Sale of Kent County oil and gas production accounted for $56,771,525 of the county's economic output for 1971, according to a study by

Texas Mid-Continent Oi &

Gas Assn.

In producing '5, 702, 427 barre's of crude oil and 9.9 bi'lion cu. ft. of natura' gas the county ranked 28th in Texas. Value of its crude oil was $55, 272, 5+3; natural gas value was $1,498,982.

The county is among '90 Texas counties with oil and gas rpoduction value topping $100,000, although 211 counties produce oil and gas.

"Kent County oi' and gas wells made a significant contribution to Texas' share of the nation's energy needs last year, but growing demand is sapping reserves in Texas faster than they can be replaced, " Robert A. Buschman, Association president, said. "As fewer new fields are discovered, due to less drilling, the continuing strong economy and tax base of many Texas counties may now depend on updating Texas oil conservation laws to encourage wider use of new recovery technology," he said. The Association study showed that Kent County farmers, ranchers, and other royalty owners received $ 7,096,441 as their share of the produc -

The county's wells generated $2, 542, 537 in crude oil production taxes for state government and $112, 423 in state taxes on natural gas. Oil and gas producer spent $2.240, 277 in drilling 33 wells in the county last year, $1,105. 035 of which was fost in drilling 15 dry holes.

Processing plants also added to the county 's economy. The Oil and Gas Journal lists one natural gasoline plant, with a daily capacity of 5.0 mil-

Cathey, but was really Robert Cathey Sr. Lee was born in Custor County, Okla. but when only a few months old, the family moved to Kent County, Texas. It seems as if they lived near Clipper first, and the children had to walk several miles to school or ride horseback. There are a few Old-Timers left in Kent County that remembers the Cathey family as one of the early pioneers of Kent County. First he acquired much land for his cattle. Later he had a "Livery Stable" in layton, Lee said at this time of his life, he was old enough to drive the "Traveling Drummers" to their place of destination which was fun for him. He often spoke of the terrific dust storms that raged in the early days, and the difficult times that cattlemen had to encounter with the elements. Wolves and Praire Dogs were so plentiful in those days, that they be came a problem, now it seem as if both might be near ex-

Lee's father was agent for the old Maxwell's cars for a while, until his building burned. However I can only remember the big old Hudson car that he was allowed to drive occasionally. With another couple we usually took in the "Square Dances", card parties and Picture Shows, as far away as Spur. From all the stories and wild tales he must have been in all the ecapades among the boys in his early days. Lee finished High School

A CLOCK seems a very fitting tribute to Lee Cathey. He never had enough time in one day to do what he wanted to do, whether it was business or p'ensure. He had many fond memories of Jayton and enjoyed the few times we were there at the Ex-Students Reunion. He retired in 1960 when his health began to fail, and passed away in May 1968. I am glad I can donate some thing that was needed to your Library. Some one really had a vision when they managed to get a Library, a Community Center, a Club House and Golf Course, and even an "Airport". So sorry I ee could not have lived to see this Wonder in his home town. He was definitely an optimist. Best wishes for Jayton.

Member of Congress, Texas

AT THE END OF LAST

WEEK'S release, reference was made to "affirmative orders" issued by a court. Essentially this is an injunction against an individual who is found to be pursing a course of conduct which is legally wrong and is harmful to another. Courts possess the power in appropriate cases to grant relief by issuing an order prohibiting such actions in the future, "Affirmative orders," however, may go one step further. Not only is future conduct proscribed, bu the court requires affirmative action designed to undo the wrong previously committed. THIS IS WELL AND GOOD. But, when the wrongdoer is a governemnt agency, the requirement that it take a specific course of action, transfers decision-making from the egislative to the judicial branch.

AS AN EXAMPLE, THIS TECHNIQUE has been employed extensively in school desegregation cases. Schools are not only being ordered to stop acts and policies which tend to discriminate against radical minorities but also are being affirmatively directed with regard to a wide range of future school policies such as the location of district boundaries, the sites of specific schools, the racial composition of teachers and students within each school, the busing of students by racial quotas to a particular school, the propriety of text books and materials, testing methods etc.

THE CONGRESS HAS EN-ACTED numerous laws against discrimination by reason of race, creed. sex and previous origin. It has also declared that public funds shall not be used to bus students simply to achieve racial balance in schools. The Supreme Court has either ignored the acts of Congress or held them unconstitutional. presumably because the majority of the Justices thought the law should be otherwise. REGARDLESS OF WHETHER IT SHOULD or should not, it is not the prerogative of the courts to decide how tax money should be channeled. SPACE DOES NOT PERMIT A FULL discussion of the separation of powers of all three branches of the Federal Government -- the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial. Since almost the beginning there has been controversy and argument on what the separation should be and the extent of over-lapping authority. For instance there is now the issue of the President withholding certain funds appropriated by the Congress for specific purposes. The Congress provides

No more money can be spent

During an argument at a gold course, one player called another "a lousy crook." The latter filed suit for slander, charging that the epithet had branded him as a mmon criminal.

But the court disagreed. At east in this situation, said the court, the words were no more than generalized bluster. Oliver Wendell Holmes once expressed the law's attitude as

Former Jayton Teacher Will Retire Soon

Mrs. Opal Hickman Jones and Mrs. Margaret Denton Poore, retiring Asperment school teachers, were honored guests at a dinner hosted by the faculty and trustees.

The tables were decorated with red and green apples as place cards. Symbols representing classroom tools of learning was the centerpiece. Large red apple paper weights wrapped in notebook paper and tied with string were placed in front of the honorees.

Each honoree received a diamond service pin commemorating the total years in the teaching profession from the school, a plaque for the number of years at Aspermont from the school board and a personal gift from their faculty friends. Burl Jameson, high school principal, presented Mrs. Jones' gifts and Joe Searcy, grade school principal made the presentation to Mrs.

Poore. Mrs. Jones, homemaking teacher, has completed 39 years of teaching homemaking at Jayton, Uvalde, Stephenville, Munday, Peacock and Aspermont. She has taught at Aspermont 10 years. She was graduated from Stephenville High School and attended Tarleton College. She received a B.S. degree in home economics from Texas University. In 1952 she was awarded a state honorary membership to Homemakers of America and holds life membership to Parent-Teachers Association. She is a member of Delta of the Beta Chi Chapter. Mrs. Jones is married to E. M. Jones, an area rancher. They have one son, Don Wayne, a student at Aspermont High School. In the making and eating ice cream, milk sherbet and sherbet, there are several small but interesting bits of information and helpful tricks. Here are some hints by Carolyn Anderson, author of "The Complete Book of Homemade Ice Cream, Milk Sherbet and Sherbet," published by Saturday Review Press.

1. A fork is the best tool for digging into ice cream that is too firm to scoop. A cake breaker is good for slicing firm ice cream

2. If no cooking is re-quired, often the ingredients can be combined right in the ewer dishes to wash.

 If ice cream is to be hand-stirred during freezing, or if it is to be removed from one container to another, use a wooden spoon to prevent transfer of heat from the hand to the mix.

4. Always allow space in the freezer can for expansion of the ice cream when it freezes. Approximately one third of the can is needed for the swell.

5. Cool the mix to room temperature or slightly lower before freezing. Churn-freezing a warm mix may cause a buttery texture due to an increased freezing

These and many other hints are included in Miss Anderson's book which also features chapters on the history of ice cream and sherbet, how to make homemade ice cream, milk sherbet and sherbet, and ice cream dieting and nutritive value, as well as hundreds of recipes

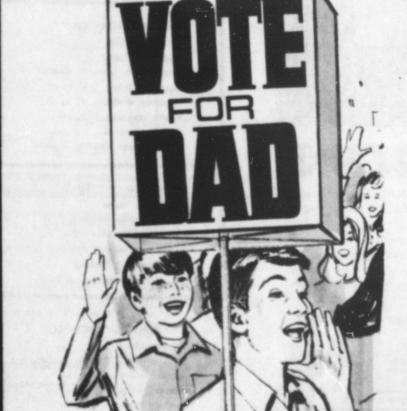

When it comes to helpful advice on how to make the best ice cream, Miss Anderson really dishes it out. And, if the popularity of this treat is Americans will happily be

Hospital Time

A surgeon in Montgomery, Alabama, recently made news by suggesting hospital costs could be reduced by reducing the time patients spend in them. He believes many can be discharged from hospitals earlier with no ill effects.

you not paying attention in class?

Dr. Hugh MacQuire suggests voluntary agreements among hospitals, doctors and insurance companies. Computers would determine the average length of time for the various illnesses and if patients were kept in hospitals longer insurance payments to doctors and hospitals would automatically decrease. All would agree in advance the decreases would not affect the patient's bill.

The suggestion may have merit; if successful and highearning doctors and surgeons would moderate bills this would also help, as will closer supervision of hospitals' administrative costs in some cases.

Vietnam Blame

A staff study by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of the Pentagon Papers finds that secret decisions made in 1961 by President John F. Kennedy in his first year in office sharply deepened U.S. involvement in the tragic war.

The staff study found that secrecy surrounding the Kennedy Administration decision in 1961 to put U.S. soldiers into combat in South Vietnam was "unprecedented." That secrecy extended to members of Congress and covered the significant fact that the South Vietnamese Government was not particularly eager for U.S. troops to enter into combat there-which the Kennedy Administration was in 1961 proposing. (President Dwight Eisenhower resisted such proposals for the preceding eight years, refusing to allow .S. military personnel to be sent into combat.)

The committee's staff study cannot logically be depreciated as political or partisan; the committee, like all congressional committees, is headed by a Democrat, Senator William Fulbright (Ark), who has been a bitter critic of this and former administrations on the Vietnam war issue.

The study is, rather, a striking condemnation of secrecy and, showing as it does who sent the first U.S. soldiers into the shooting end of the Vietnam dilemma, in 1961, should tend to discourage demagoguery about the war among ambitious politicians.
