Greenville is HOW far?

It's time to unite! It's time to straighten this mess out. No longer should we be held hostage to computer programs that don't know how far it is from point A to point B.

It began earlier this year with my health insurance company. They insisted that their computer showed Greenville, Texas, to be only 20 miles from Deport, Texas. No argument would work. They said that Commerce was only 10 miles from Deport, and that Mt. Pleasant was 15 miles away. I tried and tried to reason with them. I even mailed them a highlighted map. They wouldn't budge. The computer "said" and that was that.

This week my husband's truck had a dead cell in the battery. It wouldn't even boost off from a charger. He did as the dealership instructed him, and called the roadside assistance service. I think the word "assistance" has been misused.

The first thing they told him was that Greenville is closer than Paris or Mt. Pleasant. They said that Commerce was closer than Paris or Mt. Pleasant.

He told them that this absolutely wasn't true. They insisted that "their computer said" that Greenville was only 10.1 miles from Deport!

He tried to be patient. He tried to reason with them. In the end, however, he was stymied as I was. The computer said that Deport and Greenville were only 10 miles apart and that was all there was to it.

Does this mean that Dallas is only 20 miles away? When did they move it? Or, even more frightening...did they move US and we didn't even know it? Hey, does this mean that we can now receive Dallas property values for our land and homes?

Seriously, I've spoken with person after person in the health care field who have run into exactly the same problem with insurance companies.

I know of one computer company that argued that it was closer to send a serviceman from El Paso to this area than it was to send one from Texarkana, Arkansas!

Unite...rebell, we need to start protesting this ridiculous mapping system someone has come up with. In their minds if Greenville is only 10 miles from Deport New York and Los Angeles are probably only a hundred miles away!

Seriously this is causing inconvenience and distress. Someone somewhere needs to wise up and have a reality check about these things.

I'd be interested to know if other people in other parts of this nation are having the same problems?

At any rate, I think I'll just run to Dallas for lunch. It can't be over a fifteen or twenty minute drive!

We need our subscriber's nine digit zip code

We need our reader's help. We need your expanded zip code!

All five of the Thunder Prairie papers will be put on a new circulation program shortly. Each paper will be bar coded, and even "walk sequenced" locally, which means they will be put into the order in which they are delivered on routes or boxes.

Hopefully, this will speed delivery for our subscribers, especially those who live away from here.

But, we need help. To bar code we MUST have a full expanded zip code, all nine digits. Looking these up on the internet is going to be a slow process.

If readers would send us their full zip code, all NINE digits, it would greatly facilitate this process.

If you want to help, please send us your name, address and the full zip code to: Thunder Prairie Publishing, P.O. Box 98, Deport, TX 75435.

Please be sure to indicate which paper you take. Or, call us with that zip code at 903-652-4205 or 903-632-5322.

Country Cooking

Most area gardens are long gone, but a few still have some vegetables still producing. The okra plant is one of these. Did you know that the okra plant is a member of the Mallow family, related to cotton, hibiscus and hollyhocks. It is an annual tropical herb cultivated for its edible green seed pods. (There is also a red pod variety that turns green when cooked.) It has heart-shaped leaves and a large, yellow hibiscus-like flower.

Okra probably originated somewhere around Ethiopia and was cultivated by the ancient Egyptians by the 12th century B.C. Its cultivation spread throughout North Africa and the East. The seed pods were eaten cooked and the seeds were toasted and ground, used as a substitute.

It came to the Caribbean and U.S. in the 1700's and introduced in Western Europe soon after. Mature okra is used to make rope and paper. It is excellent sauteed or fried and can be steamed, baked, pickled, boiled or stewed. Lots of recipes and here are only a few! See you in the kitchen! lizirwin@hotmail.com or tpub@1starnet.com

OKRA SUPREME-this is shaped into a flat mound and topped with cheese and cut into wedges!

STEWED OKRA AND TOMATOES-the old standby!

OKRA ROTEL-use Rotel tomatoes and it adds a little zing to the dish!

Rivercrest loses to Chisum

Adam Horn scored a touchdown and Matt Ross ran in for the PAT as the Rebels were defeated in another close game, 16-8 to the Chisum Mustangs.

In a night where the "lights went out in Johntown", the JV Rebels had to play their game never knowing how much time was left in each period, half or in the game. A short in the breaker box shut down all electricity to everything except the field lights. It seems a little electricity was zapped from the Rebels as well.

Rivercrest played a hard fought contest but came up short. The Rebels had the ball with time running out in the fourth quarter, but were marching downfield with some nice blocking from the line and some fancy footwork from the backs when a shock was dealt to the Rebels, sealing the victory for the visiting Mustangs. The shock came in the form of a mishandled pitch from QB Jake Needham to halfback Bradley Rolan. Just as the Rebels looked as they were going to punch it in for the opportunity to tie the game. "We never should have been in that situation," said Coach Shultz. "We squandered a couple of opportunities earlier in the contest that may have made more of a difference than that one play. Those boys were just trying to make a good play for their team."

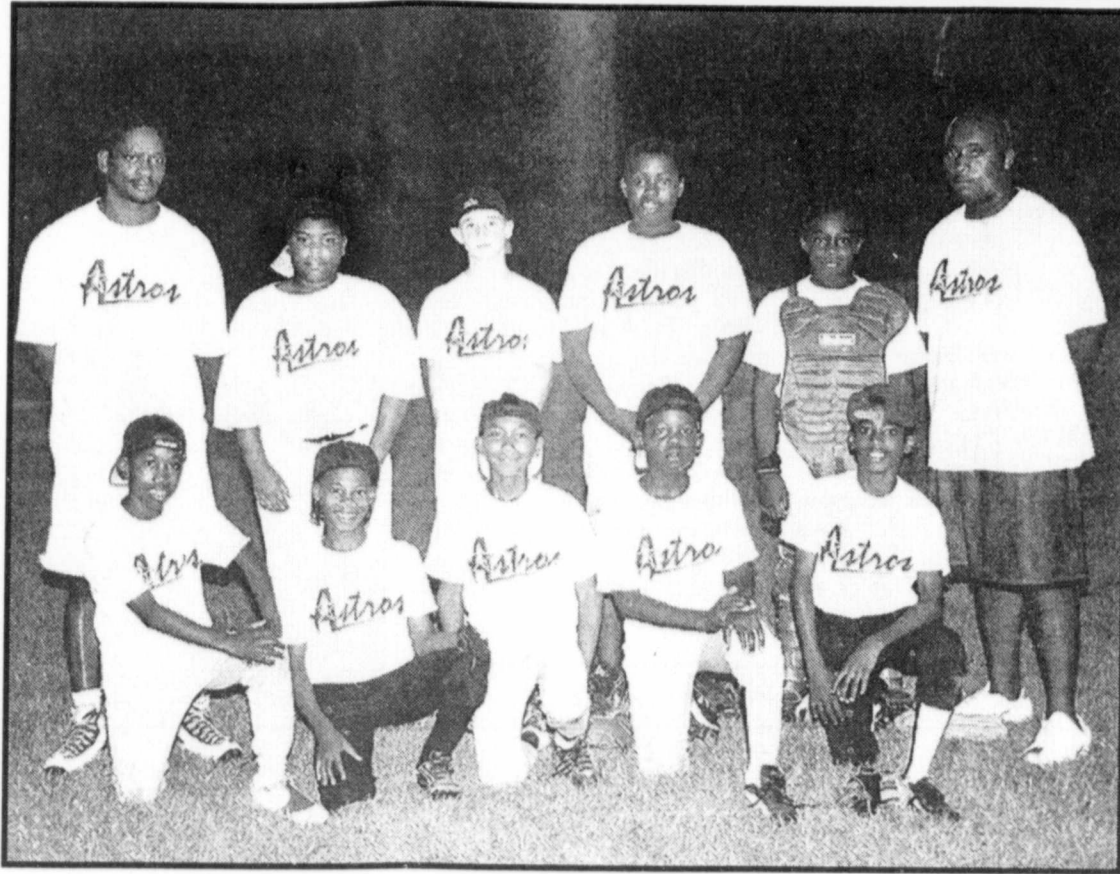

Miscues that allowed Chisum great field position early in the game came in a couple different forms. Rivercrest threw an interception and had problems on two different attempts to punt the ball really setting Chisum up nicely. The defense held strong with some nice plays from Ross and Rolan and a huge pass deflection by Keith Perry to keep the Mustangs from capitalizing on the Rebel mistakes. Going in at half only down 8-0, the Rebels came out storming in the second half.

RC got back to its basics of running the option and broke an option play for 40 yards when QB Needham cut up the field and picked up 15 yards before pitching to Ross who gained the remaining 25 yards to set the Rebels up for their only score of the evening. "That was an awesome play and something that we (coaches) have been working with Jake on in practice to get the feel of when to keep it and when to pitch it," said Shultz.

The Mustangs got the ball back and scored on a long run up the middle. The only long run this year up the middle against the Rebels stingy defense, but proved to be too much as the Rebels ran out of time which seemed to be scarce with no clock since the first period. The game was over before the Rebels knew it.

They are at home again this week taking on Sulphur Springs JV. The seventh grade will play Maud's JH and the eighth grade will play James Bowie's JH.

THE ASTROS-fall baseball team finished their season Saturday at Gilmer. The team will participate in the Fall World Series soon. Team members pictured are (not in order) Karee Brown, Terrell Howard, Ladarius Wilkerson, D.Q. Rebel football

The Rivercrest Rebel 7th, 8th and JV teams played at home on Thursday evening starting with the 7th grade vs Detroit. The young Rebels were defeated 16-0, however, they did have a touchdown made by C.J. Kerr which was called back on penalty. Alex Savage did a good job at running back and the Rebel line worked hard on offense and defense. The Detroit team was also a combination of the 7th and 8th grade players which made it much harder for the young all 7th grade Rebel team.

The Rebel 8th grade team played Union Hill and took a 24-12 win. Touchdowns were made by Andrew Deaton and Cole Birchfield. Two point conversions were taken in by Dewayne Sanders and Destry Nolen. And the young Rebel offensive and defensive lines deserve strong credit for this win.

No junior high stats were made available by the junior high coaches.

In JV action the game was disrupted by a blown transformer at the field. Stats are unavailable this week due to the power outage. But the Rebels were able to complete their game with the Chisum Mustangs, and were defeated 16-8.

Plan to attend Homecoming October 10, 2002.

BIG FISH-Derek Morris proudly holds up this large bass he hooked in a local private pool Saturday morning. Derek, who is the son of Tina and Harold Jackson and Troy Morris of Talco loves to fish and said this big fellow gave him a fight. Derek said, "fishing is one of my favorite things to do but, eatin' them is pretty good too".

Birthday Calendar News

Due to the limited amount of interest in the "Community Birthday Calendar 2003" it will NOT be printed. The committee workers met last week and began. Workers were disappointed at the response from area citizens. One committee worker reported contacting 75 people who gave her listing last year, only 18 were willing to participate this year. One worker contacted 54 who gave her listing last year and 9 were willing to participate this year. In order to make the calendar a successful fund-raiser for the Volunteer Fire Department and First Responders, the committee needed 800-1000 listings (birthday, anniversary, in memory of, special events, etc.) Calendar 2002 had 1600+ listings. The repeated response from citizens was they still had their calendar with birthdays listed from last year, therefore they didn't wish to buy another one this year.

The committee made the decision to wait three to five years and repeat the fund-raiser hoping more interest would be received from citizens.

The committee would like to say Thank You to the local businesses that were willing to buy ads in support of the Volunteer Fire Department and First Responders.

Commerce Cross Country meet

by Coach Debbie Williams

The Cross Country team competed at Commerce Saturday and improved their runs. Cooper, Chisum and Prairiland were 3 of the 10 or so teams competing and we were successful this week in being on top with those 3. Prairiland had 163 team points; Cooper 154 points and Rivercrest 147 points. It is still close and they had runners who were not there. It will be tough at district, but we will be working every week for the district championship.

Casey Hammonds had another very competitive run and was 7th with 14:02; Stephanie Williams ran 20th with 15:17 and is always trying to keep Hammonds in sight; Krystal Valenzuela ran 35th with 16:21 and really moved up this week with her time; Danielle Easterling ran 40th with 16:30 and is running strong in practice which will pay off for her team; Rachel Case ran 45th with 16:46 and will be in the 14's and 15's at the end of the season; Mandy Crawford ran 46th with 16:50 and I expect her to move up each week; Tina Carder ran 48th with 16:55 really pushes her teammates; Erica Williams ran 50th with 17:10 and is a competitor every week; Nikki Jones ran 58th with 18:15 and did better from last week and expects to be on up there soon; Brandon Buchanan ran a 22:00 3 mile and Josh Weatherall ran a 24:00 3 mile. Both boys must step up in practice and meet.

On September 28 the junior high girls and varsity girls traveled to North Hopkins. In the junior high division these 5 young ladies are getting stronger every week. They worked hard on the course competing at their opponents and working each other at the same time. Torrie Grissom ran 29th with 16:00; Susan Smith ran 24th with 15:40; Rachel Smith ran 65th with 17:38; Vallery Schmidt ran 96th with 19:43 and Vikki Schmidt ran 66th with 17:49 out of over 100 runners.

In the varsity girls division with only 4 runners we didn't have a team, but, these 4 ran well. Casey Hammonds is doing a super job. She broke 14 minutes (her goal for this meet) and placed 8th overall. We were so proud of this. The other 3 girls also performed well. Stephanie Williams is running well every meet and also lifting heavy weights on Friday afternoons, so her legs are tired, but, at district she will be stronger for all the running and weight lifting she is doing now. Erica Williams competed well and her times are getting better. This was a good course with some good hills, so this made them stronger. Nikki Jones is working in practice and by district she should be on up there. There were approximately 125 runners at this meet.

The next meet will be Saturday, Oct. 5 at Saltillo.
