

Red Pride Falls To District Champ Pittsburg

By Thomas Nichols
The District 13AA Champs, the Pittsburg Pirates, slammed the door on the 1983 Prairiland Patriot football season in an emphatic manner last Friday night, leaving a bruised, battered and injury riddled Red Pride to nurse their feelings over a 60-12 defeat.

Connott all on the injured roster, the Patriots still showed a remarkable determination and spirit. Halfway through the first quarter, with the lightning fast Pirates 14 points ahead, hopes for a Patriot win were few, but determination to perform in the best manner was still strong. Early in the second quarter a very confident backup quarterback, Scott Scudder, connected with Vern Barker for a beautiful 32 yard touchdown play. The Pirates managed to block the point after attempt, and the gap had closed a little. The Pirate's number 1 was soon romping and rolling over and around everybody for two more touchdowns during that long second quarter. It sometimes seemed that the agile runner was equipped with sonar detection that enabled him to anticipate what someone intended to do before they did it.

With fine performances by both the Pittsburgh Band and the Prairiland Band for a half-time spirit booster, the Red Pride came back in the third quarter, only to find that the top-ranked Pittsburg team seemed able to score at will, as they raced downfield for yet another TD. The Patriot fans had a moment to cheer late in the third as Craig Gibson simply put on a burst of speed to race past everyone for a seventy five yard touchdown play that brought fans to their feet. In a game that was out of reach in the win category, the Patriots seemed determined to play with spirit and courage...and several seniors certainly played their last game with style! Darrin Gifford had an outstanding night with two interceptions, 5 tackles and a fumble recovery to his credit for the evening.

Craig Gibson, yet another senior, came up with 9 carries for a whopping 102 yards and one TD. Heard Coach Chet James expressed no disappointment in the season. "We knew we had a rebuilding year ahead of us at the start, after losing so many seniors". He mentioned that the first game against Mt. Vernon, the Willsboro game and the tie against North Lamar were high points of the season.

Next year will see several changes in the season, as Prairiland, and all other teams in District 13-AAA will have an eight team district. Added to the district will be number-one ranked Daingerfield, DeKalb, and Paul Hewitt, while Willsboro will move south and no longer be in the district. This should make District 13-AAA extremely strong district next year, and that will be in all sports, not just football. Pre-season games are scheduled with Rivercrest, Wolfe City, and Cooper, and there will be seven district games instead of five.

Malone, Sessums And King Claim Last Week's Money

The last series of football games have appeared in the newspaper football contest, with the largest participation ever in the contest. Taking the $12 first place money this week is a newcomer, Rita Malone of Pattonville, and another new winner, Woody Sessums of Blossom took the $7 second place loot. Lee King of Bogata claimed third prize. Malone missed only 5 games and picked Rivercrest to win 13-6. Sessums missed 6 games and picked Rivercrest 24-0. King missed 6 games and picked Rivercrest 27-7. Jeff Morrison, also from Blossom, missed 6 games also, but was out of the prize money position.

No one mis-predicted the Rivercrest win, and nobody thought that TCU could tie Texas Tech. During the course of the football contest $240 in prize money was paid out. Entries totaled over 500 and enjoyment seems to have been highly ranked too. Winners for last week's games were: Rivercrest 34ComoPickton 0, Quitman-Rams, Tampa Bay, Dallas, Brigham Young, Green Bay, Pittsburg, Auburn, Detroit, Nebraska, Baylor, Alabama, Richmond, Big Sandy, Cincinnati, Texas, North Lamar, Georgia, Raiders, Clarksville, Baltimore, TCU and Texas Tech tied, Miami, Seattle, Edgewood, Maud, New Diana, Washington, SMU.

HAND OFF-Scott Scudder hands the ball off to Tony Duncan, (45) in a yardage making play against the District Champs, Pittsburg. The Patriots played with several out on the injured list, but with great determination and spirit in spite of their 60-12 defeat. (Staff Photo)

Anyone else out there having a problem with fulfilling all your duties? Every now and then it seems that things just pile up until the top of the heap is so remote it seems an impossible goal? Well, welcome aboard! Having just recently picked up an old newspaper to discover a month's unpaid water bill, an unanswered letter and an un-ordered replacement part for a machine, the idea that things were slipping a little occurred to me. But further examination revealed that things were really about normal...it just doesn't usually happen at the office! At home there are always projects sitting around waiting to be finished...anyone else have a craft kit started but not finished in the last several years? How about a workshop hobby project all laid out, with the tools hanging right there to work on it...but it just doesn't ever seem to be the right time to do it? When fall comes and the seed catalog and landscaping books come in...do you draw up diagrams and make a resolution. That the yard next year is going to be perfect? But when spring comes there are always sooooo many more things waiting to be done instead? Or do you have a piece of furniture that has been earmarked for refinishing for years...but it's serving pretty well as is? Well...take heart...it seems, according to a recently conducted poll by the newspaper staff (guess who) that you are a part of the vast majority, not the minority. I'm sure that there are some self-satisfied folks out there smugly smiling that they've got everything done on schedule and precisely as planned. All there is to be said is...okay...that's great...but for most of us it just won't work! So don't feel so bad...remember...there are about as many undone things waiting as there are completed projects in this old world...it kinda gives you something to look forward to.

RECOGNITION-several people were recognized or presented awards at the last football game of the season at Prairiland. Band members Joel Birch and Sam Armstrong received recognition as seniors, Kim Anderson was presented a special award for "Special efforts and contributions" and Band Majorettes Staci Risinger and Lisa Leonard were awarded for their outstanding leadership. EATING- the Deport Volunteer Firemen had barbecue and all the trimmings Monday night, and saw a demonstration by the Lamar County Fire Marshal at their meeting. Ye Ole Smokehouse catered the meal, and around eighteen attended.

Lady Pats Place Fourth In District Volleyball Competition

By Penny Edwards
The 1983 Volleyball season has come to a close with the Lady Pats coming in with a fourth place all-around showing in this years district competition.

After a disappointing defeat by the Mt. Vernon Tigers, the season, for all practical purposes was over for the Patriot fems. "We put ourselves in a have to win situation", quoted Rita Salters, "and when you play under that kind of pressure...it can be very hard on any athlete". The Patriots traveled to face the North Lamar Pantherettes for the last Lady Pat game of the season. "We had nothing to lose, but they did. They were defeated. We could hurt them but they couldn't hurt us. That was the attitude we had when we played them." Quoted one of the patriot players "I think we played good ball. We didn't win the game, but we are winners in our own right. We've done things this year that has never been done in volleyball in the history of Prairiland."

The Lady Pats have a reason to be proud of their long awaited accomplishments. The Patriot fems beat Clarksville for the first time, and they also won the first trophy ever to have been won for volleyball. "We have finally brought something home to show for our hard work and maybe this (the trophy) will spark interest for volleyball in future Patriots."

"By no means are we leaving in style, because we have down something, that we personally can be proud of."

Draft Horse Seminar Set At PJC

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood

Sometimes it takes very little to get a person to thinking about the past and as I was cooking some steaks on the grill today I got to thinking about when I was a small boy and into my early teens and how on a cold winter night Mother would put some sweet potatoes in some coals from the fire place and let them bake there while she would make some bread and put it in the dutch oven to bake. If you are too young to know what a dutch oven is I will tell you that it is a big old iron thing that looks like a big frying pan except that it has three short legs and a heavy iron lid that is built up around the edges so it will hold some coals from the fireplace so you can put the pan on some hot coal and put some on the lid so the bread will cook on both sides and if you have never had the good fortune to eat bread cooked in a dutch oven you do not know what you have missed as it bakes the best bread in the world. Well as I was saying Mom would put the sweet potatoes on in the coals then she would put the bread on so they both would be done about the same time and she would get some fresh back bones out of another pot that she had been cooking and then we would have us a meal that was fit for a king or just anyone. Dad always said that it was just what he would have ordered from a restaurant if he had the chance. He said that coming out from a hard day in the cold it was just right to make a hungry man quit work a little early and come home.

I can remember that when we were small that we lived on the farm and Mother had a sister who lived in Detroit and Mother always went to visit her at least once a year and as you had to go by wagon she would stay for a week and as the kids were in school we could not go so Dad would stay and look after us and see to the cooking and that we got off to school on time. I don't know what Dad put in the biscuits that he baked, but he would make up a batch and put them in the dutch oven and let me tell you they were might taste, especially if you had some good sorgum syrup to sop them in along with some good home grown ham and red eye gravy. I don't know how the rest of the kids felt but I was always afraid that we would have to go with Mom and not get any of Dad's good biscuits besides we got to do some things that we were not allowed to do any other time, like stay up late after we got our lessons. The lessons always came first no matter what after the lessons Dad would tell us stories of the things that he did when he was a small boy. He would also tell us stories of what life was like when his parents were small, how they came to this country when things were not too settled and how you had to grow all you had to eat and had to spin the most of your clothes with a spinning wheel, tan your own leather and make your shoes.

I could sit and listen to the tales he would tell and try and imagine what they were like then and just see me being chased by some big old bear of hiding from a band of Indians who were on the war path and just looking for some little boys scalp.

When it got time that we had to go to bed we would all sleep in the same room as we were afraid to go into the other room to sleep.

Shady Grove-the Shady Grove Methodist Church, located on a quiet country road south-west of Pattonville, has served the area as a spiritual center for many, many years. A short history of the church appears in the paper this week. (Staff Photo)

Shady Grove Church Has Long History Of Service

The Shady Grove Methodist Church has a long and honorable history. It was the first Lamar County Property to be deeded to a church, and is still an active, sturdy church today.

The following is an account of the origins of the church.

On the fourteenth day of December, 1847, Turner B. Edmonson and his wife, Ann Eliza Edmonson, executed a deed to a tract 25 X 47 poles, which the deed recites included the Shady Grove Camp Ground.

Trustees in that deed who received and held the property of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, were John H. Crook, George S. Bonner, George W. Stell, Jr., John Cashier, Lancelot Chunn, William H. Newland, and James Nicholson. This deed was recorded in Deed Book of Deeds, Pages 201 and 202 of Lamar County Deed Record.

Of the trustees who held the property when the church was thus organized were John H. Crook, afterwards County Judge of Lamar County is well known to all of the older citizens of the county and who now sleeps in the graveyard at Shady Grove. George S. Bonner, who then lived near where the village of Pattonville now stands, afterwards moved to Paris and lived on South Eighteenth Street near the Clem Lumber Company. George W. Stell, Jr. was a son of Mayor Stell and, as the writer, remembers, married and settled in Delta County where some of his descendants still reside. Of John Cashier, nothing is known, and inquiry among the older people does not furnish any information. The mention of his name, however, may be the means of gathering further information concerning who he was and where he lived. Lancelot Chunn lived west of Brushy on Tollett Prairie and died there. His son, Carrol Chunn, who was a Forty-Niner, came back from California in the early 80's and remained for a time in that community and afterwards died two or three miles northeast of Paris. Of Williams H. Newland, inquiry has developed nothing that would indicate who his descendants are and just where he lived. James Nicholson lived on the lower end of Tollett Prairie in the neighborhood of Houndshel settlement, and he was one of those who pursued the Indians when Mrs. Fetherstone and A Negro slave woman killed by them in that community. There were two of the Nicholson brothers, and the best information the writer has been able to secure is that both of them moved away, probably in the 50's. At least nothing of their descendants seems to be known among the older people of the community.

Preaching was not held at that point except during the summer months, and that was called the meeting season.

Those who were patrons of the Camp Meeting lived in rude structures covered usually with brush or wagon sheets for protection and privacy. The distances were so great, and the mode of travel so slow that it was found far more convenient to camp for a week or ten days than to go back and forth over long hot and dusty roads in attendance upon the meeting.

The first building constructed for church purposes was a log structure. It performed the services of both a school house and church. Numbers of older citizens are still living who attended school until the close of the Civil War, but shortly afterwards as soon as the community recovered from the shock of war, a plain log structure, and that was used as a place of worship until four or five years ago, 1923, it was moved about 125 yards east it was repaired and changed in a way to render it more modern and comfortable. This took place while the Rev. Carlton was serving as pastor of the church.

In the year 1955, this structure was torn away, and the present church building erected.

The Nose Knows.

An aromatic chemical is added to natural gas to give it a distinct odor. One that's easy to detect.

It's this distinct odor and knowing what to do when you detect it that keeps gas safe.

If you're outdoors and smell gas, you should call your local Lone Star Gas office.

If you're indoors and detect faint whiffs, check to see if a pilot light has gone out or a burner valve has been left partially open. These are corrective steps you can take yourself.

If your equipment is working properly and you still smell gas, please follow these precautions:

1. Don't switch anything electrical on or off. Don't strike a match or do anything that could cause a spark.
2. Have everyone leave immediately, leaving door open to help ventilate.
3. Go to a nearby phone and call Lone Star.

Help us keep natural gas one of the safest energies available. Use your nose. Then use your head... and follow the proper precautions.

(Just a reminder: Before you do any digging, call your local Lone Star Gas office so they can inform you on pipe locations.)

GIRL SCOUTS-Members of Girl Scout troop 98 from Blossom are trying out their whittling skills. They learned about the proper care and handling of a pocket knife as part of the Outdoor Odyssey held recently at Camp Gambill in Paris.

Blossom Girl Scouts Attend Odyssey

Outdoor odyssey, an opportunity for cadette and senior Girl Scouts from the Red River Valley Girl Scout Council to explore the basics of primitive camping, was held at Camp Gambill in Paris recently.

Attending the weekend event from Blossom were: Angie Smith, Christy Kent, Melissa McQuatters, Melissa Grissom, Karen Lee, Tammy Smith, Tammy Jordan, Stacey Burchinal, Rachel Chumbley, Kim Brown and their leaders, Terri Smith and Debbie Kent, troop No. 98.

The primitive campsite program began at 1 p.m. Saturday. Participants visited various locations throughout the campsite and learned such things as choosing a campsite and pitching a tent, basic firebuilding, and various methods of outdoor cooking.

The proper use and care of small tool craft was demonstrated by Boy Scouts of the NeTseO Trails Council. Other demonstrations included basic knots and lashing, cleaning and preparing raw food and primitive campsite sanitation.

After supper, cooked by the girls on vagabond stoves, a member of the Sierra Club presented a program on the preservation of our environment. The girls were also instructed on the importance and awareness of international distress signals and proper procedure for handling emergency situations such as fire, flood, electrical storm, tornado and lost or injured campers.

Sunday morning, following an ecumenical outdoor religious service, the girls learned about orienteering (compass reading) and how to disassemble a campsite without leaving a trace. Volunteer Program Consultant for this event was Jackie Wood, senior G.S. troop advisor from Paris. Other community members who contributed to the event were Duane Boydston, Program Director of the Sierra Club, Lone Star Chapter, Wayne Frey, EMT instructor from Paris Junior College, Mike Cluts, psychologist with the Carl Albert Mental Health Clinic in Idabel, Richard Rast, biology teacher at Prairiland High School, Patsy Johnson, who led the devotional service, Judy Gabucci, registered nurse who acted as camp nurse for the event, Mark Massey who taught knots and lashing and orienteering, Jeff Arnold, Chuck Bush, Robert Matison, scoutmaster John Currin and troop committee

Use Energy Wisely...

Insulate

Adequate insulation helps pay for itself in long run savings on energy costs and it's the number one way to save energy all year round. Every floor, ceiling, and wall that joins an unheated or uncooled area needs to be insulated to prevent summer heat gain and winter heat loss. If your home already has insulation, check to see that it has the recommended "R" value for this area. Adding just enough insulation to meet the recommended "R" value for this area will help make your home comfortable and energy efficient at the same time. For more information on insulation for your home, call our office for all the details.

Brownies Have Hay Ride, Make Float Plans

By Loretta Emmons
Christmaas thought: abound in the heads of little Brownies as they prepare ideas for their float for the Deport Christmas Parade. They made plans, talked and worked towards their float.

refreshments and anticipation. Girl Scouts Founders day was celebrated last Saturday by second and third grade Brownies with a hay ride Saturday afternoon. Jo Ann Cooper provided a trailer, hay and the truck to pull the whole assemblage. They all met at the Deport Park and traveled over many back roads through Minter, Cunningham and back. After arriving at the park they had hot dogs, a marshmallow roast and scavenger hunt. When darkness fell they went on another short hay ride through the cemetery which stirred up thoughts of ghosts and spooks. The brownies enjoyed the outing, and thanks are expressed to all the leaders who assisted.

Gas dryers maintain one's appearance for less.

Saving money is important. For everyone. That's why natural gas dryers are the preference for those who know. They cost less to operate than non-gas models. In fact, high-efficiency gas dryers dry about three loads of wash for the cost of drying one in a non-gas dryer. And gas dries clothes faster. And it makes them feel soft and fluffy. So get more for your money and get a gas dryer for your home. Today. After all, in these times, looking one's best for less is something everyone can appreciate.

Lone Star Gas Company Get more for your money. Get a gas dryer for your home.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP

How can you judge the capabilities of someone who engages in carpentry or paper hanging as a sideline? Do they generally charge less for their work?

The individual who drives a truck or hangs wallpaper when he or she isn't teaching school or clerking in a hardware store may have started out as a paper hanger or interior decorator. They may engage in the "sideline" because they need extra income or because they love the work. If they're good at their work, they often charge accordingly. You can ask for references and check with former customers. You can ask the price that will be charged. The important thing is to be satisfied before you contract for work to be done. If you aren't satisfied, go with an established firm. In fact, check both for references and price before making your decision.

Colored Leaves Abound In Fall

It's a quiet revolution that happens each fall. Slowly but surely Mother Nature goes about painting leaves on trees and shrubs to produce a riot of red, purple, orange and yellow for spectacular fall display.

Just what is taking place is enough to cause even the most avid skeptic to marvel. It's all tied to chemical processes in leaves as the summer season gives way to fall and the approaching winter.

"Leaves are actually little factories that manufacture food to support a tree's or other plant's growth," points out Alan D. Dreessen, a forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University System.

They are busy producing food during spring and summer, but as fall approaches, their work slows down as temperatures and daylight hours change. Chlorophyll--the green pigment in leaves--breaks down and other pigments, mainly yellows and oranges, become visible and gives leaves their fall splendor.

At the same time other chemical changes are occurring to form additional pigments varying from red to blue, notes the forester. These give rise to purplish leaves on such trees as dogwoods and sumacs and yellow leaves on sugar maple. Some trees, such as quaking aspen, birch and hickory, boast only yellow colors while many oaks and others display predominant brown or bronze leaves.

"Leaf colors will vary greatly from year to year, depending on weather conditions and the amount of chlorophyll and other pigments in leaves," explains Dreessen.

Warm, sunny days in the fall followed by cool nights with temperatures below 45 degrees F. are ideal for the formation of brilliant red colors, he points out. These conditions enable leaves to produce a lot of sugar during the daytime but slow down the movement of these sugars from leaves at night.

Where can one find an abundance of showy fall displays?

The eastern United States and southeastern Canada boast large areas of deciduous (trees that shed their leaves) forests with brown-leaved trees and brown-leaved trees conditions for vivid fall colors, notes the forester. Some mountainous areas of the western U.S. also offer vistas of fall colors along with eastern Asia and southwestern Europe.

While arranging for all the fall leaf colors, Mother Nature is also preparing the twigs that hold leaves to gradually sever themselves from the branches, says Dreessen. When the leaves finally fall, due to their own weight or a sudden burst of wind, they enrich the forest floor, returning part of the nutrients that were used by the tree.

Faded Jeans

Rejuvenate faded jeans by washing them with a pair of jeans that have never been laundered, you'll be surprised how the dye and sizing that wash out of the new jeans add color to the old jeans.

Stress Course Offering

Paris Junior College will offer a course for stress and anxiety reduction through the use of biofeedback instrument training and self-hypnosis, said Lynn Rhodes, counselor at PJC. Purpose of the course will be to teach students to relax and effectively cope with the stress of everyday life, with emphasis on training, not therapy, Rhodes explained.

Classes will be scheduled on an individual basis but the initial class meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, November 7, in the Mink Rheudasil Learning Center of the college. Fee will be $25 for the continuing education course or students may add the course to their schedule for credit.

Reservations should be made by paying the fee in advance in the PJC continuing education office, Alford Center, or seeing Rhodes to register for the credit course.

Biofeedback instruments provide an individual with the opportunity to monitor the on-going physiological processes of the body, thereby inducing relaxation and reducing stress, said Rhodes who will teach the course. Included in the course will be filmstrips on stress and actual training on biofeedback instruments.

Rhodes, who has been working with biofeedback and self hypnosis for four years, explained that this is the only program which works with both methods of relaxation.

Deport UMW Meets

A regular meeting of the Deport United Methodist Women was held on Monday night Nov. 7th in the home of Mrs. Margaret Parks. Opening prayer was offered by the president, Mrs. Juanita Sparks.
 Routine business matters were followed by plans for a stew, salad and dessert dinner to be served Sunday night Nov. 13 to precede the annual charge conference meeting. The district superintendent will preside over this meeting. All members were urged to contact members of the charge churches (Deport, Minter, Cunningham and Pattonville) to plead for attendance for this important time of decision making in our churches. Dinner will be served at 6:00 P.M., the charge meeting will begin promptly at 7:00 p.m. in the sanctuary.
 Plans were discussed for a special Christmas meeting and program.
 Program leader for the night, Mrs. Virginia Kirkland presented an abbreviated review of a book by Allan C. Emery entitled "A Turtle on a Fencepost".
 The meeting adjourned with the Mizpah. A sandwich and dessert plate was served by the hostess to eight members present.
