Third time's the charm? Well, I hope so at any rate. I've been expounding on several subjects lately in Deport, so now I'm going to give every place a shot.

The subject is dumping. Since the land-fill type dumps have been closed a rash of trashitis has reached epidemic proportions.

Once lovely country roads are marred by the eternal green plastic trash bags, or just piles of junk.

Ditches, creeks and waterways overflow with debris instead of water, and every gate or gap into a pasture seems to be a prime target.

Please, it's not that hard to make the extra effort to leave trash where it belongs.

This area has some lovely roads, some pretty countryside, but it won't be for long at the present rate.

It's impossible for others to pick up as fast as dumping takes place, the only way it can be corrected is for the dumpers to stop!

Let's keep this part of the world pretty, no more dumping, please.

Old Gas Pump Brings Back Memories

By John W. Hood
There is an old landmark between here and Paris that takes me back to the days of my youth.
I don't know how often I've passed by and not seen it, but there it was the other day. It was an old gas pump. No electricity was used, instead the gasoline was pumped to the top of the glass cylinder and gravity fed it into the tank on the car.
There was once a store and gas station there, but the gas pump is the only thing left now.
Cars were just beginning to become popular when that pump was installed. Mostly horses, wagons or buggies were what folks traveled in. Probably half the people owned cars, the others still used mules and horses.
I loved to go to my Granddad's just to play in his buggy back then. I loved to bounce up and down in it, playing like I was driving in it. It had fringe around the top, and little side light to fill with kerosene for night driving. Back then folks took as much pride in their fine, pretty horses as people do of cars today.
They used to take them out to race on back roads, and of course, when the Model T's came out, the young men raced them. I thought we had some very snazzy cars back then too. There weren't any Thunderbirds, Regals or Mustangs, but we had Chevrolets, Dodges or Fords.
When I came back from World War II, I was still a country bumpkin, and I went to buy a car. When they asked if I wanted a Fairlane, I replied "No, I want a Ford or Chevy!"
Noone worried about gas mileage. Gasoline sold for from ten to eight cents per gallon. Of course, pay wasn't too good then. We could work all day in the field for about $.75. Cotton picking or hoeing was awful hard work, too.
It came out about the same though, everything was cheap, even if salaries were too.

Don't Pay With Cash

Cash should never be sent through the mail to pay federal income taxes, the Internal Revenue Service says. If the cash payment should be lost, stolen, or destroyed, the taxpayer would have no record of payment.
Using a check or money order is much safer for two reasons, the IRS adds. First, either is hard to steal, and secondly, the cancelled check or money order receipt will serve as a record of payment.
Taxpayers should also be sure to write their Social Security number, the tax period and the form for which the payment is being made on the check or money order. In the event the payment is separated from the tax return, proper credit can still be given to the taxpayer's account.

Child Safety

Each year approximately 4,400 children in the U.S. suffer eye injuries caused by projectile toys and other items such as BB guns, dart guns and bow and arrow sets. Inspect your child's playthings regularly to insure their safety.

Get ready for home canning with inventories, tests, checkups and plans.

INVENTORIES

inventory jars, lids, rings, freezer bags and any other equipment necessary for your special home canning projects.

TESTS

Test dial-gauge pressure canners every year.

For information on testing sites, call your County Extension agent. Tests should include making sure safety valves, petcocks and safety plugs are in good condition.

Replace any worn parts. Remove any corrosion by soaking in vinegar.

Finally, when testing the canner, be sure to look for steam leaks around the canner lid. If the lid has a rubber gasket, make certain it's clean and grease free. If the gasket leaks steam, turn it over, stretch it gently and replace it. If the rubber has hardened, replace it with a gasket.

CHECKUPS

Check jar rings. Discard any that are bent, dented or rusted. Estimate the number of lids you will need.

Check jars for chips or cracks. Chips along the jar mouth usually result in an unsealed project after processing. Cracked jars usually break in the waterbath or pressure canner.

PLANS

Make plans for clean storage areas, and plan ways to use leftover canned foods. Group "last years" canned foods so they are easy to reach and use—and so they are separate from "new" canning. Make sure the storage area is cool, dark and dry.

Seal Sizes

Elephant seals are the largest seals in the world. A male may grow as long as 21 feet and weigh 8,000 pounds. The seals get their names from their noses which resemble an elephant trunk.

Edgar Lowe of Saltillo, Mexico and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Puckett of Denton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Suzanne DeBruyne. The bride's niece, Jennifer DeBruyne, was bridesmaid.

Best man was Chuck Crozier and the groom's brother, Kyle Puckett, served as groomsmen.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding.

Attend the Church of your choice this Sunday.

SUPERMARKET STRATEGY

Those frozen vegetables in handy pour-out bags are a good buy. You can easily use the amount needed, keeping the rest for later, uncooked and frozen in the bag. Be sure to re-close the bag tightly. Don't use vegetables frozen with sauces, you're paying for fat and calories instead of vegetables.

Snack foods are expensive, instead get out your popcorn popper and make your own snacks with less than 50 calories per cup plus one quart costs only about 3 to 8 cents. Once popcorn is opened, keep the unpopped kernels in an airtight container in the refrigerator.

When buying cooking oils avoid the expensive brands. Fried food won't taste greasy if the temperature of the oil is correct along with time of exposure to the oil. Most cooking oils have about the same properties.

Cube your own stew meat and save high labor costs. Use shoulder cuts or pot roast, freeze the meat lightly and cut into cubes the easy way.

Duct work is wrapped in insulation to prevent heat loss from ducts in unheated attics. Insulation in attics helps slow down heat loss, while caulking and weatherstripping seals cracks to prevent air leakage. Any home, old or new, can qualify as Energy Checked, as long as it meets certain energy efficiency standards. Just look for the Energy Checked sign in new homes, or call us for a qualifying inspection for your present home.

Thousands of camels race each other every spring in Saudi Arabia at the annual King's Camel Race. One year 2,704 of the desert's swiftest competed on the 14-mile sandy course, National Geographic reports.

Following the distribution of books, program Chairman, Mrs. Ruby Cogburn gave a very interesting program on State Parks.

Roll call was answered with 'My Best Vacation in Texas'. After the program Mrs. Cogburn directed games on flowers with prizes going to Mrs. A.E. Foster and Mrs. Sullivan.

SPRING

Fertilizer Users Receive Warnings

Spring time in Texas! It's time to plant and time to fertilize. It's also time, if you work with agricultural chemicals, to protect your eyes. If you don't, warns the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness, you risk serious eye injury, even blindness.

"Reports from hospital emergency rooms over several years show that chemicals have been responsible for nearly two-thirds of all agricultural eye injuries," says Elvin J. Schofield, Society president. "Yet with eye protection and proper precautions, 90 percent of these eye injuries could have been prevented."

"Anhydrous ammonia is the most powerful and dangerous of these chemicals," he went on. "In the soil ammonia means abundant crops; in the eye, however, it can mean tragedy for within seconds of contact it begins to destroy the cells and tissues of sight."

"For this reason, the Society urges that all who work around such chemicals wear safety goggles," he went on. "The goggles should fit snugly around the eye area and have hooded vents that will keep out liquids. For maximum protection a face shield should also be worn over the goggles."

FCIC Extends Sign Up

Farmers in Lamar and Red River Counties will have more time to apply for coverage from the Federal Crop Insurance Program.

Due to a delay in receiving rates and coverages for the counties, the deadline on cotton and grain sorghum applications has been extended until April 10, according to FCIC officials. Anyone wishing to participate in the 1981 program must submit an application by that date.

The FCC program is administered by the United States Department of Agriculture and is available to producers on a voluntary basis. It is designed to protect the annual investment made in producing a crop. Hazards insured against are drought, hail, wind, insects and disease.

Information and applications can be obtained from the FCIC office in McKinney or from one of the private insurance agents now handling the program.

Lone Star Club Submits Report

The club met 18 times in 12 homes and twice at the Lone Star Church. Two new members were welcomed, Annie Lee Moore and Faye Morris. We quilted on 18 quilts, tacked two quilts and quilted two Christmas tree skirts. One quilt was donated to the Methodist Orphanage and to the Clyde Johnson and Tommy Childers families because of fire to their homes. Six flower arrangements were given and 78 cards sent.

Projects were hosting the April birthday party at Red River Haven with pie and cake and entertainment, a surprise baby shower for Anaya Phillips and we made a "Do your own thing" 12by12 quilt for Bridgette Griffin.

We ended the year with our Christmas party at Carol Jordans home. Eight plates were decorated and filled with goodies for our shut-in friends.

In addition to urging safety eyewear, the Society has other safety tips for those handling agricultural chemicals.

Study the product's label for correct use and observe listed precautions.

Thoroughly understand how to operate any equipment prior to use.

Always store pesticides in their original containers, keeping them tightly closed.

Always carry at least five gallons of plain water on tractors and other farm equipment. Then, if an accident should occur, flush the eyes with water instantly, continuing for at least 15 minutes, with the eyelids held open.

The potentially blinding affects of anhydrous ammonia are graphically presented in a film called "For The Rest Of Your Life". The film is available for loan without charge from Prevent Blindness, 3211 West Dallas, Houston 77019. More information on farm eye safety may also be had in the Society's brochure, "Blin-
