How Come Department: The younger the listener—the louder the radio?

Not knowing what time it closed, we entered a place of business one day last week at 5:25 p.m. Knowing exactly what we wished to purchase, we stated our business and asked one necessary question. Becoming aware that our question had not been answered, we looked up to see the faces of the clerks were cold and unsmiling. Surprised, we asked if we had offended them in some way. One stated that they "just liked to get out of there by 5:30." This customer left the store at 5:29—no longer a customer.

Remember when Lucky Strike green went to war? Noticed an ad for Lucky Strike greens—War must be over.

Congratulations to Mrs. Ida Kerr, third week winner in the Ramada Inn Weekend Contest.

See where Mr. Steele is opening a recreation center at Berry and Magnolia.

Well, Mr. Wortham is going to close his shop for a week and go on vacation. Our own Lola Mae is going to leave the rest of the staff to louse things up next week while she vacations with her family. Betty Smith was just by the office—vacationing next week. Then there are those of us who spent so much time trying to decide when and where to go—that we may just have to give up the whole idea. Serves us right.

CARD OF THANKS

With deepest gratitude we extend this word of thanks for the many kind acts of sympathy expressed by thoughtful friends during our recent bereavement in the loss of our brother, W. G. Daulton. A special thanks is extended for the food, flowers, prayers and to Bro. Morrow and Bro. Brandshaw. Your kindnesses have meant much to us.

But winner she is, in the contest being sponsored by local business firms, in which ten winners will be named from the Burk Burnett trade area.

Mrs. Kerr, a fourth grade teacher at Hardin Grade School, lives at 404 Mimosa. She was also given a $5 Gift Certificate from the Famous.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

PROSPERITY IN THE SMALL TOWNS

Babson Park, Mass. — Since World War II the whole face of America has changed. There have been more numerous and more far-reaching advances in technology, industry, and transportation than in any comparable period in our history. These have been accomplished by a 28% increase in population and by a mighty cross-migration from farms to urban areas and from the large core cities to the outer suburbs. In the process, many of the nation's smaller towns have grown and prospered. But nearly as many more towns just haven't kept pace.

Growth Factors

Small-town growth has not been confined to any one section of the nation, but it has been most vigorous in the South and in the Far West reflecting the heavy movement of industry and people into those areas. Perhaps the biggest growth factor is need. Towns grow and expand to meet needs. If the needs don't materialize, there is no cause for growth. And if the needs are there, but not fully perceived or exploited, the opportunity is lost. Towns which are bound to grow are county seats, sites of colleges, or headquarters of government agencies or of sizeable service businesses or industries.

Growth begets growth. Many of the small county seats and college towns of yesteryear are today thriving cities, some of them fairly large ones. They have expanded primarily because of their development of retail and other services, and of cultural opportunities, has attracted new economic activity.

Location Is Important

Geographic location also plays an important part in the economic growth potential. If a region has abundant natural resources and is marching forward by making maximum use of its advantages, such get-up-and-go will almost automatically bring growth to many of its small towns too. Of course small towns within 20 to 30 miles of larger cities usually have better prospects for growth than do places more off the beaten track. This is true largely because even small industries need to locate where they will be assured of the required labor, good transportation, and nearness to suppliers of raw materials and other necessary equipment.

But the more isolated towns need not always be so isolated. New high-speed highways continue to open up vast tracts of land far out in the country for development. Some of the most prosperous towns of the 1970s will be entirely new communities built on sites that today are still completely rural, and in some cases actually wilderness.

Fiscal Limitations

As our smaller towns grow larger, they suffer all kinds of growing pains. Chief among these are the need all at once for enlargement of educational and recreational facilities, expansion of fire and police departments, procurement of ample water supplies, and provision of adequate plant and equipment to assure prompt and effective disposal of waste.

All these services and improvements cost money. And the cost is rising year by year. Hence it behooves those towns which must meet new demands for capital improvements to

Waggoner Carr Talks To Farmers Of West Texas

Farmers are not to blame for the high cost of living and inflation, Attorney General Waggoner Carr said today in West Texas.

"The facts show that a very small part of the present price structure of food and fiber goes to the farmer and producer," he told audiences in twelve cities and towns.

Carr, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senate, was on a three day flying tour of West Texas that carried him from the Big Bend Country to the state's panhandle.

In addition to speaking to campaign workers and supporters in the dozen cities, the Attorney General also appeared at Dalhart's XIT rodeo celebration and rode in the big show parade.

Earlier he had helped open the new Dallam-Hartley Counties Historical Museum in Rit Blanca Lake Park near Dalhart. He was principal speaker for the dedication ceremonies.

"I am greatly concerned with the present agricultural situation in our state," the Democratic candidate said. "Our farmers must be assured of fair price for their product. The consumers of our food and fiber also must be assured of an abundant supply at reasonable prices."

"It will be my aim to give effective representation in Congress and with our agricultural department. I intend to give priority to working for a satisfactory answer."

Commenting on West Texas water problems, he said, "I am dedicated to bringing into being a cooperative effort of state and federal governments to guarantee a future water supply which will support Texas booming economy and population growth."

Carr, from Lubbock said, "You have to live in West Texas to appreciate the unique and difficult water problems of our area. This will be of benefit to me as a representative of Texas in the U. S. Senate."

Changing subjects, Carr moved into plans for his senatorial campaign. He also briefed his supporters on tactics of the Republican Party.

His opponent, said Carr, will spend at least $2,000,000 in an attempt to defeat the Democratic Party this fall. Half of the money will come from beyond Texas' borders, much of it from the eastern states.

Carr returned to Austin late Saturday night. He plans to fly to Washington Sunday for three days of talks with State and defense department officials.

T. W. Adams and family of Lott, Texas, brother of Mrs. L. McDonald of Burk Burnett returned home last week after a visit here and a sight-seeing trip to New Mexico, Arizona, Las Vegas, Nevada and other points of interest.

step warily. The temptation to go full steam ahead is great; needs mushroom. But, for towns as well as for people, the foundation for lasting prosperity is fiscal sanity. Do not allow debt to become unmanageable.

Town Mergers

More and more we hear proposals that smaller towns merge with their neighbors in order to modernize their government structure and cut the overhead cost of essential services. The consolidation approach to the problems has recently been the subject of a national policy report prepared by the Committee for Economic Development. This idea is not without merit, but outright merger certainly ought not to be hastily effected.

Nowhere is the small town so much a symbol of freedom and of self-government as it is in the U.S. Loss of that identity and image—synonymous with the initiative and self-reliance that has helped make our nation great—would be irreplaceable. It would often be far better for towns to team up to operate certain services jointly than to merge outright.

ROLLING OUT THE GREEN CARPET!

ATTENDANCE BAIT!

In several places around the country, labor unions are winning their way into the hearts of housewives by awarding trading stamps for husbands' attendance at meetings.

We just wonder a bit about this altruistic approach to the democratic process. Could it be that the rank-and-file member needs an added incentive to harken to the voices of his officials? Or can one surmise that it's easier to get a quorum when the members can help their wife fill up her stamp book.

Whatever the reason, it certainly is a constructive approach to assuring that more members will be exposed to the plans of their local and hopefully have the opportunity to express their views.

The idea might really catch on with the unions which like other organizations, certainly can stand better participation in the conduct of their affairs.

NO MORE AND NO LESS

A substantial number of the states have long practiced discriminatory taxation against railroad property. They have done it by assessing that property at a higher figure, in relation to market value, than other comparable property. This has been recognized for many years as an unjust burden on an essential industry, but so far, no corrective action has been taken.

Now a long needed change may be in the offing. Senator Magnuson of Washington has introduced a bill which would make discriminatory taxation of railroad property unlawful as an undue burden upon interstate commerce. The federal courts would be empowered to enjoin collection of such taxes against interstate carriers. Significantly, ten members of the Senate Committee on Finance have joined in the effort as co-sponsors.

His own state, Senator Magnuson observed, is not among those which practice discrimination. However, he went on, the railroads which serve Washington are forced to pay millions more in taxes which are reflected in the transportation costs of everything we buy and sell. And his, of course, is true of all the other states which treat railroad property equitably in the matter of assessments. Discrimination anywhere has its unhappy effects everywhere. And, in the long run, consumers foot the bill — just as they must ultimately, one way or another, pay all the costs that are an inevitable part of providing goods and services.

Railroad property should carry the same tax load as other and comparable commercial property — no more and no less.

Health and Safety Tips From AMA

HIKING AND HEALTH

Your doctor says, "Take a walk."

Take a long walk, every day, if you can find the time. Any sort of walking is good, but a brisk walk is better.

Walking or hiking is an excellent exercise that involves many of the muscles of the body. One of the big advantages is that walking is universally available as an exercise nearly every day of the year. The strain of the activity depends on the pace and distance.

Walking can have mental health values, as well as aid physical health, if we learn to enjoy the exercise and the open air, says a pamphlet from the American Medical Association. Pleasant physical activity can help to relieve emotional tension. Exercise is most likely to be enjoyable when the activity is done with ease and skill.

Like any form of exercise, walking requires a period of gradual conditioning before all-out effort. If you're out of training, start slowly with short hikes and gradually build up the time and distance.

The feet take quite a beating in walking. Be sure that shoes fit properly, are well broken in and have no rough spots inside. Wearing two pairs of socks helps. The feet function best when the toes point straight ahead in walking. Walking with toes turned in or out distributes the body's weight unequally on the feet.

The American Medical Association cautions the untrained person against an exercise orgy in hiking or in any other vigorous physical activity. The enthusiast who tries to do it all at once often ends up with stiff muscles and a stiffer resolve to avoid exercise in the future.

A medical checkup before beginning an exercise program is a wise precaution to be sure no health problems exist that might be aggravated by exercise. The level of activity should be built up slowly with consideration for age, condition and general response to exercise.

COULD THIS BE YOU?

He brushed his teeth twice a day. He went through the clinic twice a year. He wore his over-shoes when it rained. He slept with the windows open. He ate lots of vegetables. He got eight hours of sleep. He never smoked, or drank, or lost his temper. He always rested all day Sunday. He was all set to live — to be one hundred.

Jaycees vs. Chamber Of Commerce

After slugging the ball halfway to third base, Lippard prepares to mount and ride to first base—and prepares and prepares . . .

Donkeys in Friday's game bore such names as Sugar, Cookie, Angel, etc. The one in the picture above seems to be listening for J. W. Youngblood to call her right name. He called her several.

The donkey seems more disturbed than First Baseman Wayne Smith by John Larson's success in reaching first base safely.

Jerry McClure and Donnie Park find that donkeys are stubborn from either end, as Jerry pushes and Donny pulls, with equal lack of success.

First Baseman C. J. Lippard seemingly does not know what to do with the ball as Wayland Chitwood and friend reach first base.

Jaycees Win 4-2 Over Chamber In Donkey Ballgame

Jack Aaron was out on a technicality in Friday's Donkey Baseball game which pitted the Chamber of Commerce against the Jaycees. The technicality? He hit the ball too far.

The players on the Chamber of Commerce team had agreed to withhold 'total output' to insure a good ball game against the young inexperienced Jaycee team. The donkeys may have had an agreement also, as they frequently and suddenly stopped 'total output' while the players would continue their forward motion until the pull of gravity became too strong.

The small size of the mounts was probably a contributing factor to the difficulty experienced by the usually agile players, in beginning their runs to first base—which was supposed to be—and in some instances was—atop the donkeys. Calls such as "Strike Four" and "out number two and one half," seemed perfectly normal to the spectators and players, all caught up in the hilarity of the evening. The game was sponsored by the Jaycees for the benefit of the expansion program of the Burkburnett Youth Center.

Preceding the game, Disc Jockey Sam Holman of Station

Things were dull in the outfield so Wayne Sykes relaxed with a cigar atop his steed.

KTRN was made an honorary Jaycee and took an active part in the evening's 'donkey' play. Holman had been 'won' by the Jaycee Wives as slave for a day in a recent contest, along with a $25 cash award. They gave Holman to the Jaycees who used his services as a ballplayer. The Jaycee Banner was purchased with the cash award and was presented by the Wives to the Jaycees in the pre-game ceremonies. Adding to the festivities, was the presentation of birthday cakes to Jaycee President Aderan Dunn and Vice President Bob Carter.

Rumor had it that final score of the game was 4-2, Jaycees winning.

ANDERSON-KENNEDY VOWS ARE EXCHANGED HERE LAST FRIDAY

Wedding vows exchanged Friday night in the Central Baptist Church of Burkburnett united in marriage Miss Peggy Ellen Anderson and Don Burton Kennedy. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Kennedy, all of Burkburnett.

The Rev. Kenneth Bradshaw, pastor, officiated. The altar was flanked by arrangements of white gladioli and cathedral tapers in branched candelabra. Hurricane lamps tied with white satin bows marked the pews.

Organ music was presented by Mrs. Russell Nalls of Wichita Falls and Miss Candice Logan was registration attendant.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white peau de soie, styled with a slim skirt and jacket of Alencon lace over peau de soie. The detachable chapel length train was belted at the waist and appliqued with matching lace. Her shoulder length veil of French illusion and lace was attached to a tiny seed pearl tiara. She carried a white orchid surrounded by white feathered carnations, atop a satin and lace covered Bible. The attendants wore identical Empire dresses of pink bonded crepe with matching shoes and tiny pink crepe hats with veils of pink tulle. They carried nosegays of white feathered carnations. They were Mrs. William Byars of Burkburnett, matron of honor, and Miss Deanna Anderson, Fort Worth, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald R. Anderson, Lubbock, and Miss Conni La Rose, Burkburnett.

James M. Phillips of Quanah, Texas, served the bridegroom as best man. The groomsmen were Jack Prichard and Ronald Anderson of Lubbock and William Byars of Burkburnett. Ushers were John Hodge of Gatesville and Jerry Luke of Fort Worth.

The Bride's parents were hosts for the reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The bride's table was covered with pink satin and nylon net, centered with an arrangement of pink roses and tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra. A tiny bride and groom in double pink hearts were atop the three tiered wedding cake.

The bride is a graduate of Burkburnett High School where she was 1966 Band Sweetheart and Junior Class Favorite. She plans to enter college in the fall. The bridegroom is a 1962

Mommie ... They want me to come to church."

Yes, Mommie, they do want her in church, for in the church, they have a place for all ages. No child is too young to learn. This also provides you an opportunity to worship and give undivided attention to church services.

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Student Tax Problems

Each year thousands of students work in summer jobs. Their employers, in accordance with the law, withhold taxes from their wages. A lot of students do not earn enough during the summer to require them to file an income tax return. However, it is very important that they file a tax return shortly after January 1 next year, so they can get their refund. If a student does not file a tax return and claim his refund, the Government doesn't know he has a refund coming. In the case of many students, filing a tax return can be a profitable task.

Fun In The Sun

Looking for something different in the way of picnic fare? How about having Hot Potato Salad? You can keep it hot in a "Thermos" wide mouth vacuum bottle. Bring along plenty of rye bread, vegetable relishes, a picnic jugful of iced tea, and assorted soft drinks. A "Thermos" ice chest will chill beverages and safeguard perishables. For dessert, have blueberries with cream, chocolate cake and cookies.

HOT POTATO SALAD

|------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 5 potatoes, cooked in jackets | 1 teaspoon sugar |
| 4 strips bacon | 1/2 cup vinegar |
| 1 onion, chopped | 1 egg, beaten |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 4 frankfurters, thickly sliced |
| 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper | |

Peel and slice potatoes while they are hot. Cook bacon until crisp; remove and drain on paper towels. Sauté onion in bacon fat until lightly browned. Add salt, pepper, sugar, vinegar and egg to bacon fat. Heat thoroughly, stirring constantly. Crumble bacon; add bacon and frankfurters to potatoes. Pour bacon fat mixture over potatoes; toss lightly. Put into quart "Thermos" wide mouth vacuum bottle that has been preheated with boiling water. Screw down stopper firmly; put on cup-cap.

Hostesses were Mmes. R. Young, H. A. Mills, M. A. Mills, P. Mason and Wm. E. McPherson.

The table was covered with a sheer white embroidered cloth and centered with a crystal epergne containing a floral arrangement of snow-white carnations and mums accented with greenery.

Among the twenty-two guests were the mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. Robert F. Engle and Mrs. George B. Sparkman and the future bridegroom's grandmother, Emma Howell.

The couple will be married August 20th.
