NEW CLASSES OF POOR

Authoritative voices warning of the dangers of more, and perhaps heavy, inflation are coming from almost all directions these days. One of the most recent was raised by the American Bankers Association — an organization whose most profound concerns lie in the realm of fiscal policy and in the value of the dollar as a purchasing agent.

It will be extremely difficult, the statement said, to prevent inflation this year. It offered two primary reasons: "Utilization of plant capacity in many industries is above or close to the desired range." Further, "Unemployment has fallen to an eight-year low, and labor shortages of some specific goods are reported, and shortages may spread if the war in Viet Nam intensifies further."

Then the Association came to what may well be the matter. It said it would support any necessary increases in taxes, but added: "We believe strongly . . . that no request for an emergency tax increase should be made or granted without firm accompanying efforts to cut back on domestic spending proposals."

This, it is clear, is a reference to the government's effort to fight a major war and at the same time pursue welfare programs of unpredictable scope and cost. Under these conditions, inflation is not only probable but inevitable. And, ironically, every time the value of the dollar declines it automatically creates new classes of poor — while a war on poverty is a primary government objective!

A GOOD OMEN

Surveys have shown that there is a lack of understanding of the fundamentals of the American economic system in the nations' schools. This lack is dangerous because it means that millions of young people may assume the full responsibilities of citizenship without realizing that economics and freedom are two sides of the same coin. Many leaders in business, industry and education are taking remedial action. Industry interest is exemplified by a major oil company which recently gave fifty southeastern Pennsylvania high school students a close look at how the economy works by inviting them to attend the Annual Meeting as guests of the company.

Prior to the meeting, they met the president and chairman of the company, who explained the proxy system and procedural matters. For the company, they also expressed pleasure at having a chance to give the students a practical lesson in economics. The students attendance was planned to supplement classroom work, and they were required to report on their their classmates when they returned to their schools.

It is one thing to talk about the virtues of democracy and freedom, but it takes more than talk to preserve them. It takes knowledge and vigilance handed down from one generation to the next. It is indeed a good omen when the officials of the nation's leading enterprises personally help to pass on their knowledge to tomorrow's citizens.

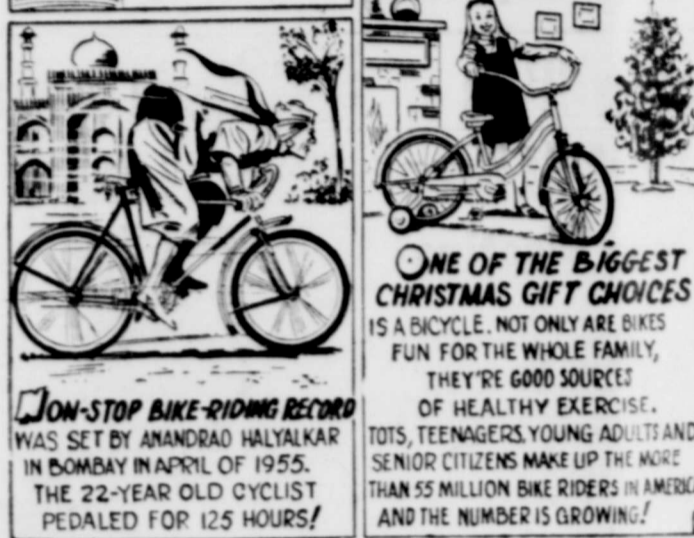

New Generation Rail Travelers

Writing in Railway Age, Joe Asher observes that, "Rail passenger service in the United States could be compared to the man who keeps getting knocked on his ear, picks himself up off the pavement — and comes back for more." But those who have consigned the passenger train to the history books may be in for a surprise. True, trains that are chronic money losers should, and are coming out of the service. On the other hand, good service combined with smart marketing and promotion still fills a great many passenger trains, keeping equipment utilized, creating goodwill, and on occasion, making a profit.

A number of factors may lead to a comeback for the passenger train in the United States. Other countries, such as France and Germany, are working on 125-150 mile per hour trains. A short time ago, a contract was signed by the Commerce Department with a rail line in our own country calling for the beginning of high speed, experimental train service between New York and Washington late in 1967. Also, there is a resurgence of interest in vacation travel by train. It is expected that by 1970, the number of annual visitors from abroad will top one million. One travel agency that specializes in deluxe travel tour of the U. S. by chartered train complains there is not enough pullman equipment available.

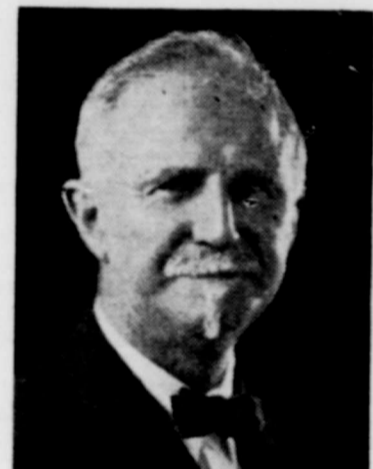

Passenger service is still a money losing proposition for the railroads — some $410 million in 1965. Still, there are indications of a potential resurgence in rail passenger traffic. The coming generation may have an opportunity to ride behind the iron horse after all.

THE BATTLE AGAINST FAMINE

Babson Park, Mass., July 14 —There is mounting concern in our country and elsewhere because we are failing to meet the food needs of all the 3.4 billion people living on the earth. If we cannot meet those needs now, how shall we feed the 4.6 billion people expected to be on this planet in 1980?

Population Control

Right now, the worst of the hunger problem appears to be centered in India, though there is good reason to believe that many of the 700 million people of mainland China are also seriously undernourished. The immediate task in India is to get foodstuffs to the affected areas in quantities large enough to sustain the lives of the hungry. Apart from that, there are other long-range efforts being made to meet world food requirements. One of these is in the field of population control.

Birth control and family planning have been gaining acceptance gradually. As a result, birth rates are falling in such places as Hong Kong, South Korea, Singapore, and Taiwan. Also, the initial benefits of population control are expected to be felt in India and Pakistan soon. However, it will be a long time before population control really cuts back births (not birth rates alone) to more manageable proportions. It is not likely that a stationary world population can be achieved in our time . . . barring widespread famine or pestilence, or large-scale nuclear war.

Increased Crop Yields

In addition to population control programs, governments the world over are helping to conquer famine and/or improve the health of their peoples by boosting crop yields. Underdeveloped nations must, of course, make new land tracts available for crop planting. But this alone will not supply the needs of the population upsurge that is expected.

Expanded crop yields will be a slow attainment. Lack of funds, lack of experts with necessary agricultural know-how, lack of education, and lack of incentives to persuade land owners to co-operate—all these will hamper and delay the effort to boost crop yields. Wheat Reserves Are Shrinking this need for increased crop yields is by no means centered in the overpopulated areas of Asia and Latin America. It is found also in other areas of the world that, by contrast, are more fully developed. It is found even in parts of Europe itself, and especially in the Soviet Union which is already hard put to feed its own growing population properly. Moreover, this need for increased crop yields is becoming more insistent as world wheat reserves shrink.

When the final figures are in for the crop year now ending, it will be found that use of U.S. wheat for domestic and export demand has set another new record. As world food needs intensify, the U.S., Canada, Australia, and other large wheat producers will see their wheat output moving ever more swiftly into consuming channels.

Fish Protein Concentrate

Obviously, wheat and other food grains alone (including rice, which is so important a part of the human diet in the heavily populated areas of Asia) cannot be grown fast enough to keep up with the world's needs. It is not surprising, therefore, that during her recent visit to the U.S. the Prime Minister of India, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, is reported to have expressed considerable interest in fish protein concentrate. Although this quite inexpensive and highly nutritious product was developed many years ago, we are still awaiting its approval by the Food and Drug Administration. Once the O.K. has been given, there is good reason to hope that fish flour can become an important food supplement and a new weapon in the struggle against world famine.

The Creator intended that man should receive his sustenance from both the land and the sea. We have by no means exhausted the possibilities of crop development and livestock husbandry. Little by little, we will uncover more of the secrets of nature with respect to plants and animals. But should we not also be devoting more attention to uncovering the secrets of the sea? Fish and fish flour are nutritious and have much to offer the hungry of the world. And who knows what nutritive values lie hidden in the minerals and algae of the seven seas?

COD LIVER OIL

Put drop of cod liver oil on your bait — or any natural fish oil like it — and see if you don't catch more than the next guy.

News From The County Agent

In most of the Rolling Plains counties 80 per cent of the cotton is up to a good stand. During the past several weeks fields in the northern counties were still being planted due to weather conditions at planting time. Some of the early cotton is squaring and much of this cotton will soon reach the one-third stage. A few fields in the Rolling Plains area have passed the one-third grown stage of growth.

The insect count in Wichita County is light with some aphids and a few flea hoppers.

A total of 7,264,835 dairy cattle were bred artificially in the U. S. in 1965. Of this total 6,301,178 represented dairy cows to dairy bull and 963,657 (13.3%) represented dairy cows to beef bull. A total of 1,949 dairy bulls were reported in service.

Nationally 43.7 per cent of all dairy cattle were bred artificially.

All chemicals should be used according to directions and recommendations, says County Agent B. T. Haws.

Recommendations for weed control with chemicals are based mainly on effectiveness of control. "Suggestions for Weed Control with Chemicals," Extension Publication B-1029, lists current suggestions for use of chemical to control weeds and weedy plants in Texas.

The bulletin had suggestions for safe use of herbicides. The recommendation for weed control are based primarily on results of the most recent research tests by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and demonstrations by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

One And The Same

The publication has information on weed control in alfalfa, corn, cotton, rice, sorghum, and in establishing bermudagrass and other crops.

The final responsibility for safe use of any chemical rests with the user. Nearly all herbicides are potentially dangerous, but they likely will not cause injury if used properly.

FUSED FIRE

A railroad fuse, inexpensive and easily procurable, burns hot, starts the stubbornest wood.

The economy of wood A-frame construction stems from the fact that outer walls and roof are one and the same. The simplified structure involves diagonally erected wood beams converging at the roof apex under a wood roof deck. The A-frame system, an ideal medium for jointly utilizing the strength and beauty of pre-shrunk Southern Pine has been used extensively for churches and vacation homes.

NOW WHAT?

From preceding lessons, haven't we found that the Father's will FOR US is to:

- (1) LIVE the new life in Christ, 2 Cor. 5:17.
(2) HEAR what Jesus commands us, Acts 3:22,23.
(3) BELIEVE that Jesus is the Son of God, John 20:31.
(4) REPENT (Change our will) Acts 17:30, Matt. 21:28,29.
(5) CONFESS with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, Romans 10:29.
(6) BE BAPTIZED (IMMERSED) FOR the remission of sins, Acts 2:38.
(7) After Jesus saves us through the doings of the foregoing commandments, then we are to be further taught "to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, Matt. 28:20.

A Letter From An Old Church

By The Scribe

To our friends in Burkburnett, grace and peace to you from God our Father.

The Junior-High and High-school Youth of St. John the Divine Episcopal Church, 1000 S. Berry St. met last Wednesday, July 6 at 4:00 p.m. for their first meeting with Mr. Micheal Merriman, Deacon in Charge. It was voted to organize as Episcopal Young Churchmen with elections to be held at the next meeting on July 13, at 4:00 p.m. Plans were discussed for activities during the coming year.

On this coming Sunday, July 17 at 5:00 p.m., a special Pot Luck Dinner will be held in honor of the new Deacon in Charge, Mr. Micheal Merriman at the Pavillion near the golf course at Sheppard Air Force Base. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers will be host and hostess.

The present discussions at the Forums on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. will continue this month thru August. A new and special study will begin in September. Please watch for special announcements concerning these studies.

A teen-age high school girl came down to breakfast one morning wearing a tennis sneaker on one foot and a brown shoe on the other foot. Her astonished father asked her if that was the way all the girls were dressing at school.

"No," replied his daughter. "They weren't yesterday — but they will tomorrow!"

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. How large a life insurance policy does the average family buy?

A. According to year-end estimates by the Institute of Life Insurance, the average size new ordinary policy rose to $8,560 in 1965 — or about $860 larger than in 1964. ("Ordinary" policies are bought on an individual basis, usually in amounts of $1,000 or more.) The 1965 average was the largest ever.

Much of the year-to-year increases in total amounts of life insurance purchased have been due to the fact that, for about a decade and a half, families have been consistently buying larger and larger policies.

The average size new ordinary policy has nearly doubled during the past 10 years.

The nation's growing prosperity and the rising incomes of many families are major factors behind the larger policies. Families need more protection and can afford more.

Also, because of slightly lower premium rates on many larger

Year	Policy Amount
1956	Smaller
1966	Larger

policies (due to savings in administrative costs), families can often reduce their overall life insurance costs by purchasing larger amounts at a time.

Of course, many families own more than one policy. The Institute estimates that the overall protection of insured families at the end of 1965 averaged about $18,400.

Q. When a husband sets up his life insurance to provide his wife with a regular monthly income, can his wife (after his death) take the money in a lump sum instead?

A. This right is not automatic. She cannot "commute" the income to a lump sum payment unless the husband specifically authorized her to do so in the settlement provision he signed prior to his death.

In any case, if she wants to continue getting the income payments as long as she lives, she normally cannot "commute" them after she has once started to collect them, because they are based on her life expectancy.

WILD WEST SHOW AND PORPOISE ACT NEWEST ATTRACTIONS AT SIX FLAGS

The Overland Stagecoach being attacked by Kiowa Indians is just one of the exciting features of Six Flags Over Texas' newest attraction, the Wild West Show. Visitors to the 2,500-seat, open-air arena see the turbulent days of early Texas re-created as part of the colorful pageant which is presented three times daily throughout the summer.

The Wild West Show presented by Six Flags is a throwback to the traveling spectacles of yesteryear. An especially built 2,500-seat open-air arena located in the west corner of the Texas Section provides the setting for a recreation of the turbulent life of the early days of the Old West. Visitors see war-painted Kiowa Indians attacking the Overland Stagecoach, followed by mounted cavalry coming to the rescue. The action-packed show features trick riders, bull whip and rope artists and dance-hall girls among the cast of forty performers.

Produced for Six Flags by pioneer rodeo impresario Frank Rush of Lawton, Oklahoma, the performances are staged at 1:00, 3:00 and 5:00 p.m., seven days a week throughout the summer months. The Wild West Show here is not on the tomahawk and souvenir bead level, but rather places its emphasis on the excitement and historical pageantry of early Texas.

Over on Skull Island, in the Confederate Section of the 115-acre Park, a bottle-nose porpoise named Skipper II now ranks as the favorite of the young set. Put through his paces four times daily by his pretty blonde trainer, Diana Langer of Marathon, Florida, the talented and acrobatic 400-pound mammal frolics in his newly built 25,000-gallon water tank.

Both the Wild West Show and the Porpoise Act are free, as are all the rides, attractions and shows inside Six Flags being covered by the one all-inclusive ticket purchased at the main gate.

Dairy Cows Milk Production Told

Dairy cows in area herds have been credited with recently completed lactations under official production testing rules of Holstein-Friesian Association of America. These Registered Holsteins and their actual performance records are:

Dukelow Janlee Burke Rag Apple 5018004, a five-year-old, produced 18,590 lbs of milk and 645 lbs of butterfat in 305 days. Gingsons Gracious Beets Janke 5276277, a four-year-old, had 15,770 lbs of milk and 577 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days. Janlee Crescent Beauty 4884286, a five-year-old, had 14,770 lbs of milk and 515 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days. All are owned by Gene Robertson, Burkburnett.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 7,880 lbs of milk and 285 lbs. of butterfat by the average U.S. dairy cow, notes the national Holstein Association.

Texas A&M University supervised the sampling, weighing and testing operations in cooperation with the Holstein organization's herd and breed improvement programs.

DOOR OPENERS

Keys and churches are door openers. In both cases, each require you to put forth some effort. The key you must insert in the lock and turn. Our Lord made the way to heaven even easier, for all that you have to do is present yourself and believe.
"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works lest any man should boast: For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Wesleyan Service Guild Meets In Home Of Mrs. Melton

The Wesleyan Service Guild held its July meeting in the home of Mrs. O. E. Melton, with Mrs. W. E. Henry as co-hostess. During the regular business session, plans were made by Mrs. Earl D. Martin and Mrs. Don Youngblood to attend the School of Missions meeting in Dallas over the weekend.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Alma Kelley, Hettie Gilbert, Lou Ann Grady, JoAnn Evans, Avis Johnston, Bessie Kirsh, Maurice Yarbro, Lucille Duvall, Estella Martin, Ethelyn Melton and Lilla Morris. Also present were one guest, Mrs. S. S. Reger, and one new member, Mrs. Don Youngblood, wife of our new pastor. Delicious refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

The last lesson in our current study entitled: "Mission: The Flying Saucers — Serious Business!

News commentator Frank Edwards said this month that there is no longer any doubt that flying saucers do exist. He cited an Air Force directive to show that despite public denials, the Air Force also believes that flying saucers are serious business!

The Air Force document contains the very words that are the title of his new book, "Flying Saucers—Serious Business" which has just been published by Lyle Stuart and is already a national best-seller.

In his book, Frank Edwards shows how the highest authorities in our Defense Department have placed an almost impregnable censorship on all information about flying saucers—or "unidentified flying objects," as they are more formally called.

Edwards cites incontrovertible facts to prove their existence, and in his book he also offers, as further proof, thirty-two pages of photographs.

Eyewitnesses from many parts of the world, unknown to each other, have described these objects identically as to color, shape and size, as well as their peculiar maneuvers. There are many documented reports about the beings who control and sometimes man these flying objects.

UFO's (unidentified flying objects) have been spotted on radar, following and maneuvering around our missiles and satellites. Many airline pilots describe near-collisions and American jets report on their pursuit of these mysteriously propelled objects. One of the photos in the book was taken by our astronauts.

The book is packed with startling facts and fascinating reports, including the almost predictable timing of the saucer visits. The evidence suggests that UFO's frequent the Antarctic and take the question of their existence out of the realm of fancy, to which, Edwards maintains, they have been deliberately placed by both the Kremlin and the Pentagon.

"Flying Saucers—Serious Business" by Frank Edwards will startle the most skeptical reader. It may yet reverse the official policy of top secrecy. For Frank Edwards does not believe that the intelligent but mysterious beings who control the UFO's are hostile, and he concludes that a confrontation with them may well be "the greatest experience of the human race."
