

Cold, Wet Winter Puts Area Work Behind

By Nanalee Nichols
For those people who don't work in offices and factories, the coming of spring is likely to be very, very busy. That is because winter during 1983-84 has been one of the coldest, and wettest in many years.

Farmers, most of whom have been able to be in the fields preparing for spring planting only three to five days since the last week in November, will be running equipment fourteen and sixteen hours daily when it finally becomes dry enough to begin readying the soil for planting. Construction workers, such as housing builders and road crews are only now beginning to get much done as bitter cold and seemingly almost daily rainfall kept them from finishing much during the months of December, January and

February. In addition, the weather has caused severe damage to a number of area roads. For nearly three weeks, the temperature in December hovered near the zero mark, and during that time huge amounts of the snow and ice were trapped in layers on older, flat roofs common in business districts throughout the area. After repeated freezing and thawing several of the roofs actually collapsed and many, many more have begun to leak. The damage to shrubs, trees and grasses is as yet undeterminable, but appears to be rather severe, as plants not at all accustomed to such bitterly prolonged cold succumbed to the unusual weather. Rainfall is not actually much above normal, that is another peculiar thing.

Instead of large, two or three inch rains, the winter months have been filled with drizzle or showers day after day. And as the weather forecasters begin more hopeful and pleasant sounding predictions, farmers, construction workers, gardeners, and anyone else whose activity is dependent upon reasonable good weather, are smiling and making preparations to begin with the almost staggering amount of work that faces them.

The long, long stretch of muddy weather brings something to the attention. And that something, although not a major impact, is still an irritation to me, and to lots of other people. The subject is four wheel drive vehicles and ditches along farm to market roads! Now, don't get me wrong, I'm all in favor of four-wheel drive....we happen to have one, and it's the greatest thing since mud itself. And they are lots and lots of fun to slide and slip around in. But during a recent swing around Deport, Blossom, Bogata and Talco and the places in between, it became apparent that some folks think that driving behind road signs, through ditches and over highway reflectors is loads of fun. And right now, it probably is. But behind them in the mud are deep, deep ruts, often running for a quarter of a mile or more. And when summer comes and the grass grows deep the mowers are going to have a miserable time of it. In some places the mud is churned up so deep that it will be difficult, if possible at all, for the shredders to go over it. This will result in tall, unsightly areas of weeds and Johnson grass, which very few of us enjoy seeing. Probably not one of these mud devotees has thought of the long term problems created by their bogs, but if they would it would make our roadsides much more attractive. There are always lots and lots of places, muddy roads and good to go "slip sliding" around on without taking the roadsides too. So please, out there, try not to spoil our wildflower filled expanses by creating areas of unsightly mud or weeds. Think about it first okay?

Blossom Wastewater Must Be Improved

The city of Blossom is in desperate need of repairing their wastewater collection system and they must build a new waste treatment plant facility to comply with a court order from the State of Texas. The existing collection is not adequate in many areas of town. Raw sewage is being discharged from some homes into leaky and broken collection laterals and main lines. This has caused serious local groundwater pollution problems as well as a maintenance nightmare for the city. In addition, the city must extend sewer service to low income and minority sections of town. Homes in these areas are presently served by old worn out septic tanks. These have also caused some localized pollution and health problems. The city's existing waste treatment plant is undersized and worn out. It has a capacity for treating wastewater of a town that is one-half the size of Blossom. In fact the city is presently under a court order from the State to demolish the existing plant and to build a new one. According to the court order, the new plant must be in operation by December 31, 1985. The city has been trying to correct this condition for several years. In 1976 the city began preparing a facility plan. This is an in-depth study of the condition and needs of the sewage system by a professional engineer. This facility plan is required for participating in the construction grants program of the Texas Department of Water Resources and the Environmental Protection Agency. This facility plan was submitted to TDWR in May, 1981.

population growth. It will meet all State and Federal requirements. The plant is projected to cost $242,155. The second phase is major repair on the existing collection system. This will include several thousand feet of sewer lines and over twenty man holes. The repairs will eliminate much of the public health problem. This phase also includes the construction of a new transmission main line from the new existing plant to the new one. The costs for these improvements is projected to be $159,050.

Deport Nursing Home Sponsoring Program

The Deport Nursing Home is sponsoring an Inservice Program in conjunction with the State Commission for the Blind, on "The Physical and Psycho-social needs of the Visually Handicapped" on March 9 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at the Deport Nursing Home. Guest speaker for the program will be Daniel Doltery, from the State Commission for the blind in Tyler.

The program will include a film entitled "When you meet a blind person", a presentation on sighted guides, managing mobility problems, feeding techniques and assisting in daily living activities. Also discussed will be causes of blindness, specific eye disorders, followed by an open discussion. The program is presented free of charge and the public is invited to attend.

Raymond Nixon Earns Award

Raymond G. Nixon from Deport, senior agricultural economics major, has earned "Distinguished Student" status at Texas A&M University. Recipients of this honor must earn at least a 3.25 grade point ratio, out of a possible 4.0 during the most recent grading period. The student must also be registered for 15 semester hours.

Therefore, the only way Blossom can implement the needed wastewater improvements that will satisfy the court order, eliminate health problems, and be within their financial capabilities is to scale the 1981 Facility Plan down. This must be reduced to the bare necessities and then to be constructed in phases. The bare necessities involve two major areas of improvements. First, a new treatment plant must be constructed. This is proposed to be on the eastern edge of the city and will require about fourteen acres of land. It will be designed to treat the waste load of about 2,700 people. This is the projected 20 year

Deaf And Hearing To Hold Meeting

The Red River Valley Deaf and Hearing Association will meet at the First Christian Church in Paris on Thursday, March 8 at 7 p.m. Mrs. Dianne Shriver will bring the special education class of deaf children to give the program. They are from Aikins Elementary School.
The February meeting was in the home of Don and Kathy Hall of Reno. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison of the North East Council or Pioneers brought the Minicom II from Mrs. Sue Barnes of Pattonville and demonstrated how deaf persons can talk with one another on the phone.
When the telephone rings in the home of the deaf person, a light flashes to let them know someone is phoning them. The deaf person picks up the receiver and pla es it in the coupler of the Minicom III and types a code signal that the call is being received. The incoming and outgoing messages appear on the display screen. Codes are used to let the other person know when one is finished talking, when they may begin typing, and when one is finished and ready to hang up.

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood
Watching television today they had an article about the upcoming baseball season and it got me to thinking about when I was young and had the urge to play baseball every spring and how I would get together with my friends. We would go to all the merchants in town and try to get them to give some money for us to buy some balls and bats.

Well, we would make all the people who had any kind of business, or anyone else we thought that would help, then we would count our money and sometimes we would have almost $5 or $6 and as that was during the depression, that much money would buy a lot of balls and bats.

Then we would try to find enough kids to play so we would have enough for a team, sometimes we would have more than we could use and sometimes we wouldn't have enough to play. When we were kids we would have to walk to our games so we would have to get someone close by so we would not have to walk so far.

As we got bigger, we would scrounge around until we found some kids who could get their dads car and then we would have to let him play, even if he was no good, but by the time we were teenagers, we would elect someone who had a car or truck to be our manager and that way we always had a way to go to the games.

Bert Grant was one of the managers that we had and he was a good manager and besides, he had a truck big enough for all of us and he would furnish the gas. We had a pretty good country ball team and we would play anyone anywhere, anytime and we also won more than we lost. We got Boyd Jackson to play with us and he was one of our best players and he had a place where we could play.

Every spring we got together with our hoes and met at Boyds to scrape off the infield and measure off the bases and put up the back stop, then we were ready for anyone we could get to come play us.

We used to play a lot of games with Johntown and they had some very good players and we always had to play our very best or we would get beat.

Some we lost, some we won. Some players that I remember as playing for Johntown were the Pirtle boys and the Guess boys and the one that I will always remember was Chick Dryden. He and I always had a long talk when we played at Johntown.

Cunningham was another team we had some good games with, as they also had a very good team.

We also played games with Bogata but not very much for some reason or another. I guess it was because that Bogata and Deport did not get along very well with each other. I think that was because we were both jealous of the other as at that time we were about the same size as far as population and each town was trying to be the best and besides it was some old feud that was started long before my time, but both towns still carried it on like the old time feuds from the Tennessee hills.

Thank good ness both towns have outgrown that kind of stuff and are good neighbors now. Remembering about those days has made me think of some of the boys that I grew up with and had not thought of in a long time.

I sure would like to see some of them again, of course, some are not with us anymore and the rest are scattered all over the U.S., but it would be good to see and talk to some of them again.

Get Roses Ready For Blooming
By Bob Moody
With a little tender loving care, rose plants will provide plenty of beautiful blooms during 1984. While roses are a worldwide favorite, they do require considerable maintenance if they are to be productive. Set out new varieties of bare root plants no later than four weeks before the area's last average frost date. However, container plants can be set out any time. Prune roses in early spring, just as leaf buds begin to swell but not before active growth starts. Because of the severe December freeze, pruning may have to be delayed until actual growth starts. Cut off all winter kill growth and remove any broken or diseased canes. Treat all cut ends with asphalt wound dressing or a drop or two of common white glue to keep insects out, suggests Moody. To promote vigorous green growth of rose plants, broadcast one-half cup of 8-8-8 fertilizer, or an equivalent, around each bush, but at least 12 inches from the trunk. Work the fertilizer into the top inch of soil and water thoroughly. On sandy or infertile soil, fertilize every three or four weeks. Moody recommends keeping several inches of mulch of sawdust, wood chips or peat moss around the plants. And, to control blackspot, a fungus disease, spray plants every week during the summer with benlate, manzate or Funginex.

Women's Aglow To Hear Speaker

The March speaker for Women's Aglow Fellowship of Paris will be Barbara Wentroble of Tyler. The dinner meeting will be Tuesday, March 13 at 6:30 p.m. at the Western Sizzlin Steakhouse on Highway 82 East. Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling 785-7200, 784-0440 or 785-0187.

Barbara and her husband, Dale, were recently ordained and are pastors of Living Word Church in Tyler. They are the parents of three children. Her life was transformed from that of a nominal Christian to a life that radiates the love of Jesus when she received the Baptism of the Holy Spirit. According to Barbara, "it was at this time that my youngest son was healed of rectal polyps."

Barbara has been active in Women's Aglow Fellowship for several years on both local and area levels, including three and one-half years as president of the Northeast Texas area. She speaks at many Aglow meetings and also ministers at churches, retreats, seminars and workshops throughout Texas and frequently in Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Alabama.

All interested women are invited to attend according to Jane Ramsey, president of the Paris Aglow, who added, "many have been saved, filled with the Spirit, healed and set free as anointing of the Holy Spirit".

Lamar County Court Docket

Lamar County Judge Brady Fisher's regular court docket has resulted in the following convictions for this past week: driving motor vehicle while intoxicated, one; assault, one; terroristic threat, two.

Traffic Accident Statistics Released

The following information in reference to motor vehicle traffic accidents for the month of January has been released by Captain J.A. Dumas, commander of the Texas Highway Patrol for the north central Texas area.

For Lamar and Fannin counties of which the area of responsibility belongs to Sgt. Hanna of Paris, area supervisor for the two county area of the Highway Patrol reports that the troopers working the two counties reported the following number of motor vehicle accidents for his two counties for the month of January.

Lamar County troopers reported a total of 16 accidents for the month of which there were no fatal accidents, 4 injury accidents with 8 injuries and 12 property damage accidents. For Fannin County, the troopers reported a total of 3 motor vehicle traffic accidents of which no fatal accidents occurred, 2 injury accidents with 2 injuries and only 1 property damage accident.

Sgt. Hanna would like to take this opportunity to commend the motorists of both counties on their good driving in helping to hold the accident toll down in each of the counties. Good law enforcement and compliance by the motorist has to have a great bearing on the low number of accidents during the month of January, he added.

4H IN FOCUS

Several Lamar County 4-H members traveled to Houston and returned home with excellent results. The Lamar County Livestock Judging Team made their second good showing of the year by placing 10th out of 400 teams. Bryan Tredway received a beef heifer when he was named fifth high individual in the contest out of 1200 contestants. Other team members placing high were Andrea West, Donna Mashburn, Jody Mashburn, Kristy Mashburn, Denise Tredway and Chris Chipman. The team will compete at the District 5 contests in April, so look for more awards. Four county 4-H'ers also returned home with a heifer each for being winners in the calf scramble. Winners were Gina Satcher, Keith Reep, Brandon Cole and Shane Welch. Welch caught the first calf of the contest and was honored with a very nice trophy for this. All these contestants will return next year to show the heifer that they purchase. The National Dairy Heritage Foundation will sponsor a 4-H public speaking contest to be held at the regular District Contests on April 7. Contestants must deliver a 5 to 7 minute speech on the economics of the American

Ag Briefs

By Herb Brevard

Do not plant vegetables and other crops too early, warn specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The temperature of the soil plays an important role in the success of early planting.

Most crops have limited tolerance to low soil temperatures at planting. A sudden change in weather conditions following planting can be detrimental to the crop, particularly a cool, wet spell that can lower soil temperatures drastically.

Soil temperatures are normally taken at a depth of four inches. Average minimum temperatures for planting are: corn, 55 degrees; sorghum, 55 degrees; and soybeans, 70 degrees. Hardy vegetables such as onions, cabbage and potatoes can be planted once soil temperatures range between 45 and 50 degrees while warm season vegetables such as tomatoes, melons, beans and peppers need soil that has warmed into the 60's.

High quality seed should always be used for any crop. The use of fungicides and other seed protectants is also important. Planting in cool soils often leads to poor seed germination and poor crop stands. Plants that do come up often lack vigor for early growth and this opens the door to early season disease and insect attacks.

Soil temperature information is taken at various locations throughout the state and are included in daily agricultural weather advisories issued for each of the regions by the National Weather Services Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University. The advisories are fed into the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration weather wire teletype system to be received by commercial radio and television stations. The advisories are also carried over the NOAA Weather Radio Network.
