Babson's Business And Financial Forecast For 1967

Rodger W. Babson

The close of 1966 marks the seventieth consecutive month in the life span of the longest business boom of all time for the American economy. However, "trees do not grow in the sky." Already, signs of deterioration in the expansive vigor that characterized the earlier phase of the business upswing have been increasing in 1966. Hence, the outlook for business and finance in 1967 is of greater-than-usual importance.

Readers of this column are tempted to "push the panic button," however, let me state that it would be unwise to expect a major depression in 1967. Our greatly expanded economy still has a considerable degree of momentum. The spotlight on 1967, therefore, should focus upon those factors which are likely to cause a breathing spell in economic activity. Politicians and labor leaders have a phobia against even a hesitancy in business, and rush headlong into measures designed to treat a case of pneumonia when cold pills would be more appropriate.

1. Although business and financial problems loom large in the prospects for 1967, I must first warn readers that the greatest danger for the year ahead does not exist on the domestic front. Surely it will be developments abroad that will hold the gravest threat to our country. These could be economic as well as military or political.

2. I foresee no war between the United States and Russia in 1967. However, tensions between the two world leaders may seem to reach the breaking point as the Kremlin "goes all out" to create diversions to our efforts in Vietnam. Look for Moscow to throw salt on festering wounds in the Middle East, Africa and Germany.

3. I am also hopeful that a direct clash between Red China and the U.S. can be avoided in 1967. Internal dissensions are rampant throughout Mainland China, and a great scramble for power is in full swing. Sabre-rattling may help to unify the people; but pressing problems of low productivity, plus the demands of her nuclear program, should restrain Red China from direct attack upon the United States.

4. The struggle for leadership of the Communist world camp will continue unabated throughout 1967. Full political attack will be mounted by the Kremlin against Peking. It will be touch and go, however, whether Russia can persuade her wavering satellites to sign a final manifesto reading Red China out of the Party.

5. Recent elections in West Germany have fanned the embers of nationalism into a tiny flame. This has surely thrown a scare into Russian leaders. I predict that they will take a harder line against Germany in 1967 than in some time. I feel that we should particularly watch General de Gaulle, who is playing closer and closer to Moscow from month to month.

6. Heavily armed with Soviet weapons, the Arabs of the Middle East—squared off against Israel—present a grave threat to world peace. Nevertheless, I do not believe that Russia or the United States can afford a direct confrontation at

Cadet Williams is the son of Lt. Col. (USAF-RET.) and Mrs. Robert A. Williams, 5741 Carb Drive, Fort Worth, Texas.

The Guidance Counselors visited here at the invitation of the Academy's Admission Division to view, on a first-hand basis, the education and training of a cadet at the U. S. Military Academy. The tour is aimed at helping counselors guide students who are interested in the Military Academy and a service career.

Burkburnett Library Is Named Depository For State Documents

The Burkburnett Public Library — scheduled to be completed Jan. 15 — has been designated by the Texas State Library as a depository for a collection of state documents.

State Rep. Vernon Stewart, who made the arrangements, said that Midwestern University's library is the only other one in this area so designated. Stewart explained that the collection contains a "tremendous amount of material" and will be a real asset to the people of this area.

The collection includes state documents from each state agency, board, commission, department and institution.

Stewart said that it includes annual, bi-annual and special reports mandatorily furnished to the governor by each agency and other publications such as official magazines, rosters, directories, newsletters, catalogues, handbooks and financial statements.

The material will be made readily accessible to the general public although it will be restricted to use within the Burkburnett library.

"Through the availability of these printed current reports from the state agencies," Stewart said, "the citizens of Burkburnett and immediate area will be able to keep themselves informed on the operations of Texas government."

The material, which will start with 1966 publications, will not be sent until the library is completed. The collection will be kept up to date as the material is published.

pany and one industry to another, as sales volumes sag, hold, or advance. For example, I am willing to "stick my neck out" and say that oil companies will enjoy a sales rise, but that the auto makers will be struggling with a volume slump all year.

37. The combination of less vigorous business, pinched profit margins, and stringent credit conditions points to an increase in business failures, shaking out the financially weak and inefficient.

38. Collectors may be more difficult in 1967 on business accounts, consumer installments and charge accounts, and mortgage debt. I forecast a further rise in nonfarm real estate foreclosures.

39. Barring crop failures, I forecast another good farm production year. Farm prices should rule firm to slightly higher in 1967, but higher costs may result in a slight drop in net realized farm income.

40. Nevertheless, farm equipment manufacturers should enjoy good business. Sales of fertilizers and insecticides should post gains.

41. 1967's stock market promises to be one of vicious selectivity. I am expecting the old aristocracy of the blue chips based on past performance to be replaced by a new aristocracy of super-able management bas

A social hour preceded the dinner session, in which several teachers who had taught members of the class and 31 of the graduating class and their families registered.

The committee arranging for the buffet dinner included Mmes. Carol Roderick, Wayne Smith, Velma Booher, Gloria Sykes and Rosemary Barrett and Miss Louise Boyd.

Clara-Fairview Yule Party Held

The Clara-Fairview Community held its annual Christmas party Friday, December 9th at the Community house.

Everyone enjoyed a meal of chicken salad sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, olives, stuffed celery, carrot sticks, coffee, ice tea and plenty of home made cake. After the meal some of the children of the community presented the program by singing a few Christmas carols. Kenny Schroeder and Grifi Klinkerman played a selection or two on their horns. Everyone then joined in the singing of Christmas carols only to be interrupted by the arrival of Santa Claus. Santa presented gifts to everyone — young and old and the children each received a stocking of fruit, nuts and candy.

Those enjoying the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Adams, DeeEllen and Mark; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schroeder, Kenney, Mark, David and Kathy; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goins, Mike and Johnny; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lee Bills and Judy; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dwyer, Shannon, Debbie and Judy; Mr. and Mrs. Newt Crane; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roberts, Dan and Danita; Mr. and Mrs. E. THE BIG ONE . . . GETTING BIGGER

Wage Gains vs. Corporate Profits

At a time when all thinking Americans are disturbed about inflation, it is imperative that everyone should understand the true relationship between corporate profits and wage gains.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, has asserted that we now have a "profit inflation — pure and simple," and administration leaders have publicized the fact that corporate profits have faster than wages, percentage wise.

But Roger M. Blough, chairman of the Board, United States Steel Corporation, showing how deceptive percentages can be, says that from 1960 to 1965, "total corporate profits had risen by 18 billion dollars while total compensation of employees had risen by 99 billion dollars or 5½ times as much as profits. Would not this comparison have been more meaningful, especially since inflation flows from money — not from percentages?"

In looking at the 15-year period, 1950-1965, Mr. Blough said, "We see that corporate profits grew by about 19.5 billion dollars while employee compensation rose 238 billion — or more than 12 times as much. Even the use of percentages," he added, "cannot obscure the commanding advantage which labor has enjoyed over this 15-year period, for corporate profits rose 79 per cent while employee compensation increased 154 per cent."

Consideration Rather Than Compulsion

According to reports, the Office of Business Economics of the Commerce Department has had a new production cost survey ready since last June, which has not been released.

A copyright article in The Christian Science Monitor, based on informed sources, cites a new labor productivity figure for wage hike increases of closer to 4 per cent than the 3.2 per cent reported by the Council of Economic Advisors in 1963.

At best, any flat figure is controversial because increased production cannot be shown for workers in many industries. The tendency, however, is to make such figures universal, regardless of production, thus pouring oil on the fires of inflation.

The statistics on which wages and prices are based seem to ignore the citizens who cannot be protected by arbitrary rules. The dollars of millions of persons living on fixed income buy less and less under the productivity formula. Of course, the dollars of the beneficiaries of the system also buy less and that villain inflation fattens.

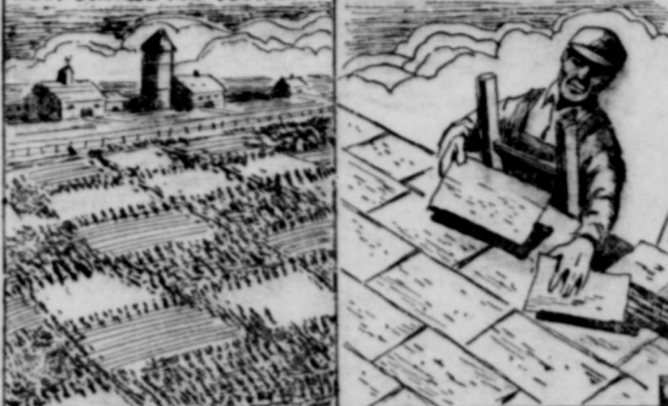

Let us hope that voluntary restraints and consideration for others may be applied more than compulsion, which, like a drug, may kill the pain for some without curbing an epidemic.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

Q. How do they actually figure out what to charge for a life insurance policy?

A. It takes many complex mathematical calculations, which are made by the company's actuaries. Premium rates are based mainly on three factors: (1) The expected mortality rate, year-by-year, among the company's policyholders. (2) Anticipated earnings on investments. (3) The company's operating expenses. These factors vary from company to company, and of course premiums also vary with different types of coverage.

The premiums charged an individual policyholder may also be affected by such personal factors as his occupation and state of health.

Premium payments from policyholders, together with investment earnings, must be sufficient to meet the company's payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries and to cover operating costs. In the case of term life insurance, a policyholder generally has to pay higher and higher premium rates through the years to offset a rising mortality rate as he grows older. Premiums on a permanent life insurance policy start out at a somewhat higher rate than on a term policy, but do not increase.

Q. I am thinking about taking a six-month leave of absence from my job. Will I be covered by my group life insurance while I'm gone?

A. Yes, you'll be covered as long as your employer continues to pay premiums for you. He is usually allowed to do this for employees during a temporary break in service (due to a leave of absence, lay-off, sickness or other reasons) as long as his basis for doing it does not involve additional risk. For example, there would be great extra risk if he did it only for employees who are ill, and not those furloughed for other reasons.

Many Famous Men Have New Year's Birthday

The birth of a New Year may seem — to many people — precious little reason for celebrating. As you tot up your Christmas bills, worry about your mounting fuel expenses, and ponder the world situation, you may reflect that if 1967 is going to be like 1966, who needs it?

But never fear. There are plenty of other excuses for celebrating on Jan. 1.

Birthdays are always cause for a party. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, was born Jan. 1, 1895. Instead of shouting "Happy New Year," you can shout "Happy Birthday, J. Edgar."

Other famous people have New Year's Day for their birthdays, according to researchers for World Book Encyclopedia. Lorenzo de' Medici, patron of the arts and ruler of Florence, was born Jan. 1, 1449. Revolutionary patriot Paul Revere called Jan. 1, 1735, his birthday, and Revolutionary hero "Mad Anthony" Wayne was born on the same date 10 years later.

And though it may be unchivalrous to mention a lady's age, flagmaker Betsy Ross came into the world Jan. 1, 1752.

There are plenty of other reasons for celebration. Haiti proclaimed its independence from France Jan. 1, 1804. Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation Jan. 1, 1863. The Commonwealth of Australia was proclaimed Jan. 1, Jan. 1, 1901. And the United States parcel post service began Jan. 1, 1913.

But don't let your party last long; not more than a week or two. It was on Jan. 16, 1919, that the 18th amendment to the Constitution was ratified.

That's the amendment that prohibited the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Lecturing his son on thrift and hard work, the father said: "Son, when I was your age I carried water for a gang of bricklayers."

"I'm proud of you, Dad," the son said, "If it hadn't been for your luck and perseverance, I might have had to do something like that myself."

EVENTS OF YESTERYEAR

From The Burkburnett Star 10 Years Ago

Five new Chamber of Commerce Directors were elected this week and will serve through 1957. They were: C. A. Morgan, Harry Dodson, Joe Jancke, D.C. Dodson and Floyd Marten.

An ideal rain fell here Tuesday night and Wednesday. Approximately 1½" fell. All wheat will benefit immensely, especially that sowed late. Stock water is ample at the present in farm and ranch pastures.

Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Bradford left Thursday to spend Christmas holidays with daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs in Amarillo.

Miss Phyllis Turner of town, Okla., Lt. Grace S. A/2c Florence Rivers and Florence Rivers and 22 Pounds of Connally AFB Texas were Sunday guests at the Fred Lynch home.

Mr. B. A. Landers spent weekend with his sister, husband, Mr. and Mrs. Burdett in Goldwaite, Tex.

MILK CARTONS

Milk cartons make good freezer boxes. Fill with game, fill with water, freeze and store in freezer.

The young husband wrote home from his new job: "Made foreman — feather in my cap." A few weeks later he wrote again, saying: "Made manager — another feather in my cap." After some weeks, he wrote again, saying: "Fired — send money for train fare." His wife unfeelingly telegraphed back: "Use feathers and fly home."

Tax Man Sam

Now is the time to put financial house in order. A head start on filing your come tax for 1966. Look those cancelled checks, records of contribution, other financial records, sure you have the records need to prepare your 1966 return. Happy Holidays!
What a lovely time of year! I try to reserve time away from my other commitments to gather some special friends and loved ones around to celebrate the joys and plenty of the season.
Naturally I always make a turkey dinner, but I veer away from some of the culinary traditions and substitute some of my own. I don't make the usual bread or chestnut stuffing. I stuff my bird with several pounds of pork sausage, celery, tabasco sauce, spices, and seasoning. As the turkey cooks, the aromatic sausage permeates the meat so that the bird is never dry at the end. I'm a frequent baster and a compulsive pecker-in-the-oven.
Instead of the traditional candied sweet potatoes, I fry apple rings with brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg—a long-time family favorite.
I try to keep the meal from getting too heavy. I rarely have an appetizer or soup. I serve light-bodied wines for those who like them, but always consider the non-drinkers in the family (and the children, of course) by serving chilled Pepsi-Cola.
I end the meal with tangy home-made apple pie. After dinner, mints and nuts and good portions of conversation make their appearance. That's what I always look forward to on my holiday dinners. I hope yours are as delightful—and delicious—as mine. Happy Holidays!

Federal Law Protects Boxes From Vandals

Mailboxes are protected by Federal law, and pranksters or vandals who damage or destroy the boxes and their contents may be in for a heavy fine or imprisonment, Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman warned today.
The Postmaster noted that some 25,000 mail receptacles were damaged or destroyed in the past year. It was also noted that 2,641 persons were arrested in the year up to June 30 for damaging or destroying mail receptacles.
The Postmaster quoted from the law: "Whoever wilfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letterbox or other receptacle intended or used for the receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the same or wilfully or maliciously injures, defac-is or destroys any mail deposited therein, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years."

This applies to all mail receptacles and the mail in them, even though the boxes are bought by citizens and are their personal property, Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman emphasized.

"Pranksters — and especially children who do not know any better — should be made to realize the seriousness of their actions," the Postmaster said. "A $1,000 fine or a term in jail is enough to take the humor out of any prank."
Often the mailbox damage is the work of youths, who do it for "kicks." And the courts have shown little sympathy for this youthful means of expression. In Michigan, a justice sentenced two 18-year-olds to 10 days in jail, including two on a diet of baby food. The diet specification, explained the judge, was because the youths "acted like babies." They were also fined $25 each plus $15 costs.

In New York state, five youths were fined $25 each plus restitution or restoration, plus no driving for an indefinite period, plus an 8 p.m. curfew, plus a written analysis by each of a magazine article entitled "A Judge Gets Tough on Hoodlums."
Two Iowa youths who damaged 39 mailboxes were required to personally apologize to each boxholder in addition to making repairs or providing a new box.

In Missouri, three 17-year olds lost their driving privileges, were given a 9 p.m. curfew, and had to report twice weekly to juvenile authorities. They had damaged 63 mailboxes.
And in Arkansas, four juveniles faced the following: (1) no driving until further notice, (2) a 10 p.m. curfew, (3) return to court in a month with letters from their school principals reporting on grades and attitudes, (4) full restitution of all damages, and (5) wear a sign for 30 days stating "I have not learned to respect the property of others."

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful to friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy during the loss of our mother, Mrs. Ora E. Felty. A special thanks is extended to Rev. The Professional Route

Trying to pick and choose the "right" stock from among the thousands traded daily on the nation's exchanges is a full-time job, one requiring certain tools of research and a depth of personal experience.
Millions of Americans over the years—recognizing that investing is more than a game of darts—have taken the professional route by putting their dollars to work in mutual funds.

The investor who buys shares in a mutual fund is actually acquiring a proportionate interest in a pool of assets making up the securities of as many as a hundred or more companies. He is getting, in a single package, a diversified equity investment under continuous professional management.

According to the Investment Company Institute, national organization of the mutual fund industry, such companies today manage a total in excess of $35 billion—money belonging to nearly 3.6 million investors living in every one of the 50 states.

The funds have proven themselves to be a practical vehicle for those wanting to invest in the market, but who lack the time and experience to go it alone.
Actually, the ownership of a diversified portfolio such as the individual of average means gets with the purchase of even one mutual fund share would be difficult, if not impossible, except through the medium of the mutual fund.

For as little as $25 a month this investor may receive a part interest in many of the nation's top blue chip companies, and has the assurance that professional investment managers are at work for him.

News From The County Agent

With the moisture shortage this fall and winter, supplemental feeding will be mighty important during the next few months. According to County Agent B. T. Haws, cattlemen may be able to save some time and money by feeding protein supplement twice a week rather than daily feedings.

In a Texas A&M University test, cattle fed protein supplement twice a week performed just as well as those fed daily. The result from twice weekly feeding was about 60 percent saving of labor and travel as compared to daily feeding.

Feeding twice a week doesn't necessarily mean feeding less supplement, just feeding larger amounts less frequently.

Also during cold weather, cattle need plenty of forage to produce body heat. A low quality roughage that is high in fiber is a good feed during a storm, because of the high body heat production resulting from digesting the fiber in the roughage.

A well-fed cow can stand extremely low temperatures. Researchers say the critical temperature is just above the temperature at which cattle begin to shiver. A cow on a fasting diet, or without any feed, reaches a critical temperature at about 55 degrees F. A maintenance ration lowers the critical temperature to about 23 degrees F. With an increase in feed consumption, the critical temperature will drop to well below zero.

Wet hair coats and an increase in wind velocity raise the critical temperature and at the same time increase feed requirements necessary for body heat production.

It'll pay good dividends to keep cattle well-fed during the winter stress months, concludes Haws.

Prices received by Texas farmers and ranchers on November 15 for all farm products were down two per cent from last month and four per cent below the mid-November prices of last year, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Both the all crops index and livestock and livestock products index declined during the month.

Realized net farm income for 1966 probably will amount to about $16 billion. This is a $2 billion above 1965 and the highest since the record level of 1947. Realized net farm income in 1967 may not quite reach the near-record level for 1966. However, it is expected to be well above that of 1965.

The value of farm assets is expected to reach $273 billion on January 1, 1967. This is about $18 billion higher than a year earlier and slightly more than the increase during 1965.

A $35 billion increase during the past 2 years exceeds that of any previous consecutive 2-year period since balance-sheet estimates began in 1940.

Soil testing is a necessary part of today's agriculture. Maximum yields produced at the lowest per unit cost are a must to keep fertilization practices at a profitable level, reminds county agent, B. T. Haws.

... hopes of good future performance. I forecast, however, that will still hold many dangers for the speculator. I urge not to borrow money by stocks, and I urge investment in growth and basestment values.

The safest kind of long-term bonds are available now affording very close income returns of the year. It is a good bet that will not be so many top issues on the bargain side at the end of 1967. Under the 90th Congress boost taxes, tax-exempt bonds put on the best performance.

World opinion on the future of gold has blown and cold many times in recent years. Though lately in the I predict that gold will be in the spotlight before is out.

I forecast that the dollar not be devalued in 1967, the pound will continue.

Certainly, Congress will be more and more critical the looting going on under of the Administration's on Poverty. The whole will be subjected to tight-supervision.

As 1967 wears along, the hopes for more constructive action by the Congress will give way to ased doubts as a legislative stalemate develops. Republics will have enough strength to top the most liberal Administration bills, but not enough to launch a program of their

There will be a lot of in 1967 about the economy "still growing." But I warn to examine carefully advance in Gross National product which I am forecasting here. Biggest part of the ease will come from higher wages.

I foresee that a breath-spell in the economy can be helpful. The prolonged prosperity has bred waste, laxness and inefficiency. These be corrected only by a return of fundamentals. Just as human body requires adequate rest in order to enjoy per health, so too the economy and the stock market as must undergo periodic ing phases.

As the economy cools in 1967, readers should be of reassurances that our problems are only temporary and will soon be followed by a ade of boom conditions. The misused land may be only ss the river, but its always e to test the depth of the er before wading in. That is and my forecast that 1967 be a good year for business and investors to have ng confidence for the future, but to proceed with caution and restraint until the untainties just ahead have been solved.

Door Variety Adds Spice To Any Entry

"A rose is a rose is a rose" may be poetic, but it isn't precise. To a horticulturist, each type of rose is distinct and worthy of its own definition.

The same applies to doors. Each is an entry, but the variety of wood panel doors now available enables homeowners to transform an ordinary entrance into a distinctive house feature.

Attractive front doors, appropriate to either contemporary or traditional house styles, can be found at local lumber dealers. Stock panel doors of ponderosa pine are easy to install, and some are already prehung. They can be painted to blend with house decor, or stained to highlight the natural wood grain.

A few of the many designs that can add beauty to your home are:

• The Cross and Bible door, so called because the four top panels form a cross and the two bottom panels resemble an open book.

• The eight panel door has two panel groupings that represent crosses.

• Cathedral or fan light panel doors. The first has an insert of glass panes on top that look like small church windows. The second has glass panes that resemble an open fan.

• Multi-paneled door. This has as many as 15 panels either of solid wood or of glass.

PIPE CLEANER ROUNDUP

How many uses can you think of for the lowly pipe cleaner? Here are a few to start you thinking: Hold parts of rod together when disassembled. Keep line from unwinding on reel. Nook and cranny oiler. (Can also be used to clean pipe.)

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this means of thanking all my friends for the lovely gifts, flowers, cards and visits that made my recent stay in the hospital much more pleasant, also for all the prayers that I know were offered in by behalf.

May God bless each of you as He has so richly blessed me.
Mrs. R. H. Erister

If you've ever encountered the problem of having one glass stuck inside another, here's the best way to separate them and avoid breakage. Just fill the top glass with cold water, then dip the bottom glass in fairly warm water. Since the heat of the warm water expands the bottom glass, and the cold contracts the top glass, they will then come apart with a gentle pull.

METRONOME... Pulsebeat for Music.
CHURCH... Pulsebeat for your New Year's Resolutions.

Beginners in music study have to have help in timing their practice.

The Metronome is a reminder to stay on the right beat.

The Church is the means through which God pronounces his word. God's word sets up the highest ideals for man to live by. Therefore there is no better ground to base your New Year Resolutions on, than those set up by our Lord.

"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WASHINGTON AND 'SMALL BUSINESS' By C. WILSON HARDER

Associated Press recently announced General Electric Company has blueprinted plans to add ready built cities to its regular product line...

Not content with merely putting up houses, the corporations are also erecting churches, museums, schools, police, and fire departments.

The alarming image brought to mind with this news is that the 'city' will be but another company product rather than an independent American community...

Goodyear rationalizes city-building by blaming the population boom.

THE FIZZLE FAMILY

Insurance companies, banks, attorneys and government agencies report that a staggering number of important family papers are lost each year.

For example, an estimated 300,000 life insurance policies are lost annually, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

To help avoid the difficulties and actual money loss that can occur because important papers are lost or destroyed, it is advisable to review regularly where and how you should safeguard them.

According to Miss Wirges, a bank safe-deposit box provides the best security for vital records, particularly those which might not be replaceable in their original form or would require considerable time and expense for replacement.

The original copy of your will should be left with your attorney. In Texas, the safe deposit box is sealed up on death of the
