Bits Of THIS-N-THAT

By BETTY BOYD

Did you see the livestock show and the other project show, home economics and 4-H, Saturday, January 20th? The livestock show was held in the old light plant and the other was in the Community Room of the Burk Burnett Bank. Both were very nice. I had much fun trying to take pictures of winning hogs which I found to be very uncooperative. They really gave their owners a time. Congratulations to all of the youngsters who took part in these fine shows.

It appears that the old Flu bug has finally hit our town. Many people are ill with this yearly visitor. I hope YOU are not one of them.

How Long Is A Piece Of String

Bouncing Betty Furness, President Johnson's special adviser on consumer affairs, is at it again. She is insisting that manufacturers tell purchasers exactly how long a product can be expected to last.

This is the same lady who garnered headlines early in her advisorship by encouraging irate, but misguided housewives, to blame the supermarkets for high prices. If Betty suggested that massive spending and continued budget deficits had anything to do with inflation and high prices, it was not reported by the press. Neither do we recall reading that she had anything to say about featherbedding, fringe benefits, wage increases without increased production, or other matters pertinent to the spiraling cost of living in our country.

President Johnson, according to the news accounts feels that he has a real glamorpass of a campaigner in Miss Furness. He pointed out to some of the government employees beholden to him how many speeches she has been making each week, and how well she was selling the Administration's "protect the consumer" line.

Why shouldn't the housewife, Miss Furness asked, "know that there are 'x' number of hours of service in her washing machine or that the life expectancy of a toaster falls short of a golden wedding anniversary? The manufacturer knows, and the marketer knows, what the design-life of a product is. Shouldn't the consumer also know?"

Now that does seem pretty bold talk for Miss Furness to use before the American Marketing Association. But she seems not to have asked that there be matching assurances from the consumers.

Will the purchaser for example, promise to follow the directions for use of the equipment? Will they pledge, good, bad, or indifferent care of the equipment? Is the man of the house one who has a hobby of taking everything apart, but seldom gets anything back together without having pieces left over? Does the purchaser think that appliances need the oil recommended by the manufacturer? And how may the manufacturer determine how many people will be having their clothes washed in that washing machine? Will it be used by a tidy elderly couple, or by a family with ten dirt collecting youngsters?

It would take a lot of paperwork on somebody's part to answer all those questions for the manufacturer. But paperwork never stops bureaucrats.

If she had used "dishwasher" instead of "washing machine" in her example, it would be simpler. We have one at our house which seems certain to last a lifetime. Me.

JUST DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

Last year, a bill was introduced in Congress that would have vastly expanded the misnamed rural electrification program — misnamed because rural electrification is virtually 100 per cent complete. The bill would have created an electric bank under which rural electric co-operatives would have received supplemental financing at the direct or indirect expense of taxpayers running into billions of dollars. The bill was defeated, but it has been reintroduced in the current session of Congress. The issue it presents is no different than last year. That issue is whether under the guise of rural electrification the philosophy of public ownership of a basic industry is to be pushed.

Aside from philosophical considerations, there is a very practical disadvantage that must be considered. Government subsidized co-op electric systems do not pay the same taxes as investor-owned business must pay. As the head of an investor-owned, taxpaying electric company points out, "If the rural electric co-ops built $10 billion of property with money borrowed from the federal electric bank, the loss of the tax avoidance would amount to $400 million per year. . . . All of this loss of tax revenue would have to be made up by the taxpayers."

At the present time, the investor-owned, publicly-regulated electric industry pays taxes in the amount of $2.9 billion a year at all levels of government. The nation simply cannot afford the impairment of this source of tax revenue by a tax-privileged rural electrification program that is no longer rural.

Friend or Foe?

How safe is your home? Did you know that everytime you answer the door you jeopardize you and your family's security.

According to the FBI, residence robberies, which account for over 10% of all robbery crimes, were up 10% last year. In that year, there were more than 1,000,000 people assaulted or robbed in their own homes.

To help reduce these alarming statistics, law enforcement officials advise home owners to determine who is at the door before unlatching it by asking the caller a few pointed questions.

As a result, many homeowners are helping safeguard their families by installing home intercom units such as Fanon's Internal Security System, that enables the housewife to answer the door from any room in the house without having to open it.

The moderately priced unit, which is available at electronic dealers and discount outlets, works at the touch of a button and you have two-way communications with the stranger at your door, instantly. You can then ask as many questions as you want to until you are convinced that the stranger is a friendly caller.

The Fanon Internal Security System is easily installed and provides other kinds of protection and convenience. For instance, you can install it in rooms throughout the house for around-the-clock "baby-sitting," "sick room monitoring," calling the children to dinner, and talking with father in his workshop.

Another security feature of this versatile system guards against fires. A special fire/heat detector can be placed in each room to warn when the temperature rises too high or too quickly.

Tourist, Oil Patch Committees Meet To Finalize Plans

The Tourist and Oil Patch Committees of the Chamber of Commerce met in the Texas Electric Reddy Room, Monday, January 22, to make further plans for moving along with the Oil project.

Ways of raising money, locating sponsoring organizations and acquiring labor for the various projects which must be completed, step by step, to make the tourist attraction a success were discussed.

Billy Ray Mize, president of the local Jaycees, presented an idea to help obtain one of the proposed derricks and offered the services of the club in any way they may be used to benefit the vast undertaking.

Chairman of the Oil Patch Committee, H. R. 'Jingle' Hays conducted the first part of the meeting, then, when it was decided to combine the two committees on the ever growing project, he released the floor to Tom Nicklas.

Others helping to bring the Oil Patch dream to reality are: Jack Aaron, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Gene Allen, manager of the Chamber; Ping Lundberg, Marjorie Kauer, Wanda Prve, Virginia Salter, Clifford Wilmon, Gary Bean, city manager, C. J. Lippard and James Pearson.

Several members of the Chamber of Commerce will attend a West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting in Abilene very soon, where it is hoped the scrapbook showing completed projects of Operation Sparkle, will win Burkburnett an award.

SEN. RALPH YARBOROUGH'S NEWSLETTER

Dear Fellow Texan:

One of the most significant bills before the new second session of the 90th Congress this year is a proposal to extend the Hill-Burton federal aid to hospitals program, first passed more than 20 years ago. That important act has provided billions of dollars in matching grants and loans to local hospitals in every state in our nation for construction and expansion. But unless the Hill-Burton Act is extended by Congress, it will expire next year.

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama teamed up with former Senator Harold Burton of Ohio in 1947 to create this efficient system of financing where hospitals, public clinics and nursing homes can obtain direct funds from the federal government to provide necessary facilities.

The Hill-Burton hospital program has had a heavy impact on the health of our people. More than $9 billion in hospital and nursing home construction providing an additional 400,000 beds for hospitalized Americans over the past 20 years has been the result.

In Texas, Hill-Burton funds have contributed to a total of $511 million in hospital construction, adding 25,699 hospital beds in our state. Last year alone the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which administers the Hill-Burton hospital program, approved 29 projects for Texas, providing 1,509 new hospital and nursing home beds. The federal government contributed $12 million, or about a third of the cost of this expansion.

In my ten years in the Senate — as a member of the Senate Health Subcommittee, as a member of the Appropriations Committee, and as a member of Senator Hill's Labor and Public Welfare Committee — in those 10 years I have worked hard for more and better hospitals in our United States. In 1966 Medicare took effect and for the first time thousands of older Americans living on small pensions or Social Security were able to receive the medical treatment they have always badly needed but could not afford. Many thousands have taken advantage of that Medicare program and are receiving the care they deserve.

Frankly, these programs are expensive, but they merit the expense. The cost of the proposed five-year extension of the Hill-Burton hospital program will run into the billions, but I can think of no obligation more basic for our government than providing adequate medical protection and research to keep America strong and healthy.

I support the Hill-Burton hospital program, and I shall work for its extension.

BURGARS MENACE MANY TEXAS HOMES

Burglary is one of the fastest growing crimes in Texas, according to the Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Companies, which says that many home burglaries could be avoided if home owners would lock their windows and doors adequately and take other common sense precautions to reduce vulnerability to burglary.

HYPOCRISY ON THE DOLLAR

In calling on Americans not to travel or invest abroad, President Johnson took action that he described as protection of the U.S. dollar. The action hardly seems affective, however. Indeed there is the odor of hypocrisy about it.

The United States hasn't a balance of payments problem because U.S. citizens want to visit the Tower of London or the Parthenon in Athens. The U.S. dollar is threatened with a crisis of confidence because the United States is spending more than it earns — at home and abroad. The biggest financial drain since the end of World War II has been the foreign aid program which has won America more enemies than friends.

In the last session of Congress, economy-minded senators and representatives wanted to slash spending on foreign aid — thereby buttressing the dollar — but the administration said "no." Invariably when the protection of the dollar comes down to some tough political action, the Great Society wants to go spending and promoting the share-the-wealth philosophy.

The hypocrisy of the administration's stand on protecting the dollar was made crystal clear January 5 when Vice President Hubert Humphrey, visiting the unstable state of Zambia in South-Central Africa, promised U.S. help to build a highway to the Indian Ocean.

Here is a prime example of foreign aid waste. It is, in the administration's book, wrong for Americans to make an educational tour of Europe, but it is all right for the federal government to dump millions of dollars in a road through an African jungle — simply to appease an African dictator and his fanatical followers.

The proposed road over which Zambian copper would be hauled to the ocean is totally unnecessary. The Rhodesian Railway is equipped and ready to haul the copper, as they have done in the past. However, Zambia wants to see Rhodesia destroyed, and insists that Uncle Sam provide an alternate method of moving the copper.

It is shocking and outrageous that the Johnson administration would agree to the Zambian plan. Yet wasting millions on synthetic African states is characteristic of the "liberals" in power in Washington. They haven't the will to defend the dollar as it should be defended. Moreover, it is a mistake to accept Mr. Johnson's notion that the dollar only needs defense overseas. It is at home that the struggle to strengthen the dollar also must be carried on with great determination. Yet waste and big spending constitute a way of life for the Great Society.

Because the government is pouring billions into non-productive programs, such as the War on Poverty, the dollar is declining in value. This month, for example, the cost of Social Security increased, but real benefits aren't increasing. The reason is that the cost of everything is going up. An American has only to buy a postage stamp to appreciate this truth. A stamp for a first-class letter now is six cents instead of five. Who knows? Perhaps a few years for now a stamp will cost a dime or a quarter.

administration will consider introducing fundamental fiscal reforms. It has its mind set on the 1968 elections.

The show was restricted to the youth of the Burkburnett school district. There was an increase of entries in all classes and divisions over the show of 1967.

Wayland Holt, of Eig Pasture livestock judge, said, "There is a vast improvement in the quality of the stock shown this year, when compared to last year and it is very apparent the boys have worked hard feeding, grooming and preparing their entries."

He was assisted by Bob Benson, assistant county agent and J. B. Riley, Jr.

Clyde Conway judged the rabbits.
Superintendent of the show was Gad Garland. The awards were presented by Jack Aaron, president of the Livestock Board; Elmer Klinkerman, secretary-treasurer; Norman Roberts, vice president; A. C. Hicks, Jim Frye and Charles McCullough, James Easter, FFA teacher at the High School, assisted also.

Terry Bradley won this plaque for Showmanship during the second Burkburnett Livestock Show held January 20.

'FARM BUREAU WEEK' IS PROCLAIMED IN COUNTY

County Judge Calvin Ashley has designated the week of January 29-February 3 as "Farm Bureau Week" in Wichita County. The county Farm Bureau organization will have a special enrollment drive during this period as part of a statewide effort to push Farm Bureau membership in Texas over the 105,653 figure achieved in 1967. The Wichita County Farm Bureau ended its 1967 membership year with 630 member families.

The official proclamation called for citizens "to give due recognition to this observance honoring the Wichita County Farm Bureau."

Earlier Gov. John Connally proclaimed the same period as "Farm Bureau Week in Texas." Raymond Schroeder of Burkburnett, is president of the Wichita County Farm Bureau. Membership Chairman is J. W. Tole of Route 4, Wichita Falls. Norman Roberts and Robert Wilcox will assist Mr. Tole on the membership committee. All members of the board of directors will be working on the drive. A kick-off breakfast is being scheduled for early February.

The committee chairman said every farmer and rancher in the county is needed "as a member and leader" in Farm Bureau.

"Each of us in agriculture has too great an outlay in our business not to do all that we can to protect our investment in capital, time and labor," he declared.

INSURERS PAY NEARLY $41 MILLION IN TAXES

Insurance companies of all types paid nearly $41 million in premium taxes to the State of Texas in 1966, the Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Companies reports.

Over a hundred years ago, a young boy is said to have complained to his mother about the quality of her fried cakes: "Why don't you cut a hole in the middle where it doesn't cook?" And so, New England sea captain Hanson Gregory is credited with the invention of the ring shaped cake, with a hole in its center, otherwise known as a doughnut.

That was in 1827. Today, doughnuts are more than a pleasant food. They are a national institution. Nationwide specialty shops cater exclusively to a popular sentiment for doughnuts that are flavored, frosted and filled in an endless variety of ways.

Many people still prefer the homemade variety. In fact, you can surprise your friends and have a "dunk-your-own" party, using one basic doughnut recipe with a choice of toppings. If you haven't a deep fryer, don't worry; use an electric aluminum skillet.

Aluminum's excellent heat conductivity will eliminate the burning or sticking of hot liquids and, with its non-stick inferior finish, the utensil will be easy to clean, too.

To decorate doughnuts dip them in a glaze, then in the topping of your choice. For the toppings, make sure you have a wide selection: chopped nuts, toasted coconut flakes, chocolate or colored sprinkles, confection sugar beads, crunched peppermints, and so forth.

Everyone has a weakness for doughnuts... and it's so much fun to take part in the making.

DAFFY DOUGHNUTS

4 eggs, well mixed
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
3 eggs, beaten
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon orange rind
3 eggs, confectioners' sugar,
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Toppings (chopped nuts, toasted coconut, sprinkles)

Combine biscuit mix and sugar. Add 1/2 cup milk, eggs, cloves, mace and orange rind. Stir until blended. Chill for 1/2 hour. Roll or put out dough, about 1/2 inch thick, on a lightly floured board. Cut out doughnuts with 2 floured 3/4 inch doughnut cutter. Pour salad oil into an electric aluminum skillet set at 375° F. Drop doughnuts, one at a time, into hot oil. Cook about one minute on each side or until golden and evenly browned. Drain on paper toweling and cool slightly. To make glaze, combine confectioners' sugar, 1/2 cup milk and vanilla. Dip one side of doughnut into glaze then into desired topping. Makes about 2 dozen doughnuts.

This old forgotten boat is almost buried in the reeds. Can this boat in any way be compared to our talents? What of these talents that God has given us? Have they been beached, forgotten, buried?

Heaven expects us to help in this matter of creating a better world where brother helps brother by using to the fullest extent the talents He has bestowed upon us. God always provokes and prods mankind to do good works, and accomplish great things. And He says that if we dedicate ourselves to this matter He will help. But the decision to use our talents and develop them is our choice.

Attend church this Sunday and begin to learn how God would have you use these gifts He has given you.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Youth Center Directors Met Monday, Jan. 15

The Board of Directors of the Burkburnett Youth Center held their regular monthly meeting Monday, Jan. 15th, at the Center. Guest for the evening was Kim Ludeke, president of the Junior Class at Burkburnett High School. Class presidents and representatives of the Student Council have been invited to attend any and all of the Youth Board meetings to give their ideas and viewpoints of all decisions made by the board.

Due to a death in the family, Mrs. Barbara Kelly has elected to resign from the Youth Board. This resignation was respectfully accepted by the board members. Nominations are now being considered to fill this vacancy. The board consists of four men and four women, therefore this position must be filled by another woman.

We wish to thank the Burkburnett Study Club, Mrs. E. D. Potter, treasurer, for their $100 pledge. The Youth Center keeps going, thanks to monthly pledges such as this and we are certainly grateful for them. Plans are being made for a Talent Show to be held at the Center as a fund-raising project to aid in paying off the $7,000 Building Fund debt. Details of the show will be worked out by the committee in charge headed by Mrs. Nita Lax. Anyone in the Burkburnett area who has a special talent and would like to enter as a contestant should watch the Burk Star for the audition date which will be announced soon. A dance was held Saturday night, January 20, sponsored by the Youth Board with proceeds going toward the Building Fund Debt. The band for this dance was the "Moving Sound."

The present schedule for the youth of our city stands as follows:

Monday 4:10-5:10—5:15-6:15
 Charm class for high school girls and Cub Scouts.

Tuesday 4:00-6:00—4:00-5:00
 Twirling Class and Brownies.

Fourth Tuesday of Month 7:30-8:30
 4-H Club.

Wednesday 4:00-5:00—7:00-8:00
 Catholic Church Eible Class.

Thursday 2:00-6:00—4:00-6:00
 Twirling Class and Girl Scouts.

Friday
 Nothing scheduled at this time.

Saturday 2:00-5:00
 Open Game Room.

Sunday 2:00-5:00
 Open Game Room.

This schedule is subject to change for any new projects or meetings. Volunteers are needed at all times to start new classes for the youth of Burkburnett. Ideas, plans, and hopes are large but manpower remains small at the present time.

MICKEY MANTLE TO SPEAK AT BOOSTER BANQUET HERE

Mickey Mantle, one of major league baseball's all-time greats, whose name is mentioned in the same breath with "Ruth, Gehrig, and DiMaggio," will be the guest speaker for the annual Burkburnett Booster Club Banquet at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 29 in the high school cafeteria. Tickets for the banquet under the sponsorship of the Burk Booster Club may be purchased by writing or calling the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce. Burkburnett Bank. First National Bank, Texas Electric Co., the High School, Junior High School and from some individuals. A triple crown winner in 1956, Mantle was acclaimed the greatest player in the game, and a landside winner of the league's most valuable player award. Not only did Mantle win the league titles in batting (.353), homeruns (52), and runs batted in (130), but also led in runs with 132, and total bases at 376.

ALL MUST REGISTER WHO WISH TO VOTE IN 1968

Under the new law, persons 60 years of age or older must be registered, even in Burkburnett or other rural areas. Many Texas residents who think they are qualified voters will be turned away from the polls this year unless they check their paperwork. Bill Carnes, county tax assessor-collector, said this week. Carnes said his office mailed application blanks to all 1967's registered voters. The applications were to be completed and mailed back to register for 1968. Many people have carefully put the application away, thinking they are registration certificates. Carnes urged residents to check to be sure they have applied for voter registration. Deadline for applications is Jan. 31. People who were not registered in 1967 can obtain applications from the tax assessor's office and sub-station. Even though an election judge may know that the person has lived here all his life; under the law the judge will have to deny that person a ballot if he is not legally registered to vote.
