By Nanalee Nichols
It's time for an explanation as to how Thunder Prairie Publishing got its name. As most folks know, that's the company name we chose when we purchased all four newspapers, and there's been a lot of comment on it. Some big city folks with the advertising agencies have had to have the name spelled out for them two or three times, and seem to find it a little strange!

The whole name originated as the handle we applied to our cattle business...Thunder Prairie Farms.

There have always been an abundance of thunderstorms roaming over our pasture and prairie meadow, and I've always enjoyed them. Before a vacation one fall, I mentioned that the name "Thunder Bay" up on Lake Superior had struck me as conjuring up visions of wild waters and deep woods, and that it was a place I'd like to visit purely on the strength of it's name.

Somehow, we just started calling our own place Thunder Prairie, because of the comment about the bay, and because it seemed right. When it came time to name our publishing company, we spent several days trying to come up with the right name.

Nichols Publishing was just too plain. Little cities didn't seem right. Hometown sounded entirely too corny...nothing seemed to fit. Then we got to thinking about all the prairies that exist around this neck of the woods...there's Round Prairie down near Cunningham.

Blossom Prairie is one of the largest around...Independence Prairie and Slash Prairies are neighter one too well known...but do exist.

Shadowland, located at Rugby, received it's name because of the cloud shadows scudding over the prairie there.

So somewhere in the middle of all these considerations, Thunder Prairie just jumped up...presented itself and seemed right!

That's why there's a little logo with a tiny thundercloud...and tractor plowing and a cow and calf wandering across the top of our stationary...and of course, there's always plenty of the real type of T-storms around here!

Pat Bi-District Starts Against Paul Pewitt

By Joel Birch
The District 13AAA Prairiland Patriots will travel to Mt. Pleasant on Thursday night to take on Paul Pewitt for the Bi-District Championship. The game will begin at 7:30 p.m. with admission being $1.50 for students and $2.50 for adults.

Coach Lloyd Simmons says that the Paul Pewitt boys will be tough. Friday night, the Prairiland Patriots took on the Cooper Bulldogs, who earlier in the season, snatched victories from the Patriots two separate times in two separate tournaments. Each game was a heartbreaking loss by only one point. However, it was a more experienced Patriot team that took on the Bulldogs in Commerce, and this time the Patriots came out on top, 64-53. The game was only a practice game for the two teams before entering bi-district action, but a win the Pats had been waiting for a long time. Mark Reily led the Patriot scoring with 16 and 15 points, while senior post Jeff Ballard added 13 points to the winning cause.

The Patriots started off to a shaky first quarter. The Bulldogs started with a tough man to man defense. The Pats broke the defense and won the quarter 14-12, but both teams were getting used to the big Commerce court which kept the scoring a little tight.

The Pats started the quarter still a little cold. The Bulldogs, on the other hand, warmed up and toughened their defense on the Pats. Cooper also started to turn the ball around better and moved well down the court on a fast break. The Bulldogs took a 28-27 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The second half opened with the Bulldogs hitting four straight points before the Patriots scored their first points in the second half. The Patriots gathered themselves up and sank six straight points to tie the game at 38 with 3:40 left in the quarter. The Patriots kept the surge going and ended the quarter 46-44, Pats on top.

In the fourth quarter, the score changed hands several times during the remainder of the game. With 4:09 left, the Pats started to pull out with the score 52-48. With 3:12 left, Cooper called time out to try and regroup with the score 54-49, Patriots.

The Patriots kept pulling farther out on the Bulldogs when with only 57 seconds left, Paul Lyles was fouled. Lyles made the score 58-53.

In the last two minutes of the game, the Bulldogs couldn't manage to score anymore points and were forced to foul to stop the clock. The game ended with a 64-53 victory for the Patriots.

Totals for Pats
Mark Reily, 16 points, 5 rebounds, 4 assists and 2

steals; Joe Smith 9 points, 4 rebounds, 5 assists and 5 steals; Jeff Griffin 15 points, 11 rebounds, 3 assists and 1 steal; Jeff Ballard 13 points, 8 rebounds, 2 assists and 3 steals; Paul Lyles 5 points, 6 rebounds, 2 assists and 1 steal; Jon King 6 points, 5 rebounds, 1 assist and 1 steal; Phil Graves 1 assist. Totals for Cooper Ronald Morris 28 points; Rodney Morris 11 points; Dewayne Glossup 6 points; S. Deatherage 4 points; C. Roberts 4 points. Total rebounds, 39.

Bingo Sales Tax Figures Released

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday sent checks totaling $376,200 to 45 Texas counties and 31 cities who have legalized charity bingo and levied the optional 2 percent local tax.

Bullock said Tuesday's allocation was more than twice the size of the last rebates he sent local governments in November.

"Since we started making these payments to local governments who have approved charity bingo and levied the tax, we have sent them a total of more than $677,000," Bullock said. "At this rate we will send local governments more than a million dollars from this revenue source this year, the first year for legal bingo in our state."

Biggest check Tuesday went to Harris County, where 116 Houston area organizations licensed to conduct bingo games by the Comptroller's Bingo Regulation Division brought in taxes of $50,926.

Biggest check to a city went to Arlington, which received $5,852 in revenue collected from nine organizations conducting games in that city.

Residents of areas where bingo has not been legalized will have three more opportunities during 1983 to petition local governments for elections on the issue.

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood

I guess that as you grow older some of the things that was just fun for you then now you would say was just pure meanness or destructive. It was also destructive when you were growing up also, but then it was fun and you never gave a thought as to what damages or how much property you were destroying all you were thinking about was that it was fun and all the rest of your friends were in it with you.

I always went to a country school until I was in high school and then I went to Deport which to me was a very big school for if you come out of a country school where you only have about thirty or forty total enrollment that when you first go to a school where there are around two hundred kids that is a big school and you have to do something to get noticed and all kids want to be noticed or well liked by your peers so we were always trying to out do each other. I remember once when we were going to play a football game one of the boys who usually would furnish his car to transport some of the players did not get to go as we were to go in a six wheel truck that had been hired for the occasion and as we did not need his car the superintendent would not let him go and it made him so mad that he went down to the outdoor toilet that we all used in those days and he carried a big armload of newspapers with him and he built a fire in the toilet and he came back to the main school building and got him a good seat so he could see the fire, but one of the smaller children reported the fire to the Superintendent and he came running out with a bucket of water to put out the fire but it had a good start and he was not gaining any headway so he hollered at the larger boys who were watching the fire to come and help him, but the boy who had set the fire in the first place said no way as I set the fire and I am not going to put it out. All the teachers and the little kids had quite a time in getting the fire under control, but they finally managed it.

I remember one time that the school board hired a new teacher to come in and get the school under control as the older boys had taken over control and did about like they pleased when they pleased, so this new teacher came in to see what he could do to restore order and get on with the teaching of the children as you all know that is what school is about. When the board had pointed out the ring leaders and the ones who were causing all the trouble, and it just happened that one of the ones that had been pointed out was in my history class and as all of you know the kids had to test the new teacher out so some one in the back of the class did something and all the rest of us started to laugh and when the teacher tried to find out who it was causing all the disturbance noone would tell him so he said that it was the boy who had been pointed out to him as being one of the trouble makers and when the boy denied that it was him the teacher told him to go to the office and they would get it straightened out the boy told him that he had not done anything and he was not going anywhere but the teacher said he was going to the office if he had to carry him and the boy told him to get busy as it was going to be an all day job and when the teacher came back to carry him to the office that is when the fight started and they both wound up with some bloody lips and black eyes and the boy never did go to the office but he did quit school and the teacher had made his point and when he told the next boy to go to the office he went without any fuss so I guess you could say that the teacher got his bluff in on the rest of us and when he found out that he was wrong about the boy he sent him a message that he was sorry and for him to come on back to school, but he never did.

That is just a few of the happenings that occurred when I was going to school.

Weekly Agriculture Update

By Paul D. Payne
Dairy Nutrition
A basic dairy nutrition workshop will be held in Paris on February 24. It will be held in the Paris Rodeo & Horse Club Building beginning at 10:30 a.m.
The workshop has been designed to help dairymen determine the nutritional needs of various classes of dairy animals. The workshop leader will be Dr. Max Sudweeks, Area Dairy Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
Dr. Sudweeks is a trained dairy nutritionist and qualified to assist dairymen with these type problems. Dairy nutrition is a complicated item, and one must be knowledgeable of mineral needs as well as protein and energy needs of dairy animals.
All dairymen are encouraged to attend.
Milo Planting Time
As spring time weather lingers on and soil temperatures rise, area farmers attention will be centered on planting the 1983 milo crop. Planting time remains several days off though as wet fields prevent most field preparations.
The variety choice can be an important decision for the farmer as there are many choices available. We are often asked for variety suggestions and I do not hesitate to point out that there are many outstanding varieties and no one seed company has the corner on all of the good ones.
There are some varieties that continue to do well year after year in county variety demonstrations that merit consideration. We cannot guarantee that you will get the same yields on your farm as varieties do respond differently on different soils land various weather patterns.

Five of the top yielding varieties have been in demonstration for the past two or three years. This information is a more reliable indicator of their production. These production averages are Paymaster 1090-6164; Conlee Top Hand II-5505; Oro GXTRA-5464; Ring Around 733 GB-5430 and Pioneer 8680-5334.
The variety choice is one for the producer to make. There are many varieties from which to choose, which makes the choice more difficult.
Beef Cattle Meeting
Arrangements have been made for a beef cattle meeting to be held in Paris on March 10. The program will be on internal parasite control and the use of implants in calves. Cattlemen attending the 7 p.m. meeting will be the guest of American Cyanamide Chemicals for the evening meal. It will all take place in the new Community Exhibits Building at the Fairgrounds.

Weekly Agricultural Briefs

By Herb Brevard
Azalea petal blight is a fungal disease that attacks the blossoms of azaleas when they begin to open. According to Dr. George Philley, plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the disease will turn the petals a brownish color or brown spots may appear on the petals. Eventually, the blossoms will be destroyed. Numerous fungicides are available for controlling azalea petal blight. The first application of the fungicide should be made when the blossoms first appear. Check labels for rates and spray intervals.

According to Philley, many pear producers are concerned about fire blight on their trees. The time to begin spray applications is when the pears begin to bloom. Use a fungicide which contains cooper, such as Kocide 101. Another material available is an antibiotic called streptomycin sulfate. Fire blight is caused by a bacterium which is spread during the bloom stage. The directions on the label of the fungicide should be followed.

For homeowners renovating or putting in a new lawn, Philley says that Raleigh St. Augustine grass was released last year. This new variety, very similar to common St. Augustine grass, is highly resistant to St. Augustine decline. Raleigh has more cold tolerance than the Floratum St. Augustine and begins to grow earlier in the spring. Raleigh has done well in trials in Northeast Texas and should be considered for new plantings. The Raleigh St. Augustine grass should be available from dealers this year.

New Tax Provisions For Working Couples

Working couples will get a tax break when filing 1982 federal income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service says. Under new tax law provisions, two earner couples will be allowed to deduct up to $1,500 on their 1982 tax returns, and $3,000 in 1983.

The IRS says the new deduction will work in this manner: If you and your spouse file a joint return for 1982, you will show your total combined gross income just as you always have. However, you may deduct from your gross income either five percent of the qualified earned income of the spouse with the lower qualified earned income, or $1,500, whichever is less. For next year's return and future years, the deduction increases to 10 percent, but not more than $3,000.

The deduction may be claimed by both Form 1040 and 1040A filers, the IRS says. After completing the worksheet in the instruction booklet, 1040A filers enter the deduction on Line 11. Form 1040 filers complete Schedule W and enter the deduction as an Adjustment to Income on Line 29.

SENIOR CITIZEN'S CORNER
HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

Make A Will

One of the simplest and most important responsibilities, regardless of age, is that of having a legal will. The value of the estate is unimportant; what matters is that it be distributed in accordance with personal wishes, which is not likely to happen unless everything is clearly defined and explained.

There is no "death wish" associated with the making of a will. It is, instead, an expression of one of life's most precious acts—the art of giving. The will defines what is given and to whom it is given.

So often it happens that the survivors lose when there is no will to direct the settlement of what is left behind. Much of its value may fall to the state or the majority of it may be spent for legal fees necessary to determine what each survivor may receive. What constitutes a legal will may vary from state to state. There is no doubt that the will is prepared by a lawyer, and the cost is not too great. The attorney needs an inventory of assets and a simple explanation of how and to whom these assets are assigned to beneficiaries.

Selection of an executor of the estate is important. This may be a relative or friend, but should be someone with business capabilities. An attorney is a good selection.

Once a will is made, it should be kept in a safe, secure place—and the estate executor should know its location.

You have made no final decisions when the will is completed. Changes, additions or deletions may be made at any time in the future.

Pesticide products containing the active ingredients 2,4-D, 2,4-DB, 2,4-DP, 2,4,5-T, MCPA, silvex, dicamba, propanil and arsenic acid, alone or in mixtures, when distributed in containers of a capacity larger than one quart for liquid material or two pounds for dry or solid material have been classified as state limited use pesticides by the Texas Department of Agriculture. Specialty fertilizer mixtures containing one or more of these active ingredients packaged in containers of 50 pounds or less that are labeled for ornamental use and registered with the Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Service for sale and distribution in this state are exempt from the classification as state limited use pesticides. Products for home use containing one or more of these active ingredients requiring no further mixing or dilution before use and packaged in containers with a capacity of one gallon or less for liquid formulations of four pounds or less for dry or solid materials are also exempt from the classification as state limited use pesticides. Lamar County producers who anticipate use of a state limited use pesticide and who do not currently hold a private applicator certificate may wish to obtain a certificate from the Texas Department of Agriculture. Initial issue certificates are considered valid according to a TDA source, however, TDA encourages holders of such certificates to submit an application for renewal. A limited supply of the TDA Application for Private Applicator Certificate Renewal is available at the County Extension Office.

Bermuda Grass Planting Time Coming

Bermudagrass planting time is just around the corner. Landowners should consider the kind of bermudagrass they want to sprig and the condition of the seedbed. There are different bermudagrasses adapted to this area but the most widely used in early sprigging is coastal bermudagrass.

A proper seedbed should have been prepared in the fall of last year. If a seedbed has not been prepared then the landowner should prepare a clean, firm seedbed from five to seven inches in depth prior to sprigging. Seedbeds prepared last fall may have to be disked lightly before sprigging.

Bermudagrass can be sprigged anytime after the first killing frost when the bermudagrass goes dormant through May 15. Bermudagrass sprigs should have healthy, uninjured, live stolons and rhizomes. They should also be free of excessive foreign matter. Bermudagrass is planted at the rate of 24 bu.-ac. in pasture planting and at the rate of 48 bu.-ac. when sprigging critical areas that have been shaped. After sprigging, the area should be rolled with some type of packer. Landowners should apply fertilizer according to a current soils test. Sprigging should not be done when ground is frozen, too wet, too dry, or in an otherwise nontillable condition.

Stitching Witchery

By BETTY W. KINSER

Every day new things are invented — or "thought up." Some bad, some good. Here are a few from my list of creations that aren't worth diddy-squat. One or two have already gone to "invention heaven," the rest are still around to drive us bananas.

PRESSER FOOT: Not your regular foot, mind you, but that funny looking one with the curlicue that is supposed to roll and stitch a shirt-tail hem. Doesn't work. First, you need at least 6 inches of extra fabric just to get the thing started right, then you have to work with your fingers crossed so the roll doesn't slip out because if it does, it will never go back.

MAGNETIC PIN HOLDERS: They hold pins all right. Boy, do they hold pins. Trouble is, they won't let go.

PATTERN SPRAY: In theory, it was a terrific idea. You sprayed the back of your pattern piece to make it adhere to your fabric with no pins. However, it adhered only to the top layer of fabric. The layer underneath was left free to move around and give you all kinds of trouble. And, once your pattern had been sprayed, you couldn't fold it up again because it stuck to itself.

SEAM GAUGES: Nothing wrong with a seam gauge. In fact, I can't sew without one, but the new ones are worthless. The metal is so soft, (mine looks like a wooly-worm) and the slider won't stay put. Come on, guys, give us one that works.
