Who did I call?

This time of the year is hectic and crazy. It's the time of year when I need to be calling dozens and dozens of people asking them about their Christmas greetings ad. Renewals are pouring in, and there are parades, parties and events that need to be photographed.

As much as I love it, I'm tired. To top it all off, one of our best employees, Mike Francies, has been made a job offer he "can't refuse" and is leaving. Yes, if you are looking for an almost-full time job, call me at 652-4205. It requires that you be able to work late on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, but you don't have to come to work at all on Fridays!

But, back to my other story.

I've managed to get so many calls going to advertisers that I shorted out. Here I am, taking call backs, and suddenly I haven't a clue who these people are. Then, it gets worse. I can't remember whose number I just dialed, and when they answer I'm stumbling around trying to remember who I'm talking to!

It was terrible. I quit for a while and went to work on something else, trying to clear my head.

It didn't clear, and I ended up misspelling words like Alignment. When did it get an "H" in it? Of course, it doesn't.

So, I decided to stroll down the street and get away from it all for a little while.

I did, and enjoyed visiting with a few people on Main Street. Did you ever notice how nice it is to do that? It's one of those small town joys.

After about twenty minutes I came back to the real world and began making phone calls again. The very first one I made I did my stumbling, forgetful act again. I didn't sound professional, I sounded like an idiot! Hopefully, they want to help the handicapped!

Any way, I stopped. It was apparent that this particular job would have to wait for another day. I'm okay today, I think.

But, if you are one of the people that I stuttered and stumbled at over the phone, please accept my apologies...I promise I'll get it all scraped back together again! Could it be I'm getting old?

Letter to the Editor

First Responders/Rescue of Bogata, Texas:

The Lions Club wants to congratulate Bogata's First Responders in their outstanding accomplishment in being named First Responders of the Year. I know that I speak for the members of the Bogata Lions Club and many of the members of the community in saying that the award is very deserving. The First Responders have been outstanding in being there when help is needed; whether it's training in disaster preparedness or public welfare calls, patient care assistance, life saving and many others in good and bad weather; when and wherever they were needed and they were there. You have unselfishly given your time and expertise to the community. We are, as members of the community, grateful and thankful that we have such an outstanding and professional group active in our community.

Sincerely,
Arthur E. Spencer

Letter to the Editor

To the editor:

I enjoyed your Nichols Worth column about putting up Christmas lights. We just enjoy people's decorations and don't think of all the frustration.

I would like to share with your readers that part of our family visited in Alabama this past summer with Rozell relatives. Some of the family still live on grounds the Rozells, who left Alabama for Texas in 1884.

One of them is Louise Rozell Dugan. We received a Christmas card from her a few days ago. How about the address? If anyone receives a Christmas card with a more neat address than 193 Butter and Egg Road, I wish they would share it with us.

Frances M. Rozell

Dear Editor,

I keep watch in the Country Cooking section for a vinegar cobbler recipe, the kind that you have to roll out the crust and cut into strips that are all through the cobbler.

I have found all kinds of vinegar pie recipes, but that is not what I want. If any of your readers has the recipe, I would sure appreciate having a copy of it.

Thanks,
Jeanette Bivens

Flashes.....Walking Home

by Jack Ballard

I never, never will forget the moment on the walk that day my friend Rita came running out from her front door onto the porch and shouted news to me as I strolled down the street. For me, many after school days were memorable because I walked home from school.

The bells rang. Another hard workday at Depot Elementary School was finished. Kids rushed from the schoolyard like birds set free from a cage. Those big yellow buses were always parked in their standard long straight lines awaiting hyperactive afternoon passengers.

Most days my first stop was across the street at Mrs. Wright's grocery store. Waiting there were Dr. Pepper and Baby Ruth. After a snack, I would grab up my satchel full of books, homework and such and head out for home.

I would always walk over near the side of the street. Safely out of traffic's path I could have the choice of the smooth pavement, gravel or the softness of the grassy yards and ditches. Deport pecan and elm trees had been around for years so the street walking path was mostly shaded from the rays of the harsh afternoon sun.

While a young fellow, being built close to the ground had its advantages. I could stroll by the yards enjoying the blades of grass, the leaves on the trees and the blooms in the gardens. My route home that day took me by the old Methodist church and Dr. Brittain's dentist office. Big porches and big dogs many times were full of adventure.

Oh, yeah. The news that Rita shouted to me from her porch. It was November 22, 1963.

W.R. Shaw to be honored on 90th birthday

The children of W.R. Shaw, born December 19, 1912, are honoring him with a reception celebrating his 90th birthday. The reception is on Saturday, December 14 from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. Mary Catholic Church Fellowship Hall, 2108 Ridgewood Drive, Longview.

He rose in the ranks, so to speak, with American Liberty Pipeline Company. Starting as a truck driver, he advanced to gauger, to roughneck, to Assistant Superintendent to District Superintendent. He served his country in the war effort during World War II by staying home and helping to keep petroleum moving and available to the armed forces overseas. Retiring from American Petrofina Pipeline Company in 1977 after 44 years in the pipeline business, he remained another 10 years as consultant to the company when it sold to Dorchester Pipeline Company.

A former resident of Talco, Mount Pleasant and Athens, he is the widower of Frances Hornischer Shaw and Ila Bailey Wheat Shaw. His children are Lois Jordan of Kilgore, Rita Reindl, with whom he resides and Linda Weisinger of Longview and Richard Shaw of Aurora, Colorado. He has 15 (including 1 deceased) grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and 1 great-great-grandson.

Friends of Wilson Shaw are encouraged to attend the celebration. If you can't attend, send an anecdote/memory of Wilson to be displayed at the reception to R.S. Reindl, 103 Kimberly Lane, Longview, TX 754604 or e-mail rsreindl@cablelynx.com.

Eighth annual Cousins reunion held

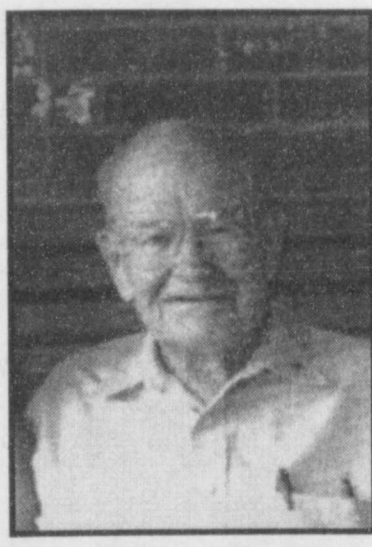

After a wonderful weekend in 2001, on the shores of Cedar Creek Lake, in the home of Vicki Armstrong, the Baker cousin reunion returned to Bogata, TX. for the eighth year.

On Saturday, November 10, the afternoon began with shopping on the Plaza in Paris. After shopping, dinner was enjoyed by all at TaMolly's restaurant.

Chicota was the next destination to see the new and beautiful weekend home of Lisa and Joe Slagle.

Finally, everyone gathered at Donnie Lewis's home in Bogata to celebrate with the usual traditions of exchanging gifts, snacking, and reminiscing. The highlight of this year was a style show performed by the Aunts. This style show was unlike any style show ever seen before. It was a spoof, in the literal sense, of fashions from the past. Pill boxes were adorning a hat, to represent the "pill box" hat. Baby dolls were attached to pajamas, for those "baby doll" pajamas. Paper pleats on a box, for those "box pleats". These were just a few of the hilarious examples of fashions from the past. The reunion was enjoyed by all and plans are the works for the next year.

Those attending this year were Bea White, Vicki Armstrong, Nell Baldwin, Lisa Slagle, Donna Gifford, Donnie Lewis, Donita Embrey, Jenita Baker, Jenissa Hogan, Dean Ogden, Janie Hawkes, Ronda Smith, Judy Shew and Linda Baker with her mother, Jane Malone.

Eternal Life is Conditional

There are those in the religious world who contend that once a person becomes a Christian and is saved from past sins, he can never lose his salvation. This view is known as the impossibility of apostasy, or perseverance of the saints; it is also referred to as "once saved, always saved." Although it is a popular view, it is a radically false and dangerous one. Hundreds of passages in the Bible teach that we must remain faithful to God's word or we will be lost (Romans 11:22; Galations 5:4; Hebrews 3:12ff; 6:4-5; James 5:19-20; 2 Peter 2:320-22; Ezekiel 18:1ff).

Some argue that the Bible teaches believers cannot possibly be lost since God has already given them eternal life. Jesus said in John 5:24, "Most assuredly I say to you, he who hears My word and believes in Him who sent Me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, but has passed from death into life." The Lord said a believer "has (present tense) eternal life." Eternal life has already been given to us; it is already ours. If we possess it right now, then how could we be lost?

The truth is that when the Bible says a believer has eternal life, it means he has it in prospect, in promise. Jesus said if we faithfully follow him we shall "receive a hundredfold now in this time...and in the age to come, eternal life" (Mark 10:30). Notice that eternal life is not something we have now; we receive it in the age to come.

Another text forever settles the issue of how the child of God possesses eternal life. Note 1 John 2:24-25: "Therefore let that abide in you which you heard from the beginning. If what you heard from the beginning abides in you, you also will abide in the Son and in the Father. And this is the promise that He has promised us-eternal life."

Here we learn that eternal life is something God has promised us, but it is a conditional promise. If we abide in him, then we will have the promise of eternal life. If we do not, we will be lost (2 John 9).

So believers have eternal life, but they have it in promise, and that promise is a conditional one. Do not be led astray by the damning doctrine of "once saved, always saved." Contact us if we can help you understand how to inherit eternal life in heaven through Christ.

The Church of Christ in Talco meets at 5th and Lide. Please join us for bible study: Sundays-9:45 a.m., 10:45 a.m., 6 p.m.; Wednesdays-7 p.m.
