Bits Of THIS-N-THAT

By BETTY BOYD

For the first time since I came to Burk Burnett I have seen an old New England friend—and I do not mean snow! I am speaking about a robin; a bird with a beautiful red breast. Perhaps I am wrong and it was not a robin at all. Can anyone tell me if robins get to Texas?

If They Close The Drugstores, What's Next?

(An Editorial)

Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, has said that the corner drugstore should be closed down. However, he qualified this statement by adding that any such development is 20 years away.

Not surprisingly, the remarks by the FDA commissioner before newsmen at a New York press conference aroused the ire of retail pharmacists throughout the nation. A spokesman for 40,000 of the country's 53,000 drugstores, Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Druggists, declared that it wouldn't have made any difference if Dr. Goddard had said that drugstores wouldn't be shut down for 50 years. "It is all the same to me," said Mr. Simmons while speaking before the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association recently. "Dr. Goddard has gone on record as favoring the elimination of the American drugstore from the public scene. That leaves us no choice but to seek his resignation."

Mr. Simmons also charged in his speech that Dr. Goddard is dedicated to the concept of moving the practice of drug dispensing out of the drugstores and into the doctor's office. "But I have news for Dr. Goddard and others within and outside of pharmacy," Mr. Simmons said. "The American drugstore as a vital, progressive, updated service institution is here to stay. That's the way the public wants it and that's the way it is going to be."

If Mr. Simmons is correct in his forecast, drugstores in every community will continue to make a major contribution to the public welfare and to the economy. If Dr. Goddard is correct, we can look forward to a decrease in drugstore expenditures to meet payrolls and advertise goods and services, empty stores, and the possible elimination of the drugstore as a traditional service institution in all communities.

We can also look forward to queuing-up at the few and far between medical centers and hospitals to obtain our prescription drugs. That is not at all a pleasant prospect when you consider that, more often than not, the patients who are in need of drugs are not feeling well enough to travel long distances and wait in line for medicine.

If Dr. Goddard's dire forecasts turn out to be true, no longer will we be able to have our prescriptions filled or refilled at our "corner drugstore" or call for immediate delivery of health care needs in all kinds of weather or have emergency drug services readily available over a 24-hour period, or to be able to have a trained professional and business person ready to serve all members of our family, young or old, with the kind of personal attention we have always received from our local pharmacist; or be able to talk to our neighborhood pharmacist about a large number of personal and community problems.

We sincerely hope that the commissioner is wrong in his predictions and the drugstore will remain as a vital service institution in all of our communities. But if the commissioner is correct, what other segment of our free enterprise system will a few schemers turn to in their efforts to control our society?

Today the very existence of the drugstore is threatened. Who knows what tomorrow has in store for other professions and business enterprises?

POVERTY AND RIOTS

Poverty is often given as the reason for much of the violence in our cities, and government leaders recommend spending billions of tax dollars to provide jobs. This supposed connection between poverty and riots is seldom questioned, but Evangelist Billy Graham flatly rejects the claim that poverty is the cause of present civil disturbances. He points out, "there was no such rioting, looting or killing of police officers in depression days when people were much poorer."

To many, there is far more involved in the present breakdown of law and order than just the restlessness born of poverty. Respect for law lies in the character of our people rather than in their affluence. A law abiding society is built on character, and character cannot be created or bought at will with tax dollars. On the contrary, freewheeling government spending and inflation are character wreckers.

An all time low U. S. infant death rate — 23.4 deaths for each 1,000 births — was recorded in 1966, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

SENATOR RALPH YARBOROUGH'S NEWSLETTER

The 1960's, under the leadership of Presidents John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, should be known in history as years of great forward movement in the field of education. Congress has passed some 40 laws during those years to strengthen America's brain-trust. We have nearly tripled the level of federal help to our schools since 1964.

You can't see educational progress overnight, but today thousands of youngsters from poor families are in college on government loans and scholarships. Our rural schools are better equipped thanks to federal financial help. Our teachers have better textbooks and teaching aids and our children have better desks and classrooms.

I was disappointed last week when the Administration announced severe cutbacks in education spending. We have a very costly war going on in Vietnam that is draining much of our government income away from programs at home. Non-vital spending must be reduced until the war ends, but in my opinion, nothing is more vital than educating our young people.

The President outlined some fine and inspiring goals for school improvement — but the money just isn't there. Last year my Bilingual Education Act was passed by the Congress to help youngsters who enter school with little or no ability to speak English. Congress authorized $30 million for this program involving nearly three million children. That's $1.66 per child. In Texas alone we have 750,000 Mexican-American children who need this program. This is tokenism.

Funds for classrooms and equipment at four-year colleges are $74.4 million below last year's level. Grants for junior college construction and expansion were held at last year's level despite a growing need for community junior colleges. I have received letters in the past few weeks from administrators of 14 Texas colleges — large and small ones — saying that cutting back these funds will cause serious problems.

The budget would reduce aid for our grade schools $60.7 million below last year's level. Nearly $30 million less is provided for aid to impacted school districts like Killen, El Paso, and San Antonio, where a high percentage of the families are military dependents.

Congress authorized spending $936 million for college building construction, but the budget provides only one dollar for every fifteen needed. We called for $120 million for graduate school construction, but only eight million is budgeted — one-fifteenth of what is needed.

We must eliminate non-essential spending, but education spending is more than essential. The money we invest in educating our children pays off in taxes paid by educated adults. It pays off in technical know-how and skill. Every penny spent on education pays off in a better America. I intend to oppose these drastic cuts that would undermine our schools.

News From The County Agent

Since grain and forage crops are subject to insect attack throughout the growing season, farmers and ranchers in Wichita County should be interested in the revised edition of "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Mites on Grain and Forage Crops," says E. T. Haws, county agent.

This revised addition has several new sections which are important and several chemical additions and deletions in the recommended tables.

The new sections include recommendations for controlling the southwestern corn borer, sugarcane borer and neotropical borer. Recommendations for controlling mites on grain sorghum and the clover head weevil. There are also suggestions on soil treatments for controlling wireworms, white grubs and corn rootworms and the lesser corn borer.

In today's machine farming, its easy to overmechanize your farm and rob yourself of the full value of the money you spend for equipment. Obsolete machinery might be costing you some profits, too.

Whenever you buy, purchase the type and size equipment you can use at or near full capacity on your farm. Each farm represents a specific situation and you'll probably find yourself trying to decide between buying or not buying some of the larger machines.

You might decide to buy the machine and do custom work to help it pay for itself. Or you might decide its cheaper and more practical for you to hire the big machines on a part-time basis.

Whether you buy or hire, keep up-to-date on the latest in farm machinery development. Always keep in mind that service available and the individual features of each machine are as important as the price.

After you've bought a new machine or replace an older piece of equipment with one that can save you fuel, power, time and labor—take care of it. Know the care, operation and maintenance procedures the manufacturer recommends.

Farm and ranch profits have been under strong pressure in recent years and has created what is often referred to as the "price squeeze." In this situation, explains county agent B. T. Haws, farmers and ranchers face steadily rising production costs while prices they receive for their products rise at a much slower rate.

In the meantime, producers see the prices consumers pay move up much faster than their own.

While the prices farmers will receive in the future for their products as best described as uncertain, there are indicators pointing to still higher production costs which still serve to increase the "price squeeze" during the next few years.

These indicators include increases in interest rates, wages, taxes, and the cost of machinery, equipment and buildings. Any changes in the prices received by farmers will probably be relatively small. This means profits will continue to be affected by the "price squeeze" in 1968, says Haws, and further emphasizes the importance of keeping production costs low and yields high.

Popular American Product Seized by Soviets As Sign of "Western Influence" on Svetlana

Did you know that versatile jar of "Vaseline" petroleum jelly that you tuck in your medicine chest recently played an important role in one of the most dramatic international incidents in decades?

According to a London Observer article, "The Story the Secret Police Missed," when Svetlana Stalin escaped to the west with the manuscript of her much-publicized book, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," the Soviet secret police began their hunt for telltale signs of "western influence."

After ransacking her home for incriminating evidences of that dreaded "western influence," the secret police finally zeroed in on what they regarded as telltale evidence: A jar of American "Vaseline" petroleum jelly was found on Svetlana's dressing table.

With the jar of petroleum jelly as proof, they proceeded to photograph it from every possible angle. Dozens of photographs of America's "Vaseline" petroleum jelly are now part of the Soviet police files. Presumably, a chilly visitor to the Russian steppes who tries to prevent a bit of chapping with an application of "Vaseline" petroleum jelly may, in the future, find himself explaining this "western influence" at his nearest Soviet police station. Or, he caught red-handed.

As the London Observer explains it, "It's not that the Russian secret police really look on "Vaseline" (petroleum jelly) as a frightful weapon of Imperialist subversion (though to an ordinary Russian the jar would look strange and foreign with its Roman lettering). But," the Observer sums up, "it is an example of the fantastic continuing size and scope of the Soviet secret police that they have time, and people, and a records system which is capable of automatically filing this kind of detail."

Texas Circuit 6, Jehovah Witness, Plan Convention

Harold P. Bruce, local minister, announced that the regularly scheduled meetings for the Central Unit of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Wichita Falls area will not be held the weekend of March 1-3, due to the circuit convention being held at this time in Sycamore Park Recreation Center in Fort Worth.

About 800 delegates are expected from the newly reformed Texas Circuit 6, from Fort Worth to Wichita Falls and east along both sides of the Red River.

Bruce said the purpose of the assembly is to analyze the 16-congregation circuit ministerial activity laying plans to bring any existing weakness up to national levels and to spiritually "Fortifying Ourselves for the Future."

"Jehovah's Witnesses," Bruce said, "are a preaching fellowship organization that is designed to train and teach all members to increase their praise to Jehovah."

The program will consist of morning, afternoon and night sessions of Bible talks, discussions and demonstrations.

The highlight of the three-day training program will be reached Sunday at 3 p.m. when L. M. Dugan, district supervisor from New York, delivers the talk, "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?"

THE FIRMER "TERRA TIGER"

Milwaukee, Wis.—(HK)—Early in 1968 Allis-Chalmers will begin marketing an all-terrain vehicle for the sportsman, recreation, commercial and military fields.

Called the "Terra Tiger" the six-wheel drive unit is designed for year 'round use in woods, swamps, lakes and streams, and through sand, snow and ice as well as in green summer fields.

The water-tight, Fiberglas unit is powered by a 10 horsepower engine capable of carrying its 600-pound payload up a 45 degree hill. It has room for two passengers and a storage compartment.

"The Terra Tiger" is a boon to hunters, fishermen and campers," said Robert M. Wolf, manager of the company's outdoor products department. "It is a family fun vehicle. In addition, commercial applications include surveyors, construction and logging crews, conservationists, rescue teams, farmers, and ice, forestry, beach and utility line patrols. We also foresee a number of military applications for this vehicle."

Chain drive to all wheels, and cushiony, low pressure tires give excellent traction and flotation for "off the beaten path" operation. A simple steering tiller with handy throttle and brake controls make the unit quick-responding. A tight U-turn is made in four feet, about half its length.

Top speed is about 25 miles an hour on land, and 4 miles an hour in water. Standard equipment includes key ignition, recoil starter and a sealed beam headlight for night driving.

Wolf pointed out that the "Terra Tiger" is an all-season fun vehicle that will take anyone about anywhere he wants to go.

If They Close The Drugstores, What's Next?

(An Editorial)

Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, has said that the corner drugstore should be closed down. However, he qualified this statement by adding that any such development is 20 years away.

Not surprisingly, the remarks by the FDA commissioner before newsmen at a New York press conference aroused the ire of retail pharmacists throughout the nation. A spokesman for 40,000 of the country's 53,000 drugstores, Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Druggists, declared that it wouldn't have made any difference if Dr. Goddard had said that drugstores wouldn't be shut down for 50 years. "It is all the same to me," said Mr. Simmons while speaking before the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association recently. "Dr. Goddard has gone on record as favoring the elimination of the American drugstore from the public scene. That leaves us no choice but to seek his resignation."

Mr. Simmons also charged in his speech that Dr. Goddard is dedicated to the concept of moving the practice of drug dispensing out of the drugstores and into the doctor's office. "But I have news for Dr. Goddard and others within and outside of pharmacy," Mr. Simmons said. "The American drugstore as a vital, progressive, updated service institution is here to stay. That's the way the public wants it and that's the way it is going to be."

If Mr. Simmons is correct in his forecast, drugstores in every community will continue to make a major contribution to the public welfare and to the economy. If Dr. Goddard is correct, we can look forward to a decrease in drugstore expenditures to meet payrolls and advertise goods and services, empty stores, and the possible elimination of the drugstore as a traditional service institution in all communities.

We can also look forward to queuing-up at the few and far between medical centers and hospitals to obtain our prescription drugs. That is not at all a pleasant prospect when you consider that, more often than not, the patients who are in need of drugs are not feeling well enough to travel long distances and wait in line for medicine.

If Dr. Goddard's dire forecasts turn out to be true, no longer will we be able to have our prescriptions filled or refilled at our "corner drugstore" or call for immediate delivery of health care needs in all kinds of weather or have emergency drug services readily available over a 24-hour period, or to be able to have a trained professional and business person ready to serve all members of our family, young or old, with the kind of personal attention we have always received from our local pharmacist; or be able to talk to our neighborhood pharmacist about a large number of personal and community problems.

We sincerely hope that the commissioner is wrong in his predictions and the drugstore will remain as a vital service institution in all of our communities. But if the commissioner is correct, what other segment of our free enterprise system will a few schemers turn to in their efforts to control our society?

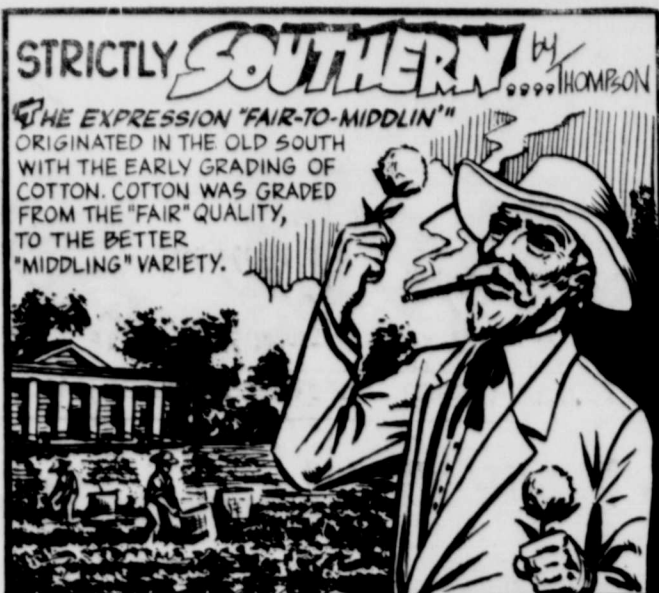

Today the very existence of the drugstore is threatened. Who knows what tomorrow has in store for other professions and business enterprises?

POVERTY AND RIOTS

Poverty is often given as the reason for much of the violence in our cities, and government leaders recommend spending billions of tax dollars to provide jobs. This supposed connection between poverty and riots is seldom questioned, but Evangelist Billy Graham flatly rejects the claim that poverty is the cause of present civil disturbances. He points out, "there was no such rioting, looting or killing of police officers in depression days when people were much poorer."

To many, there is far more involved in the present breakdown of law and order than just the restless born of poverty. Respect for law lies in the character of our people rather than in their affluence. A law abiding society is built on character, and character cannot be created or bought at will with tax dollars. On the contrary, freewheeling government spending and inflation are character wreckers.

An all time low U. S. infant death rate — 23.4 deaths for each 1,000 births — was recorded in 1966, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

SENATOR RALPH YARBOROUGH'S NEWSLETTER

The 1960's, under the leadership of Presidents John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, should be known in history as years of great forward movement in the field of education. Congress has passed some 40 laws during those years to strengthen America's brain-trust. We have nearly tripled the level of federal help to our schools since 1964.

You can't see educational progress overnight, but today thousands of youngsters from poor families are in college on government loans and scholarships. Our rural schools are better equipped thanks to federal financial help. Our teachers have better textbooks and teaching aids and our children have better desks and classrooms.

I was disappointed last week when the Administration announced severe cutbacks in education spending. We have a very costly war going on in Vietnam that is draining much of our government income away from programs at home. Non-vital spending must be reduced until the war ends, but in my opinion, nothing is more vital than educating our young people.

The President outlined some fine and inspiring goals for school improvement — but the money just isn't there. Last year my Bilingual Education Act was passed by the Congress to help youngsters who enter school with little or no ability to speak English. Congress authorized $30 million for this program involving nearly three million children. That's $1.66 per child. In Texas alone we have 750,000 Mexican-American children who need this program. This is tokenism.

Funds for classrooms and equipment at four-year colleges are $74.4 million below last year's level. Grants for junior college construction and expansion were held at last year's level despite a growing need for community junior colleges.

I have received letters in the past few weeks from administrators of 14 Texas colleges — large and small ones — saying that cutting back these funds will cause serious problems. The budget would reduce aid for our grade schools $60.7 million below last year's level. Nearly $30 million less is provided for aid to impacted school districts like Killeen, El Paso, and San Antonio, where a high percentage of the families are military dependents.

Congress authorized spending $836 million for college building construction, but the budget provides only one dollar for every fifteen needed. We called for $120 million for graduate school construction, but only eight million is budgeted — one-fifteenth of what is needed.

We must eliminate non-essential spending, but education spending is more than essential. The money we invest in educating our children pays off in taxes paid by educated adults. It pays off in technical know-how and skill. Every penny spent on education pays off in a better America. I intend to oppose these drastic cuts that would undermine our schools.

News From The County Agent

Since grain and forage crops are subject to insect attack throughout the growing season, farmers and ranchers in Wichita County should be interested in the revised edition of "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Mites on Grain and Forage Crops," says E. T. Haws, county agent.

This revised addition has several new sections which are important and several chemical additions and deletions in the recommended tables.

The new sections include recommendations for controlling the southwestern corn borer, sugarcane borer and neotropical borer. Recommendations for controlling mites on grain sorghum and the clover head weevil. There are also suggestions on soil treatments for controlling wireworms, white grub corn rootworms and the lesser corn borer.

In today's machine farming, it's easy to overmechanize your farm and rob yourself of the full value of the money you spend for equipment. Obsolete machinery might be costing you some profits, too.

Whenever you buy, purchase the type and size equipment you can use at or near full capacity on your farm. Each farm represents a specific situation and you'll probably find yourself trying to decide between buying or not buying some of the larger machines.

You might decide to buy the machine and do custom work to help it pay for itself. Or you might decide its cheaper and more practical for you to hire the big machines on a part-time basis.

Whether you buy or hire, keep up-to-date on the latest in farm machinery development. Always keep in mind that service available and the individual features of each machine are as important as the price.

After you've bought a new machine or replaced an older piece of equipment with one that can save you fuel, power, time and labor—take care of it. Know the care, operation and maintenance procedures the manufacturer recommends.

Farm and ranch profits have been under strong pressure in recent years and has created what is often referred to as the "price squeeze." In this situation, explains county agent B. T. Haws, farmers and ranchers face steadily rising production costs while prices they receive for their products rise at a much slower rate.

In the meantime, producers see the prices consumers pay move up much faster than their own.

While the prices farmers will receive in the future for their products as best described as uncertain, there are indicators pointing to still higher production costs which still serve to increase the "price squeeze" during the next few years.

These indicators include increases in interest rates, wages, taxes, and the cost of machinery, equipment and buildings. Any changes in the prices received by farmers will probably be relatively small. This means profits will continue to be affected by the "price squeeze" in 1968, says Haws, and further emphasizes the importance of keeping production costs low and yields high.

Popular American Product Seized by Soviets As Sign of "Western Influence" on Svetlana

Did you know that versatile jar of "Vaseline" petroleum jelly that you tuck in your medicine chest recently played an important role in one of the most dramatic international incidents in decades?

According to a London Observer article, "The Story the Secret Police Missed," when Svetlana Stalin escaped to the west with the manuscript of her much-publicized book, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," the Soviet secret police began their hunt for telltale signs of "western influence."

Svetlana Alliluyeva

After ransacking her home for incriminating evidences of that dreaded "western influence," the secret police finally zeroed in on what they regarded as telltale evidence: A jar of American "Vaseline" petroleum jelly was found on Svetlana's dressing table.

With the jar of petroleum jelly as proof, they proceeded to photograph it from every possible angle. Dozens of photographs of America's "Vaseline" petroleum jelly are now part of the Soviet police files. Presumably, a chilly visitor to the Russian steppes who tries to prevent a bit of chapping with an application of "Vaseline" petroleum jelly may, in the future, find himself explaining this "western influence" at his nearest Soviet police station. Or, he caught red-handed.

Western Influence?

As the London Observer explains it, "It's not that the Russian secret police really look on 'Vaseline' (petroleum jelly) as a frightful weapon of imperialist subversion (though to an ordinary Russian the jar would look strange and foreign with its Roman lettering). But," the Observer sums up, "it is an example of the fantastic continuing size and scope of the Soviet secret police that they have time, and people, and a records system which is capable of automatically filing this kind of detail."

A TALE OF TWO PRETTIES!

New York (NAPS)—The story begins when two pretties go to town, equipped to meet any wolf, in fancifully belted dresses that once-upon-a-time might have taken an eternity to make, but are a cinch now, thanks to McCall's Quickie Patterns.

One miss steps right into a dreamy dress with a bit of pleasant embroidery running down the above-elbow kimono sleeves — McCall's Pattern #9117. And Cinderella could have turned herself into a princess almost as quickly as the flick of a wand (and without the help of a fairy godmother) just by making this high-sashed, sleeveless frock from McCall's #9115.

Alice would not have had to wonder where in the land she would find the perfect dress for her changing moods, had she seen McCall's Pattern #9113. In this two-section little dress with long or short raglan sleeves, delicately shirred above the waist, she could have been queen of the empire! And little Miss Muffet could have sat herself down, anywhere in the simply elegant young sleeveless dress or jumper with bias drawing neck that she whipped up quick as a bunny from McCall's #9104.

In these four pretty dresses — available in two "uncut" versions, Misses and Junior — you'll probably live happily forever after.

RESIDENTS URGED TO GET VEHICLE INSPECTIONS EARLY

R. W. Briscoe, Safety Officer with the Texas Department of Public Safety in Wichita Falls, urges all area motorists to get their vehicle safety inspection stickers now. Briscoe stated that during the first four months since the 1968 stickers have been available, only 22,891 of the total of 77,115 autos registered in Wichita County have been inspected. This represents only 29% having their inspections.

The law this year requires that all automobiles from 1962 up be equipped with seat belts.

Briscoe says that this may pose a problem if a large number of owners wait until the last minute to get their inspections. Merchants and suppliers are likely to run out of the belts if the demand during the last few weeks or days is excessive.

He reminded residents that the deadline is only two months away, April 15, 1968.

Garages and stations making the inspections in Burkburnett include: Burk Auto Service, Harry Elliott Auto Supply, Mathis Chevrolet Co., Spinks Texaco and Wolfe Ford Co., Inc.

20 Accidents On County's Rural Roads Reported

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 20 accidents on rural highways in Wichita County during the month of January according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in 13 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $6,666.00.

April 15 is the deadline to have your motor vehicle inspected. During the past five and one-half months approximately 2,000,000 or 35% of the approximately 5,750,000 registered vehicles in Texas have been inspected. This leaves 375,000 vehicles to be inspected in approximately two months.

The sergeant reminded car owners that under new provisions of the law there will be additional inspection this year including: steering, wheels and rims, and front seat belts where the anchorages are part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

Motorists who wait until the last weeks of the inspection period may find that they will need to install seat belts. With the last minute rush, there may not be enough seat belt kits to take care of demand.

April 2 Is Date Of City Election

On April 2, four city commissioners will be elected. The terms of incumbent commissioners, Gene Allen, Jack Alexander, Luther Caffee, and Joe McCluskey will expire.

LIBRARY CORNER

A book highly recommended as an action packed adventure story is North Against the Sioux about Chief Red Cloud's attacks on Fort Kearny, Wyoming in the 1800's. Its English author, Kenneth Ulyatt, claims his novel is based on events as they really happened. With a British accent?

Another new novel of the same period but with its setting in Russia is The Ladies of St. Hedwig's, the story of Polish nuns in a St. Petersburg convent during the Polish uprising in 1863.

Older mystery fans may remember Arsene Lupin, the French crook who aided the Paris Surete in the pre-World War I days. The Confessions of Arsene Lupin by Maurice Leblanc is a 1967 reprint of a 1913 copyright.

The Lore of the Dog is just what its title states. The book details the influence of the dog on our art, literature, religion and mythology as well as discussing the dog's role as companion and helper. The author, Patricia Dale-Green states that most of the ghost-dog stories originate in Texas! This one sounds like a must for Texas ghost story fans and dog lovers. John Holt's How Children Learn and John Beck's How to Raise a Brighter Child, both useful and interesting to parents and teachers. On the lighter side we have several new fiction for children and for mothers Making Children's Parties Click is a unique guide in that it doesn't stop with party suggestion but tells how to handle all situations, including some awkward ones, and gives hints for "party proofing" the house.

NEW "DAIRY DIP" HELPS PREVENT COW MASTITIS

NEW YORK (NAPS)—A ready-to-use teat dip that helps reduce new mastitis infections up to 64% in dairy cattle has been developed by Lazarus Laboratories, Inc., a division of West Chemical Products, Inc.

Called "Bovadine", it is the most important step in a new udder hygiene program now being recommended to reduce this crippling disease which can permanently reduce a cow's milk-producing capacity.

Since Mastitis is an infectious disease, it can spread quickly through the herd, and cost the typical dairyman a yearly average of more than $140 per cow!

According to researchers at Lazarus Laboratories, one of the best ways to curb the disease is by sanitizing everything that comes into contact with the cow's teats during milking. This is done with a simple three-step operation that can easily be worked into the milking procedure:

- (1) Wash the udder with warm Iosan solution, using a separate paper towel for each cow;
  - (2) Rinse teat cup clusters in warm water, then rinse in a solution of Iosan; and
  - (3) Immediately after milking, dip teats in Bovadine, which like Iosan contains non-irritating "Tamed Iodine".
- The first two steps are already routine for many dairy farmers. However, teat dipping is, according to Lazarus researchers, the most important, since it can destroy all bacteria on the teat skin and prevent germs from entering the udder. Bovadine has been tested on more than 20,000 cows in the British Isles and Canada.

Bovadine is packed in one-gallon plastic jugs that are available to dairy farmers directly from Lazarus field representatives or through suppliers of farm chemicals. On the average, one gallon of Bovadine should take care of one cow for an entire year!

SIX FLAGS OVER TEXAS SETS APRIL 13 OPENING

An exciting new addition for 1968 at SIX FLAGS Over Texas is a $180,000 air conditioned Music Hall seating 1,200 guests. Regularly scheduled shows starring collegiate talent will be presented throughout the day, beginning April 12 when the giant 140-acre family entertainment center opens for the season.

Arlington, Texas—SIX FLAGS Over Texas, the 140-acre, multi-million-dollar historical-theme park located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, has set April 13 as its opening date for the 1968 season.

Lavish changes, new attractions and rides, and other projects stemming from a $2,000,000 expansion program are in store for SIX FLAGS visitors during 1968.

SIX FLAGS will operate in the Spring on Fridays from 5-11 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Starting May 25 and throughout the Summer, SIX FLAGS is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. After September 2, until closing December 1, operations will be on weekends only from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Amphitheatre in the Confederate section, where talented collegians present bright and original musical variety shows, has been torn down to be replaced with a new and beautiful $200,000 white-columned, enclosed, air-conditioned theatre which will be known as the "Music Hall." Talent scouts from SIX FLAGS are nearly completed with an extensive audition tour covering about 250 colleges in the South, Southeast and Midwest, picking outstanding performers for this year's shows.

The Mexican section of the Park, with its Fiesta Train Ride, has been completely redone to the tune of $400,000 to make it even more colorful and exciting. Imagine passengers' reactions when the sombrero-topped trains run through an erupting volcano, just to name one innovation.

Sid and Marty Krofft, world-famous puppeteers, will present at SIX FLAGS this year The Krofft Bros. Puppet Circus. The spectacular $350,000 production, which includes a new 1,200-seat theatre costing $200,000, will stage shows 10 times each day.

SIX FLAGS, which introduced the first Log Flume ride in the country in 1963, has added another $350,000 model for 1968 because of its popularity and appeal.

Angus G. Wynne, Jr., creator/developer of SIX FLAGS Over Texas and president of the parent company, Great Southwest Corporation, said, "We are anticipating an even larger attendance in 1968 than last year's record of 2,036,000 visitors. And this year our guests and their families will be able to enjoy and participate in SIX FLAGS' activities in even greater comfort, because we have increased our capacity to handle 29,000 visitors per hour on the rides, attractions, and shows, as compared to 22,000 per hour in 1967."

Tickets are $4.50 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12 years of age. As in prior years, the one ticket purchased at the main gate enables visitors to ride all the rides and see all the attractions and shows as often as they wish during the day.

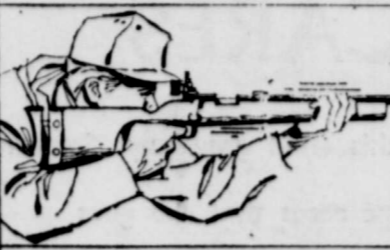

SIX FLAGS, with nearly 11,000,000 visitors since opening in 1961, is the most popular single tourist attraction in the State of Texas, according to the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

The little window that wasn't there
The answer:
Fake it!

Look out and see the tree-tops? Not from this basement family room—there's only a window well outside. You "see" just what you expect to see. That's the secret of the best disguise.

Here, the paneling was cut to come just "window high." Cafe curtains and window trim create the right illusion. The adjustable rod has a spring inside and expands to hold itself in place so you can even forget about fastening it to concrete block and stone.

The same trick can be used to "adjust" the depth of strip windows, too... wherever they are. Just remember, a cafe type treatment's best if you want the window's light and air. You can make the lower tier either sill or floor length as you wish.

If you don't need the light, don't want the view, or haven't a window at all, any "always closed" treatment will do. You can even use the curtains under swept-back draperies if you make them of an opaque fabric.

For hundreds of other ideas and the "how to" to make them work, you may obtain an all new, 100-page, full-color book, "Windows Beautiful," Volume II, from Kirsch Co., Dept. AS, Sturgis, Michigan 49091. The cost is 50c.

Q. How often do you get a bargain these days?

A. Every time you use electricity.

True, your electric bill probably is higher than it was a few years ago. That's because you use more electricity to enjoy added comforts and conveniences.

During the past 10 years, the average price per kilowatt-hour to residential customers of Texas Electric Service has come down 27%. At the same time, the average annual use of electric energy by our residential customers has more than doubled.

Electric service is a big exception to rising living costs. It's one of the few things that costs less than 10 years ago. Electricity, the clean modern energy that does so many nice things for you, is the biggest bargain in your household budget.

SOMEBODY CARES

It is so important that someone cares about how this child grows up. Someone cares that she is clothed and fed and loved. Someone cares that she goes to school and grows in mind as well as body. Someone cares about her childhood wonder and curiosity and wants to see them satisfied. Someone cares enough to teach her to love other people and will help her in her relations with them. Someone cares about her spirit and desires for her the highest ideals and standards, and will help her to know God. Are you this someone? Let it be said of her as it was said of Him, "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." Luke 2:52.

THIS WEEK

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

KATHRYN GAYLE ZIMMERMAN IS BRIDE OF A. E. NUCKOLS

Mrs. Arthur Edward Nuckols

Miss Kathryn Gayle Zimmerman and Arthur Edward Nuckols pledged their marriage vows Saturday, Feb. 17, in an evening ceremony at the First Methodist Church. Dr. Herbert T. Minga, pastor of White Rock Methodist Church in Dallas, officiated.

Candelabra, greenery and white spider mums decorated the church. The setting was centered with a white satin prayer bench. Mrs. Maxine Creel, organist, and Mrs. J. B. Riley Jr., vocalist, were musicians.

The bride is the former Kathryn Gayle Zimmerman, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. W.T. Zimmerman. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Nuckols of Brownsville are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride is employed by the Valley Federal Employees Federal Credit Union in Brownsville. She has taught school in Burkburnett and Brownsville. She was graduated from Texas Tech, attended TCU and was graduated from Burkburnett High School.

Nuckols was graduated from Brownsville High School, attended Texas Southmost College and Texas Tech, majoring in Business Administration. He is employed by Goodyear in Brownsville where they will live after a wedding trip to Mexico City.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore candlelight pea de soie with an A-line skirt and a train attached at the shoulders. Chantilly appliques with pearls trimmed the dress. Her veil was held by a lace and seed pearl headpiece and her flowers were a crescent of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donald Pate was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Fowler of Fort Worth, Miss Patricia Simons of Bovina and Miss Patricia Ann Zimmerman, the bride's sister who was junior bridesmaid.

They wore emerald green brocade made in Empire style. Matching brocade roses were on their heads and they carried arm bouquets of American Beauty red roses.

Jack Teagarden was best man, Patrick Nuckols, the bridegroom's brother, and Gerry Teagarden were groomsmen. All are from Brownsville. Ushers were Wayne Bernard Fudge of Norman, Alden Smith of Hillsboro, Donald Pate and William T. Zimmerman Jr., the bride's brother.

The reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. The table held an antique cherub epergne filled with red roses. Assistants were Messrs. and Mmes. Dennis Harsh, Toby Green, W. H. McLean, J. M. Willingham, Thom Reed, George McClarty, Howard Henderson, James E. Frye, F. T. Felty, Glen Bear and C. E. Lundburg.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Ramada Inn Friday. Red roses and white mums with candelabra decorated the tables.

Campbell Named To New Post At Midwestern U.

Wichita Falls — Dr. John Robert Campbell, assistant academic dean at Tarkio College, Tarkio, Mo., will become graduate dean and associate dean of instruction at Midwestern University June 1.

Dr. Travis A. White, president of Midwestern, emphasized that the post Campbell will fill is a newly-created one made necessary by the growth of both graduate and undergraduate programs in recent years.

The university's graduate program has grown from 122 students in 1960 to 230 in 1968, and 3,350 undergraduate students are now enrolled compared to 1,533 in 1960.

Pointing out that Dr. Campbell has extensive experience in industry as a research chemist, Dr. White said, "We are fortunate to secure his services. He is also a seasoned academic administrator."

Dr. Campbell will work under the direction of Dr. N. W. Quick, vice president and dean of instruction.

His duties will include supervision and development of the graduate program, plus the organization and coordination of all research projects for the university.

Clara-Fairview H-D Club Meets With Mrs. Simons

The Clara-Fairview Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. E. J. Simons, Mrs. Mary Blainor was cohostess.

Mrs. Thelma Gilbow, vice president, called the meeting to order at 2:00 p. m.

After a brief business session, Miss Thelma Wirges presented a very interesting program on "News For The Yard". She said that you should make a sketch of your house and yard area on paper. This will be your map. Divide the yard into three areas, locate driveway, walks and flower beds. Put your plan into practice; place shrubs and trees in the desired places. Improve soil, use compost, mulch flower beds.

Plant trees and shrubs adopted to our country. Don't have a restless landscape, don't dot lawns with flower beds. Simplicity is a must in order to save labor.

Mrs. Elmer Klinkerman was in charge of recreation. Refreshments were served to ten members, Mrs. Hillis and Miss Thelma Wirges.

Next meeting will be held in the Texas Electric Reddy Room, March 7th. 4-H girls will present the program.

I SHALL REMEMBER

I hold a flaming rose within my heart;
How lovely in its total nonpareil;
I count each delicate petal apart;
Each brilliant splash is some priceless treasure;
My loved one's smile, the handclasp of a friend,
A cloudless day, one glad hour, a measure
Of perfection that brings an aching joy.

Ah, how regretful that the rose must fade!
Its blossom time is all too short, and yet
I shall remember how each petal made
Me laugh and sing, not how I saw them fall
To earth and lie shattered and withering
An my feet; but, because I shall recall
Only the bloom, the fragrance will remain.

— KATHLEEN HENRY HARRIS.

NOISELESS SOUND

We hear the sound of rocket's deafening roar
When they depart toward the moon's far shore.
We hear the ear-splitting echo of the jet,
The drumming of industrial plants beset
The air, the riveter with steel on steel,
The cannon's angry bark, the giant sawmill,
And boom of dynamite's opposing blast;
But no sound is as mighty and as vast
In effect, as unchanged by time or tide,
That will surely awaken, strengthen, guide,
As the noiseless sound hear since time began —
The voice of God within the heart of man.
