any gift tax. This $30,000 is in addition to the $3000 exemption you have for each year. You can take the $30,000 exemption at any time but you must file a gift tax return to claim this exemption. If you want to give large gifts you should file a gift tax return and pay the tax. You can give a good sized estate away tax free if you plan your giving.

Tax Man Sam Sez: FILING AN ESTATE TAX RETURN

What are the requirements for filing an estate tax return? This question bothers many taxpayers, but the rules are fairly simple. Your administrator will have to file an estate tax return if the fair market value of your estate is $60,000 or more on the date of your death. However, if there is a surviving spouse and the estate is community property, you do not have to file unless the estate exceeds $120,000, since 50% of the community property belongs to the surviving spouse. Getting the correct valuation on your estate is important since this evaluation affects all future tax transactions on the property.

Some isolated areas of loblolly and shortleaf pine are found in Bastrop, Fayette and Lavaca counties and are known as the "Lost Pines" because of their isolation from the normal pine-growing area about 100 miles to the east.

News From The County Agent

Consumers have a wide variety of household appliances from which to choose this year. Many of them include new features at little or no advance in prices, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

A steady price decline has been the rule for appliance, television and radio in the last five years, in contrast to most other consumer products. Homemakers who are in the market for new appliances should evaluate the new accessories carefully. Frequently a rise in price is related to an engineering change in top-of-the-line models or an accessory that may or may not have advantages for you. Later, such accessories may be included in less deluxe models with lower price tags, the home demonstration agent explains. Some new features in household equipment this season includes: Refrigerators have emphasis placed on design and styling. No-frost models are still higher in price than the manual defrost and automatic defrost types, but lower than when first introduced. Features also include automatic ice makers, a seven-day meat keeper, adjustable shelves and increased movability of the refrigerator. Ranges with easy-cleaning features are popular. Many have removable Teflon-coated panels or removable oven liners, intense heat self-cleaning ovens, ovens with lift-off oven doors and oven rack supports, top heating units and cooking surfaces. More ranges are featuring programmed cooking, no-turi broilers and meat probes. Vacuum cleaners of the new cordless type are approximately $50 higher than the regulation type. Running time is less than an hour and recharging time is about 17 hours. Built-in vacuum cleaning systems are now available for homes.

Mrs. Ky Hunter, a demonstrator in home improvement for the Valley Farms Home Demonstration Club, recently completed improvements. She completely remodeled a bathroom and improved storage.

Laundry equipment for 1966 has outstanding features in more of the lines than ever before, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

Multiple wash cycles, from regular wash to delicate fabrics and from soak to super soak, are to be found in all models except those on the lowest end. The same is true of wash-and-wear cycles and low agitation speeds.

have subsided somewhat. New models are listed as having a dry load capacity of 14 pounds. Some make claims by specifying that 14 pound load must be made of small articles. The wash load should be determined by the bulk and the type of fabric. Delicate fabrics should not be washed in large loads of fabric.

A room air-conditioner is much more than a "room" cool- er. If it is correctly chosen and functions properly says Thelma Wirges, it does four things: cools, dehumidifies, cleans and circulates conditioned air in providing more comfortable surroundings.

In maximum cooling units, a fan draws the warm, moist air in through a filter which removes dust and lint before it reaches the evaporator. The cold surfaces of the evaporator cools the air and removes the moisture condensation, explains the agent. A thermostat main- tains the desired temperature, and grills are used to direct the conditioned air so it will circulate efficiently without causing drafts. Such units, can also be set to ventilate and exhaust air from the room.

Room air conditioners are available in a variety of sizes, models and types to meet in- dividual needs. Some of the smaller units can be used on a wiring circuit that is only par- tially loaded but it is usually a good practice to provide a sep- arate circuit for each room air conditioner.

FREEDOM

Inscription for the Statue of Liberty

BY EMMA LAZARUS

Give me your tired, your poor,
 Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
 The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
 Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:
 I lift my lamp beside the golden door.

This truly reflects the attitude of a nation living close to God. The concern and love for others grows through Christian fellowship. Attend
 Church Regularly.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

A Time for Fresh Plums!

Like old-fashioned fairy-tale princesses, the California plums now coming to market are as good as they are beautiful. Some 58 varieties of plums—most of them the so-called Japanese type—extend the fresh plum season from now through mid-August. Large, heart-shaped and of crimson or golden color, these tempting fruits are not only delicious eaten out of hand, but are good in all kinds of desserts, such as this Frosty Fresh Plum Sundae or Stewed Fresh Plums.

FROSTY FRESH PLUM SUNDAE
2 cups crushed unpeeled fresh plums
1 cup sugar or sugar to taste
1/4 cup fresh orange juice
1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
Vanilla ice cream
Chopped nuts or peppermint candy crushed

Combine plums, sugar and orange juice in a saucepan. Mix well. Bring to a rapid boil and simmer, uncovered, 12 to 15 minutes or until sauce has thickened. Cool and stir in vanilla extract. Arrange alternate layers of vanilla ice cream and the Fresh Plum Sauce in parfait glasses, beginning with ice cream and ending with sauce. YIELD: Approximately 6 servings or 1 1/2 cups sauce.

STEWED FRESH PLUMS
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon fresh plum juice
1/16 teaspoon salt
1 two-inch cinnamon stick
1 pound fresh ripe plums

Combine sugar, water, lemon juice and salt in a saucepan. Add cinnamon stick and bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Meanwhile, cut plums in half, remove pits and place in boiling syrup. Boil until tender, 3 to 5 minutes. Remove from heat and chill. Serve as dessert or as a meat accompaniment. YIELD: 4 servings.

Current Life Magazine Devotes 18 Pages To Texas Power, Sweep

Texas is "a restless land of energy and opportunity, a place where a man can undertake almost anything — and probably make it work."

That statement will not surprise most Texans; they know it already. But it may be news to many millions of Americans who read it this week as Life magazine begins a major two-part series on the Lone Star State. The two installments appear in the July 1 and July 8 issues, a total of 32 pages.

This week's opening article includes 14 pages of four-color photographs of Texas scenes shot by veteran Life photographer Ralph Crane, who spent seven months on the assignment. There are pictures of Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Lubbock, Corpus Christi, Tyler, Laredo, Gonzales, Anderson, Beaumont and the Big Bend country.

The second installment, in Life's July 8 issue, will concern itself with individual Texans who have distinguished themselves in various fields of endeavor.

Life associate editor David Nevin, himself a Texan, wrote the text that follows the photographic story. It's titled "A People Out for Stars, Not Peanuts" and in it Nevin describes the unflagging excitement and vitality "that sets Texas apart from the rest of the nation."

"The frontier of Texas," he writes, "is still close in time, close enough to give the state a special flavor of self-reliance, of freedom from the strictures of older societies — a kind of tacit statewide agreement that what a man did or was yesterday counts for nothing against what he can accomplish today."

"It is an atmosphere in which men can act. And the great pools of capital that come from oil gives them the capacity to act. These two bases of action interwork, each lending strength to the other, and make possible—even expectable — such coups as that of the Leidtke brothers, who were able to gain controlling interest in United Gas Corp."

The Life article is not completely uncritical of Texas. "Out of a population of 10 million, 800,000 are functional illiterates," the magazine says, "and a million workers earn less than the $3,000 that the federal government considers the poverty cutoff. In south Texas, heavily Mexican-American, more than half the people are living below the poverty level."

Minor minus Life found include the fact that "there are few nightclubs or good restaurants in all of Texas, and the state liquor laws are puritanical."

Yet, with it all, Life says, "the old excitement of the frontier becoming the present still grips Texas; the action is faster than it has ever been. The nights sparkle with the lights of great cities; the days are rimmed with a huge sky."

Sheppard Slates July 4th Events

Sheppard AFB — Sheppard Air Force Base will celebrate the Fourth of July with a three-day observance of "The Day of Freedom."

Sheppardites will observe the Fourth of July holiday during a three-day schedule of dances, variety shows, sporting events, and of course, the traditional fireworks display. Activities will begin July 2 and continue through July 4.

Festivities will begin with a variety show and dance to be held in the Service Club parking lot on July 2, will continue with a schedule of softball, volleyball, tennis, and swimming scheduled for the 3rd, and will end with a fireworks display to be held at the base football field July 4.

On the committee responsible for setting up the "Day of Freedom" celebration are Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, Sheppard vice commander, Col. Charles W. Johnstone, 3750th Technical School commander, Col. Geoffrey P. Wiedeman, Medical Service School commander, and Lt. Col. Redick M. Hamer, chief, Personnel Services Division.

Local Girl Wins Play-Day Awards

The Wichita County 4-H Jr. Horse Club held their fourth countywide play-day Saturday, June 18 at the Mounted Patrol Arena in Wichita Falls.

Judge for the show was Slim Graham from Archer County and the ring steward was Tom Gibbs of Iowa Park.

Denise Cozby of Burkburnett placed in the following categories: Registered Gelding 4 years and over; Junior Western Pleasure; Junior Reining; Junior Pole Bending; Junior Barrel Race and Junior High Point Winner. Stalland rope halters and belt buckles were donated by American Trust Life Ins. Co. and presented to the High Point winners.
