Local Golfer Gets A Double Eagle

Delmar England, a local golfer, shot a double eagle on the 14th hole at Wichita Falls Country Club last week.

England was on a company picnic and golf tournament. He used a two wood from the tee and approached with a three wood on the par 5 hole, winding up with a 73 for the day, compared to his usual 83 or 84 average.

Ray Garrett, the pro at the club, said the hole is 490 yards long from the back tee. He said he couldn't remember the last time it had happened.

England, a department head at Morgan Dodge, in Wichita Falls, was playing with Jimmy Williams, Don Pack and Joe Jobe. Also witnessing the event were David Cowden, Richard Williams, Doyle Davis and Walter Harden.

England said he had had eagles before but never a double eagle nor a hole-in-one.

Youth Center Receives $10,000 Endowment From Bohner Family

Smiles were big in Burk Burnett, Thursday morning, when Alvin Hill, President of The First National Bank, presented a $10,000 endowment to John Larson, Chairman of the Youth Center Board of Directors, who expressed his gratitude to the Bohner family for their faith in the future of Burk Burnett, he said "the youth of our community is our promise for a shining tomorrow."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohner, pioneer residents of the Burk Burnett community are the generous donors of the endowment. They are also the donors of the property where the new municipal library will be built.

The income from the endowment will be used for operational purposes. It is hoped other gifts, bequests and endowments to the Youth Center will be encouraged by the Bohner's gift until the Center has sufficient income to employ a professional youth director.

Since the Center's inception, its income has been solely derived from clubs and personal donations. The doors have been kept open since 1949 through the dedicated efforts of citizens whose desire for wholesome sports and entertainment for their youth has sustained them through the years.

An expansion program for the Youth Center has been presented by the Board of Directors and if the necessary funds are donated, the facility will be doubled in size as well as a fenced patio. Over 1500 children use the Center each month, with the completion of the proposed building program, the Center could accommodate three or four thousand children each month through a varied program which would interest children from pre-school age to young adults.

Mr. Hill, one of the first directors of the Youth Center, has maintained a keen interest in the Center's welfare, he said "let us give our youth a chance for a good life—help them to maintain decency and modesty, to keep strong their moral fibre, so that they will be able to contribute to family, community, and world improvements."

He announced the following donations: Texas Electric Service Co., $500; Mr. and Mrs. George McClarty, $150; Preston Dairy, $250; First National Bank, $500; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hill, $150.

At the present time, Mrs. Albert Dillard, a well known local artist, is teaching art lessons, free of charge to students between the ages of 10 to 12.

Joe Salter, President of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor C. J. Lippard, offered their congratulations.

NOTED AND PASSED

On Eliminating Poverty: Sargent Shriver says that if the Congress will just provide him with $40 billion, more or less, he can eliminate poverty in this country entirely in the next ten years. At first we didn't think he could do it, but now after further thought we think maybe he can. Our first reaction was that extracting $40 billion from the productive, tax paying citizens would simply impoverish them while lifting the other type out of the poverty bracket, thus making it necessary for Shriver to start another ten-year plan to reverse the flow of money from the newly prosperous to the newly impoverished. But now, noting the rapid rise in food prices, we rather think that poverty eliminator Shriver must be counting on those who provide the first $40 billion to have starved to death during the first ten-year plan.

Demonstration Cities: This is a wonderful idea, with just a few amendments. We'd keep the title just as it is: "Demonstration Cities." We'd need a dozen or more of them scattered throughout the country, where demonstrators for any cause could gather and demonstrate to their hearts' content. There should be some wide streets for big demonstrations, and narrow streets for just a handful to successfully block. There should be fireproof, air-conditioned buildings for same and comfortable sit-ins. There must also be plenty of fast igniting wooden structures for more riotous occasions.

Perhaps the toughest problem will be that of equipping those Demonstration Cities with citizens to harass, tourists to stare, policemen to throw rocks at, elderly folks to mug and rob after dark, and cameramen to record it all. Without cameramen, there'd be little point in demonstrating. Would it be out of line to suggest that maybe those who are so fond of demonstrating could take turns being each other's targets?

On Federal Employment: Figures just released show that there are now more people on the Federal payroll in Washington than ever before in history. That's good. We have been mindful for some time that anybody who works actually works for the Federal government. It's nice that a few more are now getting paid for it.

GOOD QUESTIONS

Taxpayers in California, Florida, and other states are unlikely to have ever heard of the Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative Association. It was established many years ago by an Act of Congress as part of a national system of rural electric cooperatives for the purpose of bringing electricity to rural areas not adequately served by private utilities. The co-ops have enjoyed various special privileges, one of which is access to loans from the federal government at interest rates far below what the government itself has to pay on the borrowed funds. The taxpayers make up the difference.

The program of rural electrification was laudable and achieved its purpose. Something like 98 per cent of all farms now receive central station electric service. But like other electric co-ops, the Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative Association is straying far afield from the purpose for which it was created. It now proposes to use funds it has acquired, as a result of tax and interest privileges, to develop a 58 acre farm as a sort of model rural community.

In commenting on the project, the Meadville, Pennsylvania, Tribune asks, "Why should the federal government be subsidizing a housing project through a back door arrangement with a rural electric cooperative association? . . . Why should taxpayers borrow money at a high interest rate and loan it to electric cooperatives at a low rate for purposes other than those originally specified by Congress?"

These are questions that every taxpayer in the nation has a right to have answered — especially at a time when the cost of government is becoming a frightening item in the family budget.

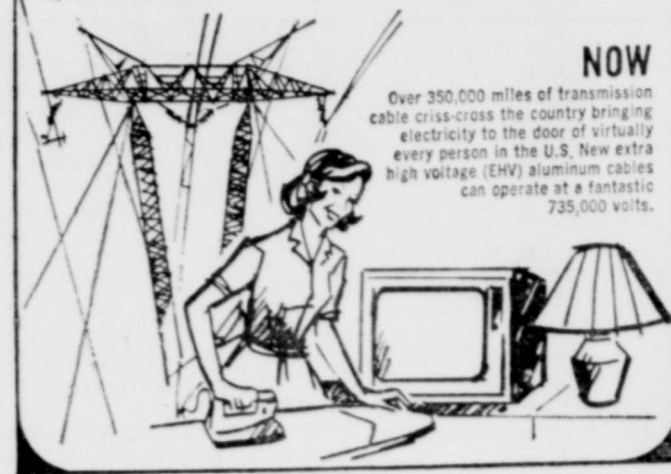

In 1959 in the United States there were 4,105,000 farms averaging 288 acres in size. Nation's Agriculture reports a continuing trend of fewer but larger farms in America. This year they number 3,286,000 with an average acreage of 350 — a 26 per cent decline.

The U. S. Commerce Department has reported that the total debt in the American economy was up to $1.3 trillion last year. Of the total, $905.4 billion was private and $362.1 billion public.

THEN & NOW

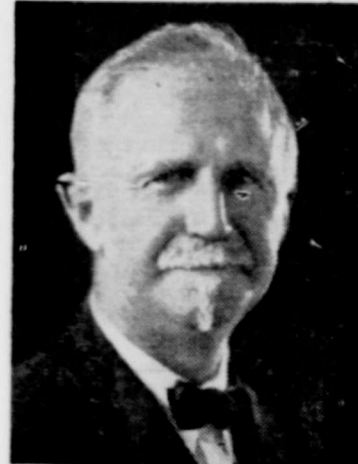

THEN
Electricity was a mere curiosity in 1882 when Edison built his Pearl Street generating station in New York. The 5,000 ft. distribution system served only 59 customers, operated at 110 volts.

NOW
Over 350,000 miles of transmission cable criss-cross the country bringing electricity to the door of virtually every person in the U.S. New extra high voltage (EHV) aluminum cables can operate at a fantastic 735,000 volts.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

MEN, MACHINES AND MONEY

Babson Park, Mass., July 21— Even with auto production and sales turning down, general business has just swept ahead to new all-time highs. Home building, another of the really big and powerful parts of our economy, is also seriously stumbling. But many of the little fellows — home furnishings, television, textiles and mining — have marched steadily upward, planting production flags on new peaks. And the biggest capital goods upswing ever keeps right on breaking all records . . . contributing mightily to the stretching out of the longest economic boom in history. How much longer can it last?

A Demand Economy

The men who run the government in Washington are bound by law to keep business booming, so that all who are willing and able may have jobs. This, in a few words, is the gist of the FULL EMPLOYMENT ACT OF 1946. This has been discussed many times in this column. But we wonder whether it has ever been clearly emphasized that the method of producing full employment is largely one of stimulating demand.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was one of the first to make an all-out effort to stimulate demand . . . to pull us out of the great depression of the 1930's. His prescription was to put money in the hands of consumers. They would buy, and that would make the retailer prosperous and he in turn would buy, making the wholesaler, manufacturer, miner, etc., flourish. Yet, years of boosting the consumers buying power did not bring prosperity.

More Than the Consumer Needed

Before other experiments in prodding demand could be tried, World War II swept over us. Employment soared. So did profits. We had an old-fashioned war boom. But when Japan surrendered, everyone feared that a huge depression would soon come. Out of this fear the FULL EMPLOYMENT ACT OF 1946 was born. Each President was to have his own Council of Economic Advisers to help him judge when to recommend, and what. And it began to be realized that more than consumer demand had to be stimulated in order to keep the economy big and strong.

Under President Kennedy the theories of a demand economy reached new heights. Profits, once looked upon as suspect, gained stature. The makers of heavy capital goods, it was recognized, had to be prosperous if they were to hire men. In a word, business itself must have its purchasing power raised, not just consumers. Investment became as popular as consumption. Even the wealthy might have their taxes cut . . . to provide more funds that would be spent for plant and equipment. To push business up, demand would have to be spurred in all sections of the economy. This has been done with great success during recent year. Employment has fallen to nominal levels; growth spurted to peacetime records.

Full Cycle

As prosperity burst into full bloom, the feeling spread among Administration leaders that they had discovered the key to perpetual prosperity. But then the situation went from bad to worse in Vietnam. A great new demand load — for arms and men — was added to our business machine already straining at capacity. Many wholesale and then consumer prices climbed. The real gains of expanding business prosperity are now being threatened by an inflation fire that could be all consuming. So now we have come full cycle — from too little demand to too much.

The economists seem to have overlooked the tremendous importance of the real substance of prosperity. This substance is men, machines, and money. Demand is the stimulant. We have already gone too far along the road of super-demand. Too much demand for money means too high wage costs; too much demand for machinery leads to the use of less efficient units, hence upped production expense; too much demand for money pushes interest costs higher and causes rationing of credit. All of these together force prices up, and the advantages of full employment are lost in the resulting inflation. We must recognize that there is a time to lower demand pressures as well as a time to increase them.

A Letter From An Old Church By The Scribe

Our friends in Burk Burnett, grace and peace to you God our Father. The election of officers was at the Episcopal Young Church last Friday, July 21, at St. John the Divine Episcopal Church, 1000 S. Berers as program chairman; Irene Sanders as Devotional Chairman; Kathy Sanders as projects chairman. After a discussion of Christian Worship the meeting was adjourned and the teenagers attended a movie. The members of St. John the Divine and guests enjoyed a cook-out at the pavilion at Sheppard Air Force Base, Sunday evening, July 17. Special guests were Rev'd. Allanson

Brown of Good Sheppard, Wichita Falls, Rev'd. and Mrs. Philip Gill, new headmaster at the Episcopal Day School in Wichita Falls, and Chaplin and Mrs. Tickner, Episcopal Chaplin attached to Sheppard. After a very delicious meal, games and watermelon was enjoyed by all. Discussion at the Forums every Wednesday evening are very helpful to all who attend. The last two sessions were on Christian Worship. Rev'd. Merriman led the discussion on the worship of all types of denominations.

On August 3rd at 7:30 p.m., Rev. Merriman will discuss the movement for reform in the Churches of Christ. On the Feast of St. James, July 24 at 7:00 p.m. Evensong was held at St. John the Divine. Following the service Rev'd. Merriman showed slides of his trip and missionary work in England and southern France.

Health and Safety Tips From AMA

HOT WEATHER DIETS FOR CHILDREN

Hot weather imposes no special dietary requirements for healthy infants and children, except for increased water intake.

If infants and children eating well-balanced diets do not tolerate ordinary heat stress, they should be investigated for illness rather than changing their diets, says the American Medical Association's Council on Foods and Nutrition.

"Poor appetites and faulty eating habits may result from the uncontrolled use of cold drinks with high calorie content, or from failure to take enough outdoor exercise, or from over-indulgence in between-meal snacks. It is unwise for adults to 'condition' children to dislike hot weather or to foist summertime food fads on them," says the AMA Council.

When the summer sun bears down and the weather is hot, inside and out, parents often give thought to changing the family dietary pattern. Should salt be added? Should certain "heavy" foods be prohibited? Does baby need a change in his formula?

The requirement for protein seems to be unchanged or possibly even increased in hot weather. If table salt is used in ordinary amounts in cooking, and is readily available at meal times, extra salt should not be needed except in very active people.

The children need more liquids in the summer to offset loss through perspiration, but this need likely will be met by the youngsters themselves. They'll get thirsty. Mother's problem is to see to it that they quench their thirst most often with plain water, and not overdo high-calorie drinks.

To make certain infants get enough liquid, offer them a few ounces of water regularly between feedings.

Small children usually do not mind hot weather unless they are conditioned by their elders to dislike it. Cool, but not freezing cold, drinks are best, and water is best of all. A short

"cooling off" and quiet period before meals may help the appetite on a hot day.

In fact, all of the usual measures and guides for developing good eating habits should be continued, irrespective of the weather.

PARROTS DO TALK... BUT!

SO DOES A RECORD PLAYER

Our Nation faces a serious threat of communism just off our shores. At the same time within our nation, they are seeking to undermine our faith in God. There are many sayings and expressions going around in our country that are communist inspired. In order to prevent "parroting" these sayings, that weaken our nation... attend church regularly, and study God's word so that the truth is more easily recognized.

"Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Kitchen-Family Room
Kitchens and family rooms are a congenial combination. If the kitchen is large enough, the area may be converted into a family room. This arrangement, the lady of the house can keep an eye on children at play without interrupting kitchen chores. Southern Pine Association suggests that the division be made by storage type partitions or cabinets housing kitchen appliances on one side and television set and bookshelves on the other. The kitchen can be transformed into a bright cheery room by applying three dimensional patterns of Southern Pine paneling directly to existing walls.

The Patient American

A recent essay on "Patience" in a national magazine deduced that, contrary to popular belief, Americans are a patient lot. To support this deduction the essay cited the patience of our forefathers in developing the West, our scientists in discovering new vaccines, and our children who are spending more and more years in school to prepare for the future.

Further, the author noted that capitalists, gradually replacing the aristocracy at the top of society, were demonstrating what the patient, long-view investment and reinvestment of money could do to liberate men from the conditions they were born to. Patience was no longer quiet resignation but purposeful action toward a long-range goal.

Among other things, this reflects a change in an entire philosophy: from the "get rich quick" approach to the more patient accrual of capital through long-term investment. This probably explains, to a great extent, the phenomenal growth of mutual funds.

Basically, mutual funds are "a purposeful action toward a long-range goal." People have turned to them because they do not want to "speculate." They would prefer to invest their money in something that is more likely to show a slower, more constant growth.

As the Investment Company Institute points out, mutual funds are a diversified, pooled investment. The money invested—and individually it can be as little as $25 a month—is pooled along with that of many others and invested by professional managers in a wide variety of securities. This type of diversification helps to reduce the risk inherent in all forms of investing.

There are over 3.5 million mutual fund investors today with investments worth more than $36 billion.

Modern Study Club Met At Trade-Winds Restaurant for Dinner

The Modern Study Club met at the Trade-Winds Restaurant in Wichita Falls for their annual installation dinner. Mrs. Pat McClure, outgoing president, presented the installation ceremony. As she presented each installing officer a link of a chain she told of each ones duties for the coming year. Each new officer linked each link together and then each member was asked to fasten a link to the chain pledging herself to do her best in the coming year. Mrs. McClure closed with the fact that a chain was only as strong as its weakest link and that our club was only as strong as its weakest member.

Officers installed were President, Loraine Askins; Vice-President, Jean Dolan; Secretary, Evelyn Nichols; Corresponding Secretary, Wanda Pierce; Treasurer, Barbara Bean; Parliamentarian, Bernadine Hayes; Reporter, Rita Hudson; and Historian, Martha Griffith.

Pat McClure presented special awards for the year. Selected as best workers of the year were Dixie Dillard and Barbara Bean. A book review by Helen Reasoner was best program of the year. Pat McClure was the only member with perfect attendance.

Loraine Askins, newly installed president, then presented a charm bracelet to Pat McClure in appreciation for her fine work and devotion as President through the past year.

This meeting was the close of another year's work. The new year will start in September. The Modern Study Club is planning more and better work for the community of Burkburnett.

THE CHURCH

You read about IT in the Bible. " . . . I will build my church . . .", Matt. 16:18; " . . . and the Lord added to the church . . .", Acts 2:47 " . . . the churches of Christ salute you.", Rom. 16:16 ("churches" did NOT mean denominations. NONE of them existed THEN. THEN — there was only "one Lord, ONE FAITH, one baptism." Eph. 4:5. With only one faith, there could be only one church.)

IT pleads for UNITY of all believers in Christ and in the "one body." Jesus prayer "that all may be one . . ." John 17:20-23, Eph. 2:14-16.

IT is NOT a denomination, nor a group of denominations, but simply the body of Christ. "And He is head of the body, the church . . ." Col. 1:18; "There is one body . . ." Eph. 4:4.

ITS aim is to save souls by preaching the gospel, "by which also ye are saved." 1 Cor. 15:1-4.
