Patriots Lead District Play With Wins

The 14th ranked Prairiland Patriots kept their undefeated district record intact Tuesday night as they defeated the DeKalb Bears 53-51 in DeKalb. The game, which saw Prairiland leading at the half 31-24, was the tightest game in district play thus far. With six seconds left in the game, Craig Burns sank a free shot to give Prairiland the lead 53-51. On DeKalb's next possession, the Bears failed to d the victory went to Scott Scudder led the Patriots in scoring with 15 points and Heath Kennedy followed with 12.

In the Lady Patriots game, a Prairiland victory was never in doubt. Prairiland led at the inter-missin 23-16 and went on to win 43-28. Deana Watson and Klarissa Keys each scored 12 points and Jenissa Baker followed with 11.

The Prairiland Patriots continued their success Friday night as they defeated Daingerfield 53-38 on the Prairiland opened the game wiht a quick, three point play by Scott Scudder and never trailed throughout the game. Although Daingerfield recently got two large men off of their football team to play basketball, Daingerfield could not keep Mike Connot off of the boards. With Connot rebounding and Scott Scudder pumpint them in from outside, the Patriots led at the end of the first quarter 13-8.

In the second quarter, the Patriot ball control scheme continued to reap success. Although Daingerfield could pop the nets from outside on occasion, Scudder, Joel Ballard and Heath Kennedy could hit more consistently. Prairiland continued to lay well in the quarter but their lead was cut to 26-22.

In the second half, as has been a season long custom for the Patriots, Prairiland ran away with the game. By throwing precise plays and throwing crisp passes, the Daingerfield team never got out of the starting blocks. Instrumental in the half for the Patriots was point-guard Heath Kennedy. Besides handling the play style of play brought ooh's and aah's from the crowd by diving after numerous loose balls. Kennedy and Mike Connot scored eight points in the half apiece as Prairiland went on to Scott Scudder led the Patriot scoring attack with 16 points and Connot and Kennedy cored 14 and 12 points respectively.

The Prairiland Lady Patriots second half of district record fell to 3-1 Friday night as they lost to a much improved Daingerfield team 43-37.

After Klarissa Keys cut the Daingerfield lead to 3-2 on a nifty inside move, Deana Watson went to work scoring from all over the place scoring 7 out of the next 9 Patriot points. Although Daingerfield possessed a large team, the Patriot finesse worked wonders early. The first quarter ended on an Erin Morgna field goal and the Patriots led 13-10.

The second quarter was dominated by Watson and Klarissa Keys. The duo combined for 9 points int he quarter with five points scored from the charity stripe

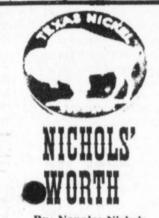

With Daingerfield breathing down their necks, the Patriots led at the half by a mere two points, 22-20.

The third quarter for the Patriots was nothing less than a disaster.

Because of their size, the Patriots could ill afford to commit turnovers. Therefore, when the Patriots did commit turnovers, Daingerfield took advantage and held the Patriots to six points in teh quarter. The quarter ended on a field goal by Tammy Owen and the Patriots trailed 33-28.

In the final quarter, Prairiland's press worked well and allowed the Patriots many chances to catch up. However, things did not fall into place and the Patriots could never cut the lead to fewer than four points. Daingerfield shot much better from the free throw line in the last few minutes and they went on to win 44-37.

Watson led the Patriot scoring with 20 points and Klarissa Keys added

Challenger is gone. Exploded high above earth, in an environment most of us will never know

The words slip from the tongue easily....tragic, heartbreaking, awful, horrible.

But as a veteran space program watcher, growing up with the advent of satellites, space shots, moon walks and all the tension that goes with it, there are other words I feel compelled to use....worthy, honorable, in pursuit of a purpose. Those words, while a cold comfort to the family and friends of the dead, still make their loss notable

As usual, tragedy takes its toll when we least suspect it. After years of sitting with clenched fists while huge rockets hurled space bound people aloft in their fragile craft, it was a greater shock to hear of the astronauts who burned in their capsule during training.

And today, when the space shuttle launches had become almost routine, when "ordinary" people such as the teacher, aboard Challenger, were part of the space program, it was an even greater shock for a nation to sit before their televisions in norrifled silence and look at the graceful, swift shuttle explode into debris and death. To die, as so many have before them, in the pursuit of knowledge, of a better world, is perhaps the most honorable of deaths.

They are a symbol to this nation...or should be. For although the reason for the accident may be revealed to be pathetically trivial, or may remain unknown forever, the loss of life through exploring the unknown is a reason honorable enough for anyone.

There will be people who say such loss is unnessary. Indeed, there are those who see no reason for a space program at all. But, aside from the wonders of modern technology which have found their way into our daily lives as a result of the program, there is another reason for it.

The spirit of quest, that driving desire to see and know more of lands, of worlds, of galaxies, that spirit is one of the reasons man is more than beast. The spirit of discovery, the pursuit of knowledge...to die for that is not to die all... not to d

Reader's Being Heeded

A number of readers took the time to fill out the questionnaire and suggestion box in the paper about what they liked and didn't like.

We appreciate each and every response, and there are suggestions we will be heeding.

One of the complaints we received was that the TV schedule print was difficult to read. We will be working to enlarge it here at the main office within the next week or two, and hope it will help. The previous service was so unreliable and unpredictable that we discontinued it, even though it was

Several people wrote that they wanted to see "every little thing covered". We would like nothing better. But our staff cannot possibly cover what they don't even know is happening. All it takes to get an upcoming event, write-up or picture in the paper is a phone call to the ap-

Sam G. Whitten Dies At Age 62

Flags were flown at half-mast at the University of Texas in Austin in observance of the death of Sam, G, Whitten, Associate Professor in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science, who died Monday, January 20.

Born in Bogata in 1924, he had a many-faceted career as librarian, educator, leader in professional library associations, bibliophile and advocate of civil rights and intellectual freedom.

After receiving the master of Library Science degree in 1962, at the University of Texas, he was librarian at the San Antonio Public Library, University of Texas, Dallas Public Library and Southern Methodist University. In 1967 he joined the University faculty. He served the Texas Library Association in many capacities, notably as its president in 1968-69, as a member of its Legislative and Planning Committee, and as a member of the Political Action Committee Executive Board association named him Texas Librarian of the Year.

He also held numerous offices in the American Library Association, including Councilor at Large and member of the Intellectual Freedom Round Table Executive Boad. He was one of the chief authors of the Texas Library Systems Act of 1969, and served on the State Advisory Board to the Texas State Library in its administration of the Federal Library Services and Construction Act. He was a former member of the Board of Trustees of the Austin Public Library and the Advisory Board of the Centrla Texas Library System:

He was a noted collector of Texas books and speaker on book collecting and Texas history and literature.

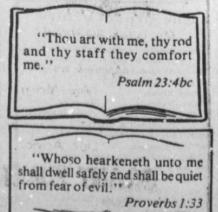

The esteem in which his students held him was evidenced by their choosing him as sponsor of their student association since the time of its inception. He was a wise counselor and had strong personal interest in their welfare, both as students and as practitioners.

He is survived by his wife, virginia; his children, Lynn, Jeff, Jill and Holly; a sister, Cleone Sullivan of Port Arthur; and brothers, William R: Whitten of Port Aransas and Clovis Whitten of Conway, AR; nieces Glenda Corbell and Carol Ward, both of Bogata.

Memorial services were held Friday, January 24 at 3 p.m. at the University Methodist Church. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to the Sam Whitten Scholarship in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science. Checks should be made payable to the GSLIS Foundation and noted as being for the White ten Scholarship. The school's address is EDB 564, the University Texas Austin, TX 78712-1276.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Corbell for Bogata and Randy Corbell of Commerce attended memorial services for Mr. Whitten in Austin on Friday, January 24.

Deport Presbyterian Women Meet

Presbyterian Women of the Deport The Presbytery also sponsors the Good Shepherd Day Center in Oak Presbyterian Church met Tuesday, January 14 in the home of Mrs. John

Mrs. Donnie Wright, vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Farris Read, president.

Mrs. Wright gave the Mission Yearbook of Prayer, discussing the work being done in Central America by Rachel and Dennis Smith. She said if you want to see Christ at work in the world today, go to Central America.

During the business meeting, Mrs. John Moore, treasurer, gave the financial report for 1985, stating the yearly pledge of Missions and had been met, and extra gifts were sent to White Cross, Least Coin, Presbyterian Children's Home, Thank offering and Summer Medical Miss Edith Fuller gave the devotion of the Least Coin. The scripture was John 14:27 and Matthew 5:9, which stressed the importance of striving for peace. She gave a prayer asking for women to be channels of peace.

These offerings were collected. Mrs Rice gave a report on the committee of Presbytery Ministries of which she is a member. She stated that Grace Presbytery is sponsoring a shelter for street people in Dallas, a shelter for battered women and childrne in Oak Cliff. The Episcopal Church is a co-sponsor in this project.

Mrs. Robert Temple introduced the Bible Study for th eyear, "Weaving the Fabric of Faith". This is a study of the Apostles' Creed, written by Johanna W. Bos, who is a native of the Netherlands and an ordained Presbyterian minister.

Mrs. Temple stated the purpose of this creed is to remind us of what we affirm when we call ourselves

She discussed Chapter I, "I believe in the holy Catholic Church; the communion of saints". The word "holy" means dedicated first and foremost to God, and the saints are simply the people who live this life of dedication. The meeting closed with the Mizpah

Mrs. Moore, assisted by Mrs. Ray Woodard, served coffee and assorted cakes to the ten members present.

"I will hear what God the Lord will speak: for he will speak peace unto his people." Psalm 85:8ab

Griffin Recalled "Pinky"

Several people sent in or pointed out the column written by Bob St. John about a former Deport resident, Pinky Griffin. It appeared in the Dallas Morning News on January 12 of this year. Pinky is the son of the late Jim and Jessie Griffin, longtime Deport residents, and Pinky is remembered not only for his baseball skills, but football too. The Bogata Bulldogs dreaded coming up against him in football, although they usuall-

Memories went back to the time when James A. "Pinky" Griffin and Bessie Lee Lake were married and stood at home plate when the park had a special day for them before a Paris Red Peppers game in the real live professional baseball East Texas There was an SRO crowd of maybe 3,000 at the park, and as was the custom in those days when somebody did something special such as hitting a home run or getting married, they 'passed the hat" taking up a collection for the popular second baseman and his bride "Boy," I thought, as any fourth or fifth grader watching might have done, "one of these days I'll play real live professional baseball and get me a pretty little girl like that and marry her at home plate."

Pinky Griffin, one of my boyhood idols, showed me his marriage picture the other afternoon. Bessie and Pinky were young and handsome and Pinky was wearing his baseball

I had recognized Pinky, now 66, immediately, although I had not seen him for almost 40 years. He had the same gait, as if he were about to get into position to pick up a ground ball, and the same reddish hair and face. The only problem was that I'd remembered him as being maybe 7 or 8 feet tall and he was only 5-8, 5-9, not even as tall as I was. I guess he got shorter a lot quicker than I got taller. Pinky retired as a school teacher in Sulphur Springs last year and was sitting in hi sliving room, talking to a neighborhood kid who was feeling a little sick and had come over to see him. The kid smiled and was at ease. I wasn't surprised because Pinky always had time for kids when he played for the Paris team in, first, the East Texas League (Class C) in 1946 and then the Big State League (Class B) in 1947-48.

Minor League baseball was booming after the war and Tex had, besides the ones mentio Texas League, Texas-Arizona League, the West Texas-New Mexico League and the Longhorn League. Once the Red Pappers drew a full crowd on the last day of the season when they were busy finishing near the bottom of the standings.

"That's what you did during the summer then," said Pinky. "Well, you could go to the picture show, listen to the radio or go to the baseball game. I guess television helped kill! most of the minor leagues...that and the Little League. People started going to see their kids play ball instead of us, which is the way it should have been. But those were great times, special times for those of played the game. That first year they paid me $100 a month and 40 cents a meal," said Pinky. "I thought that was pretty good, getting paid for playing ball." Forty cents wasn't bad money then. For instance, I figured you could skip the meal and buy eight RC colas with the 40 cents. I had the same colored hair and complexion as Pinky so I got to be him when we'd play ball on the vacant lot or school ground. They even called me "Pinky" and I liked that, and it was all right that his average stayed around 360 because he always tried hard. have a nice
