constant beauty that surrounds us. At this time of year, vistas of great delicacy and beauty are available at every turn, but frequently we are too busy to note them.

ld gin in Bogata, looking westward, there is a scene which provides a misty, delicate palette of color worthy of any English landscape artist. The horizon lies past the gently rolling earth, and in the far distance, on a clear day, the picturesque outline of a town (Deport) is barely visible

When we took our English friends to Talco to see oil wells, we discovered for ourselves the classic western scene of an oil pumper silhouetted against a gorgeous Texas

At Blossom a week ago, on a cloudy day, I was struck by the vivid colors of a lone horseman, with a bounding, happy dog beside him. Horse, rider and canine were so obviously contented that they could have been the closing scene in a happy movie.

When traveling, we tend to take pictures only of the exciting, or beautiful things we see, ignoring the ugly spots. At home, however, we tend to see the ugly spots first, and not even notice the pretty things.

Perhaps it is a little like "familiarity breeds contempt" We know our area well, so we don't bother to truly look at it.

But now, in the season of misty mornings, striking sunsets, changing colors and golden pools of sunlight, is a good time to really begin noticing the world we move through.

It can lift the heart, ease the mind, and please the soul, so try it.

Volleyball Pats Lose To Pewitt

By Kenda Oliver

On Tuesday, October 14, the Prairiland Lady Patriots fell to Paul Pewitt at Pewitt. The Pats got off to a rough start by losing the first game, 1-15. IN the second game, Prairiland gained nine points quickly, but never scored again as Pewitt went on to win the match.

The JV fought hard but lost to Pewitt. On Tuesday, October 21, the Lady Pats faced Clarksville in the Clarksville gym with the JV beginning at 5 p.m.

By Thomas Nichols The Prairiland Patriots suffered another Tiger TD!

Tigers Beat Patriots

their second worst defeat of the '86 season last Friday night at Daingerfield, 58 to zip!

The defending district champs wasted no time in establishing their dominance. By the middle of the first quarter, the Tigers had scored 21 points while denying the Patriots anything close to a score.

Penalties played enemy to the Patriots late in the first quarter. The Tigers had first and ten on the Patriot ten yard line, when the Patriots were called offsides. The next play Patriot Rodney Jones and team stopped the leding Tiger rusher cold. However, two plays later, the Tigers had socked six more points, tacked on the point after and led the contest 28 to zip.

Steven Johnson appeared fearless on the kickoff returns. The first quarter ended with a 23-yard return by Johnson to give the Patriots first and ten on their own 30-yard line.

Three plays later, the Patriots punted the ball and a Daingerfield Tiger couldn't find the handle. It appeared to be a Patriot recovery, but once again, a penalty for procedure on the Patriots wiped out the play, costing the Patriots five yards and punt again.

The Tigers were forced to play from their own 38-yard line by Patriot Cary Borden. A very alert Donnie Gentry denied the Tiger rusher yardage, and a yellow flag for clipping left the Tigers with a second and 20 for the first down

Unfortunately for the Patriots though, two pass plays, and two running plays later, the Tigers had crossed the Patriot goal line for six points. Again the point after was good and the Patriots trailed by 35 points and over nine minutes to play in the first

Three plays later the Patriots had their punt returned all the way for

However, the Tigers were flagged for clipping and given the ball first and ten on teh Patriot 33-yard line. One play later, the Tigers struck again for a touchdown and point after and the awed Patriots faced a 42 point deficit.

Once more the Patriots were unable to get first down yardage and elected to go for a fake punt, but failed to pick up the first down. Patriot Delbert Offutt and Cary Borden stopped the Tiger's play for only an eight yard gain. The next play, the Patriots weren't so lucky and the scoreboard gave the Tigers a 49 point advantage to vinish out the first half.

With just over seven minutes to play in the third quarter, the Tigers added on their final touchdown of the night and brought the grand total to 55-0. The Patriots blocked the point after and left the score at 55.

With seven seconds left in the third quarter, the Tigers kicked a field goal for their final three points and maintained their 58 point lead through the fourth quarter

The Patriot defense shut down the Tiger scoring attempts the remainder of the game, but the Patriot offense was also shut down by the Tiger

The game finally ended and preparation for Paul Pewitt at Patriot Stadium next Friday night at 7:30 p.m. was underway

Week before last, Mike Blackburn was the offensive player of the week and Lloyd Whelchel defensive player of the week, and last week's offensive player of the week was Stephen Johnson and defensive players of the week were Terry Borden and Joe

Day-Curry Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Melissa Kim Curry became the bride of Kevin Lee Day in a formal ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, October 4 at the New Life Worship center in Reno.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Curry of Paris and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seals of Paris and the greatgrandmother of Mrs. Francis Barnes of Los Angeles, California. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Day of Pattonville.

The Rev. Troy Drake heard the couple's double-ring vows before an archway centered with a 15-branched brass candelabra an dflanked with seven-branched brass candelabras with white tapers. The aisle was marked with a threebranched brass unity candle with whit etapers. The candelabras were entwined with greenery and accented with red and white satin bows.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Lori Hindman accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Pat Rodgers. Mrs. Hindman sang "Cherish" as the candles were being lit by Stephanie Castleman. Other selectins were "To Me" and "With You". Traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Rodgers.

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, chose a white satin gown by Mourey Lea. It had a Mary Ann sweetheart necklin and puffed Alencon lace sleeves to the elbow. From the elbow, the fitted satin sleeves with lace inserts ended in petal points at her wrists. The moulded bodice had an overlay of Alencon lace beaded with seed pearls. The satin skirt fell from a natural waistline, which formed a point at the waist at the front, to a chapel-length train accented with Alencon lace matching lace encircled the skirt. The bride's full-length veiling of illusion fell from a Mary Ann crown, beaded with seed pearls and accented with Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses with greenery and satin streamers accented with seed pearls.

Jessica Semple served as miniature bride. She wore a dress and veil identical to the bride's and carried a small red and white cascade bouquet. Bud Semple served as miniature groom.

Shannon Chaney, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Monique Buras and Gidget Boehler were bridesmaids

They wore identically designed gowns of red satin with long chiffon sleeves edged at the wrist with pearls. A shoulder sash of chiffon, edged with seed pearls, draped each dress to the waistline and fell to floor-length. Each carried a long stemmed red rose with red and white satin streamers

Deer Population Result of Proper Management

By Herb Brevard

White-tailed deer are an important part of the economic and recreational well being of East Texas. Only in recent years has this new industry developed, due primarily to interested landowners and sportsmen.

By 1900, uncontrolled hunting for the market and for subsistence, combined with habitat destruction from logging, farming and development, drove the white-tailed population to its low point of less than half a million, according to the U.S. Department of Interior information. These were found in remote and inaccessible areas, or on large landholdings where they were protected by the landowner. By contrast, nearly 400,00 white tails were harvested in Texas last year, says Dr. Joe Lock. East Texas alone supports a current white-tail position estimated at 600,000.

tail pation estimated at 600,000.

Many of our great-grandparents never saw a deer. Today, deer are so numerous that hundreds are killed on East Texas highways every year.

A good part of the white-tailed deer's comback is due to the Great Depression of the 1930's and to a law most people have never heard of, the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act, Lock says.

Ironically, the depression years of the 1930's were a boon to deer. As people left unprofitble small farms and moved to the cities, the bandoned fields grew up in weeds and brush, ideal deer habitat. This alone was not enough to bring the deer population back because there were not enough deer left to spread and repopulate vacant be stated.

Rea and that deer and other wildlife were in serious trouble, concerned sportsmen banded together to demand that something be done to help, and they were willing to pay for it out of their own pockets, Department of Interior records point out. In 1937, Congress responded by passing the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act, also known as the Pittman-Robertson Act after its congressional sponsors, or just plain "P-R".

The law extended the life of an existing federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition but directed that these funds be distributed to the states for wildlife restoration programs. Equally important, the law strengthened state wildlife agencies by requiring states to use all their hunting license revenues to support their stae wildlife agency before they could be eligible to receive the new funds. States also were required to hire properly qualified personnel to carry out wildlife restoration programs.

When World War II ended, many returning veterans took advantage of the GI Bill to get college degrees in the new educational discipline called Wildlife Management. With funds from the P-R program, these new scientists went to work for various states and quickly developed new ways to reestablish deer herds and manage them properly. Thanks to their efforts and to the deer's natural ability to reproduce and adapt when given a chance, we have abundant deer to enjoy, Lock concedes.

America's current 14 million white-tailed deer include 30 subspecies that live from Canada to Central America. Healthy bucks of one subspecies found in the Northern U.S. and Canada may weigh a whopping 400 pounds. By contract, Florida's tiny Key deer weigh a maximum of about 55 pounds. Bucks in East Texas normally range from 75 to 130 pounds. Of the 30 subspecies, only the Key deer and the Pacific Northwest's Columbian white-tailed deer are endangered.

A healthy adult doe usually gives birth to two fawns each year and raises both of them successfully. Overpopulation is a problem for many deer herds today, partially because most of their natural predators, such as the wolf and cougar, have been eliminated or greatly reduced. Research has shown that an overpopulated deer herd can severely damage its own habitat in a desperate search for food during the winter, eventually resulting in malnourishment, starvation and poor herd health.

Deer are more likely to be healthy enough to resist insect pests and diseases when populations are kept well below the maximum number that available habitats can support. The most difficult part of population management is knowing how many deer are desirable in a particular area. Despite considerable research, white-tailed deer herds remain very difficult to census accurately. For that reason, deer herds are evaluated through indirect measures such as monitoring reproduction, rates of death, sex and age ratios and average weights. Good harvest records are essential to good management. Educational programs on deer and other wildlife management practices have been an ongoing part of the educational effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for several decades.

PrairilandJV Lose To Daingerfield

By Anthony Matthews Prairiland Junior Varsity lost to Daingerfield 41-6. On the kickoff, Prairiland was penalized 15 yards. The next play, Daingerfield ran 28 vards and after several more plays punted to the Patriots, Patriots were unable to do anything and gave the ball back to Daingerfield, which put them in good field position on the 50 yard line. Daingerfield made a point conversion was no good.

In the second quarter, Daingerfield was offsides and a personal penalty which gave the Patriots a gain of 20 yards in the beginning, Daingerfield got the ball back and took it in for another touchdown but was called back for holding. Next lay, the touchdown attempt was successful as well as the extra two points.

After the kickoff to PHS. Daingerfield intercepted from PHS, then fumbled and PHS recovered. The Pats lost the ball on a fourth down play and again Daingerfield scored. Field goal attempt was no good.

In the third quater, Daingerfield did not show any mercy. When they got the ball, they again scored two more

The Patriots only score came in the fourth quarter when Jeff Fendley ran for 40 yards. The extra point was nc Patriots 6.

Daingerfield dominated the Patriots throughout the game. The final score was Daingerfield 41.

Orphans Adopted By Unusual Mother

By Mollie Williams

An adoption took place at the Rufus Williams home in Johntown recently without the help or knowledge of the Welfare Department, the courts, or any lawyers. The adoption agreement was made between the dying mother of four young kittens and her dear friend, a black Labrador dog named Georgie. Mrs. Williams says she was a witness to the transaction.

According to Mrs. Williams, the kittens were born in the barn behind their house on U.S. Highway 271, several months ago. As soon as the kittens eyes were opened, the mama brought them up to Williams' and placed them in a barrel ch had been cut in half and served as Georgie's bed. Mr. and Mrs. Williams had expected to see a big fight, but instead Georgie moved over and allowed the cats to have the bed. The mama cat weaned the kittens and became sick shortly after. About three days later, Mrs. Williams witnessed the adoption agreement between the mama cat and Georgie. "The cat walked up and placed her head against Georgie's" explained

Mrs. Williams, "and I honestly believed she asked Georgie to take care of those kittens.

The mama cat walked away from Georgie that day and disappeared. The Williams believe she went off to die and from that day on they say that Georgie became mother to the kitFreshmen Close Out Season By Anthony Matthews Prairiland freshmen took on the Daingerfield Tigers last week, losing 24-6. They received the ball first but could not do anythign with it, so they punted. Daingerfield then ran it back 55 yards for the first touchdown of the evening. With the two extra points, the score was now Prairiland 0 and Daingerfield 8.

Following the touchdown, Prairiland received the ball, but still could not do anything, so they punted again to Daingerfield. Two plays later, Daingerfield made another touchdown when their running back ran 60 yards on a hand off. Extra two point conversion was good.

Prairiland received the ball once more but had to punt again on loss of downs. Three plays later, on another hand off, Daingerfield's running back ran 75 yards for the third touchdown of the night. With extra two points good, this made the score 24-0, Daingerfield.

On the next Patriot punt, Daingerfield ran 80 yards for another touchdown but was called back because of a penalty. Three plays later, time ran out in the first quarter.

After six plays of the second quarater, there was a penalty on Daingerfield. On the next lay, delay of the game on Daingerfield made it fourth and fifteen, so they tried a field goal but it was short and to the right. After an attempt, this gave Patriots first possession with 20 seconds left. Patriots then had to punt because of loss of downs. With eight seconds left, Daingerfield tried for a touchdown but the pass was incomplete. At the end of the second quarter, the score remained the same.

In the third quarter, Daingerfield fumbled and Allen Dabbs of the Patriots recovered but could not do anything with the ball, so they punted to Daingerfield. Three plays later, the third quarter ended.

In the middle of the fourth quarter, Randy Barber intercepted a pass with no return. Next play, Trevor Upchurch ran 45 yards for the first down. But after three plays, Upchurch ran 20 yards for the first and only touchdown. Extra two point conversion was no good.

Time then ran out with the final score Daingerfield 24, Prairiland 6.

SAFETY TIPS

and is emphasized in the schools. But you and your children should know a home escape plan and review the plan routinely. Here are some tips:

. Make a fire drill fun, but serious at the same time. Making a game of it will avoid frightening children. Use races. Try a blindfold race - can you find your way out when wearing a blindfold?

• Use the smoke alarm to start the drill. This acquaints the family with the sound of the alarm - and gives you a chance to test it.

· Sleep with bedroom doors closed. Smoke is the greatest enemy in a night fire. Teach children that the door is their castle gate to keep them safe. · Teach children two ways out of each room. Tell them to feel the door as high as they can reach. If it is warm or hot, don't open it. If it's cool -

· Stay low in smoke. The co fresher air is near the floor.

· Teach children how to open win dows and take out screens. And teach them to stay near the window if they can't open it. Be sure children have something to climb upon to reach the · Once out, stay out! Never, never, never re-enter a burning building for anything or anyone!

· Have a meeting place outside. Go to the meeting place and stay there until everyone is found. (Fire fighters have died searching for people who were already safe.) · Practice calling the fire department. Use a role-playing technique to help children learn their home address and how to report an emergency c Teach them not to hang up dispatcher tells them to.

· Visit the fire department. Fire fighters enjoy meeting kids and teaching
