

NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

My family has gone on to tour more of the United States now, and soon will be home in England once more.

We had a lovely time, introducing them to Texas, and learning about life in another country.

Most of us are aware that we have a much higher standard of living than the average third world nation...but perhaps are not so aware of the differences between ourselves and a civilized nation like England.

Here is a short list of some of the things that make a difference in our lives and theirs:

My guests worried constantly about the electric bill. A fan, or lights left on, bothered them. The air conditioner quite stunned them.

They used to use the electric clothes dryer because of the wastefulness of it. The average Londoner does not own a washer and dryer, and they don't run down to the nearest laundromat either. Instead, they wash in their bathtub, using a little spin dryer to wring them out, hanging the laundry out of window lines or in the kitchen during the frequent rainy spells.

Hot water heaters do not provide hot water all the time for them...but have timers that provide heated water for about two hours, during which time bathing and laundry is done. It is simply too expensive to operate one all the time.

Phones are a luxury, and so is warmth in winter! Many gas meters accept coins, and when the coins run out, so does the heat.

The average senior citizen doesn't keep overly warm in winter, and lives in one room to conserve heat.

The idea of almost everyone owning a car, or of a family of two adults owning two vehicles was startling to them. When they discovered how many high school students take cars to school, they were completely overwhelmed.

They shop with little carts and walk miles and miles. Driving a few blocks between stores seemed funny to them.

Bread and margarine seem to be about the only cheap foods, although meat is eaten, it isn't consumed in the quantities we eat it.

Salaries are low in comparison to ours. A highly trained computer operator makes about the equivalent of $175 per week before taxes. Compare that to our computer personnel!

Most refrigerators are small, many have no freezer at all. Shopping is done on a daily basis.

They find things in the U.S. rather "dear" (expensive) and wonder how people can afford so very much.

They find the standard of living amazing. The simple frame houses that we accept as a normal part of life they find luxuriously large, with lawns and gardens hundreds of times bigger than theirs.

Very little property is privately owned, most rental is through the council, a form of the government.

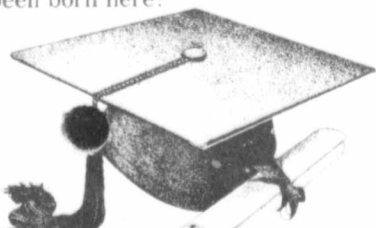

Buying a house is expensive and quite beyond the means of the average wage earner.

They are people just like us, with the same dreams, the same hopes as we have. The big difference, it seems is in the attainability of those dreams.

For the average American, things sometimes seem a little rough. Owning a big home, a new car, requires a lot of work.

For the average English citizen, those things require more than a little work...they require years and years of waiting, hoping, filling out forms and then, more than likely, doing without.

Believe me, the American dream is still alive and well...just ask anyone who isn't privileged enough to have been born here!

Deep In The Heart...Of Texas

By Britt T. Morgan

Texas-Deep in the Heart of...

What do you think of when you hear the word "Texas"? Do you think of yourself? Do you think of J.R. Ewing? Or maybe Big Tex of State Fair fame? Well, I think of the sunset surrounding a cowboy-hatted figure on horseback riding into it...of high school football capturing the hearts and minds of communities on fall Friday nights and headlines Sunday mornings...of long, rolling hills with wild flowers, scattered trees, a few cows and an oil well breaking the silence of an otherwise quiet scene...of chili cook offs and barbecues on Saturday afternoon before the finals of local rodeos...of a deep breath of fresh air to clear the mind and strengthen a sense of pride that only a Texan can feel. And then I think of the city.

Of Yew-stun (Houston to you Yankees), Dallas (home of J.R.), Ft. Worth (cowntown of Stockyard fame), San Antonio (Remember the Alamo), El Paso (the only Texas city in another time zone), Austin (Gig'em Aggies, no, that's Hook 'em Horns), I see miles and miles of concrete lawns where the trees are planted for beautification purposes and horses and cows are only seen in pictures. The contrast in these two lifestyles is as different as night and day, yet the people that live in these lifestyles share a common bond, they are Texans. To foreigners (that is anyone who lives outside Texas-or who used to) we Texans appear to be "stuck on" our state and our heritage, but that is just pride.

Pride in the largest state in the U.S. (Mainland). Pride in the only state that was once a completely independent country. Pride in the only state that can claim five distinct climates. Pride in boots 'n jeans 'n cowboy hats. Pride in being the friendliest people in the world. (Where else in the world can two perfect strangers carry on a

Prairiland Band Wins First Division

The Prairiland High School Band, directed by Frank Garza earned a "first division" rating Friday at the College of the Ozarks Band Contest in Branson, MO.

The band performed "March Juno" and "Variations Overture" in the competition.

Garza said an invitational Solo and Ensemble Contest also was held May 3 at Prairiland HS and several students received superior and excellent ratings. Eleven high school students, six sixth graders and nine eighth graders were rated "superior" in their solo/ensemble competition, he said, and four eighth graders received "excellent" ratings.

A combined Prairiland Band and Choir Concert will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 22, in the high school gymnasium. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

The Prairiland HS Choir is directed by Rhonda Robbins.

Garza will conduct drum major clinics at East Texas State University and Texas Lutheran College during the summer.

During the trip they heard a high school symphony orchestra perform, attended a live performance of the nationally famous "Shepherd of the Hills" play and went to Silver Dollar City. There they toured Marvel Cave, saw ancient crafts being made, had the chance to eat foods from France, Germany and the British Isles and Spain, and attended some live performances of stage shows and folk music. They enjoyed the beautiful Ozark mountain scenery also.

From this great day forward, may happiness and success reward your efforts, class of 1986.

The Founding of Austin

A.C. GREENE
 TEXAS SKETCHES

Austin alone among Texas cities was founded on beauty, the inspiration of Mirabeau Buonaparte Lamar, an impulsive soldier-poet who became President of the Republic of Texas.

In 1837 when he was vice president under Sam Houston, Lamar decided to take a vacation from both President Houston and the new capital city named for him. There was no love lost between Old Sam and Lamar. Someone suggested Lamar hunt buffalo on the Colorado River above Bastrop, so with his private secretary, the Reverend Edward Fontaine, he set out for that Indian-haunted frontier. They got an escort of six rangers from Fort Colorado, near the river of that name, and rode beside the Colorado upstream to where Jacob Harrell had created a little stockade settlement he called Waterloo. Harrell welcomed the hunters and early on the morning following their arrival, his young son woke everybody shouting that the prairie was full of buffalo. Lamar brought down the biggest bull any of the hunters had seen, dropping the animal in a valley where Congress Avenue and Seventh Street would someday cross in downtown Austin. Later the hunting party was assembled by bugle to the hill where the capitol now stands, and Lamar, stirred by the magnificent scenery, exclaimed to Fontaine, "This should be the seat of Future Empire!"

Lamar was elected President in 1838 and one of his first official acts was to appoint a commission to locate a site for a new capital nearer the center of the Republic—nobody but Old Sam and the local merchants liked Houston. In April 1839, when the commission reported, Waterloo (which Lamar recommended) was the unanimous choice. The Republic paid $3 an acre for land and the erection of government buildings began in mid-May and the town lot sale was held August 1. Lamar and cabinet arrived October 17, 1839 to find an instant city waiting.

Rust Epidemic Didn't Hit Here

Apparently, wheat producers in Northeast Texas have been spared a major leaf rust epidemic this year, says Dr. George Philley, plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Gulf Coast area and central and southwest Texas had heavy leaf rust development. Philley says that leaf rust was late in reaching Northeast Texas, the wheat crop was well advanced when the disease appeared. There may be further infection, but the wheat is generally at a growth stage where leaf rust will do minimal damage. More root-rot was observed in wheat fields this year. Symptoms include areas of the fields showing white heads which indicated premature death of the plants. Most of the root-rot damage was found in fields that have been in wheat for several years without rotation and generally under minimum tillage. Rotation is a good control practice for root-rot. Hilley says that lots of turf problems have shown up this spring. Much of the grass, particularly centipede, is yellowing and some did not put out this year. Brown patch is probably an important cause of these conditions. Infection last fall probably continued throughout the mild winter. Control of brown patch with proper fungicides will help, but some areas may need to be reseeded or sodded. Brown patch becomes less active when night temperatures rise above 70 degrees.

Art Fair Posters Available

The Paris Art Fair 1986 Commemorative Poster is still available to those who have not yet purchased a poster. The poster is an offset lithograph of an original watercolor by Branda Lutz, a local artist. It measures 18 by 24 inches and is suitable for framing. Plans have been made to include a commemorative poster in the Art Fair each year, depicting a different work of art. The open edition posters sell for $16 and the limited edition sell for $60. The posters can be purchased at the YWCA office at 308 S. Main and at Reeps Frame Shop, 118 Clarksville.

Spring Is Time To Study Cow Herd

By Herb Brevard
Recent rains in East Texas brought about an abundance of lush, green grass. Most calves are on the ground and the breeding season is underway. This is the time when cattle management is relatively easy, but certain chores demand our utmost attention, says Dr. Randall Grooms, livestock specialist.

Grooms suggests studying the cow herd. Note and record the cows in estrus and check those cows three weeks later to be sure the bull is doing his job. Numerous repeat cycles are indicative of breeding problems. Observe the bull during the breeding act to be sure of libido, lack of physical restrictions and general activity.

When the calves are two to three months old, branding, dehorning, castration, implanting and vaccination for clostridial diseases are necessary management chores. At this age, most calves are vaccinated with the three way blackleg vaccine.

Grooms points out that these management practices are proven to pay dividends without great costs other than time and labor. Many cattlemen fail to follow through on these practices and every year a number of cattle are lost from diseases that could have been prevented. When the calves are taken to market, those that have been properly managed will return the highest dollar.

Lamar County Livestock Producers Recognized

Livestock producers in Lamar County have received special recognition for their efforts in increasing vaccination of heifer calves for brucellosis control.

County Agent Paul Payne reported that the Texas Animal Health Commission commends this exemplary effort of livestock leaders and livestock producers. This county is a part of a 33 county area of Texas in which a special program has been underway to increase calfood vaccinations. The 33 county area contains about half of the known brucellosis infection in the state.

Figures from the T.A.H.C. show the increases in calfood vaccinations in this county from 1983 through 1985 as follows: 1983-12,650 vaccinated, 54.51%; 1984-16,600 calves vaccinated, 79.87%; 1985-15,035 vaccinated, 70.61%.

Members of the beef cattle committee of this county, which have spearheaded efforts in increasing vaccinations are: W.G. Gibson, Rick Vance, David Lindsey, Henry Burgess, Maxie Wofford, Roy McFadden, J.O. Creighton, Rufus Merritt, William Justiss, Jerry Bailey, David Shelton and John D. McCuin.

Presenting the certificate to Payne and W.G. Gibson is Dr. John Irby, Area Director, Texas Animal Health Commission, Mt. Pleasant.

Patriots Finish Conference Undefeated

By James VanDeaver
In their last conference game of the season, the Prairiland Patriots defeated the North Lamar Panthers 6-2 last Friday afternoon on the road.

In the top of the first inning with two outs, the Patriots began a rally that would nearly insure a victory. Scott Scudder started off the rally with a single up the middle, and after stealing second base, came around to score the first run of the game on a single by John Dusenberry. After a walk by Heath Kennedy, Chris Sparks scored pinch runner Jeff Morrison, who had earlier stolen second and third bases with an infield single, Kennedy then came around to score when a throw to catch Sparks stealing second base went awry. Tony Duncan then scored Sparks for the fourth run of the game with a sharp double off of the centerfield fence.

Craig Burns then scored Duncan with yet another single and the Patriots were out in front 5-0. Although the Patriots failed to score again in the inning, the 5-0 lead looked secure with Scott Scudder on the mound.

After Scudder retired the Panthers one, two, three in the bottom of the first, the Patriots came into the top of the second inning looking to pick up additional runs. Similar to the first inning, the Patriots made two quick outs before Dusenberry one hopped a double off of the left field fence. After Kennedy reached base on a throwing error, Chris Sparks scored John Dusenberry on a ball that was misplayed by the Panther shortstop. Tony Duncan then grounded out to a shortstop for his only out of the afternoon to end the inning.

With Scudder and North Lamar ace Gale Morrison in on relief duty, scores began to get hard to come by. After Scudder had sailed through the first five innings without giving up a hit, the Panthers picked up two runs on three hits in the sixth inning. Scudder then pitched a shutout for the remainder of the game. Scudder then pitched a shutout for the remainder of the game. Scudder then pitched a shutout for the remainder of the game.

Scudder was once again marvelous for the Patriots surrendering only three hits while racking up eight strike outs to get credit as the winning pitcher. Eight different Patriots got hits in the game including Duncan, who went three for four. Going two for four were Burns, Blackburn and Sparks.

The next Patriot game will be a bi-district encounter with Linden-Kildare scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. at Mt. Pleasant.

Prairiland
Homemakers
Meet

The Prairiland Extension Homemakers Club met on May 12th in the home of Mrs. Edna Lee. Eleven members answered roll call with a summer cooking short cut. The club prayer was recited in unison. Peggy Parsons read the minutes. Council report was given by Ann Betenbough. The Standing Rules were reviewed and suggestions made to revise these rules for the coming year. A county-wide trip was discussed and a trip to Denton on July 19 was suggested.

Mary Lou Williamson gave the program on "People of Texas". She said Texas was settled by 26 ethnic groups. Each member was asked what they thought makes Texas different from other states.

Vickie Johnston gave the devotional, doing a demonstration using rice and nuts. By getting your priorities straight, everything will fit well in your life, she said.

Mrs. Lee served refreshments at the close of the meeting and Bonnie Crawford won the hostess gift.

Chapman Pushes Bill To Limit Foreign Investments

U.S. Rep. Jim Chapman (D-Texas) charged recently that new foreign investments, which are getting tax breaks and subsidies from the U.S. government, are crushing the domestic dairy industry.

"After all of the efforts we have made to address the problem of surplus dairy production, we are allowing foreign entities to invest in new milk production on our soil," said Chapman.

"Not only are we allowing this new foreign investment in an industry with a serious surplus, our government is actually providing federal financial encouragement to make those investments, thus using taxpayer funds to support the price and guarantee a market for the surplus milk."

Chapman made his remarks as he announced his cosponsorship of two important pieces of legislation designed to limit the use of federal tax dollars and tax loopholes for foreign agriculture investments.

One bill, H.R. 4519, would prohibit foreigners from receiving any benefits under U.S. Department of Agriculture crop insurance, Farmers Home Administration and other price support or programs administered by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The second bill, H.R. 4520, would eliminate the federal tax exempt status of any Industrial Development Bond used to finance the purchase, construction or improvement of farm property by foreign persons.

The controversy surfaced recently when Congress learned of circumstances in Georgia, in which foreign investors received low-interest, tax exempt industrial development bonds to finance their new dairy operations.

Buckle Up, Texas!
