Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Each FIRST MONDAY At Town Hall, Everybody Invited Each Pays For His Meal

Did you ever notice that when a concern gets the "Let'er slide" attitude toward its work, customers begin to slide across the street to its competitor?

Cornerstone To Be Placed At Library In Ceremonies Saturday

Cornerstone of the new Burk Burnett Public Library will be placed with Masonic ceremonies Saturday, Nov. 26, according to Aderan Dunn, Worshipful Master of the Burk Burnett Lodge 1027. The placing of the stone will be officiated by Hugh M. Craig, Fort Worth past Grand Master for the district. Bert L. Reed, Iowa Park, past deputy Grand Master, and past state officials of the Burk Burnett Lodge are expected to participate in the ceremonies. Representatives of the Burk Burnett Council and the Library Board will also be present.

Library, which is being constructed at a cost of over $90,000, is scheduled to be completed by January 1.

Following the leveling of the cornerstone, the library building will be open for inspection and members of the Library Board will be available to explain the features of the new facility.

Newspaper clippings relating this history of the library, and current copies of the Burk Burnett Star and the Wichita Falls Record News are being prepared for placing in the cornerstone by a committee of the Burk Burnett Council of Federated Study Clubs, which initiated the campaign for a library.

Rate Hike; Remodeling Of City Hall Discussed By Council

City Manager Gary Bean submitted tentative plans for remodeling of the City Hall building to the Councilmen at the regular meeting, November 21. The council voted to allow Bean to hire an architect for completion of the plans. One feature of the remodeled building will be a drive-in window for the convenience of water department customers.

get will be submitted to the Council in the near future.

Construction of restrooms on city park facilities was reported as now completed.

Tax collections have reached $23,337, with approximately $75,000 still outstanding, according to Dick Chambers, City Tax Collector.

Corporation Court fines reached $440 during the month of September, a sharp increase over the preceding two months.

NOTICE

The trade promotion committee of the Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce urges all Burk Burnett merchants to attend a short meeting at the Texas Electric Reddy Room, Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Boomtown Jaycees Speaker

Featured speaker at the November 22nd meeting of Boomtown Jaycees was Rollin Stirman, Dale Carnegie Course instructor. "If You Want To Gather Honey, Don't Kick Over The Beehive," was the provocative title of Stirman's talk. He was assisted by George Hickman, who is also an area representative for the Dale Carnegie Courses.

Meeting was at the Derrick Steak House Restaurant, where a Dale Carnegie Course free preview meeting will be conducted Tuesday, November 29th at 8:08 p. m.

Stirman and Hickman were introduced by Jaycee Program Chairman, Tommy Barwise.

Star-News To Print Santa Letters

Jerry Thomas of the First National Bank, reported to the Star and News that he has been in contact by telephone with that jolly resident of the North Pole, Santa Claus. Thomas said he called Santa to ask permission to print some of the letters the children in the Burk Burnett area will soon be mailing to Santa, in the special box that is set up each year in front of the Burk Burnett post office. Santa declared he thought it would be wonderful for the children to see their letters printed in the space provided by the First National Bank.

So get out your pencils and paper kids. Postmaster Zimmerman said the special box would be up in just a few days. Have your letter to Santa ready to mail. Maybe yours will be one of those chosen to appear in the paper.

Would you please put your phone number on the bottom of your letter this year?

Governor Connally Sends Gift Of Bluebonnet Seeds To Burk Burnett

Hearing that Governor John Connally had sent gift packets of Bluebonnet seeds to two or three local people, Chamber of Commerce President Joe Salter wrote to the Governor and ask if he would supply more seeds for the Chamber of Commerce "Operation Sparkle" project. He sent clippings from the Burk Burnett Star and News which explained the project now underway. Seeds are being planted along the highways near Burk Burnett and homeowners are also planting the state flower in their yards.

Mr. Joe Salter, President Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce

Dear Mr. Salter:

Although my supply is more limited than I wish it were, I am happy to send you in a separate package several packages of Bluebonnet seeds. I know you will put them to good use and I congratulate Burk Burnett on this excellent project.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

John Connally

Advice Is Given To Husbands On Gift Selection

Here's an open letter to husbands faced with selecting Christmas presents for their wives. Its from Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Christmas morning generally finds the family waiting for mother to exclaim over a new major appliance—a dishwasher or dryer, perhaps—gleaming white or some chic new fashion color, and all topped with a huge red bow.

But what mother is really seeing is that little black book, all neatly marked off into monthly payments spread over the next two years. It may be difficult for her to remember the goodwill of Christmas morning when she is trying to stretch payments for both the appliance and the fuel bill next March.

Wives love you for wanting to give them everything to make their jobs easier. They just wish you'd listen to a few suggestions.

For example—unless it's an appliance brand new to a household, wait until its really time for a change. Just because she's dazzled by the neighbor's new appliance doesn't mean mother is ready to give up her present appliance. If you do buy a new appliance, be sure it's the model she wants.

Notice

To anyone doing any kind of work in Burk Burnett, by that I mean building and repair, plumbing or electrical, beginning on Monday, the 28th day of November, 1966: This is to inform you that you must have a permit for the job you are doing. Burkburnett's Youth Are Honored At Appreciation Banquet Recently

Ninety people, including 27 young honorees, were present when Clyde Slusher, President of the Burk Burnett Optimist Club, opened the Youth Appreciation Banquet in the Derrick Room with a short welcoming address. Sixteen of Burk Burnett's clubs were represented.

Rev. Kenneth Bradshaw, pastor of Central Baptist Church, delivered the invocation.

After the dinner, President Clyde opened the program by introducing our own Ken Blankenship, Lieut. Governor of Zone A. Ken gave a brief message on Optimism and our relation to youth.

A duo, Mrs. Carolyn Gray and Mrs. Beverly Riley sang several appropriate songs, Mrs. Janice Vincent, the accompanist.

Rev. Byron K. Rose, Minister of the Park Place Christian Church in Wichita Falls, was the speaker of the evening. Rev. Rose spoke directly to the young people. He commended them for their good work, dealt with some of the problems they would face, and gave advice on charting their lives for more satisfaction and happiness. He hit hard at those who refused to be individuals, but took the path of least resistance and chose to follow the crowd of nobodies to wind up as a nobody. He told them to take pride in the fact that they are leaders now, and admonished them to set the type of example that would make them worthy of leadership.

City Manager Gary Bean sang three songs, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Lewis W. Brocker, Youth Appreciation Chairman, made the presentation of awards. He impressed upon the group that every young person present was a winner, and was sorry that all of the worthy young people in Burk Burnett could not be there.

Certificates of Appreciation were presented to: Judy Pace, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Pace, sponsored by the Burk Burnett Study Club; Donna Young, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young, sponsored by Contemporary Study Club; John Page Jr., 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Page, sponsored by Jr. Forum Study Club; Norman Manley, 15-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. PRAYER FOR PEACE

THANKSGIVING 1966

In many homes across the nation today, there's a vacant seat at the dinner table. It seems like yesterday, when the high chair was put in the attic, and he sat down at the table for the first time, propped up with a few pillows.

As he began to grow tall, he talked about many things. He would be one day a policeman or space scientist, professional football player or a college professor. The world was his oyster.

His adolescent years passed quickly — high school days had come and gone — and suddenly overnight he became a man — for Uncle Sam beckoned and approved.

His turkey dinner with all the fixings will not be the same as ours. The Viet Cong may not wait. We'll miss his infectious grin — his kidding around with the rest of the family — no, he is on serious business now.

To those families with the empty chairs — words are inadequate to express the feelings of a family separated by war.

What all of us can do, when we sit down to that traditional Thanksgiving Day feast, is to pause — give thanks to the Supreme Being and pray that a safe return may be granted to those absent and that peace will come to the world.

And as George Washington proposed in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation in 1789 thanks for constitutional government, let us hope that the governments of the world may become servants and not masters of the people.

With Conviction And Goodwill

Quite frequently when a "dissenter" expresses an opinion contrary to the popular will, he is placed in the position of being against "everything."

The fact that he may be for such positive things as constitutional government, balanced budgets, personal liberties, respect for the rights of others, etc., is of little moment.

Dissenters who oppose welfare state spending, wasteful government, socialization of industry, and the coercion of an ever-larger body of American citizens by increasingly stringent regulation and taxation are too often considered "defeatists."

The right to speak out is fundamental, and the speaker should not be depreciated because he has the courage to be cast in the role of "loyal opposition," and plays the role with conviction.

A recent issue of The Atlantic magazine says Washington, D. C., "... looks a little weary, slightly stale, and even sad these days. It has lost its ring of freshness, particularly in the foreign policy field. The official dialogue consists of worn out cliches and inadequate explanations on problems ranging from the war in Viet Nam to allied divisions in the Atlantic community."

Pioneer Facts and Fancies

OUR PIONEER farm families were hardy indeed. Faced with loneliness and danger, and equipped with only the poorest of tools, they hacked and hewed their livelihoods out of the often unwilling land. The menfolk turned up the soil with rudimentary hand hoes and forks. Or, if they were lucky, they had a plow—but it was big and clumsy, taking six oxen to pull it and two men to handle it.

WHILE THE MEN worked hard and long outside, their women worked equally hard inside. They raised, nursed and doctored their children, cooked and sewed, churned butter and, whenever possible, set the spinning wheel going to spin flax into thread. Apt tribute to such brave and tireless pioneers is paid by the unique Pioneer Village in Minden, in South Central Nebraska.

FARM MACHINERY, from the scythe and cradle to modern harvesters, is displayed among the 30,000 and more items on show in the Village's 22 buildings. Almost all of these pieces—some up to 200 years old—are in working order. One of Pioneer Village's spinning wheels is certainly still as good as new. Every day it's used to demonstrate the great trouble our pioneer women took to clothe themselves and their families.

Women IN THE KNOW

By Jean Kincaid, Women's Consultant, The Travelers Insurance Companies

Holiday Guest Preparation

The holiday season is traditionally a time for family gatherings, and women in the know are preparing for an influx of visitors. Providing bed and board for the young is relatively simple. Once past the crib stage, the most primitive conveniences suffice. Sleeping bags and pillow tops are part of the fun, but their main food requirement is that there be lots.

Providing for older guests requires more thought. They may be on special diets, and do need comfortable beds in quiet quarters. More important, they need safeguarding from falls—the major home hazard for older folks. Safety experts at The Travelers offer suggestions to prevent falls.

Use only non-skid wax. Anchor water rugs with adhesive spray. Have no loose electric cords on the floor where anyone can trip over them. Repair wobbly steps, and keep all stairways well-lighted and uncluttered. Have no unsteady furniture in the visitors' bedroom. Provide a rubber mat in the bathtub.

Restrain over-exuberant pets until the initial excitement of visitors' arrival calms down and insist that children be extra careful not to leave toys underfoot.

Now that your house is practically fall-proof, take one other precaution. Go through that medicine chest and throw out all old prescriptions, unmarked bottles and be sure to stow any poisonous substances well out of children's reach.

Having done what you can to keep your older guests safe and comfortable, stop fussing over them and ENJOY them.

Policy For Harrelson's Nursing Home

It is the policy of the Harrelson's Nursing Home to admit and to treat all patients without regard to race, color or national origin. The same requirements for admission are applied to all and patients are assigned within the home without regard to race, color or national origin. There is no distinction in eligibility for, or in the manner of providing, any patient service provided by or through the nursing home. All facilities of the nursing home are available without distinction to all patients and visitors regardless of race, color or national origin. All persons and organizations having occasion either to refer patients for admission or to recommend the Harrelson's Nursing Home are advised to do so without regard to the patient's race, color or national origin.

News From The County Agent

Most farmers during the weeks ahead will be considering their cropping plans for next year.

County Agent E. T. Haws suggests that plant diseases be given a lot of attention. He says that research has established the fact that many plant diseases become more severe as a result of continuous cropping to one crop or crop family over a period of time.

For example, if a field has been continuously planted to cotton and is heavily infested with cotton root rot fungus, one should consider using a member of the resistant grass family such as corn, grain sorghum or small grains in rotation.

Crop rotation programs are not "cure-alls," but when used in conjunction with other good disease control practices, they will lower disease losses caused by soilborne disease organisms, says Haws.

A new type of peach described as a late maturing fall variety may be what North Texas producers have been looking for. It is yet unnamed but has been under observation since 1945. The peach ripens between September 5-20, and thus lengthens the growing season. Plans are to introduce this variety this winter.

Cattle lice occur widely in Texas. They reduce gain, and lower body resistance to other diseases. Normally lice infestations are light in the summer and fall, but increase during the cold season. Regular inspection of cattle is suggested. If lice are found, cattle should be treated with an approved spray or dip.

With deer hunting season here, hunters may be interested in a visit with the local county agents office for a copy of the bulletin L-634, "Field Dressing a Deer."

Since quality venison depends primarily on how the deer is handled from the time of the kill until it is placed in the freezer, field dressing is important. The leaflet outlines one method of field dressing and skinning a deer. However, any method which results in a clean well-bled deer is satisfactory. Unpleasant experiences with venison usually result from lack of care before the meat reaches the kitchen, he adds.

AIR FORCE MEDAL

SHEPPARD AIR FORCE BASE, TEXAS — Chief Master Sergeant Walter A. Montgomery receives the Air Force Commendation Medal during ceremonies conducted Tuesday by Colonel William W. More farm trailers are usually on the public roads during this season than during any other period of the year. The reason is that the fall season is about the busiest of the year with harvesting, movement of crops, and livestock to market, getting in winter supplies, hunting season and others.

A few simple precautions conscientiously applied when pulling a trailer can prevent many accidents, says the county agent.

Of the foremost importance is the use of safety pins or hitches, whether a tractor, truck or car is being used to pull the trailer. Some times only a slight bump in the road is all that is needed to cause an ordinary pin to pop out of the hitch, resulting in a loose trailer. Such an incident could be especially dangerous on a highway where other traffic is an important factor.

Mrs. Pilkenton Claimed By Death

Mrs. F. L. Pilkenton, 75, died Sunday morning in a Wichita Falls hospital.

Born Sept. 3, 1891 in Montgomery, Tex., she was married in 1911 in Houston. She had resided in Burk Burnett since 1949 and was a member of First Methodist Church.

Services were at 2 p.m. Tuesday from First Methodist Church with Rev. Don Youngblood, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Burk Burnett Cemetery under direction of Owens - Brunley Funeral Home.

Survivors included her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Truman Garland of Burk Burnett; a sister, Mrs. Ollie Beavers of Houston; a brother, Lee A. Rhoades of Bellville, Tex.; a grandson and two great-grandchildren.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The possession of a Social Security Card is not a guaranteed passport to a future of abundance and contented living. Most workers consider deductions for Social Security to amount to money in the bank, and the greater the withholding the better, since the money will return home some day in the form of increased old age benefits.

A few men - professionals - government employees, tax payers, etc., are exemptly studying the American Social Security program along with other taxes levied on citizens. Some revealing facts are being brought to light.

An average worker who begins employment at 22 and retires at 65 will have paid almost $22,000 in Social Security tax. If a worker retires at 65 and dies at the average age, he will lose a sum between $10,000-$15,000 earned through Social Security. The worker will simply not live long enough to receive his full benefits.

Not all a worker's beneficiaries receive guaranteed payment of his Social Security insurance, except under special circumstances. If a parent dies, children can receive only 1/3 of their deceased parent's Social Security benefits if they are dependent under 18, or completely disabled. If over 18 and working, children inherit none of the dead parent's benefits.

A widow is limited to 12 1/2 per cent of the deceased husband's monthly benefits if she is 62 years of age. If younger, she gets considerably less. In these benefit amounts appear strings constituting a worker's Social Security deductions subtracted from his paychecks all his working life? In all cases, unless the retired worker outlives his contemporaries, Uncle Sam will pocket a substantial portion of his Social Security savings. And, unless beneficiaries meet the rigid administrative requirements, the Government will completely appropriate the account for its own consumption.

When Social Security was introduced by the Executive Administration in 1936, a tax of 1 per cent for both employee and employer was placed on the first $3,000 of earnings. In 1966, the same tax has leaped to 4.2 per cent for both on the first $5,000.

Through their expressed preference for government insurance some more independent and rewarding professions have not yet graduated citizens have given the government a vote of confidence. Government in turn has pushed for higher Social Security taxes, and inflationary fires have spread. If government would halt unnecessary spending and consequent tax increases, it would not be necessary to look workers about abundant retirement rewards.

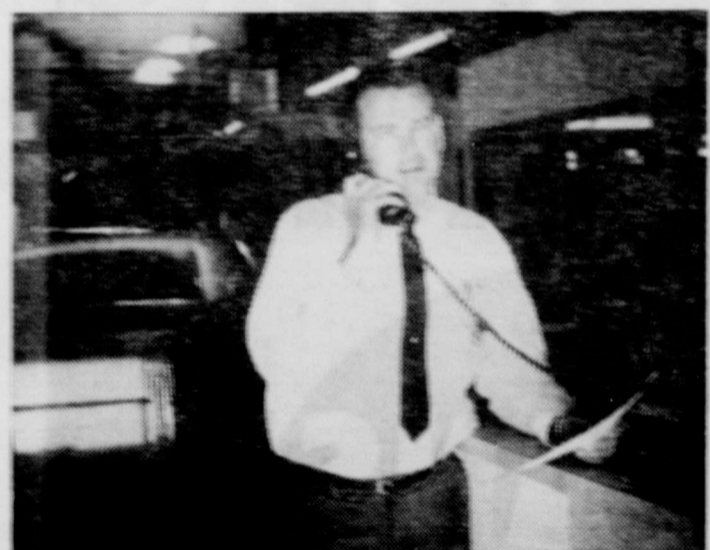

With three television cameras centered on him, the announcer smiled, took a deep draw of the sponsor's cigarette, blew out a ring of smoke and sighed blissfully: "Man, that's real coffee."

Do you remember the time when the telephone was a convenience?

MID-SPRING FISHING
In mid-spring, fishing the shallows where the crappie spawn. Use small minnows and monofilament line with two stagings of No. 6 hooks. Anchor your boat a good distance away and cast into the shallow water.

WHO THEN CAN BE SAVED?
Jesus in His sermon on the mount spoke of SALVATION in a GENERAL way, when he said, "Therefore whosoever hereth these SAYINGS of mine, and DOETH them, I will liken him unto a wise man, that built his house upon a rock. (Matt. 7:24).
HE ALSO SPOKE OF SALVATION IN SPECIFIC TERMS WHEN HE SAID.
—Ye must BELIEVE, or die in sin, (John. 8:24).
—Ye must REPENT, or perish, (Luke. 13:3).
—Must CONFESS, or be denied, (Matt. 10:32-33).
—Be BAPTIZED, or condemned, (Mark. 16:16).
Again he said, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, if a man keep my SAYINGS, he shall never see death." (JOHN. 8:51).

Home Project Should Be Workshop

Tools aren't the only things you need for the winter. Cold weather, most of the time, is a lot of time at the outdoors to get started. The winter is a good time to begin home improvement projects. You've been thinking about them all summer and fall. Set up your own woodworking shop. A good way to get started is to buy a set of tools. A great sense of accomplishment, help you pay bills down, and increase the value of your home.

When you set up your workshop, you'll want a place that is out of the way and can leave unfinished projects around without cluttering the house. A basement or garage is usually best. In some cases, a heated attic is the purpose. If you've acquired the tools, you'll need a place to store them. A tool chest is handy. But even better, you'll find it's a good idea to install perforated hardboard paneling in the workshop or to finish off an attic with wood-grained hardboard, add an elegant touch to your bathroom with marbled paneling or equip the garage with heavy-duty perforated panels for efficient storage of garden equipment.

Home improvement projects off to a good start with a handy workshop. It's easy to set up in the basement or garage. You'll need countertop space, storage areas. A practical and attractive way to install storage walls of perforated hardboard. The perforations accept brackets and hooks to hold shelves, tools and equipment. Everything is at hand and the workshop always looks neat.

Family Financial Protection

Questions Answered Institute of Life Insurance, N.Y., N.Y., 10017

How should I arrange to have life insurance paid to my children if I should die? There is no single "best" way to have life insurance paid to your beneficiary. Each family's needs are different. Your life insurance agent will be glad to help you choose which is the best way to meet the specific needs of your family.

There are five basic choices: 1. A fixed amount of money to be paid as long as the insured lives. 2. A guaranteed amount as long as your wife lives.

You can combine two or more of these options — that is, have the proceeds paid one way for part and another way. And, for an immediate lump-sum payment, you can modify your policy to suit family needs. For example, if your family needs more money and you have sufficient income, you might wish to have part of the proceeds paid immediately in a lump sum, and the rest as income over a number of years until your children are grown, and you wish to provide an income for your wife.

A general rule (but there are many exceptions) is to select the income option for a percentage of the income over a period of years beginning when the insured is 55 or older. On the other hand, if you have a fixed income or certain other income, because the income might run out while the insured is still alive.

DISCUSSING SEARCH FOR PEACE

ROME, Italy—Edward M. Lindsey (right) President of Lions International, explains the world wide service organization's "Search for Peace" project to Pope Paul VI in a 25-minute private audience held in Vatican City. The Pope, who himself is very active in promoting World Peace, had words of high praise for the 800,000 Lions around the world for their efforts in getting Youth interested in thinking and writing about peace. Mrs. Lindsey is in center (left) and the Right Reverend Monsignor Paul Marcincus, who translated for the Holy Father during the meeting held in the papal private chambers, is center (right).

Ice Makers Go to the Best Parties

For "real cool" entertaining on weekends or holidays, ice is nice. Unfortunately, keeping the party in an abundant supply of ice is one of the problems of large-scale entertaining.

Most people own refrigerators that can't produce ice fast enough for party drinks. Refilling ice trays can be a sloppy job, and storing ice ahead of time may result in cubes that are stuck together. So the problem is usually "solved" by borrowing ice trays from a neighbor, or by buying ice from a vendor.

Storing ice is no problem in refrigerator-freezers equipped with a "no-frost" feature. Frost never forms in no-frost models, and ice, ice trays and food packages stored in the freezer will not stick together.

The best solution to the ice supply problem is an automatic ice maker, available on most new refrigerator-freezer models. It eliminates the messy job of filling and emptying ice trays.

Ice makers supply ice for daily needs as well as for entertaining. There are no trays to fill or spill, and cubes never have to be pried out. The ice is stored "dry" in a handy storage bin and is replenished automatically as it is used.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

WHEN MONEY WON'T DO

By winning his lodge's annual golf tournament, Roger became entitled to the traditional silver loving cup. But to his chagrin, the previous winner refused to part with it. When Roger filed suit, the other man told the court:

"This cup can be duplicated for about $95. If I am wrong in keeping it, suppose I just pay him the $95 and we will call it square."

But the court ordered him to hand over not $95 but the cup itself. The judge said the trophy had, over and above its cash value, a unique sentimental value. Hence, mere money could not be a satisfactory substitute.

Whenever money damages would not be "just as good," the law may insist upon what it calls "specific performance" — that is, performance of the actual obligation rather than just damages for non-performance.

Specific performance is decreed most often in cases involving real estate. Suppose you make a contract to buy the lot on the southeast corner of Maple and Spring, and then the seller backs out. You could probably get a court order commanding him to transfer that specific property to you. For there is no other piece of land in the entire world exactly like the one you bought. Money damages would not make you come out even.

Will a court always order specific performance, whenever money damages would be inadequate? No, because sometimes it is simply not practical. For example:

When an opera star broke his contract, the management asked a court to force him to sing. True enough, money damages were no substitute for an actual performance.

Yet, the court refused a decree. The judge said he would have no way of telling whether the star, if forced to sing, was singing as well as the management had a right to expect.

Besides being impractical at times, specific performance may also be unjust. Say a girl's fiance breaks their engagement. Money damages, even if available to her, would not be the equivalent of a husband. But no court would literally make the man get married. As one judge explained: "It is abhorrent to public policy to force a man or woman under penalty of contempt of court, to enter into a marriage that is objectionable." (A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.)

Drilling for oil to a depth of 10,000 feet requires changing the drill bit an average of 30 times, according to Petroleum Today.

For each change, every foot of pipe must be brought to the surface and then put back again after the new bit has been installed.

★ I am Thankful... for good health, and for the food that I have each day. I am thankful for those near and dear to me that I can love, and in turn love me. I am thankful for the freedom of my nation, and that I can worship as I please. I am thankful that God loved me so much, that he provided a way for my salvation. I am thankful that he is a forgiving Father. I am thankful that I can attend Church and worship my Lord each Sunday. ★

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WRAPPING THE FISHING ROD

If you want to rewrap your fishing rod, try using your wife's sewing machine. There is a tension attachment for the thread spool that is exactly the thing to keep rod winding thread under light but steady pressure as you wrap the guides.

Dilemma of a Religious Man

Today, the dilemma of priestly celibacy has become an important subject for open discussion. How many priests spend years attempting to follow the celibacy rule set down hundreds of years ago, and end up miserable and confused because they cannot be honest about their sexuality?

Gabriel Longo was one such priest. He was eminently successful in his Jersey City parish. But through it all he found that he was being untrue to his natural instincts. Finally, he left the priesthood and the Church, convinced that he was one of those Cardinal Bea described at the the celibate state.

Today, Longo is married and the father of two. He has written an absorbing autobiography, "Spoiled Priest" which has already gone into three large printings, thanks largely to the demand for the book that followed his recent appearances on national radio and television shows.

In "Spoiled Priest" Longo is compellingly honest. He describes his 15 years in the priesthood and his suffering. He talks with remarkable candor, taste and good humor of the financial benefits of the priesthood. And he writes in a fascinating way about the Confessional and how it affects the priest.

Inspired by the local parish priest who was both his friend and idol, Gabriel Longo at 15 decided to enter the priesthood. He was from a poor family that couldn't afford to educate him, but Longo was assisted by his friend to enter Seton Hall. Permitted to date, the tall and handsome student met temptation, and was frequently pursued by girls. During his seminary years, his sexual drives were sublimated only with great difficulty. He learned that his problem was one faced by many of his classmates. Finally, after years as a priest, he realized with growing despair that he had made a mistake. Celibacy, and therefore the priesthood, was not his calling.

Leaving the priesthood, he floundered in a world for which he was unprepared. A kind of outcast and exile, he solved the problems he suddenly faced with the determination of a man caught in an inescapable trap but nevertheless determined to escape.

The engrossing account of this reverent 20th century man working in a faith he believed in but by which he couldn't fully live, will fascinate readers of all faiths—and offend none. For expert Longo, presents the case against priestly celibacy with fairness and respect.

"Spoiled Priest" is published by University Books and is sold in bookstores everywhere. It belongs to that body of stirring and provocative literature which is reshaping our world today. It is fascinating reading and will no doubt become the subject of considerable discussion among many people for a long time to come.

LEWIS & CLARK EXPLORE THE FABULOUS PURCHASE THAT CHANGED OUR DESTINY

Of all the transactions ever made in history, none was a bigger bargain, or more important, than the one we made in 1803 when we bought French territory west of the Mississippi for 15-million dollars.

How big a bargain was that? We got all or part of what is now Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wyoming for about 3-cents an acre!

This was named the Louisiana Purchase because all that land was then called Louisiana.

Meriwether Lewis and William Clark then led an expedition to explore and open up this territory.

Much credit must also go to President Jefferson, Robert Livingston and James Monroe who engineered this fabulous purchase.

Just think how much smaller, poorer and less powerful we would have been without the Louisiana Purchase.
