Wichita Falls City Manager Says

NO ADVERSE EFFECTS NOTED BY WICHITA FALLS SALES TAX

There has been no adverse effect on business in Wichita Falls since the advent of the city sales tax," Jack Davis, city manager of Wichita Falls told Burk Burnett civic leaders Monday.

The occasion was the regular monthly meeting of the Burk Chamber, attended by an overflow crowd of almost 80 persons.

Davis defended the sales tax as one of the fairest forms of taxation, without undue hardship on the low-income or the elderly.

"Most of the essentials of life are exempt from the tax, such as food, medicines, drugs, rentals," the speaker said pointing out that only items covered by the state sales tax are taxable under the city sales tax.

The ease and economy with which the city tax is collected was also stressed. The City of Wichita Falls has collected well over one million dollars without administration expense, as the tax is collected and turned over to the state, which in turn reimburses the cities.

Davis said that 241 Texas cities now collect the tax. It was turned down in only 45 cities. At the beginning of the program, Rhea Howard, publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News, presented a certificate for years of devoted service to the citizens of Burk Burnett, and was presented an honorary membership in the Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce.

Teacher: "Don't you ever listen to the voice of conscience?" Pupil: "No, what channel is it on?"

Traffic Survey Is Scheduled

Further surveys of school traffic hazards in the vicinity of the expressway will be made by authorization of the Burk Burnett city council.

The decision was made at the regular meeting of the council Monday night in response to a delegation of parents of children attending Southside School. Thirteen parents appeared at the meeting, and presented a petition bearing 62 signatures to the council.

The petition cited dangers to children crossing under the expressway, stating that traffic control on the access roads was inadequate. City Manager Gary Bean pointed out that the city could take no action in the area without the approval of the State Highway Department.

A section of the Burk Burnett Cemetery was set aside for the burial of infants, and the city agreed to pay utilities at the Community Center.

BETTER THAN REGULATION

Safety is everybody's business, and it is a top concern for every employer. Even aside from the human tragedy and pain involved, accidents are terribly costly in dollars and time lost. The final monetary cost of accidents is paid by consumers in the prices of merchandise and services. Safety is much more than writing a law—it can be achieved only through the cooperative action of all concerned.

This fact was emphasized by the announcement of a joint government-industry study group set up to explore new ways to boost the safety and efficiency of one important phase of railroad operation—the coupling and uncoupling of the industry's 1.8 million freight cars. The group's primary effort will be to explore the possibilities for a self-acting or fully-automatic coupling system. Under the present coupling and uncoupling operations, certain steps of each operation must be handled by men—a chore that takes hours to accomplish and is potentially hazardous. The development of a fully-automatic coupling system would be another major step forward in improving the efficiency and safety of railroad operations. It would reduce train makeup and terminal time, increase employee safety and make possible smoother handling of long trains.

It is safe to say the railroads are more anxious than anyone else to find an improved method of coupling and uncoupling freight cars. And they are going about finding a better method in the most sensible way—a joint government-industry research effort. This is far better than piling more regulation on the back of an already over-regulated industry.

News From The County Agent

Brown Control—Individual plant treatment methods using basal pour of kerosene or 2.4.5-T mixed in diesel oil should be applied when the soil is dry enough to allow penetration of the material to the bud zone.

Cotton root rot proved a major problem to Wichita County producers this season, even showing up in fields where it has not been noticed for years.

Although complete eradication of the fungus is very difficult, cultural practices begun now can help lessen the damage to next year's crop, County Agent B. T. Haws says.

Root rot organisms are capable of slow movement through the soil and can be transmitted to new areas on infected roots of another plant. The fungus is capable of affecting more than 2,000 wild and cultivated plants and symptoms are easily recognized.

"Plants die suddenly after first symptoms of wilting—roots decay and when pulled from the soil root bark slips easily. Woolly strands of fungus will still be clinging to the surface," Haws says.

Basic control measures begin with early shredding of stalks and deep plowing to depths of 12-18 inches. This early plowing will allow fungus more exposure to warm sunshine and air.

In many cases a resistant crop grown in rotation has proved most valuable. Cotton should be grown every third year in rotation with grain sorghum or small grains. These resistant crops can prevent additional buildups of the fungi and allow more time for producing and burying more organic matter.

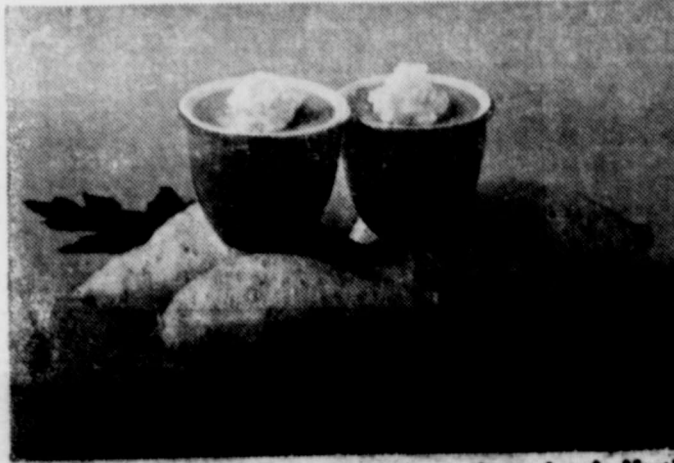

Small grain disease problems can be largely solved by planting seed of resistant varieties or seed which have been treated with a chemical fungicide.

The treatment process is simple and cheap and excellent insurance against crop losses from seed-borne diseases, reminds county agent E. T. Haws.

Many small grain diseases are caused by organisms carried on the surface of the seed and can easily be controlled. Loose smut of wheat and barley is an exception. The organisms causing this disease is carried inside the seed and cannot be controlled with chemicals.

Application of seed treatment fungicides may be made in homemade treaters or by commercial seed treatment plants.

North Carolina Yam Custard

Yams are sweetpotatoes with a southern drawl. North Carolina is hailed as the Yam Capital of the world. This tawny skinned vegetable is a member of the Morning Glory family and one of the most nutritionally complete foods known. Put them to fry or bake in a pie! Yams are remarkably versatile in their pleasures at the table. Keep them at room temperature until used.

Scoop out the candy sweet flesh which we've done in a spicy sweet custard combining mashed yams, sugar and nutmeg baked into a super savory.

NORTH CAROLINA YAM CUSTARD

4 eggs
 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 cups milk
 1 1/2 cups mashed cooked yams
 Nutmeg

Beat eggs; mix in brown sugar, granulated sugar and salt. Stir in milk. Gradually blend milk mixture into yams. Strain through coarse sieve. Divide into 8 to 10 individual buttered custard cups; sprinkle with nutmeg. Scoop in baking pan. Fill pan with boiling water to 1/2 inch from top of custard cups. Bake in 300° F. oven about 1 hour or until silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or cold. Makes 8-10 custards.

Regardless of the equipment used, it is important to get uniform coverage of the seed with the recommended amount of the material, emphasizes the county agent.

Improper coverage of the seed or the use of the rates lower than those recommended greatly reduce the value of the practice, explains Haws.

Because all seed treatments are poison, they should be handled with care. No more seed should be treated than will be planted, advises the county agent. Treated seed should never be fed to poultry or livestock or mixed with untreated seed which may be fed or sold. Strict compliance with the label instructions is a must when handling chemicals.

TOURISTS BECOMING MORE INTERESTED IN TEXAS TRAVEL

AUSTIN—More people than ever before want to know what to see and do in Texas. Most of them ask—and get the answers from—the Texas Highway Department. In fact, 46 per cent more visitors were helped by the Department in the first six months of this year than in the same period of 1967.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall reported today that travel services rendered to visitors from January through June this year were 502-326. In the first six months of last year, the total was 342,115. This includes assistance to travelers given at Tourist Information Bureaus as well as inquiries answered by the Highway Department's Austin offices.

supervisors also note increasing numbers of visitors are interested in Texas' recreational waterways. Growing popularity of water sports underlies the Highway Department's boat ramp program with some 170 boat ramps completed, under construction or programmed for construction along Texas waterways. "All these services are important adjuncts to the re- mission of the Texas Highway Department—providing the most convenient highway facilities possible," Dingwall said.

Wife: "You know dear, you don't seem as well-dressed as you were when we were married 10 years ago."
Husband: "I don't know why not. I'm wearing the same suit."

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

Here are five tips to help make your every "hello" a real good buy:

- Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.
- Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.
- Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.
- And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. She'll arrange to have your dime mailed to you. Also, if you give her the number of the out-of-order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.
- Long Distance interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.

Underwater Communities Said Possible In The Distant Future

NEW YORK—The seas around us may one day contain underwater communities with floating glass bubbles that house workers, luxury hotels for tourists, submarine-like trains, and farms where marine plants are cultivated and sea animals, such as whales, are bred for market.

This watery world of tomorrow is described in a recent issue of Petroleum Today in a feature entitled "Oceanography: A World of Promise."

One of the great ironies of history the publication says, is that while oceans cover 70 per cent of the globe and have 80 per cent of the world's animal life, man has relatively little knowledge of the seas' mysterious and hostile depths. Vast and virtually untouched sources of food, drugs and minerals await him in and below the ocean. And the quest for them has just begun.

For example, man currently hauls 45 million tons of fish from the sea each year. Scientists, however, believe that this quantity could be increased fivefold without harming the overall supply.

Ocean plants and animals are also proving to be sources of exciting new discoveries. Chemicals that kill pain, inhibit the growth of tumors, fight viruses, and stimulate the heart have already been extracted from sea creatures, it is reported.

The "wealth of the waters" includes a treasure-trove of minerals. Petroleum Today says that there are millions of tons of silver, billions of tons of gold, valleys of diamonds, and huge deposits of phosphoric, sulfur and other key ores.

Oil companies have been the leading industrial pioneers in oceanography both in terms of experience and expenditures according to Petroleum Today. Their research and development investments make up fully one-third of the total spent by all off-shore industries. Though barely scratched, undersea petroleum is already providing 16 per cent of the Free World's oil supply.

Since the 1940's, the petroleum industry has spent more than $3.5 billion in exploring and developing these reserves. Less than half of this sum, however, has been recovered thus far.

To encourage progress in exploring the ocean depths, the U. S. Congress last year enacted legislation that will open the way for increased government support of oceanographic research. Private industry, at the same time, will continue its traditional role of developing the seas' resources, according to the magazine.

Exactly what forms this progress will take are, of course, uncertain, but marine scientists have made some educated guesses. In addition to subsurface colonies, they envision mineral processing as well as mining taking place on the ocean floor. They foresee oil drilling operations going on inside self-contained, watertight rigs, while any petroleum that may be produced will be processed in adjacent refineries under-glass.

BULLDOGS RELAX; TAKE OPEN DATE THIS WEEKEND

Wow, what a ball game THAT was!

In a tinging battle, with the lead changing hands, and a Bulldog score with seconds to go, an extra point attempt which failed, the Lawton Eisen-ber Eagles edged by Burk's rampaging and fighting Bulldogs by a 22-21 count.

The Eagles were touted to be a tough outfit, and maybe they are, but the Bulldogs outfought them in almost every department except the scoring.

For a while, it seemed as though the visitors from the other side of the Red River would take home a defeat. But they took to the air to clinch the win.

Ike scored first in the game, when early in the first quarter, Bill Henley scored from nine yards out and Buss Jensen kicked.

Burk took a one-point lead with Kinnard taking a 19-yard-toss from Young, and then the same combination was good for a two-point conversion.

The Eagles forged ahead before half-time on Barry Gates' 28-yard pass to Butch Boyd, bog No. 44, and Jensen again kicked the conversion for a 14-8 lead.

Burk trailed, 14-8, going into the last quarter after a sea-saw third. Don Brown, again called upon for the major part of the Bulldog carrying, scored from the two after a sustained march.

That tied the count as the Bulldog section of Bulldog Stadium roared, then set back as calmly as they could to await the extra point.

Drake Andrades didn't let them down, as he split the up-rights with a perfect kick, and the joy of the Burk rooters knew no bounds. After all, there was only 10 minutes left in the game, and the Bulldog defense had been holding the visitors in check.

And hold them they did, until, with 4:20 left, Ronnie Dugan took an eight-yard pass from Barry Gates, then Gates ran the two points over, standing up to make the count 22-15.

Burk fans settled back, hoping for the best, but seemingly conceding that four minutes just wasn't time to score eight points.

But the Bulldogs didn't settle back. They took the kickoff and drove from their own 23 to the 37 by air and ground. Striving desperately, and with the clock ticking away the final seconds, Robby Young unleashed a terrific aerial to Rick Kinnard, his favorite target, which was good for 63 yards and a TD, making the score 22-21.

Not wishing to settle for a tie, and with the Young-Kinnard pass combination working well in the past, the Bulldogs went for two.

But alas and alack, it missed. That practically ended it, except for the shouting of the handful of fans from Lawton who followed their team.

An on-side kickoff was successful, and Burk took possession at midfield. Another aerial attack failed to gain, and the game ended with the Eagles running out the clock.

Even the most lukewarm fans of the Bulldogs, if there is such an animal, failed to find anything wrong with the Burk performance for the night.

They racked up 20 first downs to the visitors 12, and the offense ground out a mighty 222 yards rushing.

Meanwhile, the stalwart Bulldog defense held Ike to only 134 in the wild and wooly contest.

Burk completed four passes of 12 attempts for 102 yards, and had two intercepted. Burk also lost a fumble.

This week, the Bulldogs take a needed rest after compiling a 1-3 record in pre-district play.

Next Friday night, play for keeps in District 43A starts with the Bulldogs traveling to Wichita Falls to meet the potent and always dangerous Washington Leopards.

Following that will be consecutive home games with Bowie and Graham, and road games with Vernon and Hirschi.

Mrs. M. E. Bean, presided over the business session, with reports from chairmen of committees. Mrs. Phillip A. Carpenter, urged members to write letters to the President, Sen-tors and Representatives in support of the T. F. W. C. Big Thicket project.

Other business discussed was plans for the Tour to Oklahoma City by chartered bus, which will include the Science and Arts Foundation, Kirkpatrick Planetarium, lunch at the Chandeliers Club in the United Founders Towers, and Penn Square. Reservations are to be in by October 14th. Can be made by calling Mrs. H. C. Preston 569-3663 or Mrs. Elizabeth Herrington 569-2314 or any Burkburnett Study Club member.

Area Witnesses Cancel Meetings

Harold P. Bruce, local minister, announced that the regularly scheduled meetings for Jehovah's Witnesses in the Wichita Falls, Central Unit, will not be held this weekend due to the circuit convention beginning Friday in Ardmore.

According to Bruce "the results of the convention will be felt here in the community upon return of the delegates as they will apply the instructions that will be given." He further stated that "one of the objectives of Jehovah's Witnesses is to assist every family in the community to have a working knowledge of the Bible. In furthering this program, Saturday evening will be devoted to a new six month home Bible study arrangement. This will be conducted by W. L. Mackey, Circuit Supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses."

Over 800 are expected to be on hand at 3 p.m. Sunday to hear L. M. Dugan climax the program with the discourse on "God's Way Is Love." The public is welcomed to all sessions entirely without charge.

VOTE FOR CITY SALES TAX
The Burkburnett
On OCTOBER 21

Why A City Sales Tax?

A City Sales Tax, as authorized by the Texas Legislature, has been found to be the most equitable method of raising funds for municipal operations. It is needed to meet the increased cost of city operations.

How Much Will The Tax Be?

One cent, and will be levied on the same items and services now subject to the state sales tax.

Will The Tax Be Unfair To The Elderly And Retired?

No, the major items of expenses for the elderly, such as food, medicine, rentals and hospital care, would not be subject to the tax.

Will The City Sales Tax Hurt Business?

No, the experience of cities has shown that a sales tax will not hurt retail sales in a community.

Will The Sales Tax Require More Record Keeping By Burk Merchants?

The additional tax will be reported on the same form and in the same way as the present state sales tax.

Why Does Burk Need More Revenue?

City expenses, as all other expenses, continue to rise. The revenue is needed to improve benefits and salaries for city employees, and to provide capital improvements.

Why Increase Employee Benefits?

The present low salaries of city employees causes frequent turnover as they leave for better jobs. This tends to decrease efficiency and increase costs in operating the city.

Why Is the Tax Considered Fair To All?

Because everyone who lives in or out of the city of Burkburnett and enjoys its facilities and privileges will pay. It is fair because everyone pays in proportion to what he chooses to spend. It's fair because each citizen pays a little at a time, and no one is hurt with a sudden big tax bill.

When Will The Tax Become Effective?

If approved by the voters of Burkburnett on October 21, 1968, it will become effective on April 1, 1969.

Is The Tax Regressive, Will It Cause A Hardship On Low Income Families?

No, a sales tax has more elements of equity than any other type of tax. So many essential items are exempt from the sales tax. Big spenders pay more, little spenders less.

How Many Texas Cities Now Have A Sales Tax?

At the last count, the citizens of 241 Texas cities have approved the tax, representing 75.1 percent of the population of Texas.

Why Should A Property Owner Favor The Tax?

Funds derived from the tax will provide better fire and police protection, and reduce the possibility of an ad valorem tax increase.

Why Would A Renter Favor The Tax?

Since he enjoys the same services as the resident owner, an increase in ad valorem taxes would probably require an increase in his rental payments. A city sales tax would reduce the possibility of this.

HOUSEMOVING

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Coleman Adv. Ser.

This house was moved to make way for a new super freeway. A city in progress creates many changes. The owners, no doubt, hated to change their location, and dreaded pulling up life-long roots. St. Paul would help in situations like these when he said, "For I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." Phillipians 4:11. The Lord will help us in new situations and new surroundings. He has promised to be with us in all things.

After getting settled, it is good to find a church home with people of like faith. No new neighborhood seems lonely if you can be with people who have the love of God in their hearts.

"Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together," (Hebrews 10:25a) is a wise saying. We invite you to attend the church in your community this week.

James L. Riley Earns Promotion

NEW YORK—Smoke plus fog equals smog. That's what the dictionary says.

But today, scientists are finding that the equation is not that simple. There is smog, and there is smog.

In a recent issue, Petroleum Today zeroes in on a project underway to investigate what part automobile exhaust and evaporative emissions play in contributing to one kind of smog.

Sponsored by the American Petroleum Institute, the project is being conducted at the U. S. Bureau of Mines laboratories at Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

The research involves the use of six different motor fuel formulas in a cross-section of automobile makes and models. Emission samples will be obtained and subjected to simulated sunlight. They will then be studied and analyzed for their smog-forming capabilities.

The project is no simple matter, Petroleum Today emphasizes. The automobile in the tests, for example, must be operated at a variety of speeds to duplicate normal driving conditions, and each auto must go through the same paces.

One of some 30 air conservation research projects in a continuing American Petroleum Institute program that costs about $2 million a year, the Bartlesville project is expected to be completed in 1968, according to Petroleum Today.

James L. Riley, of Burkburnett, was recently promoted to the rank of Staff Sergeant in the U.S. Army Security Agency. He is currently assigned to the USASA Communications Unit in Tokyo, Japan. Sergeant Riley, wife Eyvonnne and their little girl look forward to being home for Christmas this year. SSgt. Riley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Riley of 605 Glendale Street.

Help Neighbor . . . Call FIRE DEPT.

Your Volunteer Fire Department would like to give you this information. Your neighbor's house is on fire. What should YOU do? Don't hesitate, call the fire department. Speak slowly and distinctly, giving the address of the fire, tell the extent of fire, if possible, then wait to answer questions. Have you considered some type of home fire alarm system? Early warning could give your family precious moments for fire escape, especially at night. Now you hear a screeching siren . . . what would you do?

pull over to the curb, whether they're approaching from the rear or front, or turn up a side street, or move ahead and out of the way . . . but clear a path . . . someone is in trouble. Firemen can lose life-saving seconds trying to squeeze through snarled traffic or parked cars. Never chase a fire engine, park near a fire scene or drive over hose lines. Give the firemen every chance to win his battle. Won't you join the Burkburnett

Chamber of Commerce in saluting our Volunteer Fire Department by showing your appreciation the very next opportunity you have. These men ask nothing more than a friendly pat on the back and a thank you.
