

NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

I figure this column will fall on deaf ears...but here goes anyway. I like kids. I usually make more excuses for high spirits, mischief and pranks than most folks will. I have a long memory, and can recall doing things as a kid I shouldn't have.

This Halloween most kids had a lot of fun. They threw raw biscuits, soured things down with shaving cream, tossed some water balloons and eggs, even doused each other with syrup. (Yuck!) and used up a lot of toilet paper.

But, as always, there were a few youngsters who took the whole thing too far.

Filling a bank's night depository with eggs probably seemed amusing at the time. The culprits probably thought of adults having to clean the mess up. What they didn't consider was that checks are susceptible to moisture, and payroll checks can be difficult to replace.

Fortunately, the deposits the eggs hit were in bags...otherwise some poor soul could be trying to get a corruptin somewhere to replace his ruined payroll check...and most people find it difficult to miss a check for a few weeks!

Gold spray paint isn't really very funny either...destruction of city property simply costs someone's parents tax dollars...what is broken must be fixed! Taxes fix it. It's never too early to learn that simple fact of life!

Fleeing from the police is also inadvisable, as a number of youngsters found out last Saturday night.

Rocks in biscuits are very, very unamusing. They break things, they injure people, they result in arrests.

The solution to the whole thing is simple...I'm not advocating quitting the pranks...just suggesting to kids that they give just the tiniest bit of thought to what they are doing.

Shaving cream...go ahead. Shoe polish on windshields...let yourself go! Water balloons, horray...biscuits, toilet paper...whatever makes you happy...but please, don't do things that will create lasting damage. It simply isn't necessary in having a good time...and may even keep you from having a very bad one, at the police station!

Dear Nanalee,
Effective Law Enforcement requires the concern and active participation of the citizenry. No matter how well organized, equipped, energetic and highly motivated a Law Enforcement Agency may be, it cannot function effectively in the fight against crime without the cooperation of its community.

I want to commend the organizers of the Neighborhood Crime Watch Program in Deport and Blossom. I urge everyone to attend the organizational meeting in Deport on Thursday, November 5.

As with any new program the first few months of operation is very critical in laying the foundation for an organization to operate.

Let me assure everyone that Cary Lollar will provide an excellent informative program that will set the foundation for a very successful Neighborhood Watch.

Thank you,
Regie McDowra
Chairman

Pari-Mutuel Betting, Super-Collider Project Top Election Victories

After a predicted low voter turnout Tuesday, election officials were startled to see Texans voting in record numbers.

For the first time in 50 years, Texas will have legalized parimutuel betting as the result of the election.

Also winning was a plan to sell $500 million in bonds to try and get the federal government Superconducting Super Collider project.

The measure which would have kept the Texas Board of Education as an appointed panel instead of an elected one failed, however.

The parimutuel measure will allow up to four large tracks, in metropolitan areas. Smaller tracks would be allowed in any county that approves gambling in a local-option vote.

Dog races would be restricted to Gulf Coast areas.

Voters approved most of the "Build Texas" plan on the ballot, which would make it possible for $1 billion in bonds to be issued to build prisons, mental health and retardation facilities and water projects.

A constitutional amendment to issue $400 million in bonds to help finance public works projects was apparently defeated.

A profile of the entire election seems to indicate that Texas voters were willing to vote for anything that they believed would help the state's economy, creating more jobs and attracting industry to the state.

SPOOKS, GHOSTS and goblins presented fingerplays and Halloween songs for the Deport Nursing Home residents on October 30 in celebration of the Halloween holiday. The children are kindergarten students from Mrs. Traci Freeman's class at Deport Elementary School. The nursing

DEPORT FAITH Baptist Church had a fall festival last Friday night, with a costume party heading the list of events. Spooks, clowns, bunnies and a wide variety of other "things" showed up for

Juveniles Flee During Halloween Prank

Six juveniles created a major disturbance in Deport on Halloween night that ended in a chase and injury to one of the youngsters.

The six boys, riding in a late model pickup, were throwing eggs at passing vehicles when Constable Al Parks attempted to stop them.

The driver of the pickup instead fled, prompting volunteers of the Deport Kiwanis Club and the Constable to give chase. After going down a dead end road, the pickup cut across the Deport American Legion walking track and exited between the Legion Hall on the west end, cutting across the parking lot and striking an electric pole guy wire, showering sparks and almost overturning the pickup, according to witnesses.

Then they fled out of Deport towards Pattonville. Eventually, they turned north at Crockett Hill and wound up stuck in the mud in a wheat field. By that time Lamar County Sheriff's Deputies were on the scene, and managed to apprehend two of the teenagers, who were on foot. Three others apparently managed to escape on foot, while a third juvenile remained in the bed of the pickup with an injured leg.

Paramedics with the ambulance service took the boy to Paris for medical treatment.

Department of Public Safety officers took the driver of the pickup into custody and charged him with disorderly conduct.

Further information is currently unavailable.

The BEST Heater You Can Buy is a Heat Pump

"The best" is a strong phrase to use, but it's a fitting description of the heat pump. The heat pump is the most efficient heater made. Better yet, it is an air conditioner and heater all in one. No other heating and air conditioning system — using any other energy source — can make your home comfortable as energy efficiently as the heat pump.

How does the heat pump work? In winter, the heat pump draws heat from the outside air and pumps it inside. In summer, it pumps the heat out of your house.

When it comes time to replace your old heating and cooling system, consider the most energy efficient system made — the heat pump. For more free information, contact the neighborly professionals at Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

"LETTER TO EDITOR"

Dear Editor:
Veterans Day, November 11, in a very real sense should be of great significance to all Americans. This is a day established by the Congress of the United States to honor the millions of Americans, men and women, who joined the ranks of our nation's armed forces in defense of liberty and our precious freedoms.

On November 11, 1918, a more innocent generation than our own hailed the victorious conclusion of the "war to end all wars." For two decades afterward, the observance of what was then known as Armistice Day was an occasion for commemorating the great outpouring of relief, prayerful thanksgiving and unrestrained joy which marked the end of the first World War.

The fact that war remains a reality in today's world, that democracy faces serious challenges takes nothing from the achievements of the men and women who answered the nation's call to arms in that era, or who had served with honor during the subsequent periods of conflict.

Our national consciousness today has been tempered to the realization that no one lump sum of effort or sacrifice will assure an honorable world peace.

However, a giant step toward the attainment of that lofty goal begins with the recognition of our veterans, men and women, who throughout this century have set aside their civilian pursuits to serve our nation's cause, the defense of freedom against the challenge of armed aggression.

As we pause in our daily routine to observe Veterans Day, let us consider how we, as Americans, can honor those who have served our nation.

First and foremost, we can respond simply to being Americans, Americans who are alert, Americans who are concerned for the efforts of those less fortunate who strive for the freedoms we hold so dear, Americans who are not afraid to face the challenges confronting our nation, Americans who will express in completely understandable terms and actions our support of reasonable and effective solutions to those problems.

At the same time, let us reaffirm that our nation's strength and greatness rests on a foundation that declares "veteran" is an honorable word, a word that symbolizes fulfillment of the highest obligation of citizenship.

As an expression of its gratitude for the sacrifice of veterans in preserving its heritage, this nation has established a program of benefits, medical, hospital, compensatory, etc., appropriate to the veteran's respective service contribution.

Now, there are developments which would seriously weaken, if not destroy, this concept.

This Veterans Day should remind us that, thanks to those who answered their country's call, this nation has endured periods of trial, peril and despair. We can give greater meaning to the day by advising our lawmakers that America's spirit of justice demands that there be no threat to the integrity of the nation's program of benefits for her veterans. Tigers Claw Patriots In 34-10 Contest

By Thomas Nichols
A thirty-four to ten loss was the result of the Prairiland Patriots visit to Clarksville last Friday night. Even though the Tigers had troubles with penalties and the Patriots showed flashes of success moving the ball against the Tigers on their own turf, they managed to hand the Patriots another defeat. The Patriots struck with bad luck right from the start of the game, fumbled the ball on their own thirty-four yard line. The Clarksville Tigers used five plays to score their first six points.

P.G. Morrison for the Patriots, nixed the Tigers two point conversion attempt and kept the Tigers lead to six. On the Patriots next possession, they exhibited poise and confidence. Wade Sparks returned the Tigers' kickoff to the twenty-four yard line of the Patriots. Steven Johnson and Craig Ladd managed a few tough yards, and quarterback Martin Babb connected with Jack Kindle on a ten yard pass play. On the next series of downs, the Patriots came up short and Babb was forced to punt.

The Tigers looked good on the punt return but a clipping penalty moved them back to their own 14-yard line. The very next play, Eric Scales fumbled the Tiger ball and Patriot Steven Shirley recovered for a Patriot first and ten from the Tigers' ten yard line.

Unable to ship the ball over the Tigers goal line by air, Coach Chambers called on Jack Kindle for a field goal and with three minutes and fourteen seconds left in the first quarter, the score stood at six to three for the Tigers.

The second quarter started with Desean McPherson making the reception in the Patriot endzone for six more points. The Patriot defense denied the two point conversion attempt for the second time in the contest and the Tigers had 12 points.

The Patriots held the Tigers out of their endzone until 51 seconds before the end of the first half. After several penalties and fumbles by the Tigers, Eric Scales managed to break the barrier for six. Unable to stop the Tiger two point conversion attempt for the third time, the half ended 20-3 in favor of the Tigers.

The Patriots started a successful drive from the Tiger 46-yard line late in the third quarter. After Giovanni Scarano covered another Clarksville fumble, Steven Johnson and Craig Ladd moved the ball down to the Tiger 20-yard line. The Tigers were called for unsportsmanlike conduct and the Patriots had first and ten from the Tigers own ten yard line.

Steven Johnson got half of that on the next try and quarterback Martin Babb sneaked in the endzone on the next try and the Patriots had ten points after Jack Kindle booted the extra point.

Threatened by a Patriot comeback, the Clarksville coaching staff wasted no time in putting their starters back in the game and attempted to run up the score for a little more insurance of a win.

And a win they got. At the final tick on the clock, the Tigers had rolled up 34 points and the Patriots came home with only 10.

Coach Chambers said he was proud of his team. "We can't ask much more from what we have. If we can win against Mt. Vernon next week at Prairiland, that will make our season."
