

47-0 Loss To Clarksville Hurts Patriots

By Nanalee Nichols

A muddy field, and an off-night saw the Prairiland Red Pride suffer a 47-0 defeat at the hand of the Clarksville Blue Tigers Friday evening.

Although playing on their own territory, the Patriots just couldn't get it going. The Clarksville bunch came on strong, racking up 420 yards on the ground.

The victory put them just behind Pittsburg, and dropped Prairiland from their 1-1-1 to a 1-1-2 in district play.

Although Prairiland got the ball first, a Davis to Barker pass to the Clarksville 22 failed to materialize.

Clarksville immediately managed to score, and on Prairiland's next drive lost 10 yards.

Another punt from Clarksville, and yet another from the Red Pride, then the Tigers clawed their way down the field for yet another score.

With 14-0 as the score Mike Connot made a 42 yard burst, then the team of Davis and Barker made it to the Clarksville 21. Connot and Craig Gibson made it very close to the end zone, but with a second and goal to go the Clarksville defense managed to keep the Red Pride out.

A pass interception by Darrin Gifford gave the Prairiland team another chance, but they just couldn't manage to move the ball.

Clarksville, unfortunately, could. They made a 76 yard drive to score yet again, and, yet again before the end of the half!

At 28-0 going into the second half of the game it was fair to say that the Red Pride of Prairiland, who have not suffered such treatment this year, were discouraged, wet and depressed.

It didn't get better. With about 2 minutes left in the third quarter the Tiger zeroed in once more for a score.

Paul Binnion recovered a fumble, but once again Prairiland couldn't capitalize on the situation.

With 2:25 left in the fourth quarter Clarksville blasted through again, and with only seconds left the Tigers scored once more.

The final 47-0 score was undoubtedly difficult for the Patriots to absorb...but between now and this Friday night, when the Pats will travel to Mt. Vernon to take on the Tigers there, the Red Pride will be working hard to change their at-

It ought to prove an exciting game, as the Mt. Vernon team will be out for revenge from their defeat earlier this season from the Patriots.

Deport PTA Hears L.C. Stout

The Deport Elementary PTA met Wednesday, October 19 and Mr. L.C. Stout spoke to the group. His talk was on the positive aspects that come from the Prairiland School System. He gave statistics on students who participated on extra curricular activities and received those who received scholarships from the activities.

The public schools have much to offer, he said, and he pointed out that students have more extra curricular activities to participate in in order to develop their particular skills.

The activities include, at Prairiland school, speech, drama, Beta Club, Choral, Journalism, band and various sports.

There are 300 students in high school and 900 including the junior high schools.

The PTA expressed its appreciation to Mr. Stout for his program.

A discussion was held about what the PTA could do for the Deport school. The teachers gave suggestions for purchasing a coat rack for junior high, astro turf for the front porch, gravel for the yard area in front of kindergarten and improved playground equipment.

A study group was selected to learn more about the needs for a playground renovation. The group consists of Sue Jackson, Carol Newberry, Susan Short, Pam Good and Susan Roach.

The PTA discussed activities to get more students involved. The ideas of a musical program for students was discussed. It was mentioned that more time should be spent for studies than entertainment. The PTA still expresses its desire to involve students in worth-while projects.

The attendance was up from the last meeting, but more parents are urged to attend the meetings. Next meeting is on November 16 at 3:30. A guest speaker will be announced at a later date. PTA meetings are held on the 3rd Wednesday of each month unless otherwise stated.

We are being watched...THEY are watching us! That's right, in our small town newspapers, which devote themselves to small town news and events...big business is keeping it's eagle eye out!

What's this all about? Well, it's about a letter I opened first thing off the agenda Monday morning. The letter was from a VERY big manufacturing company....(I'm not going to use names anymore).

It was friendly, polite and very firm in what it had to say.

And what it had to say concerned a school supply list in which a certain article was listed by it's common brand name. Instead of colors, the list named the colors by their brand name...which has almost become synonymous for the word colors over the years.

The letter politely informed the Editor-in-chief (hey, that's ME) that they had noted with pride and appreciation our specification of their product, but then proceeded to explain exactly how it should have been used!

They gently guided me through the "cis...always use a generic term after the brand name...always put the entire brand name in capital letters, etc... They concluded by saying that if we couldn't do all this, to put a capital letter on it and "R" for registered trademark. And, as one last little thing, they requested that the word never be used in plural or possessive form!

All this over a school list that we printed. I didn't know whether to be flattered that they had read our newspaper, or shocked!

Finally we decided on the former...although we always try to be very careful about using brand names, we really did slip up on this one. We have promised not to do so again, and won't, because there is that very uncomfortable feeling that SOMEONE is watching!

Halloween Safety Makes Trick Or Treat Fun

Halloween comes up Monday night...and it is always one of the holidays that children enjoy the most.

Halloween is one holiday that is celebrated strictly for fun. It's origins date back into the mists of time, and were serious originally, but as fear of ghosts, goblins and spirits faded, the fun picked up.

To make sure that youngsters have a safe and happy Halloween, here are some simple rules to follow.

Make certain that youngsters stay in a group. If they are very young, a parent or other adult should go along to supervise.

Be sure that masks or costume headcoverings provide good visibility and good breathing holes.

If youngsters will be trick or treating in the dark it is a very good idea to provide them with light colored costumes, colorful trick-or-treat bags or put reflective tape on their bags.

A lightstick, available at local retail stores, will increase the fun, and provide a margin of safety to after-dark spooks and goblins.

Do not allow children to carry sharp objects, knives, swords and other costume accessories should be made from flexible materials.

If you live in a larger city, allow children to trick or treat only in areas they, and you, are familiar with.

Observing these simple cry of "trick of treat" fun rules can make the happy for everyone!

Young, Guest, Lyles Take Loot

Jimmy Joe Young of Pattonville claimed the first place money from the newspaper football guessing contest this week, with the smallest number of misses so far during the contest Young had only 4 missed games, and had picked New Diana to win 17-6.

The second place money went to Bill Guest, who missed five games and picked New Diana to defeat Rivercrest 17-13. Guest is from Deport.

In third place was Paul Lyles, also missing 5 games and saying New Diana would beat Rivercrest 23-19. Lyles and Guest both missed the tiebreaker, both missed five games, and both said that New Diana would win by a margin of 4 points!

The total amount of points scored in the game was 26, and Guest had a total score of 30 and Lyles a total score of 42...therefore Guest captured the second place money.

This is the first time that the tiebreaker rules have had to be used past the scores of the games.

No one predicted that Paris and Liberty Eyleau would tie.

There are only two more weeks to try your football skills, so better get busy!

Following up without any money, were Todd Davis of Pattonville, and Kay Byndas of Bogata. Both missed 6 games and picked Rivercrest over New Diana 12-6.

Winning teams from last week's contest are: Georgia,

Texas, Clemson, Baylor, Auburn, Texas A&M, Cooper, Mt. Vernon, Liberty Eyleau tied Paris, Arkansas, San Francisco, Tulsa, Clarksville, Notre Dame, Detroit, Tennessee, Raiders, Ore City, Big Sandy, New England, Denver, Pittsburg, Redwater, Oklahoma, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Washington, and Oklahoma State. The tiebreaker was Rivercrest 14 - New Diana 12.

HAUNTED

Footprints From The Past

By John W Hood

I was coming from Paris the other day and I met a big shiny yellow school bus loaded with a very excited bunch of young boys and they were all dressed up in their pretty football uniforms on their way to play a game of football and I knew just how they felt. They were the best that ever was and they could beat any one. They were all laughing and talking about how they were going to beat the other team or that is what we used to think when we were on our way to play a game that we had practiced for all week. All the dirty work was done and now we were going to have some fun and come home winners. There was one or two things that I noticed that was different from them and us when I played. We did not have nice uniforms and very seldom was there more than two of them alike as we had to buy our own uniforms and we did not have a big pretty school bus to travel in. We had to settle for any way that we could get to travel to the game. That was one of the Coaches biggest problems. Sometimes we would get some of the fans to carry two or three to the game in their car and when we were really lucky enough we had enough money in the treasure to hire us a big semi-truck to go in.

If we were really lucky we could get Mr. Weaver Skaggs to rent us his truck and his oldest son J.D. would drive us. When it was cold or raining we would put a big canvas tarp over a long pole that would fasten to the front end gate and then the other end would fasten to the rear end gate and that way we could keep dry if it was raining and we had the side boards and the tarp to help keep us warm.
We all just loved it when we got to go in the truck as that meant that all of us would get to the game at the same time and besides we would talk J.D. and the coach into stopping at the Red River to get something to eat. One reason that we wanted to stop at the river was that they had some punch boards where you could win prizes.
Well we stopped and while we were eating one of the boys got carried away and he got the board and all the prizes and hid them in the truck so we could not win any prizes but after we had ate and were on the way home he got the punch board out and began giving all of us one of the prize I think that I got a comb or something like that anyway one of my good friends got a knife and the next Monday at practice the coach got us all together and he wanted to know who had taken the punch board. Of course, all us denied it and the coach told us that the man who runs the place had wrote him a letter and said that he was missing the board as we were the only ones who were in that night that he knew that some of us had taken it and all he wanted was the board back with all the prizes or whatever it would take to replace it in other words send him the board with all the prizes or enough money to pay for it or he was going to file charges on us. That really got our attention and we got busy and raked up enough money to pay for the board. I don't remember what it cost but I do know that it was all the money we had. He never knew who took the board and still doesn't but I do know that it did teach all of us a good lesson and that was not to take anything that was not ours.

Sometimes we would go way up in Oklahoma to play some teams and they would give us $50 to $80 to come up and play them. We all liked it when we got payed to play as it meant that the coach would buy all of us either a hamburger or a bowl of chili on the way home. It did not bother us that we always got the stuffs beat out of us for we always thought that we could beat them and that we seldom did, but they had to show us for we thought that

Weekly Agricultural Update

"Winter pastures can be the least expensive source of providing feed for your livestock," said Soil Conservationist, Steve R. Smith. Many cooperators in the Red River County Soil and Water Conservation District are extending their grazing periods by planting winter pastures. When planning for winter pasture production, each land-owner should consider the types of soil on his farm. Then, the types of grasses and legumes that are best adapted to those particular soils, the fertilizer needs, the total forage needed, and the type of management he or she can provide.

Most farmers and ranchers in Red River County have several different soil types, and each soil has its own potential for production of grasses and legumes. Oats, rye, ryegrass, wheat, crimson clover, and arrowleaf clovers are adapted to most upland soils. Fescue and white clover are adapted to most bottomland soils that are not too wet.

Legumes grown in combination with pastures declined in the early to middle 70's. "However, since the cost of fertilizer has risen and the price of cattle is down, there is a great need for producing good quality forage," said Smith.

E.D. Reed, a landowner in Reeds Settlement, is planting ryegrass as his winter pasture. Reed is overseeding his bermuda grass pastures with ryegrass, where he expects to reduce his hay needs and the expense of feeding hay during the winter months.

Robert Smith of Clarksville, is one of many cooperators who have well established fescue and clover pastures. He has cut down on hay cost and needs by planting fescue and clover.

These clover-grass pastures produce a higher quality forage. Clovers reduce the need for nitrogen fertilizer on grass pastures. This nitrogen can be used by warm season grasses, like bermuda grass, and cut down on the cost of nitrogen.

White clover is the top producer of nitrogen, and it can produce up to 200 pounds of nitrogen per year. White clover grows well through the winter and gives considerably early and late spring growth. Crimson clover will produce earlier than white clover. However, arrow leaf clovers may give more late spring and early summer grazing than either white or crimson clover.

Before seedbed preparation is started for winter pastures, warm season grasses should be grazed or mowed close. Adequate amounts of fer-

HEALTH HINTS

Colds are spread by contact—not through the air—according to Ernst Zander, M.D., Vice President, Medical Affairs of Lehn & Fink, a division of Sterling Drug Inc. "It is becoming more accepted that hand to hand contact, or hand to contaminated surface contact, and then rubbing the eyes or probing the nose is one principal mode of cold virus transmission.

American Viewpoints

Human nature will not change. In any future great national trial, compared with the men of this, we shall have as weak and as strong, as silly and as wise, as bad and as good.

Blossom Methodist Family A-Fair Set

The First Methodist Church in Blossom will take on a carnival atmosphere this Saturday, October 29, when the church hosts the Family A-Fair.

It will be a day filled with activities for the whole family. There will be sporting events, a car wash, an auction, a film festival, arts and crafts to purchase and plenty of food, all of it home cooked.

The day will begin early with a volleyball tournament, involving 11 teams. The tournament starts at 8 a.m. and will continue throughout the day with teams from throughout the area competing. There will also be a ping pong tournament for the youth.

"The concept is to have a day full of activities for the family," Rev. Jerry Putnam, pastor of the church, said. "It is a fair with the emphasis being placed on family. We have activities to involve everyone and the food will certainly please everyone."

Church members are currently selling tickets for the barbecue meal. It will consist of beef, beans, potato salad, bread and rolls and desserts—all home made. Ice tea is also included in the price of the meal which is $4 for adults and 3.50 for children.

"We are urging everyone to get tickets prior to Saturday so we'll have a fairly accurate count," Rev. Putnam said, "but anyone who is hungry can purchase the meal on Saturday."

For further information concerning tickets call Rev. Putnam at 982-6221 or Mrs. Clara Gardiner at 982-6404.

Gas ranges keep temperatures under control.

Almost all great chefs insist on natural gas ranges. Because gas gives them temperature control, par excellence.

The low flame keeps even the most delicate sauces warm without burning them. While the high flame gives immediate, intense heat for a rapid boil.

And when the flame is off, it's off! There's no hangover heat to spoil the creation.

But control isn't the only reason they cook with gas. Gas saves money. In fact, you can cook 1 1/2 meals on a high-efficiency gas range for the cost of cooking one on a non-gas range.

So get more for your money and get a gas range for your home. Today. We promise you, you'll be in better control of your temperature.
