After four years struggle in establishing themselves as Texas, top semi-pro football team, the Burk Burnett Kings now move up into bigger things, as they make ready to compete as a member of the Texas Football League, a professional circuit that seeks to build itself a place alongside other top minor leagues.

Promises of financial aid from major league clubs of the National and American Football Leagues have added a note of excitement to the infant league. There will be a couple of probationary seasons before such aid is available to the T. F. L. However, as soon as the circuit is on a sound footing, other benefits are due also.

The T. F. L. met Sunday, July 3, to review prospects and decide on a league commissioner. Several prominent sports personalities were discussed and the selection will be released to the press around July 17. The commissioner's duties include ruling on all protests and enforcing league policy.

League directors are Don M. Carraway of Pasadena, president; Duncan McCauley of Sherman-Denison, vice president; Bill Crow of Dallas, secretary; and James W. Wenner of Tulsa, treasurer.

League teams include the Sherman-Denison Jets, the Dallas Rockets, the Odessa-Midland Cardinals, the Tulsa Oilers, the Pasadena Pistols, and the Burk Kings.

E. J. Webb is coach of the Kings, along with Norman Jones, a defensive coach, and Scott Hodge, assistant defensive coach. Darrell Nichols is club president and public relations director is Dee Underwood. Members of the clubs' board of directors are Eugene Guthrie, Webb, Hodge, Jones, James Morris, Buddy Meadows, and Bob Laurick. The Kings have purchased new equipment in preparing for the first season in the T. F. L.

League rules limit each team to a 40 player maximum and a 24 player minimum. The Kings began their one day workouts Tuesday, July 5th, at Hamilton Park in Wichita Falls. Their pre-season training continues with one day workouts until the exhibition season begins August 20. The first league game will be here September 3, against the Dallas Rockets.

Working under a type of "double - elimination" set-up, the T. F. L. will hold a post season playoff between the first and second place teams in the standings. The official champion will be crowned as a result of this contest, the first week in December.

This is a big step for the Kings who have had to fight for survival throughout their existence. Despite a wide assortment of problems, including playing sites, lack of competition, last minute schedule changes, and others, the Kings have lasted, mostly on raw "gumption" and an "I can" attitude. The fine caliber of players also helped in their quest for recognition.

Now they are in a SOLID professional minor league and they warrant your support. A lot of people don't realize the hard work and effort involved in the development of the Burk Kings. These men practice and play in dead earnest. Coach Webb is one of the area's finest graduates of Midwestern University and quite a football star in his own right.

The Kings are not old men out to run off some excess energy and a few pounds. These are determined young men, anxious for a chance at playing major league football. These minor leagues, playing by National League rules, are the stepping stones for such ambitious young athletes.

Many people feel that Burk Burnett can not support a minor league team, but remember, Greenbay, Wisconsin, home of the world famous Greenbay Packers, is a town with a population of only 20,000.

The citizenry of Burk Burnett, along with their neighbors of the area, can and should fill the stadium this season. The Kings braintrust have labored hard and long to bring top grade football to this area. They are a fine bunch of people, well respected where ever the Kings play. Believe it or not, a lot of people who never knew where Burk Burnett was, now know because of the excellent representation by the club.

This is bound to be the most exciting season in the history of the Kings. It would be an extremely nice thing if the people of Burk Burnett and the people of Wichita County would show these boys that we are proud of them by attending all their home games this 1966 season.

DON'T TAKE ANY WOODEN NICKELS

THE NICKEL'S LAST STAND

The nickel is celebrating its 100th birthday. And down through the year it has been a symbol of the fluctuations in buying power.

It was born during the Civil War, when silver coins had all but vanished as people hoarded them or shipped them abroad.

By 1879 the nickel assumed merchandising significance with the establishment of the "Great Five Cent Store" which a year later became Woolworth's 5 and 10 cent store — the forerunner of a new concept in retailing.

Profits from the nickel and dime items made it possible for F. W. Woolworth Company to build the first modern skyscraper in 1913 and pay $13 million in cash for it.

Today, the ever-growing list of goods or services that used to cost only a nickel — phone calls, newspapers, ice cream cones, cigars, candy bars — brings back nostalgic memories as the familiar 5-cent items all but disappear.

About the only nickel bargain left today, is the ferry ride to Staten Island from New York City.

Although the nickel has been produced in the billions, the Treasury Department calls it simply a "five-cent piece" . . . but irrespective of what it is called, who could forget these two famous quotations:

Thomas Riley Marshall — "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

Franklin P. Adams — "What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel."

Ernest G. Swigert, chairman of the board of directors of the Hyster Company, has said, "Personally I want to stop our frightening slide into a totalitarian state and I am not particularly interested in the party label of the candidate. But if either or both political parties succumb to the temptation of placing expediency above principle, they had better remember what a Frenchman said over one hundred years ago: "The American Republic will endure until politicians discover they can bribe the people with their own money."

There's nothing new about the automatic vending machine. In fact, it's 2,000 years old. A recent article in a magazine titled "Food Marketing in New England" pointed out that in 19 B. C. a Greek priest introduced a form of automatic vending. He devised a machine that dispensed holy water when activated by a coin. And, in the 10th century a Chinese inventor rigged up a bamboo pole so that a coin dropped in a slot released a pencil.

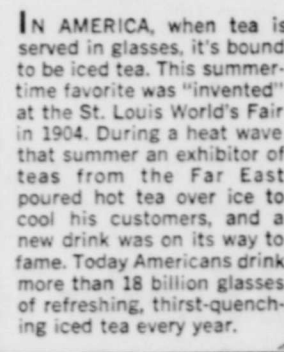

Commenting on the cost off public welfare programs, Rep. Richard Roudebush (R-Ind.) said, "There are 3.2 million now unemployed and there are about 7.8 million on relief. This is a costly business for the American taxpayer. Since 1948 . . . the cost of federal, state and local relief has gone up 27 per cent — from $4.6 billion a year to $6.5 billion."

Did You Know?

TEA, next to water, is the most popular beverage in the world. Though tea-drinking habits vary from country to country, it's the drink of hospitality and friendship wherever you go. In many lands, hot tea is served in glasses. Iran is one. Here the host will touch his heart and forehead as he passes the tea. Iranians often put a piece of sugar in the mouth before drinking.

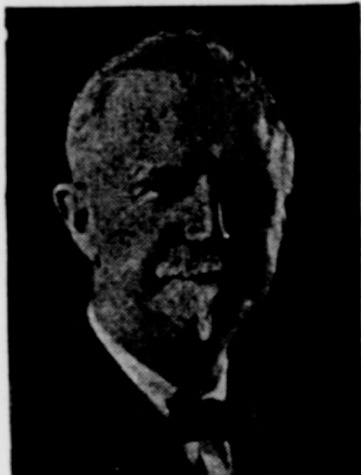

IN IRAQ, too, tea is served in glasses. Here the host will pour a little tea into the saucer to indicate you are welcome in his home. Mid-Europeans also follow the custom of serving tea in glasses and of placing sugar or a spoonful of jam in the mouth before drinking it. In Saudi Arabia, you're apt to find your tea flavored with mint leaves.

IN AMERICA, when tea is served in glasses, it's bound to be iced tea. This summertime favorite was "invented" at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. During a heat wave that summer an exhibitor of teas from the Far East poured hot tea over ice to cool his customers, and a new drink was on its way to fame. Today Americans drink more than 18 billion glasses of refreshing, thirst-quenching iced tea every year.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

OUR 1966 FORECAST

Babson Park, Mass., July 7—As we New Englanders say, a lot of water has gone over the dam since our business and financial forecast for 1966 was published here on December 30, 1965. Both the Gross National Product and the Federal Reserve Index of Production have scaled new peaks in the first half of 1966 . . . just as we expected. But the stock market (as we also felt might happen) stumbled while business was still climbing.

Foreign Skies Still Clouded
Looking back, we find that last December we counted on more important developments to come out of Russia than actually took place. Very definitely South Vietnam has dominated the international scene. The "fireworks" in that unhappy country may well account for the relative inaction of the Russians.

Also, despite the rumble of threats from Red China, that rousing giant has been preoccupied with shifts in the Peking power setup. These should become increasingly clear later in the year. We were quite right in predicting no major war with either Russia or China. And we still feel our forecast that the balance would swing our way in Vietnam has been borne out, and will become even more apparent when the dry season returns to Southeast Asia.

Gains Harder to Come By
Six months ago we reasoned that the best of 1966 might be seen in the first half. Although some further progress will be made, we still feel that the economy may become more on the defensive. First signs of serious faltering have already occurred in automobiles. In this field we foresaw, last December, "no significant upsurge beyond the high levels of the past two years." Looking toward 1967, we now believe it will be even harder for the car builders to make progress. Best bet is that total output will trail last year by 5% or even more. This will act as a minor drag on business generally.

As projected, the bulge in defense spending proceeded on schedule . . . but did not overwhelm our economy; likewise, wage rates and the cost of living spurred, leaving in their wake grave fears of runaway inflation (which has not yet developed) and a slowdown in the rate of profits gain. The biggest block to further substantial advances by business (in addition to the auto slowdown) are the developing paralysis in home building and the checks to the long rise in capital outlays. Last December we expected these retarding trends to develop.

Credit the Culprit

Six months ago we said, " . . . the greater danger will lie in credit inflation, rather than in price inflation." And we have had indeed a mighty boom in credit; but the wellsprings are drying up. Interest rates have soared. More to the point, those who would like to expand — from home builders to school builders — are finding that funds either are not available or can be had only at prohibitive cost.

Some economists have begged the government to use its tax power to slow the economy . . . so credit inflation will not spill over into runaway price inflation and then a big bust. Apparently Uncle Sam has left the job of "cooling off" the boom to the money managers . . . the Federal Reserve Board. It is the old-fashioned way; it is cumbersome, all-embracing—sort of a shotgun method that hits around as well as on target—and, above all it is slow. But just because it is slow, don't think it won't work. It is working. That is why we still look for the final half year to be less boomy than the first half.

On Stocks And Bonds

In our 1966 Forecast, we warned of speculation and gambling in stocks. We also looked for bonds to decline. Actually, bonds have declined more than we expected. They are now at a point where new issues of high quality—"AA" or "AAA"—may be bought on a long maturity basis, especially if they are protected against early call. Certainly they may be better buys than some of the widely touted growth stocks. Indeed, we believe that these days—and the days just ahead—will come to be looked upon as one of the great opportunities of this century for buying and holding top-grade government, local and corporate bonds with long maturity and with protection against sudden call.

Texas Tech's enrollment has increased 102.4 per cent during the past 10 years.

The Texas Chemical Council compiled these figures from reports of 39 chemical companies which operate 50 plants in Texas. The companies reporting spent more than 30,000 man-hours and more than 75 per cent of the cost of the facilities.

The survey showed more than $47 million worth of permanent facilities were added by the chemical industry during 1965. $4,844,169 for water improvements and $2,589,170 for air improvements. Thirty-seven of the 39 reporting companies reported some type of improvement during the year.

The survey reported companies in size from about 20 employees to more than 5,000 employees reflected a wide range of spending. One small company reported a total pollution control investment of $27,000 and an equal operating cost of $3,000. Six large companies reported investments of more than $5 million each, with operating costs ranging up to $1,000,000 annually.

The average pollution control investment per company was approximately $1,700,000, and the average annual operating cost was more than $250,000 a year.

The survey indicates the 39 companies have invested about $33,491,922 and air investment totaled $33,404,780. Water facilities, however, are not twice as expensive to operate. Operational costs for water facilities during 1965 totaled $6,368,316, while operational costs for air facilities totaled $3,691,906.

Water pollution control expenditures have been made along the Gulf Coast, where chemical plants are heavily concentrated. The survey showed that more than half of the chemical industry's total clean air and water investment has been made within a 50-mile radius of Houston. The 24 plants within this radius have invested a total of $33,951,978 for pollution control.

Their efforts to clean air and water, chemical companies reported use of traps, skimmers, settling ponds, biological treatment plants for sanitary storm sewers, acid and alkali neutralizers, gas scrubbers, distillers, electrostatic precipitators, water oxidation, evaporation, incinerators, mist separators, automatic alarm systems, smokeless flares, river purifiers, and continuous waste treatment.

Several companies have constructed deep disposal wells, permitting disposal of waste materials several thousand feet below the surface and cemented off from fresh water formations. Others put waste materials on barges, for disposal more than 100 miles into the Gulf of Mexico. Practically all stressed the importance of building pollution control facilities into manufacturing processes and plant designs. Most plants, for example, are designed with enclosures and basins which would prevent flow out of the manufacturing area even during heavy rains or emergency spills.

The most important step toward control of water pollution may be the growing tendency of companies to re-use water rather than dump it. Several companies report 90 to 95 per cent re-use of water, and some are approaching total re-use.

Along with its monetary investment, the chemical industry also reported a sizeable investment in pollution control personnel. The 39 companies reported a total of 151 engineers whose primary duty is the preservation of clean air and water.

In addition to the full-time engineers, who work more than 300,000 man-hours per year, the companies report an incalculable number of man-hours by regular operating personnel and plant managers who handle pollution problems as a part of their normal duties.

The Texas Chemical Council survey was made during April, May, and June. Dr. Earle B. Barnes, chairman of the Texas Chemical Council Air and Water Conservation Committee, said the figures produced by the survey are "indicative of the outstanding job most chemical companies are doing to prevent pollution of the state's air and water resources. This survey indicates that most companies have accepted their responsibilities and are working with their ingenuity, manpower, and money to handle a difficult problem."

Texas Chemical Council has worked steadily for continued improvements in pollution control. By unanimous vote of its Board of Directors, the Council earlier this year adopted a policy stating that "discharge of any harmful substance into the atmosphere or any public body of water should be limited to the lowest practical level." It urged member companies to individually assume responsibility for working toward that objective. The resolution also urged member companies to cooperate with governmental agencies and to exchange information with others who seek to protect that state's air and water resources.

For several years the Council has maintained an Air and Water Conservation Committee to help solve pollution problems and aid in interchange of information about preservation of air and water quality.

A Letter From An Old Church

By The Scribe

To our friends in Burk Burnett, grace and peace to you from God our Father.

St. John the Divine Episcopal Church is proud to have as their new minister, Mr. Michael Merriman, who will reside at the Church Apartment, Mr. Merriman announced that the offices of Morning and Evening Prayer will be held at the church at 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. respectively. Everyone is invited to attend these services at anytime. The church is always open to all residents of Burk Burnett for private prayers and meditation.

Please note the change of time for the Sunday morning service to 8:45 a.m. This change was necessary so that Rev. Wm. Russell, from St. Stephens, Wichita Falls, can be present to celebrate the Holy Communion for the next six months, until Mr. Merriman is ordained a priest.

St. John the Divine was represented in the Rodeo Parade with "The Country Parson" in a black buggy. Rev. Walter A.

Gerth and Faith Sturdavant rode in the buggy. Riding before and after the buggy were Mr. and Mrs. Roger McCollom, Mrs. Mary Sturdavant and Miss Jean Sturdavant.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan gave a Housewarming Party for Mr. Micheal Merriman at the National Bank June 28 at 7:30 p.m. Sandwiches, chips and dip, cake, punch and coffee were served.

The Forum will continue on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. every week. These sessions consist of discussions on all types of subjects. We invite all residents of Burk Burnett, to come and join in these very interesting discussions.

Speaker Of House Ben Barnes Completes Two-Week Peru Tour

LIMA, PERU — President Belaunde extends greetings to Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes in Lima. Barnes, who is in Peru on a two-week fact-finding trip, met with the Peruvian leader several times during his stay.

Speaker of the House, Ben Barnes, has completed a highly successful two-week tour of Peru in the interest of people-to-people aid and encouragement of private investment opportunities in the South American country.

Speaker Barnes arrived in Lima June 17 as head of a Texas Partners of the Alliance with Peru term exploring ways to be of further effective aid to the country and to encourage private investment.

During the first week of his visit, he conferred three times with President Belaunde, exchanged ideas with cabinet members, visited barriades, new housing projects, rural education centers for students and teachers, remote villages in the Andes and farming areas.

On his first visit to the presidential palace, Barnes presented President Belaunde a new Ford tractor and accessories which will be used in a farming community which previously had no mechanical equipment. He also gave the president a certificate from The University of Texas at Austin, recognizing him as a "distinguished alumnus." Belaunde graduated from the University school of architecture with a master's degree in 1935.

Barnes and the Partners team were guests of Enrique Dibos-Dammert and Carlos Boza, former head of the Peruvian Partners of the Alliance, at Dibos-Hacienda Santa Rosa, and inspected large scale irrigated farming operations. Barnes also addressed students of the rural training school near Huaura and discussed arrangements for gift of another electric generator to the village of Quintay.

The village already has one small generator installed by Texas Partners a year ago. Mr. Barnes outlined to Minister of Public Works and Development Sixto Gutierrez and directors of the Society of National Industries an idea for a Texas-Peru industrial-agricultural conference in Austin next fall. The proposal for a "broad interchange of ideas" on industrial and agricultural opportunities in Peru was enthusiastically received.

At Barriada Acapulco near the port of Callao, Barnes pro-

nised Texans interested in Peruvian aid will soon deliver a pump and pipe to provide water for school facilities.

Barnes also recommended creation of a privately financed, nonprofit corporation to bring Peruvian vocational teachers to James Connally Technical and Vocational Institute near Waco, Texas, for intensive training in modern skills. Dr. Jorge Deza Villegas, Peru's director of technical education, applauded the suggestion for an exchange of vocational teachers.

President Belaunde invited Barnes to be his guest at ceremonies marking closing of multimillion-dollar development loans to Peru, and introduced him at the gathering of top government officials.

Barnes flew over the Andes to Cuzco, ancient capital of the Inca Empire, and visited a model self-help project where Peruvian teachers are working and studying without pay to train themselves in rural education specialties. Twenty-two teachers are paying their own expenses to train at the school at Coorao.

A planned trip to the famous "lost city" of Machu Picchu was cancelled abruptly when the small train in which Barnes was riding with a large group derailed thru an open switch. There were no injuries in the minor accident just outside Cuzco.

Returning to Lima, Barnes was a dinner guest of President Belaunde and discussed a wide variety of subjects with him including Peruvian participation in HemisFair 1968 at San Antonio, Texas. The Speaker also invited President Belaunde on behalf of University of Teax regents to inspect the site of the Lydon B. Johnson library in Austin and to review the plans for the building.

Barnes flew to Iquitos, deep water port in the remote Amazon River jungle country, in President Belaunde's plane. He also visited Rio de Janeiro to encourage Brazilian participation in HemisFair. He reported Peru's participation in the "fair of the America's" is now virtually assured.

Upon returning to Austin, Speaker Barnes said, "This trip has been one of the most gratifying and heartwarming experiences of my life. I feel sure that in the future we will see many tangible results of the work we have begun here to aid in the development of a great, friendly country and to open additional investment opportunities for American capital abroad."

LETTER PERFECT

SATISFIED . . . because of a job well done.
The last check . . . reveals a well organized, carefully typed letter, and now she is ready to present it to her boss for his inspection and signature.
Each of us needs to periodically check our lives, making sure that all is in order and would stand an inspection by the Lord. Are we letter perfect? Would He be satisfied with us? It is true that none of us are perfect, but if we study God's word and strive to follow God's will, He will be satisfied with us.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

year, I ran into a financial emergency and borrow heavily on my credit. I have just received the first year's invoice due on the loan. Situation has improved but not yet "back on my feet". Paying the installments of my premiums, very difficult at this time. I don't pay the interest, but knowing considerably about the status of my loan, we cannot tell you what would happen if you should talk the problem immediately with your agent. He can get specific answer quickly from the insurance company, probably give you some advice.

When the policy lapses, then the policy companies generally notify policyholders when their insurance policy lapses because of debt. And, if it does not, companies give the policyholder an opportunity to the policy (although not necessarily obligated without at least request to show that he is able).

College Queens Compete In Chrysler Safe Driving Tests

The Pageant, for the first time in its history, included a Safe Driving test based on national driving laws and psychological characteristics. The Chrysler Corporation, sponsor of the tests, is well known for its Driver Education program in high schools across the country. The tests were conducted under the supervision of Dr. Leon Brody and Professor William Toth of the New York University Center for Safety Education. Dr. Brody is also a member of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety.

Each of fifty college queen finalists were tested for Safe Driving ability over a period of three days. Two written tests were followed by a 25-minute turn behind the wheel. Judges for the event included federal and state authorities in safety education, and traffic control. The Chrysler Corporation awarded a $500.00 U.S. Savings Bond to the winner of the Safe Driving event and engraved silver trays to runners-up. The National College Queen received a 1966 Plymouth Sports Fury convertible.

ARE YOU REJECTING THE CONSTITUTION?

DON'T YOU AGREE that to be a citizen of the USA one must accept (abide by) the constitution?

To be in clubs and lodges, doesn't one have to accept their constitutions? Fair-minded persons agree that if one wishes to be in an organization, one must accept its constitution!

SHOULDN'T THE SAME PRINCIPLE HOLD TRUE IN THE CHURCH OF THE LORD?

THE WORD OF GOD has always been the ONE AND ONLY TRUE CONSTITUTION OF THE CHURCH! (NEVER have men's opinions, human creeds, nor the voice of the church been man's true spiritual constitution.) "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God . . ." 1 Peter, 4:11. "All scripture is given . . . that the man of God may be perfect (complete), thoroughly furnished unto all good works." 2 Tim. 3:16, 17.

BY: varying church organization, Phil. 1:1; omitting baptism as one part of conversion, Acts 2:38; substituting sprinkling and pouring for baptism, Rom. 6:14; adding unauthorized instrumental music to worship, Eph. 5:19; any other addition, subtraction, or alteration, Rev. 22:18, 19-Gal. 1:6-8; — ONE IS FAILING TO ABIDE BY THE CONSTITUTION.

To be an American citizen, mustn't one abide by the constitution?

To be a citizen of the kingdom of heaven, mustn't one accept its constitution (God's Word)?

Questions - Answers

Q—I am severely disabled and in a VA Hospital. I will be hospitalized about 2 months, then will require nursing home care as my wife will be unable to care for me. Shall I wait until I am discharged from the hospital to file claim for increased pension?

A—You should file your claim for increased pension now, as "housebound benefits" of $35 per month may be payable while you are hospitalized.

Q—I had active duty in the Army from January 1965 to December, 1965. I spent more than two years of this time in Viet Nam. I was in an automobile accident in February, 1966 which rendered me permanently and totally disabled. May I receive pension for these disabilities since I am a veteran of the Viet Nam war?

A—No. Pension is payable to veterans of World War I, World War II, and the Korean Conflict discharged under other than dishonorable conditions after 90 days or more active duty, or because of a service-connected disability from reasons not traceable to their service.

Q—What period of service is required for entitlement under the new GI Bill?

A—Six months (181 Days) of continuous active service since February 1, 1955 or discharged for service incurred disability. Full time duty in Armed Forces shall include authorized travel to and from active duty.

Traveling with Kitty
If you're planning to travel with your pet, you'll want to know what to do with Kitty, stop puzzling. Cats are good travelers. And you're more convenient to have along than worry about feeding lonesome in a hotel cattery kennel.
Before taking your trip, buy a carrying case in a pet supply store. Luggage-like carrier with holes and, in some cases, see-through screen for a homemade case will do well but make one that can't claw or chew through and clean smelling. Proper feeding is particularly important. Be sure to carry a supply of dry commercial cat food. Purina Cat Chow dry cat foods don't require refrigeration, and they have a clean smelling, protein-rich drinking water. Frequent water changes are necessary. If you plan to drive, get inside the car seven before the trip. If you're taking him in a car, keep him in a collar and never leave him loose in an open window or door. Check in advance as to railroad, motel and hotel regarding cats, but be prepared for confusion. Many representatives aren't prepared to answer questions regarding cats. Ask for a list of veterinarians for cats ride in their baggage compartments. You make any fuss, Kitty to have a pleasant trip - probably longer than you probably expect.
