

Hargett, Anderson In Runoff Election

Republican Edd Hargett and Democrat Richard Anderson will square off in a run-off to determine who succeeds retiring State Senator Ed Howard of Texarkana.

Hargett earned 40 percent of the 56,369 votes cast to Anderson's 32 percent. District-wide, Patterson took 18 percent, and Tom Ramsay got 10 percent.

Patterson carried his home county by better than 70 percent.

Red River County voters polled 579 votes for Hargett, 909 votes for Patterson, 294 votes for Ramsay and 255 votes for Anderson.

Bogata and Rosalie residents cast 103 votes for Hargett, 146 for Patterson, 23 for Ramsay and nine for Anderson. Fulbright voters gave Hargett 8 votes, Patterson 28, Ramsay 7 and Anderson five. The Johntown box finals gave Hargett 3, Patterson 12, Ramsay 6 and Anderson 9. Lone Star residents votes tallied 15 votes for Hargett, 18 for Patterson, 4 for Ramsay and 9 for Anderson. Cuthand voters gave Hargett 7 votes, Patterson 9, Ramsay 10 and Anderson 4.

Absentee votes were 27 for Hargett, 30 for Patterson, 8 for Ramsay and 10 for Anderson.

Titus County voters cast 1031 votes for Hargett, 968 votes for Patterson, 332 votes for Ramsay and 595 votes for Anderson.

Lamar County supported Patterson with 4208 votes, followed by Hargett with 1212 votes, and Anderson in third with 311 votes, leaving 171 votes for Tom Ramsay.

In a statement Saturday night, Hargett said that since his other two opponents were conservatives, he'll pull a lot of those votes. Anderson said he plans to concentrate efforts to win and increase the voter turnout.

A series of debates between Hargett and Anderson is being planned, which will take place sometime before the September election which will decide the outcome of the race.

NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

We have returned from vacation. Reluctantly, I might add, since it was in the upper 60 degree range most of our trip, and the heat hit us like a fist when we stepped off the plane at DFW Airport.

Vacations are a very special time, or should be. If time is a river flowing through our lives, then a vacation is one of those quiet pools formed by eddies, separate from the mainstream of time, and very different.

For me, at least, a vacation means a total disengagement from the world we regularly live in and deal with.

On trips we do not discuss bills or finances, farm problems, paper problems, pets or people left behind.

We have no reservations, and only a vague destination. No one has a way of reaching us, and we do not call home. There is little that can be done over a two or three thousand mile distance but worry, so we just don't do it.

For me, leaving home is the only way to leave daily worries and challenges behind. A few days out at the house worry me worse than being at work.

Vacations are a time when I try to regain a brighter outlook at life, and develop new outlooks.

We talk to farmers on the side of the road, to people we meet where we spend the nights, to folks at roadside stands. We sample every new food we come across, enjoying new additions to our experience.

We wander from place to place, seeing new things, talking to new people, trying to form a picture of what life is like in a different climate and land.

Somehow, during those days, the ordinary problems become fuzzy and indistinct. When one does rear it's head, I quickly slap it down, refusing to let it take hold.

When it is time to return home, it is always good to go home. It's great to find out that everyone is well, that the cats are sitting on the porch waiting, and the dogs bouncing in joy that we have returned.

It's even good to get back at the desk, shuffling piles of mail, answering letters, dealing with everyday life.

It's always easier to deal with things, too, after a vacation.

Vacations are special, they only come once a year, but they renew perceptions that may have been frayed.

They don't have to be expensive...camping, a short trip to the city, a week spent in a near-by state can do the same as a long trip.

The main thing is, make it a true holiday...forget worries and cares and dedicate a portion of time to sheer pleasure. It's so good for you!

terson, Kristie Cartwright, Sommer Dear and Kim Thurman of Paris and Gina Lane of Deport. (Photo Courtesy RRVGSC)

Local Girls At Camp Gambill

Approximately 400 girls between the ages of 6 and 17 attended Camp Gambill resident camp near Paris, Texas, this summer. The camp is owned and operated by the Red River Valley Girl Scout Council.

Three-day, one-week and two-week sessions were held from June 15 through July 19. Troop camping and a four-week counselor-in-training session were also offered. The counselor-in-training program was designed for girls interested in exploring the field of camp counseling.

Attending from Deport were Gina Lane, Fair Shae Gifford and Wendy Hutchings.

Each session began with an opening night ceremony in which all campers participated. The theme of this year's ceremonies was building self-esteem.

Girls attending the camp this summer had the opportunity to earn badges and trail feathers. Some of the badges included: Ms. Fix-It, Music Lover, Water Fun, Photography, Foot Travelers, Computer Fun, Outdoor Cook, Outdoor Fun, Fashion, Fitness, Makeup, Ecology, Wildlife, Invitation to Dance, Creative Cooking and Water Wonders. Trail feathers were earned by learning camp-craft skills.

NATIONAL SMILE WEEK was August 4-10 and residents of Deport Nursing Home observed the day on Thursday, August 7. Smiles were measured with the biggest smile being 3 1/2 inches long. A party was held that afternoon with relay races and rootbeer floats. Pictured are Lonnie Wallace, Jan Fox, Rita Archibald, Lisa Fulbright and Edgar York.

Chili Is The State Food

Trust Ed Bryson to come up with the answer! Ed settled the debate on what was the state of Texas' food.

His letter reads... "Your first reaction in church was correct. (About the state food of Texas of course).

Chili was proclaimed the state food in 1977. My late friend, Frank X.

Tolbert, writer and chili-head, helped cram the bill through the legislative food chopper."

The confirmation of this, Ed continues, can be found on page 228 of the 1986-87 Texas Almanac.

So, that's the argument settled!

Cool Weather And Coastline Mark Travels In Maine, Canada

By Nanalee Nichols

Somehow, it always seems a little embarrassing to detail our vacation trips each year, but going by the numerous requests and statements that "it's the only way I'll ever hear about that part of the world", people don't seem to mind. This year, Thomas and I flew into Maine and from there toured into New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. It was an insight into a sea-faring, cool climate way of life quite alien to ours here in Northeast Texas, and those who care to, can travel along with us over the next few weeks as we relive the trip.

The decision to seek a cooler climate for our vacation was made months ago, plane and rental car reservations obtained, and then anticipation set in.

Finally, on the last day of July, with the temperature at 108 degrees at DFW Airport when we left, we landed in Boston, Massachusetts Airport for a two and one-half hour layover.

The Boston airport is one of the prettiest anywhere, and the city itself sparkles with sail boats, harbor lights and historic buildings.

The accents grate a trifle harshly as people go to park their "cahh", dropping "r's" completely and substituting a nasal tone of voice instead.

They were, however, helpful, friendly and open, something that can be rare in a big city nowadays.

Our flight to Bangor, Maine, only lasted 35 minutes, and we found ourselves and baggage in a deliciously cool evening, having lost an hour to Eastern Standard Time, but nothing else, fortunately.

We picked up the rental car and sallied forth looking for a nice motel for the evening.

But first, my friends, a word about that rental car. We had requested a Grand Am. We obtained, upon arrival, a Chevy Cavalier in a hideously distressing shade of reddish maroon and powered, it seemed, by an undersized rubber band. It also possessed Florida license plates, which resulted in a number of people from Florida asking what part of the state we were from, and nearly got us in trouble at customs!

Motel found, we proceeded on to Plan B, which was to do our darndest to reduce the lobster population as much as possible.

Dedication Of Fellowship Hall And McGahan Memorial Room

Special services at Life Tabernacle in Cunningham will be Friday, August 15 through August 17, with John M. Bell of San Antonio.

Services will begin at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights, Sunday morning worship is at 11 a.m. A covered dish luncheon will follow the morning service.

At 2 p.m., dedication of the new fellowship hall and the F.E. McGahan Memorial Room will take place. The Memorial Room is in honor of Mr. McGahan's years in education, of which 15 were spent as superintendent of Cunningham School. He was the founder of Northeast Texas Educational Services in Paris where he taught his last 20 years. His wife and daughter still teach there. He dedicated his life to the service of children and will be loved and remembered always.

Rev. Bell will also be the speaker for the dedication ceremony. He is a former student of Mr. McGahan.

Toni Jo Dockray

Dockray Is All-Around Cowgirl

After 22 rodeos sanctioned by the Four States High School Rodeo Association, Toni Jo Dockray, by a large margin, was crowned Champion All Around Cowgirl for the year. Coming into the finals at Texarkana, Arkansas on August 8 and 9, Toni Jo was 256 points ahead of her nearest competition.

When all points were totaled, Toni was crowned champion and awarded buckles for pole bending for the year and pole bending average at the finals. She also received second place buckle for break-away roping, second place buckle for goat tying and a champion all around buckle and saddle.

Toni has won six saddles in her rodeo career, besides the many trophy buckles she has won.

Toni Jo and her brother, Toby, make 65 to 70 rodeos a year. Toby is a calf roper mainly, but enters all events and was champion all around cowboy of Ft. Towson, OK where he won a saddle.

PJC To Offer Telecourses

Learn English, history or business in front of your television set this fall. Paris Junior College will offer college credit telecourses to provide the opportunity for students to pursue an education in their own homes following their own time schedules.

"The college is excited about the telecourses program because it opens the door to an education for many persons who are unable to take courses on regular class schedules," said Dwight Chaney, coordinator for the telecourse program at PJC. Persons with full-time jobs or those who work rotating shifts should be able to take these courses by viewing the videotaped lessons during their free time.

This fall, PJC will offer telecourses in U.S. History, U.S. Government, Introduction to Business, English Composition and Introduction to Humanities. The course lessons will include professionally produced video tapes which may be viewed on college equipment, on Paris' local cable Channel 8, or any video cassette recorder anywhere.

After attending an orientation session for the course, students may check out the tapes in PJC's Learning Center or may watch the weekly lessons at regularly schedule times on the McCaw Cablevision local channel. As part of its public service programming, McCaw will air the lessons and repeat them at least once weekly over the local channel.

Registration for the telecourses will be during PJC's regular fall enrollment August 26-29 but persons unable to register by the alphabetical schedule may call Chaney to make arrangements. Tuition will be the same as other PJC courses, but a $30 laboratory fee will be charged for each one.

A day and evening orientation session will be scheduled to explain the routine of study to each class. Instructors also will plan these sessions around non-traditional work schedules.

During the course, students will have access to their instructors through a hot-line telephone number for asking questions or conferring about any problems. Video copies of all lessons will be available at the college in case a student misses a broadcast. Periodic on-campus evaluations or tests will be scheduled during the semester.

Prairiland Class Of 1976 To Hold Reunion

INTRODUCING PJ's CAROUSEL COLLECTION

Summer
REEP'S FURNITURE
Sale

PJ's CAROUSEL COLLECTION

PJ's Carousel Collection is made up of replica pieces from the early 1900's. Each carousel horse or menagerie animal is a replica in the style of the early master carousel carvers. Each initial piece is a PJ's original designed and created by one of PJ's artists. This piece then forms the master from which all pieces are molded with Gemwood. Each piece is meticulously cleaned, hand painted in true carousel colors and antiqued by our Virginia artists. Each piece is mounted on a brass pole, topped with a brass ring, and assembled on a walnut base. All pieces (with the exception of Fancy, Major and Silver) use a 10" pole. The large horses stand 16" tall and use a 15" pole.

All pieces that are direct replicas have distinct rectangular label to identify the master carver style. PJ's own creations have an oval PJ's sticker.

Gemwood by the way, is basically a wood and polyester resin mixture that molds easily and still retains wood like properties of feel and weight.

PJ's are members of the National Carousel Association & American Carousel Society. See this collection exclusively at Reep's Furniture.

Forage Conference Scheduled For Sept. 4

The East Texas Forage Conference is scheduled at the Maude Cobb Activity Center in Longview, September 4, beginning with registration at 9 a.m. The one-day conference will highlight many of the management and marketing decisions facing East Texas forage and livestock producers.

The conference is sponsored by Build East Texas Area IV consisting of Gregg, Upshur, Harrison and Marion counties. A registration fee of $10 includes a catered barbecue lunch.

Master of ceremonies for the morning session is Jack Dillard, auc-ioneer and farm broadcaster for KOOI radio. Rex Youngblood, Gregg County Extension agent, is the first speaker with the topic "How Do We Buy Our Hay-What The Survey Said". He will be discussing the results of the survey made recently of beef and forage producers in 39 East Texas counties as a part of the Build Beef Income Program.

Dr. Sim A. Reeves, Jr., agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has the topic "Who Is Coming To the Forage Table?". He will discuss the hay quality requirements for various classes of livestock and give tips on handling hay for the most efficient utilization of quality.

Following lunch, Horace McQueen, farm director, KLTU, Tyler, will serve as master of ceremonies for the afternoon session.

Numerous commercial exhibits will be manned throughout the day. These exhibits will feature products and equipment relating to forage and beef production.

The concluding part of the conference is an opportunity for those attending to ask questions of the speakers. All persons interested in forage and beef production in East Texas are invited to attend the conference. Maude Cobb Activity Center is located just off West Cotton Street

RED OAK Community Center is in progress. There will be an ice cream supper and pie auction held at the center on August 23 at 7 p.m. There will also be a domino-42 tournament and volleyball for those not interested in dominoes. Everyone should bring lawn chairs and come out for a good time. (Staff Photo by Liz Irwin)

TRAVEL—

Lobster is a favorite food, but usually beyond our reach, financially. However, in a part of the world where that crustacean is a major source of fishing income, they are fresh, fabulous and affordable.

We managed to reduce the population by four that first night, bibs wrapped around our necks, wielding the crackers and picks cheerfully to obtain every morsel we could from claw, body or tail.

The next morning, we headed up the coast of Maine toward Campobello Island, a jointly maintained Canadian-U.S. park which offers tours of the Franklin D. Roosevelt home there.

Along our route, beautiful two and three story homes, surrounded by flower beds, snug harbors populated with fishing boats of every size and description, and light houses begged for picture taking.

Many of the homes date back to the glory days of the whaling and fishing industry, and featured huge bay windows "widows walks" and lovely grounds.

The most noticeable difference, however, is the almost total lack of brick housing. In a land where the temperature plummets to 40 below zero during the depths of winter, brick is a poor insulator, and besides, the soil yields no clay and all brick must be shipped in from great distances. Cedar shakes and ship lap siding add charm to the homes and barns.

Roadside stands offer up seafoods fresh from the ocean, which is never more than a few miles away at most.

Lobster boats chuff out to the open ocean, sail boats wend their graceful way between buoys, and big fishing boats growl along docksides.

Everywhere are the sea gulls and flowers of summer.

At the entrance to Canada, a nice young man asked the usual questions about weapons, alcohol, tobacco and valuables, then asked where we were from. "Texas", we chorused, and he smiled and waved us on through.

Then, he caught sight of the Florida license plate, and his mouth opened and hand raised. Apparently he decided we might be strange, but not worth questioning further, for then he closed mouth, dropped hand and shrugged his shoulders, obviously thinking his associates could deal with us somewhere else along the line!

The Roosevelt home is beautiful in a simple, understated way, and the term "cottage" hardly seems to apply to a home with 35 rooms.

However, it is open, airy, with breath taking views of sea and hill. Campobello, which Roosevelt called his "beloved isle" was the place where he learned swimming and sailing as a boy, and later came to be away from world-wide pressures. Life there was slow paced and simple, and the furniture and household items reflect the simplicity of the man himself. The items he left there seem set down for only a moment rather than for years, and a feeling for the famous man emanates from the house.

Next door, one glimpses what life on a more opulent scale was like back then, as the Hubbard "cottage" reveals intricate stairways, detailed woodwork, a fantastic grand piano, crystal and silver, and an oval dining room window that frames one of the most beautiful views imaginable.

All around, flowers of variety and color vie with one another to catch the eye.

With a mind to closing times, however, we left and found a tiny little bank at a village and exchanged our American money for Canadian.

That in itself is fun, since a $1.00 American is worth $1.39 Canadian, and one comes away feeling richer than when he went in!

We found the ferry landing on Campobello for Deer Island, but were less than excited when a leaking barge towed by an ancient tug boat appeared to drag us over to the next island!

The ferry from Deer Island to the little town of St. George, on the New Brunswick mainland, however, displayed a bit more class.

Ferries are an integral part of life to island dwellers, who seem unruffled by the fact that bad weather and storms isolate them completely from the rest of the world, and who wait in line patiently twice daily to get on and from mainland jobs.

After a long day, we settled in at a little motel on the outskirts of the city of St. John, had lobster once again for supper, and slept soundly all night long.

Early the next morning, we found we had a spectacular view of the St. John River Valley, and followed along the rim of the valley into the city itself.

There we found a clean, pleasant, small city, with a market on the harbor edge to rival any anywhere. Fresh fish and seafood, fresh vegetables, tiny shops with crafts and paintings, pubs and restaurants all nestled on the water's edge, interspersed by light houses. We spent a pleasant morning there, shopping, eating lunch, buying Dulce, a seaweed snack that tastes a little like potato chips. Then we loaded up and headed on deeper into New Brunswick.

Clardy News

Mr. s Wanda Clement McLain and boys are vacationing in California this week.
 The election Saturday was very quiet and a minor amount went out to vote.
 Mrs. Virgie Ballard visited Harvey and Effie Lee Merritt of Pattonville Saturday then on to vote, then she enjoyed lunch in town and later did Christmas shopping.
 Mrs. Lois Ballard is ill in McCuiston Hospital after having a spell with her heart Friday. We all hope she will be better soon.
 Mrs. Eugene Skidmore and Sam enjoyed supper with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fletcher of Paris last Monday in honor of Mrs. Skidmore's birthday.
 Mrs. Virgie Ballard of Clardy and Mrs. Ruby Hudson of Jennings were in Paris Saturday night for the wedding of Leann Ballard and Keith Mitchell. Everyone hopes for them a lifetime of success and happiness.
 Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Furgerson and granddaughter Tammy visited Mrs. Virgie Ballard Thursday.

Elaine Ballard is in Mt. Pleasant this week on school business.
 Mrs. Virgie Ballard visited Mrs. Mae McDowra and Terry and Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDowra of Pattonville Monday.
 Amy Ballard underwent toe surgery at a Paris clinic Tuesday. We hope she is well soon.
 Mr. and Mrs. Pete Vickers and granddaughter Dana left Tuesday morning for Houston and other parts of the state. They will be gone three weeks. They are the nephew and niece of Mrs. Virgie Ballard.
 The following relatives and friends that visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Stone, since they have been having health and accident problems but are both doing fine now were: Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Short, J.C. Pomroy and daughter Shelle, Bennie Short and daughters Rena and Duffy, all of Paris, Bobby Pomroy, Mrs. Loyce Ballard and Mrs. Louise Clement, James Dudley, Clara Gonzales and Greg, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Skidmore, Mrs. Virgie Ballard, all of Clardy, Rev. and Mrs. L.C. Stout of Pattonville, James Thomas Stansell and his mother, Mrs. Loyce Stansell of Mt. Pleasant and Mike Tibbott of Clardy, also Dana, James and Kenneth Dority of Paris.

 Mrs. Loyce Stansell, former Clardy resident, living in Mt. Pleasant, underwent brain surgery in a Tyler hospital three months ago. She made several pop calls on relatives in Clardy, accompanied by her son, James T. Stansell of Mt. Pleasant, as she was on her way to her brothers, James Anderson, in Mt. Olive community for dinner. She had a stroke after her surgery and is slowly recovering. All were glad to see her.
 Mary Stone spent Saturday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rex Allen at Blossom.
 Mr. and Mrs. Fred Skidmore made a trip to Fayetteville, AR this week to take his mother to visit two weeks with her brother, Bob Wright and wife. Mr. Wright is seriously ill.
 Rena and Duffy Short of Borger are here spending some time with their father, Bennie Short and wife in Paris and other relatives.

A Good Sign

The warning signs we place near roadside construction sites are more than warnings of possible driving hazards. They're signs that we care about your safety, but they're useless unless they're observed.

Always heed the instructions of repairmen and signs while in a work zone. Men and equipment are working, and you may be required to stop or reduce your speed. Roadside construction zones are a necessary part of providing electric service to you and your neighbors. You can help us provide that service safely. This safety tip is one more way we're here to help.

PJC To Offer EMS Training

This fall, Paris Junior College will begin offering Emergency Medical Services courses for college credit, according to Chris Tobin, coordinator of the college's EMS Training Program.

The college will offer three levels of EMT training, basic, special skills and paramedic completion. Basic and special skills courses will begin in the fall semester, and the paramedic completion training will start in January, Ms. Tobin explained.

Basic EMT, offered for six hours of college credit, will include basic-level training in emergency medical services. Successful completion will make the student eligible for Texas Department of Health certification as EMT-Basic.

The basic course is designed for anyone pursuing a career in emergency care or ambulance work and for allied health professionals, day care workers, nursing home personnel, firemen, policemen, and industrial safety team members. Members of the City of Paris EMS Paramedic Service will assist with the course instruction. Classes will be from 6 to 10 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays during the fall semester.

EMT Special Skills, also starting this fall, is for persons currently certified as EMT-Basics in Texas. Classes will be from 6 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays during the fall.

Beginning in January, EMT Paramedic Completion is for persons currently certified in EMT-Special Skills in Texas. EMT-Basics must successfully complete the Special Skills course before enrolling in the paramedic program. Special skills EMT's must show proof of a refresher course taken within the last two years before enrolling.

Those interested in any of the EMS courses should call or write Ms. Tobin, Paris Junior College, Paris, TX or call 784-9468 for an application packet. Prospective students must have official high school transcripts or G.E.D. scores and must take either the Nelson Denney testing at PJC or the ACT before registration week Aug. 26-29. The application packet will contain all necessary materials.

Persons registering for the EMS courses and those interested in the Associate Degree in paramedicine should see Ms. Tobin at PJC's registration. Fall registration will be from Tuesday, August 26 to noon on Friday, August 29 by an alphabetical schedule. Evening registration, open to anyone enrolling for evening classes, will be from 4 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, August 26. Classes will start September 2.

Everyone's amazed when they hear what U.S. Savings Bonds have to offer. Savings Bonds earn market-based interest rates—just like money market accounts—so you're guaranteed a competitive return, no matter what happens to interest rates. All you have to do is hold your Bonds for five years. What's more, the interest you earn is completely free from state and local income taxes. And federal taxes can be deferred. You can buy Bonds for as little as $25. And it's easy—purchase them where you work or bank. For the current rate, call 1-800-US-BONDS. U.S. Savings Bonds—They'll make your ears perk up.

Baxter-Goetz Exchange Wedding Vows

Cynthia Diane Baxter and Joseph Edward Goetz, both of Denton, were united in marriage Saturday evening, August 2 at Highland Baptist Church in Denton with Tom Nelson of Denton Bible Church officiating.

Parents of the bride are Clyde and Sallie Baxter of Garland. She is the granddaughter to Mrs. Nannie Grigsby of Myrtle Springs and of the late Bill and Mamie Baxter of Blossom. The bridegroom is the son to Joe L. and Beverly Goetz of Reedley, CA. He is the grandson of Mrs. Annie Jennings of Reedley and Mrs. Maude Goetz of Redwood City, CA.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a satin gown designed with a bodice embellished with Schiffli embroidery and Venice lace beaded with pearls. The full skirt had a flounced hemline and a chapel length train. The fingertip veiling was applied with lace roses and beaded with pearls and sequins. The veiling fell from a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of silk white roses, daisies, and lillies accented by tiny yellow rosebuds.

Maid of honor was Teresa Baxter of Garland, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Karen Anderson of Denton and Denise Mitchell of Carrollton.

Alysa DiArchangel of Flower Mound was flower girl. She carried a basket of yellow silk spring flowers. Best man was Tom Goetz of Tulare, CA and Dan Goetz of Denver, Colorado, brothers of the bridegroom and Greg Enns of Bakersfield, CA.

Ushers were Kent Baxter of Garland, brother of the bride, Weldon Barnett of Denton and Mike Brown of Denton.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Members of the houseparty were Kathy Walls of Lewisville, Debbie Peterson of Denton, Janice Young of Denton, Martine Deane of Garland and Sue Jones of Denton.

Rebecca Goetz and Jennifer Goetz of Tulare, CA presided at the register. The bride is a graduate of South Garland High School and is a summa cum laude graduate of Texas Woman's University in Denton with a degree in special education. She was chosen as outstanding senior in 1982-83. For the past three years, she has been an early childhood special education teacher in the Lewisville Independent School District.

The bridegroom is a magna cum laude graduate of Fresno State University, Fresno, CA with a degree in history. He served with the Marine Corps as an infantry officer and company commander, attaining the rank of captain. He is self-employed and is owner of Goetz Machine Works in Denton.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple will be at home in Denton.

Time To Inventory Winter Hay

By Herb Brevard
Now is the time to take inventory of winter hay needs, says Dr. Sim A. Reeves, Jr. agronomist. Determine how much hay is already cut and baled, how much can still be produced and how many and what classes of livestock will be wintered.

If there is a current shortage of forage for the number of cattle owned, the producer may want to reduce the number of cattle to meet the forage availability. If additional hay is needed, now is a good time to increase the winter's supply. Prices normally increase after hay feeding begins. Hay production has been good in East Texas this year, even though some of the early cuttings were lower quality than normal.

Reeves says that producers should test the hay for quality so that the right hay is fed to each group of cattle. Hay can be tested at Texas A&M's soil lab, Stephen F. Austin's soil lab, Hopkins County Forage Testing Lab and several commercial labs. County Extension agents have addresses and instructions on collecting and shipping samples. A nominal fee is charged for the service.

Hot Weather Has A Few Advantages

By Herb Brevard

Hot, dry weather has some advantages, but they are difficult to find, says Dr. George Philley, plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Current conditions are slowing development of the most common plant diseases. The low humidity eliminates the damp environment normally associated with plant diseases.

During hot weather is an excellent time to plow the garden or row crop areas to expose disease organisms, insects and weed seeds to the hot sunshine. This procedure, called summer fallowing, usually does a good job of reducing disease organisms and some of the other pests.

Dry, hot weather also causes many plants to be under stress and thus susceptible to invasion by disease organisms. Hypoxylon canker is a fungus that attacks trees which are under stress. Oaks and hickory are most commonly affected. The fungus invades the tree and disrupts the flow of water to the foliage. Hypoxylon canker will probably not kill the tree until the following year or even longer. Philley says that once the tree becomes infected, there is no cure. Ironically, you never know the tree is infected until it dies.

Philley suggests extra watering for those favorite trees in the landscape. Deep watering is essential to prevent stress and thus conditions which are conducive to disease invasion.
