Do any of you have the Weekend Job Syndrome? You know the one, where you intend to relax, but all those things that you need to "get around to" keep interfering? It's the same for most of us.

We take our book, or newspaper, or get a movie, perhaps fix up some iced tea or pour a nice, tall soft drink into our favorite glass, and snuggle down either in an armchair or the porch swing. And, for about 30 minutes, it works. The stress of the work day week begins to fade away.

The sounds around us diminish into nothingness.

But the sounds inside our head get louder.

"Did you notice how many holes were in that screen door? some work-related devil whispers. Or "How can you sit here while the kitchen stove is so nasty" . Or the closet is filthy, the yard is grown up, the flower beds need weeding, the house needs painting, the rooms need wall papering, the kid's bathroom needs plumbing work, or one or more of dozens of around the house projects .

Apartment dwellers may have a small advantage, but if it isn't working on structures, there's always sewing, finishing projects or hobbies, and a long, long list of other things that need doing.

Correspondence to friends, sorting through old pictures, the list is endless.

Some people can actually manage to ignore these intrusions into their leisure time, but most folks can't.

So what happens when that demon prods you up out of the chair and into action?

Well, of course, the materials needed to do the job really right are never on hand.

THAT means a trip to the nearest lumber yard, fabric store, or whatever emporium carries the needed supplies. Of course, that means that the expense is higher than anticipated, which is depressing!

Oh, indeed it's a vicious disease, that Weekend Job Syndrome. There is absolutely, positively, not a single way to win.

If you persist in relaxing, then guilt feelings leave you feeling exhausted and restless.

If you leap up and go project chasing then you end up spending money and/or being exhausted from all the work!

There doesn't seem to be any way to manage the problem.

So, I guess it just depends on what type of mentality you have...whether you prefer to give in and go to work, or resist and feel guilty.

At any rate, this syndrome is incurable, and irritating, and I've never met anyone who didn't suffer from it to a greater or lesser degree!

Teenager Killed In Head On Collision

Prairiland High School students were stricken by the tragic death of Jennifer LeAnn McFadden, a 16 year old student killed Sunday evening in a car accident.

Although she had transferred to Prairiland in January, she had quickly become an accepted student with friends who feel her death keenly.

Devastated parents can only look at the prom pictures that arrived Monday, showing a vibrant, pretty teenager.

Miss McFadden was travelling home after picking up supper for her family, heading southbound in a 1988 Buick LeSabre that came into collision with a 1964 Ford F 250 pickup driven by Glendon Dale Taylor of Brookston.

According to Trooper L.D. Watson of the Texas Department of Public Safety it was a three-vehicle accident.

Reports indicate that two vehicles were northbound when the driver of the pickup attempted to pass in a no-passing zone on a hill.

The McFadden vehicle apparently also came into collision with a 1977 Ford van driven by Sandra Jean Nelson.

Earl Ellis, a passenger in the van, said he and his son Deloy tried to aid Miss McFadden, and did manage to pull Taylor to safety.

Taylor was first listed in critical condition, but has since been listed at St. Joseph's Hospital as serious and stable.

The accident is still under investigation by authorities, no charges have been filed.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Prairiland High School Gymnasium with graveside services Thursday at 11:30 a.m. at Greenwood Cemetery in Ft. Worth.

Deport City Council Meets

The Deport City Council met in regular session Monday, attending to several items of business.

They appointed Charles Rollins to draft an ordinance for the plumbing code, and took no action on flow meter discussion or ramps.

Mayor Pro-Tem Nancy Gresham swore in Charles Foster as Mayor, and Duane Glover and Gilbert Arriaga were sworn in as councilmen.

They decided to purchase a calculator for Jerry Burns, and received a petition from James and Sue Farris about the property of Preston Crump located next to their home. The petition stated that they felt the abandoned house was both a health and fire hazard. The council will present this petition to the Deport Volunteer Fire Department on Monday, May 21 for their action.

Sanitation rates were raised from $3 per month to $4 due to an increase of rates with B&B Equipment Company. The increase will become effective June 1, 1990.

The votes were canvassed and the election stands. The council approved the minutes and heard and approved the financial report and payment of bills.

Earth Day Clean-Up Will Be May 19

Day observance.

Loose Dogs A Problem Once Again...Child Bitten

Once again the Deport City Council has asked this paper to speak to the public about the problem of dogs running loose within the city limits. This plea for co-operation from citizens goes out after an incident nearly a week ago in which a child riding on her bicycle was bitten by a loose dog. The child is currently still hospitalized.

Dogs run loose with no sign of collar or tag, and their owners are frequently unknown.

The City of Deport does not have the funds to establish a pound or holding area that would meet the strictly specified standards set by the government, and obviously does not want to have to impose taxes on the citizens of Deport in order to establish one.

They cannot begin killing dogs without having the citizens of Deport upset, as beloved pets would undoubtedly die as well as strays, and killing the animals would be a cruel and unpleasant solution to the problem.

What can be done then? Basically the situation has only one solution, and that is for people to accept responsibility for their dogs. Voluntary co-operation is by far the best, cheapest and most humane way to handle the problem.

Pets who are kept up are less likely to be run over, attacked by larger animals or poisoned. They are healthier and generally happier.

Even if someone absolutely won't confine their pet, rabies vaccination and an identification collar is inexpensive and easily obtainable. The Community Service Club sponsors clinics (two have just recently been held) where dogs can be vaccinated for rabies at a nominal fee. Anyone who can afford to feed a dog can surely afford the simple shot that keeps this deadly disease under control!

The next dog bite incident may be even more serious than this last one. Citizens are urged once again to take responsibility for their own animal so that this problem can be solved through voluntary efforts!

House Number Installation To Begin Soon

The Deport Community Club is about to begin putting up house numbers. Several members who are available during the week expect to begin putting them up almost immediately.

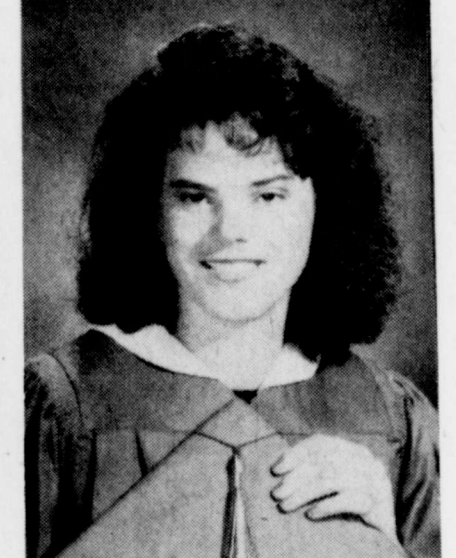

Anyone wishing to contact city hall to get their name on the list of those wishing to have the club install the numbers.

Those who have already done so can expect to be contacted about a time to put them up in the immediate future.

The numbers will be required when the area goes on the 911 emergency system.

To The Editor:

Help! For years it's been a spring and summer tradition to see young girls playing softball at the girls' field in Blossom. Parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins and friends crowd the bleachers and sit along the fence in lawn chairs enjoying a favorite American pastime, socializing, and enjoying the obvious pleasure the children derive from participating in the softball program. Many times people stop to watch who have no kindred tie and for no apparent reason other than the enjoyment drawn from watching the young girls have fun.

This program is worthwhile and gives purpose and direction to young girls who might not otherwise have activities to occupy their leisure time. Also, this program provides an opportunity for young girls to function as a team member, to accept responsibility, and to learn sportsmanship and fair play while learning to be competitive.

Unfortunately, this program is being threatened by lack of funds because of a necessity to rewire and replace electrical boxes deemed unsafe by the City of Blossom. Until some upgrading is done and safety is insured, only day games can be played.

The association is planning to have fundraisers and bake sales to appropriate funds for these improvements; however, these improvements are needed now! The Blossom Girls' Softball Association would appreciate any support or donations from individuals or businesses for these costly but mandatory improvements.

Perhaps you are one who has seen the positive effect this program has had in the lives of hundreds of young girls over the years as well as on the community itself. Perhaps you have witnessed the family enjoyment and togetherness this program promotes, or perhaps you are a spectator who enjoys the simple things in life like a community softball game. Help keep this girls' softball program safe and sound; help keep this tradition alive!

The Blossom Girls' Softball Association

Glimpses Of Village Life, Farm Life and Life As Past Royalty

As you may recall from last week's vacation account, we had arrived in Oatsmarsum, a village over 1,000 years old, and were getting ready to go into Germany.

I suppose most of us who have grown up on tales of World War II have some prejudice against Germany deep within us. And the little we saw of Frankfurt, Germany on our unscheduled stop there only two days before had done nothing to dispell that.

When our tour bus arrived at the German border it looked rather forbidding, with military vehicles and personell around. But we made only a brief stop there, then proceeded to Munster the "City of Churches".

Our little group quickly split up as some went shopping, others simply wandering.

Bill and Berniece Buck, from Channelview, were looking for a few children's books such as Mother Goose. Their daughter, who is a teacher, wanted her class to be able to see what familiar stories looked like in another language. So we went from book store to book store, finding that not as many Germans spoke English well enough to communitie as the Dutch do.

Still, we made side trips to beautiful cathedrals, and saw window shutters painted in bright red and white, newspaper windows with their best issues glassed and on display, and stairways with a ramp to roll bikes down. Yes, bicycles were the primary mode of transportation in Germany too.

We had lunch in a Greek restaurant, where the little waitress spoke little English. Figuring out the menu wasn't easy, in fact, we never did know for sure what we were eating, only that it had beef and macaroni in it!

We had started back down the street when a cry of "Allo, allo" rang out and the waitress came running down the street as fast as she could with Berniece's camera!

Everyone was friendly and pleasant, and most of those stereotypes about Germans went down the drain.

After Munster we went to Tecklenburg, a quaint village in hills much like those found in Arkansas. There, on the simple cobblestoned square, old men sat with their dogs and swapped tales and smoked their pipes. Little blond headed boys peeked at us from the door of flower shops, and bells sent their timely message over the hills.

We wandered once more through the local cemetery, surprised to find that every grave was a miniature flower garden, planted with the brightest of living plants. Somehow, we always like to visit a local cemetery, for we believe how a people care for their dead says something about them.

The Germans frequently take picnic lunches to the cemetery on Sundays, an elderly lady told us, and tidy the graves and visit with friends who have also come.

For a while I couldn't figure out what the "Heir Rust" at the top of so many headstones meant. "Surely", I asked Thomas, "there can't be that many people with the last name or Heir Rust or Rust?" Slowly it soaked into my thick skull. That was German for "Here Rests"!

After a leisurely drive through the Tutoburger forest we were once more "home" in Oatsmarsum. We hurried downtown to do some shopping at the pleasant stores, purchasing hand painted tiles for friends back home. The shop keeping at the antique store spoke no English, but we managed none the less to get prices straight and purchases wrapped safely.

Dee, a tour member from New York, came flying up to us to ask if she could borrow ten guilders, being short and finding that they couldn't take Traveller's Checks or credit crads.

After loaning it to her we walked back through town with her. There we discovered a statue in honor of the town night watchman-and discovered a striking difference between American and Dutch philosophy.

The night watchman used to wander through the streets of villages, and he swung a large clapper or ratchet noisemaker. This alerted anyone who might be about to commit a crime to quit what they were doing and flee, so that the crime was prevented, and no confrontation occurred. Quite a difference between the American attitude of catch if you possibly can!

The next mornig we went to Palais Het Loo (pronounced Low).

This was once the royal residence and was simply awesome.

It contained uncountable rooms, with striking murals adorning ceilings and walls, crystal chandeliers, procelains and a wide variety of stunning fireplaces, carvings and furniture.

At one time Napoleon occupied the palace, and painted over much of the beauty with Empire Red and gilt!

The "backyard" was perhaps the most fantastic part of the place, though. Patterned after the gardens at Versailles in France, scrolls and intricate patterns trimmed from a wide variety of shrubs whirled the mind up and out to fasten upon fountains in the shape of huge globes, complete with golden continents, and statuary to delight any eye.

Live horses champed and snorted softly in the lavish stables, and displays of royal sleighs, wgons, buggies and tack boggled the senses with the exquisite craftsmanship. Out under the stable porch the cobble stone were actually wooden, to soften the sounds of carriages and horses iron-shod hooves.

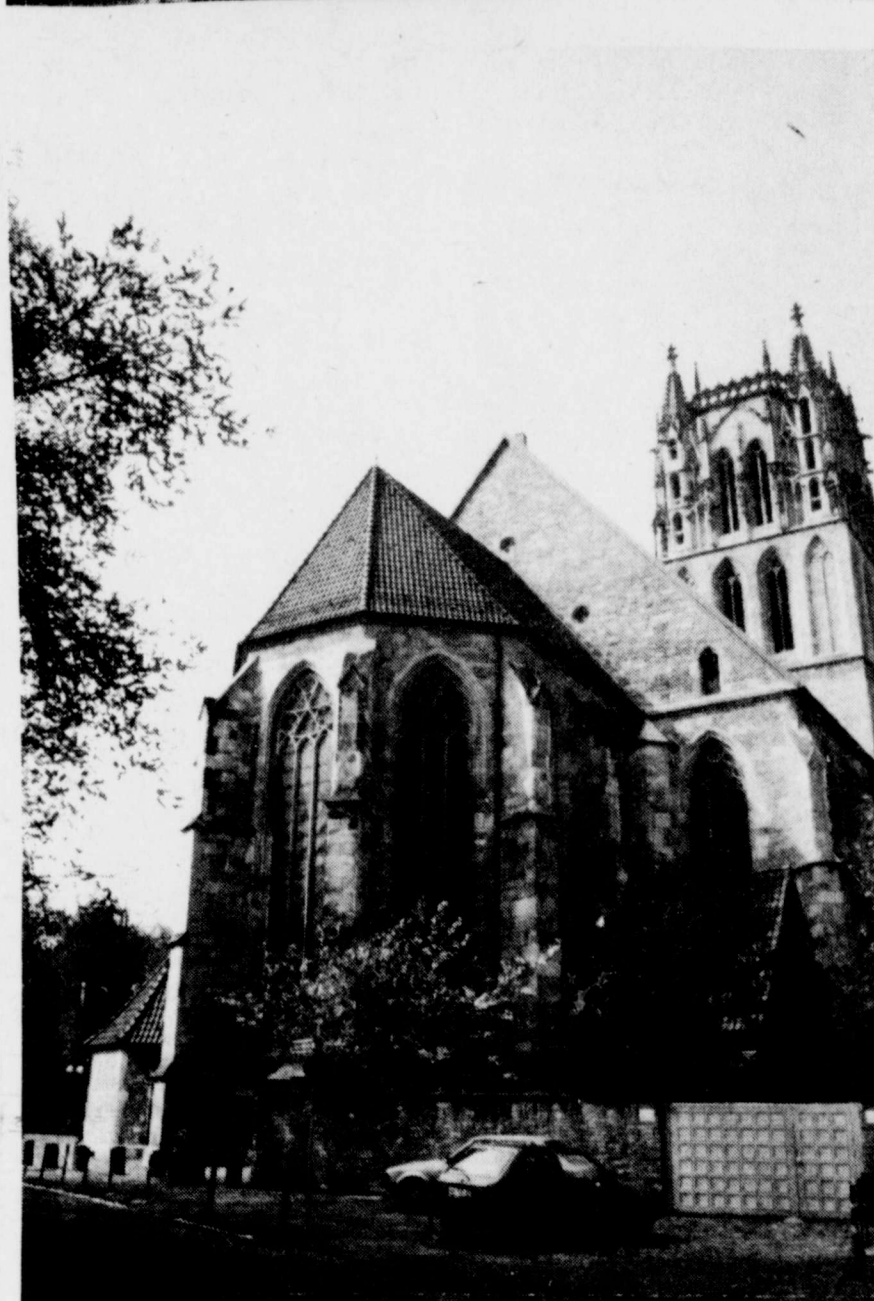

Peacocks strutted their haughty way across lush green lawns.

I spoke for some time to the bus driver about the Dutch farming situation. They are in much the same situation as the U.S. farmers, with their prices fixed by the European Community of which they are a part, and production costs steadily going up. They are trying to reduce the number of farms, and pay farmers to quit farming. This seemed to us, so sad, since their farms were so beautifully kept, obviously cared for by people with a deep and abiding sense of love for the land and a willingness to work.

Late that afternoon we arrived in Amsterdam, and our tour took on a whole new tone, of which we will speak later.

VILLAGE LIFE is slow paced in Tecklenburg, a small town near Munster, Germany. There old men spin yarns about the past on aneat square, surrounded by half timered buildings that make contrasting patterns of black and white. (Staff Photo by Nanalee Nichols)

Child Care Bill Can Help Put America First Again

Before summer, President Bush will have an opportunity to sign into law a new child care bill that helps the states provide $1.75 billion in child care assistance for low-income families who otherwise have difficulty finding or keeping jobs. He should sign the bill quickly a major step in taking care this country's pressing needs after so many years of successfully promoting American-style capitalism abroad.

The legislation going to President Bush is distinctly American, however, has been fine tuned over the past year to comply with his ideas.

It contains the tax breaks the President wanted for low-income families in which one parent chooses to remain at home to care for the children.

The bill provides assurances that the states themselves--and not any federal bureaucracy--will be responsible for deciding minimal health and safety protections for child care centers. The bill recognizes that in America churches always have and must continue to play a big role in providing child care services. And the bill gives help to families who choose to leave their children with relatives.

The bill doesn't do anything new except change the odds on getting help and the opportunities for economic self-sufficiency. The sooner Congress can put finishing touches on this legislation, and the sooner the President can sign it, then the sooner America can start taking care of itself again.

Pony League Wins 13-7

What started out to be pitcher's dual, turned into a slug-fest in the eighth inning of a Pony League game at Woodall Field in Paris. The Pirates pitcher, Steve McIntyre and Blossom's pitcher, Justin Withers, were nearly even in statistics through the fourth inning. Withers saw relief from Deport's Paul Jackson with two outs in the top of the fourth inning. At the end of the fourth inning, the score was 4-3 with the Pirates holding the lead. In the top of the sixth inning, behind 4-3, Blossom came alive. With Swede Ladd and Withers on third and second, Jason Whitley drove a line drive into short left field, scoring the two base runners and ending up on second due to an error in left field. Whitley scored, putting Blossom in the lead 6-4. That lead was shortlived as the Pirates tied the game in the bottom of the seventh inning. In the top of the eighth inning with one out, Isaac Unruh walked and then, on a dare-devil run from first on a throwing error, scored. Following Unruh's score, Gearl Keys hit a base hit, Ladd walked, P. Jackson hit a triple, Withers bunted safely, Whitley hit another line drive, Eldon Jackson hit a base hit to short left field and Jeff Gilbert drove a single over second base. An attempted steal home by Gilbert on a throwing error was the third out. Two ground-outs and a strike-out by Paul Jackson ended the Pirates hopes of a come-back with Blossom winning, 13-7. Fine defensive plays were made by Eldon Jackson, Gilbert, Whitley, Ladd, Unruh and Withers. Also contributing to a fine game were Aaron Kutzer, Jeremy Smith and Jamey Slaton. Coaches for the team are Jackie Whitley and Paul Jackson.

Band Boosters Meet

The Prairiland Band Boosters met Monday night, May 14 at the school. The scholarship given by the club was awarded to Susan Richey, daughter of Dorothy and Jerry Richey.

New officers were elected. They are: president, Jo Crawford; reporter, Linda McLaughlin; secretary-treasurer, Sue Sheppard. The next meeting will be June 4.

Pony League Drops Make-Up Game

The Blossom Pony League team ran into a fired up Red Sox team Saturday, as they met at Woodall Field for a make-up game from an earlier rain-out. The defense and offense for the Blossom-Deport combination team was sluggish from a late extra-inning game on Friday. Swede Ladd did a fine job on the pitcher's mound, throwing for the entire seven inning game. The sun came out and heated up everything except the Blossom bats. The teams stayed even through the fourth inning, when Blossom scored two runs on a short rally and then scored three more in the fifth inning. That left the score 8-4 at the end of the sixth inning. Blossom failed to score in the top of the seventh and the Red Sox came to bat in the bottom of the inning. Combining good solid base hits and a few errors by the Patriot team, the Red Sox scored the winning run with two outs. Contributing base hits for the Blossom team were Gearl Keys, Swede Ladd, Paul Jackson, Justin Withers, Jason Whitley, Eldon Jackson and Jamey Slaton. Also playing for the Blossom team are Scotty Murray, Aaron Kutzer, Jeff Gilbert, Isaac Unruh and Jeremy Smith. Blossom plays again this week on Monday and Friday evenings in Paris.

Flood Damage Mounts

By Paul D. Payne
CEA-AG
Lamar County

Damage to crops and pastures continues to mount as flood waters from the Red River covers thousands of acres. The full extent of the damage will not be fully determined for several days. The hardest hit crop will probably be wheat although making a precise damage assessment at this time is difficult. It is safe to assume that wheat that has been under water for more than 48 hours is ruined. That which is standing in water will no doubt be severely affected. Most of the plants will die as the roots cannot survive in the absence of oxygen. Various forms of rots will develop which will weaken the stalk. We do not know what damage was done to the wheat which was only under water for a day. We will have to wait and see. Grass pastures which remain under water will have a partial or complete kill of grasses. Although Bermuda grass can withstand lots of water, there is a limit to what it can tolerate. We can also expect to find much silt once the waters recede. There, no doubt, will be hours and hours of work required to remove logs and other debris from fields. Early assessment indicates that roads and bridges disappeared and tons of money will be required to restore them. The rainy spell not only affected farming operations along the Red River, but throughout the county as farmers fall more behind with their planting of soybeans, cotton and milo. Even though the rains have stopped, it will be another week to 10 days before soils dry enough to permit field work. Soybean farmers need to be thinking in terms of planting Group V and VI variety beans instead of the early maturing ones. A late maturing Group IV soybean variety such as Crawford would probably be acceptable. If August rain is received this summer, one will be successful with the later maturing varieties. This is a big IF. Keep a film of fungicide on those tomato plants for protection from Early Blight and other diseases. Moist leaves are ideal conditions for the disease to thrive. The December freeze took out a big percentage of our St. Augustine lawns in the area. Many lawns which survived previous freezes did not make the 1989 one. If your grass has not greened up by now, it will not. Bermuda grass would be a good choice for those open areas. Other possibilities would be Centipede Grass or Buffalo Grass. In the shaded areas, one may want to go back to St. Augustine or wait until this fall to plant dwarf tall fescue grass.

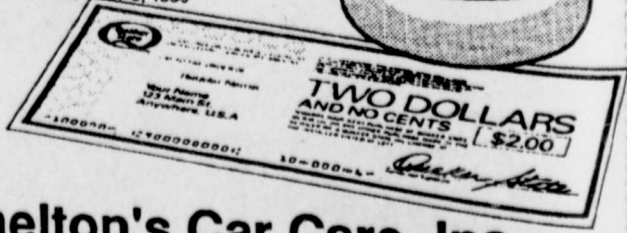

America's first railroad timetable was advertised in Baltimore's newspaper "The American" in 1830 by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. Trips were established between Baltimore and Ellicott's Mills, MD, a 26-mile journey that cost 75 cents. Passengers had to book round-trip passage because of a shortage of cars.

Social Security Notes

By Ray Hudson, District Mgr. Paris Social Security Office
 How bank accounts affect SSI eligibility...is an area that consistently confuses people who are receiving or applying for SSI. This column should help clear up some of that confusion. To be eligible for SSI, a person must have resources of less than $2,000 ($3,000 for a couple). Bank accounts are usually considered resources; therefore, they count toward this limit. What's so confusing about that, you wonder. Well, Social Security considers a bank account yours if you name is on it as owner or co-owner and there are no legal restrictions that keep you from taking money out and using it for your own benefit. This is true even if you don't use the account or don't consider the account yours. That means it's important that bank accounts are precisely titled to reflect ownership and access. Let's suppose Mary Jones applies for SSI. Her daughter, Jane, has a $3,000 savings account. Jane listed Mary as a joint owner, primarily so Mary would have access to the money in case something happened to Jane. Although Mary doesn't consider the account to be hers, Social Security does, and she could be found ineligible for SSI because she is over the $2,000 resource limit. Of course, if Jane's account is titled to restrict Mary's access, the account would not be considered Mary's and would not affect Mary's eligibility. Proper titling is also critical when community, civic or social groups collect money for a special reason such as to help pay an SSI recipient's medical expenses. Although the donors gave money to the person, they also placed restrictions on its use, and the account must be titled to show the restrictions. As long as the account title shows the money cannot be used for food, clothing or shelter, the account is not considered a resource. The best advice I can give is always check with Social Security about how to set up accounts involving SSI recipients. We can give you specific instructions so you can avoid

PUBLIC NOTICE
 COMBINED NOTICE OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT and NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS: On or about June 3, 1990, the City of Talco will certify to the Texas Department of Commerce to release Federal funds under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, to be used for the following project:

City of Talco
 Water System Improvements
 The project provides for the installation of approximately 33,000 L.F. of water line, 1 new fire hydrant, rehabilitation of 27 existing fire hydrants and reconnection of all City customers to the new water distribution system. This provision replaces all of the deteriorated cast iron lines in the water system.

Location of Project: City of Talco.
 Estimated cost of the project is $312,655.
FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT
 It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly the above-named Municipality has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

The reason for such decision not to prepare such Statement is as follows: A preliminary Environmental Review assessing the impact of the project activities has resulted in a finding of no significant impact on the environment.
 An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above-named Municipality which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at City Hall between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Public Comments on Finding: All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the Municipality to the office of the Mayor.
 NOTICE
 I will not be responsible for any past, present or future debts other than those incurred by myself.
