STANLEY C. KIRK ENTERS 78th DISTRICT COURT RACE

District Attorney Stanley C. Kirk has announced that he will seek the judgeship of the 78th District Court of Wichita County.

STANLEY C. KIRK

JAYCEES URGE VOTER REGISTRATION

Freedom is fragile. It lives from generation to generation on the strengths, sturdiness, dedication and vigor of its parents who are you and I, and the 200 million other people who inhabit the United States.

How is it kept? It is kept by these 200 million who freely, openly and honestly decide among their peers who will serve in public office to direct our splendid democracy, which in turn protects freedom.

And the only way these people can elect their peers is to vote. Vote. That's a curious word. It stems from history's hallowed halls and has been the Judge of many things and elections. A quick flashback to the Presidential election of 1876 for instance shows how strong a word "vote" is: Rutherford B. Hays was elected President of the United States by one electoral vote. The word "vote" thus buried Samuel J. Tilden.

By the same token, it can give birth. It has given Viet Nam a fledgling, floundering, but free government in 1967. It can be as strong a word as you and I want to make it. I have registered and will vote at each opportunity. WILL YOU?

The final deadline for voter registration is January 31, 1968.

Explorer Scouts Meet Recently, Lay '68 Plans

Tuesday evening, January 2, Explorer Post 155 sponsored by the First Methodist Church had their rechartering meeting to start the new year. Explorers Tai Kreidler, Gary Peters, Larry Rickett and Mike Rupard were present to make plans for the New Year. New associate advisor Capt. Scott Pilkington and Senior Scouter Neil Kreidler were on hand to lay plans for an active outdoor program.

Ham Radio is the topic of primary interest and the Scouts are looking forward to having Chester Ludlow of Wichita Falls set up a program so the boys may work toward their amateur radio license. Thursday night, Jan. 11 at 7 o'clock the scouts will meet at the First Methodist Church to plan camping trip to Perkins Scout Camp. Interested boys 14 and older are welcomed or may obtain more information by calling Capt. Pilkington at 569-2922 or Tai Kreidler at 569-3622.

his candidacy for the vacancy to result from the retirement of Judge Temple Shell.

"It is with regret that I learned of Judge Shell's retirement, but I appreciate the opportunity to apply to the district judgeship in my years of experience as a trial attorney," Kirk said in declaring his candidacy.

If elected, he added, he will continue to follow his district attorney's pledge, "Kirk will work."

To back up his reputation as a working district attorney since 1961, his office has disposed of more than 1,600 cases resulting in 97.3 per cent convictions, has secured restitution of more than $165,000 to citizens of the county, and has represented the State of Texas in 435 civil cases.

Kirk attended elementary school in Electra and was graduated from Eckenridge High School. He moved to Wichita Falls in 1950 upon graduation from the University of Texas where he received bachelor's degrees in business administration and law.

Prior to becoming district attorney in 1961, he was landman with Frank Wood Associates and was associated with Jones, Parish & Fillmore. He has practiced law with Walter Nelson, Jr. and James W. Dugger.

A member of the State Bar of Texas, he is vice president of the Criminal Law and Procedure Section, vice president of the Texas District and County Attorney's Association, and former treasurer of the Wichita County Bar Association.

A lecturer for legal institutes in San Antonio, Austin, Dallas, and Fort Worth, he has had articles on criminal appellate procedure published by the State Bar and has written a grand juror's handbook.

A member of the American Bar Association, the American Judicature Society, Texas Trial Lawyers Association, American Trial Lawyers Association, and National District Attorney's Association, Kirk has appeared before the Texas and United States Supreme Courts, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, United States District Courts, and the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

"One of my most meaningful accomplishments as district attorney was initiation of a non-judicial probation procedure in conjunction with the Wichita County Probation Department," Kirk noted.

Under this program, which is unique in Texas, more than 140 boys and men have been rehabilitated without the stigma of a felony conviction and have become useful citizens in their community.

A member of Floral Heights Methodist Church, the Methodist Men's Organization and former member of the board of stewards, he is active in scouting, being a merit badge counselor, Troop 1 committeeman, and is on the Executive Board of the Northwest Texas Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

On the Board of Directors of the Broadway Theater League of Wichita Falls, Kirk is 1968 county Chairman of the March of Dimes, a member of the physical education committee of the YMCA, on the Board of Directors of the Coyote Booster Club, Knife and Fork Club, American Legion, Northwest Texas Field & Stream Association, and was the recipient of Citizen's 1962 Outstanding Citizen of Wichita Falls Award.

A member of the U.S. Air Force during World War II, he served two years in Italy and was discharged as a sergeant.

Married to the former Patsy Eallard of Electra, they have three children, Karol, 15, Cah 11 and Van, 9.

Mrs. Kirk is president of Crockett FTA, a member of the board of directors of the YWCA, teaches Sunday School a former president of the Legal Auxiliary, a Cub Scout den mother, and a member of the Wichita County Democratic Women's Organization.

Construction Begins On Domed Coliseum, P.E. Complex At MU

Wichita Falls — Construction of Midwestern University's new domed coliseum and physical education complex is on schedule despite days of inclement weather. Charles Franklin, university business manager, said Monday.

"The building foundation, including that for swimming pools, is completed, and wall beams are being put up," Franklin said. "A lot of work, however, doesn't show up, since it is underground."

Construction began last Aug. 22, an dthe expected completion date is January, 1969.

The $3,186,000 project will house men's and women's gymnasiums, 10 offices, several recreation rooms, four classrooms, complete dressing room facilities and both swimming and diving pools.

The main domed stadium's area will cover more than 81,000 square feet.

Construction of the complex, the largest and most expensive building ever attempted at Midwestern, is being financed through several sources, including a federal government grant, ad valorem tax bond proceeds on hand and the sale of additional ad valorem bonds.

The new building will be located on the southeast corner of the campus. H. C. Lewis Co. of Lubbock is the primary contractor.

Franklin pointed out that when completed, "it will be the finest addition to the physical plant in terms of need and student interest."

He added that the Midwestern Indians' home basketball games, which are still being played at Coyote Field House, will be played in the main domed gymnasium.

Higher Postal Rates Are Now In Effect

Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman reminds mailers that new higher postage rates became effective Sunday, Jan. 7, including the 6-cents-an-ounce charge for first-class letters.

Other rates effective now, he noted, are: 10 cents an ounce for air mail, 5 cents each for postal cards, and 8 cents each for air postal cards.

"When you consider that 6 cents will carry a first-class letter addressed to any one of 200 million persons in 50 states, as well as letters addressed to any of 63 million persons in Mexico and Canada," he added, "this still remains as one of the biggest bargains on earth."

The 20 per cent raise in first-class letters rates, effective now, is a smaller percentage raise than that imposed on other types of mail.

He pointed out that there has been a 24 per cent raise in the rates for mailing newspapers and magazines and a 34 per cent hike in the charges for advertising circulars, "occupant" mail and other bulk third-class mail items.

The new rate provisions also establish important rate changes for heavier first-class mail pieces, Mr. Zimmerman explained.

If the first-class mail piece weighs more than 13 ounces, it will go automatically by the fastest transportation available—meaning air service usually.

"Heavier first-class pieces, above 13 ounces, will be merged with air parcel post under a single rate schedule," he said, "and all air mail above 7 ounces also will be subject to the air parcel post rate schedule."

The postmaster assured local residents plenty of one-cent stamps are on hand for use with any existing stocks of 5-cent stamps they may have on hand.

There are also adequate supplies of 6-cent stamps to meet the new first-class letter rate available at the post office, he said.

The higher rates became effective also for other categories of mail used primarily by large-volume mailers. These include bulk third-class advertising mail rates, special rates for books, films and records.

The post office is working closely with commercial mailers to provide them with every possible assistance in complying with the technical provisions of these rate changes, Mr. Zimmerman noted.

CLEAR THE WAY!

KEEP THE BUREAUCRATS OUT

One of the rapidly growing opportunities for personal independence is found in the franchise system. Independent merchants establish their own businesses fortified by the reputation, merchandising and promotion know-how of the parent organization.

Over 400,000 businessmen now hold franchise accounting for approximately 25 per cent of all retail sales.

Franchise holders have a dual responsibility, first, to the public, which expects and believes that the trade-name is an assurance of quality and service, and second, to the franchisor, to deliver a level of quality and service in keeping with the reputation of the trade-name.

But, as the old adage says, a chain is just as strong as its weakest link. This is particularly important when one considers the operations of roadside restaurants, motels, automotive dealers, and soft drink distributors.

Congress is considering legislation to "protect" the franchise holder against preemption. Legislation is not the solution. In fact, federal intervention in this area could help destroy the opportunity for ambitious Americans to become their own bosses.

As William S. Pickett, Vice President of American Motors said, "We are not in the business of terminating franchises. Our business depends upon franchising dealers and having them operate profitably. We want to achieve success for ourselves for franchise dealers and for the owners of our products."

Although much national emphasis has been put on the school dropout problem, and rightly so, it is encouraging to hear about the growth in school and college enrollments. The Bureau of Census survey points out that total enrollment is now running over 55 million persons — three out of every five civilians at ages 5 through 34. About 35.6 million were in elementary school or kindergarten, almost 13.4 million were in high school and about 6.1 million attended college or professional school during the last school year. Experts anticipate that the enrollment by 1975 will exceed 60.4 million. It is gratifying to know that more Americans appreciate the need for a better education.

According to the National Association of Manufacturers, "The Tax Foundation, Inc., reports in a survey that from 1956 to 1966 the number of state-local government employees has increased at a rate about four times as fast as the population, and the cost of paying them has increased at a rate nearly nine times the population growth rate. The survey stated that ten years ago there was one state-owned government worker for every 32 members of the population; today, there is one for every 23. These researches should be alarming to every taxpayer. The time has come when we should demand that state and local employees be

from the Crest Council on Dental Care

Shiny dimes and quarters left under their pillows are all the recollections that most adults have of their "baby" teeth, but in the past decade many new facts about first teeth have been discovered. How up to date is your knowledge? See if you can separate fact from myth. For instance, how about this statement:

1. Children under the age of three rarely get cavities. Fact or myth? The answer is MYTH. Nationwide dental surveys recently showed that fifty per cent of children under the age of two have some decaying teeth. By school age the average is three cavities per child.

2. Baby teeth are not worth bothering about because they are going to fall out anyway. Again, this is a MYTH. Baby teeth should be checked by the dentist when they have all come through—between the ages of two and three—then cavities can be filled and teeth saved.

3. It makes no difference at what age children lose their "baby" teeth. This is a FACT, providing the teeth have had a healthy life and are lost naturally. First teeth that are lost prematurely can lead to many later dental problems and first teeth that become infected can pass on that infection to permanent teeth growing beneath.

4. Most "baby" teeth cavities can be prevented. Another FACT. With the help of two valuable assistants—the toothbrush and a substance known as stannous fluoride—children who receive regular check ups from an early age, can grow up cavity-free. On a first visit the dentist today may paint a toddler's teeth with a stannous fluoride liquid to strengthen the enamel and make it more cavity resistant. At home, children should learn to brush their teeth by the time they are three, using a toothpaste containing stannous fluoride such as Crest, first to receive American Dental Association recognition and now in a new mint flavor.

5. Poor nutrition during pregnancy can adversely affect "baby" teeth. Again, this is a FACT. Baby teeth begin to form when the fetus is still only three inches long and it's the cutting edge that forms first, roots come later. Vitamins, calcium and phosphorus are necessary for healthy teeth and fluoride supplements now available to expectant mothers can also aid their baby's teeth.

THE VITAL ISSUES

While no one can tell what surprises are in store for the American people in 1968, there are certain key issues that surely will engage the attention of the public.

Perhaps the No. 1 domestic issue is that of law and order. The year 1967 was a disaster year in terms of lawlessness. Mobs in Newark, Detroit and other cities destroyed millions of dollars worth of property and turned fine communities into an inferno.

The American people, for all their extreme tolerance, surely will not tolerate another long, hot summer of civil insurrection fanned by professional agitators and their apologists. A tough police crackdown, such as has been ordered in Miami, Florida, is likely to be the national pattern. The major confrontation between the lawless and the forces of law and order may come in Chicago, where civil disobedience groups threaten to engulf the city where the Democrats hold their presidential nominating convention.

On the international front, the war in Vietnam will continue to be the subject of top concern. The "doves" are hard at work, trying to force an American withdrawal so that Ho Chi Minh can have an easy peace. The public has to watch that nervous men in Washington don't yield to the pressure from the demonstrators who represent only a tiny element of American life. The majority of citizens are likely to be angry if the McNamara "no win" policies aren't scrapped when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara leaves office this year.

The Vietnam war is taking on a dimension, with the communists making greatly increased use of privileged sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos. Communist ships are unloading vast quantities of supplies on the Cambodian coast. But Mr. McNamara denies permission to the U. S. service chiefs to order bombing of the Cambodian supply points. Equally outrageous is the fact that U.S. units commanders are not permitted to follow communist troops when they cross into Cambodia for refuge.

Yet another major issue in 1968 will be the fate of the dollar. The European bankers who in the last year looked so suspiciously on the British pound have begun to ask tough questions about the U. S. dollar. The European bankers apparently believe that the Johnson administration has a credibility gap when it comes to announced measures to protect the dollar. The business world is aware of America's great balance of payments deficit and is alarmed—with reason. To prove that it intends to protect the dollar, the administration is going to have to reverse its policies and change its attitudes, and slash foreign aid. U. S. business also needs a real assist in selling abroad.

Other governments give their manufacturers a tremendous assist in marketing goods overseas. The U. S. government is perhaps the only government in the world that seems more interested in developing the economies of foreign states than in aiding its own business enterprises. Nineteen sixty-eight should be the year in which the U. S. government starts thinking about the needs and opportunities of U. S. industry facing foreign competition.

The United States is grossly over-dependent on foreign imports in many lines ranging from steel products to textiles. It is essential, therefore, that Congress take some action this year to deal with the flood of imports that destroy jobs and take away profits.

Still another vital issue for 1968 is the attitude of the unions toward wage increases. Everyone wants a higher wage or salary, but in the modern business world such increases have to come about through improvements in labor productivity. What is worse about Big Unionism is its attitude toward plant modernization. Many, many unions bitterly resent the introduction of new, labor-saving machinery. Yet this machinery is the real hope of the American economy faced with competition from foreign sources. Unions are dead wrong to try to force industry to work with antiquated equipment or to continue work practices which are rooted in the technologies of yesteryear.

By accepting new machinery, working men will be broadening the base of their company's and their own prosperity. Moreover, it is absolutely destructive for a union to accept new machinery and then demand that comparatively unskilled employees be paid the same rate as highly skilled workers on other types of machines.

Those, then are some of the vital issues of 1968. On their successful resolution depends the security, happiness and economic well-being of the American people.

12 From SAFB Earn Degrees On 'Bootstrap'

Sheppard AFB — Five Master and seven Bachelor degrees were received by personnel at Sheppard Technical Training Center in 1967 in off-duty and Operation Bootstrap educational programs.

These degrees were earned from colleges in Texas, Nebraska, Missouri, California, Colorado, Michigan, Oregon and Mississippi. This year's "senior" class was composed of four technical sergeants, two master sergeants, one senior master sergeant, two chief master sergeants and three first lieutenants.

Other members of Sheppard's college class earned 3,616 semester hours of college credit toward degrees during the year. One officer and four NCO's currently on temporary duty Bootstrap expect to complete their degrees in 1968. In addition, six personnel attended college full time for varying periods under non-terminal temporary duty Bootstrap.

Long hours of study also benefited the 380 Sheppardites who completed their high school graduation requirements during 1967 and the 316 job-conscious individuals who com-

Education Aims — Performance, rather than spending or teacher pay, should be the basis of a new school system. So says Glenn I. Ivy, Director of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education. His views were expressed to public school administrators at their mid-winter conference here.

Among highlights of Ivy's preview of the most far-reaching inquiry into Texas' education needs ever undertaken were:

—To achieve national leadership in education, the state must seek excellence in performance and super-efficiency.

—Favored tax status for rural and suburban districts is a "luxury" the state cannot afford.

—"Unequal education"—like pre-school training for the non-English speaking and special programs for migrants — is necessary to offset disadvantages faced by many children.

—Education must be "more relevant" to potential dropouts. In particular, those with Spanish language backgrounds. Obstacles to school attendance must be overcome.

New licenses will be about the size of a standard credit card. About 250 full-time license officers will operate over the state to service renewals. There are some 5,800,000 licensed drivers in the State and the new requirements will af-

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Babson's Point of View on— CRISIS IN THE AIR

Babson Park, Mass. — Air transportation—one of the nation's fastest-growing industries — is flying into a crisis which threatens to clip its wings, temporarily at least. Airport facilities just aren't keeping pace with the demand — air corridor congestion is serious, especially on the East and West Coasts . . . and rapidly rising costs pose new problems of financing.

Inadequate Facilities
Our emergence into the jet age has broadened the horizons of air transport—both passenger and cargo—but it has also brought us face to face with the need for bigger and costlier terminal facilities. Air traffic has doubled since 1962. You can expect it to double again in the next 5 years. Most of the nation's airports are overcrowded . . . some dangerously so. A few are valiantly trying to handle far more planes than they have capacity for. In some airports, jet runways just aren't long enough for today's huge airliners; in others, radar installations aren't sufficient to do the job that true safety requires.

Instrument landing systems seem not to be foolproof, at best. If not well maintained, they can contribute to accidents. Without question, pilots need the most accurate information possible to permit them to determine whether planes are coming in at the proper angle and altitude . . . but the development, installation, and operation of such delicate and sophisticated instruments will entail tremendous increases in the operational costs of airplanes.

Air Corridor Congestion
Airport congestion is getting worse by the week, with New York's Kennedy and LaGuardia fields, Chicago's O'Hare, and the Los Angeles International approaching saturation points. But there is also overcrowding of the air corridors themselves as passenger, military, and cargo craft take to the clouds in increasing numbers.

In such close quarters, speedy jets are a decided hazard, and the Federal Aviation Administration has set a new speed limit of 288 miles per hour for planes flying below 10,000 feet. Soon to come, perhaps, are regulations calling for wider spacing of aircraft in flight and when circling over airports awaiting opportunity to land.

Progress Must Be Financed
Meanwhile, the airlines are entering a critical period of very rapid growth during which their cost's promise to rise sharply while their profit margins decline further. Pan American, which has $1.5 billion in new jets on order, has obtained long-term credit of $180 million to finance new planes. Trans World Airlines announced it had gotten $800 million in new money and refinanced mortgage notes. In today's high-cost, limited-availability money market, such sums surely entail heavy burdens which will be a drain on earnings for some time to come.

Obviously, the airlines are also going to be faced with higher landing, storage, and maintenance fees as airports pass along the huge costs of installing and maintaining new and improved facilities to handle the great increase in air traffic and provide for the growth still to come.

Fare Boosts Due
Curiously enough, the Civil Aeronautics Board continued throughout 1967 to favor reduced airline fares . . . thereby whittling away their earnings base and making it more difficult for them to finance the purchase of new aircraft and new safety equipment. However, in December the CAB allowed four of the big airlines to increase somewhat their low "Discover America" discount fares on flights between the East and West Coasts.

As the profits squeeze of the airlines intensifies, you can expect CAB to relent further by permitting selected fare increases so that those who fly will pay a bigger share of rising costs. And it's just possible the airlines may one day be collecting a federal head tax on each passenger ticket sold . . . to help pay for new airport facilities and safety devices.

FIRST LUMBERMAN

The nation's first "lumberman" was Captain John Smith, famous explorer and adventurer of colonial times. Under his direction, a group of Dutch and Polish millwrights built a crude sawmill at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1608. This mill, which produced Southern Pine lumber, was the nation's first commercial enterprise.

LIBRARY CORNER

Instead of bragging we are begging again this week. To complete the 6 volume set of Churchill's The Second World War, the library needs volume 2 entitled Their Finest Hour and volume 6 Triumph and Tragedy. This set was a Book-of-the-Month Club choice in the early 1950's and perhaps sits unused at your house.

Another set we are anxious to complete (we have only volume 1) is A History of Texas From Wilderness to Commonwealth by Louis J. Wortham. This 5-volume set was a 1924 copyright published by Wortham-Melyneaux of Ft. Worth is unobtainable now. The library would appreciate having them where they would be available to area high school and college students who use the library in far greater numbers than we had anticipated.

We have received Fine Art Reproductions, Old and Modern, a catalogue of prints. The book is indexed by author and subject and offers small prints for as little as 50c. We hope artists, art lovers and interior decorators will find it useful. Thank those of you who have brought us your old Christmas cards. We can use more if you have not yet disposed of yours.

Medical School At Sheppard Has Open House

REVIEW OF 1967

Sheppard AFB — The Medical Service School celebrated its first anniversary at Sheppard Air Force Base with an open house June 24 which featured tours of the School's facilities in Building 1900, Neel Kearby Hall, and the two partially completed dental buildings.

The public was invited to see exhibits in the medical laboratory, x-ray rooms, pharmacy, operating room suites, veterinary displays, nursing care units, dental units and administrative classrooms.

Prior to the open house a luncheon, hosted by the center commander was held for local officers in the U. S. Air Force medical field, sponsors of MSS squadrons, and leaders representing all of the local civilian health services. Approximately 80 guests attended the luncheon at the Officers Open Mess. At that time Col. Geoffrey P. Wiedeman, MSS commander, briefed the visitors giving them a comprehensive account of the school's activities.

These guests and others including members of allied and ancillary medical sciences toured the MSS facilities.

The school moved to Sheppard from Gunter AFB, Ala., in March, 1966 but it was not until March, 1967 that the school was completely established in its new home.

The School's five training departments and five support divisions are responsible for conducting over 41 officer and airmen courses that supply the Air Force Medical Services with a reservoir of personnel competent in all medical specialties.

NEEDED — TIME FOR MEDITATION

Every working Mother and housewife will admit that there is never enough time — time for being the mother and wife she'd like to be, time for mending, time for planning well balanced meals. Certainly never enough time to meditate on God and His laws — to think on day by day happenings and consider whether or how they affect God's plan for her life.

One way for her to assure herself this time of needed meditation is to make it her habit to visit the church of her choice each Sunday. The quiet atmosphere of love and peace and prayer will restore a feeling of oneness with God and His plan, and give her strength for the work ahead.

"Be still and know that I am God". Psalms 46:10
 "He restoreth my soul". Psalms 23:3

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
