GRASSES HELP PRODUCE BEEF

There's a lot more beef in your favorite grocery store because of improved grasses planted by Texas conservation farmers and ranchers.

In fact, an extra 335 million pounds of beef is produced in Texas every year from grasses released by the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

Edward E. Thomas of Temple, state conservationist for SCS, said the figures came from a recent study conducted by his office.

"Our survey revealed that in the last 20 years, 5.9 million acres of land has been planted to new grasses released by SCS," Thomas said. "Statewide, increased beef production is averaging 56 pounds per year from these grasses. And the average climbs every Thomas admitted that he didn't know how much this affected the price of beef for the housewife.

"But take away that 335 million pounds of beef every year and prices would have "In the past 25 years, annual beef consumption has jumped from about 64 pounds per person to 113 pounds. Meanwhile, our state's population has increased by more than 50 per cent. That adds to a gigantic increase in the demand for beef.

Without improved grasses and better conservation treatment of grassland, this demand would outstrip available sup-

Thomas said 23 grasses re-leased by SCS are being grown in Texas. Each has its own area of adaptability and is used to fill a specific conservation

Two grasses account for a major share of the acreage planted. Buffelgrass, released by SCS in 1949, has been planted on 1.8 million acres of land in Texas; increased beef production from this grass averages 74 million pounds annually.

King Ranch bluestem, released in 1941, is growing on about one million acres. Other widely planted grasses include Pensacola bahiagrass, El Reno sideoats grama, and weeping lovegrass.

To illustrate how quickly some new grasses become popular with livestock producers, Thomas told of the success of Selection 75 kleingrass.
"We released this grass to commercial seed growers, in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in 1969, "Thomas said.

"In spite of the fact that seed are expensive and scarce, 132,000 acres have already been established.

And even though much of this land has not been grazed as yet, increased beef production from this one grass amounted to 11 million pounds

In addition to the increased beef production, the survey revealed that the new grasses have increased mutton production by more than I.I million pounds. Smaller increases were noted for milk, mohair, wool, proved grasses. Others include erosion control, reduced sediment damage to lakes and streams, fewer dust storms, and more abundant wildlife. Thomas said several other factors also contribute to increased beef production from Texas grasslands, such as better livestock, improved grassland management, irrigation, and increased use of fertilizer.

"Yet it's hard to grow more beef without having more blades of better grass," Thomas

The goal of SCS plant materials work is to find new strains of plants that will solve specific conservation problems, Since livestock and wildlife co-exist on the same land, the search extends to grasses, legumes, forbs, and shrubs which have dual values for both wildlife and livestock. Such plants are needed for use in range seeding mix-tures, travel lanes, or wildlife border plantings.

Strains of plants thought to have value for solving a conservation problem are grown and evaluated at the SCS plant materials center near Knox City. After careful selection. promising strains are field tested on farms of soil and water conservation district cooperators under a wide variety of conditions. Selections that prove superior to other plants available commercial-·ly are then released to seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the

Four Charged After Chase In Abernathy

ABERNATHY (Special) Four Abernathy men - two of them brothers who suffered gunshot wounds - have been charged with misdemeanor ofenses after a shooting and chase through the city's downtown section Sunday.

Charged with disturbing the peace were 20-year-old Trinidad Flores, who suffered a gunshot wound in his right leg, and Jose Balera, 29. Flores' 19-year-old brother, Adam, also was charged with disturbing the peace and was listed in serious condition late Monday in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital with wounds in his abdomen and side. Mike Perez, 23, was charged with driving withouta

Investigators said the chain of events apparently began Sunday with an argument between the younger Flores and Perez at Perez' house. The argument was climaxed later, investigators said, with a two-car crash on the city's southern limits. The cars were driven by Perez and the elder Flores, officers said. Police, who arrived shortly after the crash, said they confiscated a shotgun and a rifle.

Police still were probing the incident late Monday.

Area Telephone Co-Op Receives REA Funding

The South Plains Telephone Cooperative has received approval of a $1,152,000 loan from the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington sources announced Friday.

The loan reportedly will be used to finance 102 miles of new line, provide service for 52 additional subscribers, upgrade service to one-party lines in four exchanges and finance various system improvements. Johnny Rabel, office manager of the cooperative, said the company has been incorporated since 1951 and that loans have been received several times during the period.

The company provides service to 16 different exchanges within a 90-mile radius of Lubbock, Rabel said.

A report on two historymaking grain movements

Two Backbreakers BACK-TO-BACK

1. The huge export grain movement

(Santa Fe can report "mission accomplished" for moving its share of grain to Russia - just one phase of the big export job!)

2. The largest winter wheat harvest in history along the Santa Fe

(Now getting underway)

Moving millions of bushels of grain is a big job. To move it in a limited time period while the economy is booming and all shippers calling for more cars and service, makes these huge transportation projects

Santa Fe is setting records meeting current demands for service, but no backs are being broken. For example, since last August Santa Fe has moved over 150,000 carloads of grain, a 50% increase in shipments. That's a staggering amount, but it's only part of the story.

With no prior notice to the rail industry to make special preparations, the Russian grain movement of 400-MILLION bushels was announced last year with a completion deadline of May 31, 1973. At the same time even many more millions of bushels were also being exported

What Santa Fe did. Starting with a transportation system in excellent condition, Santa Fe people put their "know how" and all facilities in full throttle position.

2,000 new jumbo covered hopper cars were added to bring Santa Fe's fleet to 12,000, the largest in the rail industry.

4,100 smaller covered hopper cars were drafted for use, too, as well as regular box cars. Open-top hoppers not normally used for grain were also employed. In addition 64 new diesels are now hard at work moving the record traffic volume.

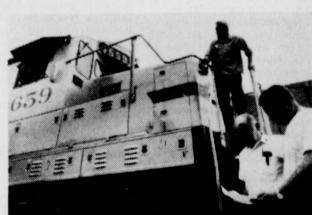

Even with all of this, special measures were worked out at considerable expense to the Santa Fe for handling cars to minimize port congestion and keep the railroad fluid.

Santa Fe can report "mission accomplished" for handling its share of the grain to Russia, and we still have other export grain to move, but the big job now ahead is moving this year's harvest.

Largest wheat harvest along the Santa Fe, 687-MILLION bushels The harvest extends from Texas, across Oklahoma, Kansas, into Colorado and New Mexico. It is already started. It is a vast project and the Santa Fe job is to move the wheat to elevators during the brief period of harvest time.

What Santa Fe is striving for principally is more efficient car utilization, faster yard operations and the best possible use of locomotives to move the grain while keeping all freight rolling.

It's a job that can't be done without the help of everyone in the grain industry and cooperation of all shippers. With everyone working together, two of the greatest moves ever recorded in the history of rail transportation will be accomplished . . . the huge multi-million bushel export grain movement and the largest harvest in history along the Santa Fe. Two "BACKBREAKERS," back-to-back, with Santa Fe putting its best effects into getting the job done.

Santa Fe employes who have worked long and hard on the export whea project, are now focusing all efforts on the new harvest.

WTSU NEW RULE FOR STUDENTS

West Texas State University, Canyon, has eliminated its physical examination requirement for incoming stu-dents, Dr. T. Paige Carruth, vice president for student affairs, says.

Under new regulations adopted by the Board of Regents, only a record of a student's immunization are required for admission.

Mrs. Louise Mitchell of the University Health Center says, "In the past, a student would go to a doctor for a physical examination and the doctor would give him several tests that were not required by the university, such as chest x-ray, blood tests. This practice was very expensive for the student.

Carruth says the university's only medical requirement now is that students must have had the oral polio and the combination tetanus-diptheria immunization within last ten years. Last semester we gave more than 375 shots in one day because students had not gotten their shots or did not realize they had to have them, " Mrs. Mitchell says.

HUNLEY WRITES ON

(By Sammy Hunley)

As the school year comes to an end and summer comes on the scene, a lot of the boys in Abernathy turn their thoughts to playing baseball. The Little League and Pee Wee League are usually the most saturated.

A great deal of time is spent in preparing the fields (Abernathy is to be com-mended for their excellent facilities), leagues are organized and coaches are distributed to the various teams. Both boys and coaches work long and hard to prepare for the opening games. The players are taught how to hit, catch, run and throw. They develop a good spirit and at-titude of sportsmanship and winning. As weeks pass, the team develops and matures and the sweat and sore muscles of every little leaguer and coach become a reality. Uniforms are distributed with the sponsors' names on the back. Without sponsors there would be no uniforms or equipment. The sportsmanship attitude taught each player is seen in his every action. Each boy puts forth 100% effort to do the best he can. Some are better than others, but all are able to participate equally.

The main object of the summer baseball league is to develop the young boys in attitude, knowledge and execution of the game and to instill in their minds that it's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game. This is not the time to put the main emphasis on a victory. The majority of these young fellows are playing for the first time and need guidance in the mechanics of the game and development in their attitudes and maturity. The importance of winning will become more meaningful as the boy develops in skills and age. Don't get the wrong idea, winning is important and the attitude is definitely needed; but it is not and shouldn't be the main function of the summer league.

Abernathy is definitely in-volved in the baseball program. In fact, a new organization group has taken over this year and the improvement in the leagues was noticed almost immediately. The playing fields were vastly changed, long hours were spent to make the diamond one of the best in the area, uniforms were available to every age group, and a number of funds have been raised to meet the costs necessary to run the en-

All of this is well and good; but the whole idea of summer baseball is missing. The main idea of sportsmanship being taught the players is definitely lacking in the adults. Nearly every game that I have attended has been interrupted with an argument or some form of confusion. The coaches have had disputes over everything from foul balls to fly balls. I mean real arguments. Some could easily have ended in fights. Parents haven't made the situation any easier. They put pressure on their child to be the best and nothing less. They complained about how the coaches are running the teams; but, when asked to help, they back out immediately. Stop and think of the existing situation...look at it from the eyes of the boys themselves. How can they develop a good attitude about the game and the idea of sportsmanship if the adults who teach them aren't able to control them-

Take a long look at the condition, adults, and change the situation for our kids
