Have you ever picked up a glossy magazine and seen those ads or articles on kitchens? You know, the ones where they have those sparkling countertops, and those glass fronted cabinets with immaculate, gorgeous crystal neatly arranged behind them. Those kitchens have pull out racks with pot lids arranged in them, and the pots are never greasestained or battered.

I figure that one of two things must be going on in these kitchens: either no one cooks in them; or they aren't real, they are displays in stores!

Somewhere, perhaps, there is a homemaker whose kitchen really looks like these all the time. It's not mine, however.

Saturday I lost my mind and decided to clean the kitchen cabinets.

So, armed with cleaning liquids, rags, scrub brushes, new shelpaper and sissors, I sat on the floor and began.

Now, all of us have those shelves that are nice and ddep. You know, the ones where all sorts of things have shifted to the back, where they lurk, unwanted, unremembered.

So, I began throwing things out.

Where, along the way, did I come to own a collection of holiday cookie tins bigger than a discount store's?

What, was a Dallas road map doing wedged under a casserole dish so old it had orange musrooms emblazoned on it?

Why did I have a set of mixing-bowls big enough to feed an entire army division, but none small enough to feed the two members of our household?

Did I ever really use those hideous splotted placemats?

These questions, and more, arose as I dug through stacks of stuff, threw out, washed, papered and put things back in general order.

Anyone else know about this stuff? Anyone else find that they keep letting their scrubbers get shoved to the back, and buying more rather than getting down on hands and knees to dig them out?

Oh, it was quite a day. I mean, I actually disposed of my entire collection of empty coffee cans!

I threw out my extensive collection of paper napkins, of where there were only one or two alike. Birthday, Christmas, wedding, they all went in the trash!

I got carried away and threw away the bows off of floral arrangements, saved for years!

What a field day! Two garbage sacks went out, then another!

Finally, my cleaning frenzy finished, I arose from my task, spent a considerable amount of time picking up the last evidences of my labors, and waited for someone to notice. No one did. Not Thomas, not my visiting niece, no one.

Finally, I led them into the spotless, gleaming kitchen (which still doesn't look like those in magazines, mind you) and began throwing open cabinet and pantry doors shouting "look, look" and "see here how clean this is!"

They appeared mildly interested, so I sulked off to think about whether or not to tackle the under-the-stairs closet or not.

Nope, nobody appreciates my efforts anyway!

PATS Project Leads Student To Ancestors!

By Jerry Leverett

During the last few months, Tammie Gibson has learned some interesting things about the history of her family. Tammie, the daughter of Brenda and Larry Gibson of Pattonville, is a sixth grade student at Deport Junior High School and a fourth year participant in Prairiland's gifted and talented (PATS) program.

For her spring PATS project, Tammie decided to trade her family tree on both her mother's and her father's side. When she began her project back in January, little did she realize that her research would take her all of the way back to the first decade of the sixteenth century when one of her ancestors, Sir John Whitley, owned Bromwich Castle in Leicestershire, England. Tammie also discovered that in the early 1600's, the Whitley family came to the colonies and in the early 1700's moved on to settle in North Carolina.

In 1870, the family moved from Abernate, North Carolina, to Red River County, settling about eight miles south of Detroit, Texas. They traveled by steamboat to Jefferson, TX and then by oxcart on to Red River County.

In the course of her research, Tammie found that in addition to Sir John, there were several other prominent Whitleys. Richard Whitley, Sir John's son who was born May 3, 1565, was an Episcopal clergyman. John Whitley, Richard's grandson who died in 1672, was a ship's captain. Benjamin Whitley, who died in 1757, was a naval officer in North Carolina and a commissioned agent for Lord Granville. Needham Whitley, who died on March 20, 1907, served as a sharpshooter, Company G, North Carolina Regiment. Tammie's maternal grandmother was the late Edna Whitley, who died August 18, 1980.

On her father's side, Tammie was able to trace her family back to the late 1700's where she discovered a very interesting lady, her great-great-great-great-grandmother, Zilpha Scott Dockery. Known to all her friends as Grandma Dockery, she lived to be 107 years old, and her life spanned three centuries from 1796 to 1903. A Dallas Morning News article dated January 17, 1902, distinguished Grandma Dockery as being the oldest living person in North Texas at that time.

Editor's Note: Jerry Leverett is Director of Prairiland's PATS Program.

TAMMIE GIBSON, a Prairiland Gifted and Talented Student in the Sixth Grade, began a spring project that has led her back to the sixteenth century. Tammie's study of her family tree has proved interesting and comprehensive. (Staff Photo by Pansy Morrow)

Bogata Princess Contest Now Accepting Entries

According to Donna Rozell, director of the 1990 Bogata Rodeo Princess contest, the contest is now open and the first six applicants will be accepted.

Girls between the ages of 6 and 13, who live within a 25-mile radius of Bogata can apply for the contest, which will be judged in the following categories: 50% ticket sales; 25% horsemanship and 25% personality and appearance. The deadline for entries is June 9 at noon. Ticket sales will begin at that time. The crowning of the Princess will take place during the opening performance of the Bogata Rodeo on Thursday, June 28. Anyone interested entering the Princess contest is asked to contact Donna Rozell at 632-4405.

U.S. MARINE CORPS Awards were presented to Dexter Baker and Susan Richey, students at Prairiland High School. Dexter Baker was presented the Distinguished Athlete Award by the United States Marine Corps for displaying courage, self-confidence and leadership as a high school athlete. Susan Richey received the "Semper Fidelis"

Award for musical excellence from the United States Marines Youth Foundation, Inc. and the Marine Corps League in recognition of diligence, dedication and musical excellence as a performing high school bandman and soloist. (Staff Photo by Pansy Morrow)

FLIPPED-This 1979 Dodge pickup apparently struck a guard rail on a bridge on Highway 271 early Tuesday morning, then catapulted into the bottom of the deep creek between Bogata and Deport. When motorists noticed the accident and reported it, no one was on the scene. Evidence was found that indicated at least two people had managed to scramble out of the totalled vehicle and climb out of the creek. The accident is currently under investigation by the DPS and Red River County law officers. (Staff Photo by Nanalee Nichols)

How Do You Dress A Calf?

You read correctly. How do you dress a calf? If you don't know, you need to be sure and attend the first performance of the annual Bogata Rodeo, sponsored by the Bogata Rodeo Association.

The Rodeo Association will sponsor a calf dressing for female contestants only, three members to a team. The first six teams only will be accepted.

Anyone interested in competing in this one-night only contest should contact Eddy Denny at 632-5716.

Prize money will be awarded to the first, second and third place teams.

Each team will be required to have a sponsorship of $50.00 for the competition.

The Bogata Rodeo will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, June 28-29-30 at the Bogata Rodeo Arena.

Blossom-Deport Pony Team Runs Into Whirlwind

The Blossom-Deport Pony Team ran into a whirlwind when they took the field against the fired up Mets team at Woodall Field in Paris on Monday night. All three of the Blossom pitchers had trouble with the Mets bats.

Justin Withers started the game and seemed to handle the Mets until the third inning when they began to hit his pitches with some authority. Withers left the game in the third inning with one out and the score was 6-0. Jason Whitley came from second base to relieve Withers and met the same hot bats from the Mets. Whitley was relieved by Paul Jackson in the fourth inning with no outs and the score was 12-3.

Good solid base hits off Jackson plagued the Blossom team and at the end of five innings, the Mets had the win with a score of 19-3.

The Mets pitcher seemed to be as strong as any the Blossom team had seen and they were only able to get two hits all evening. The Blossom score was gained in the third inning when Isaac Unruh bunted safely on a throwing error by the pitcher, Gearl Keys walked and advanced on a fielders choice hit by Paul Jackson. Withers hit a screamer between third and shortstop scoring Keys and Jackson and then stole third and home on passed balls.

Good defensive plays were given by Jeff Gilbert, Jackson, Steven Swaim, Withers, E. Jackson and Jamey Slayton.

Also playing for the Blossom-Deport team are Jeremy Smith, Aaron Kutzer and Scotty Murray.

The next games for the team are Wednesday night in a make-up game and Friday night.

Base running errors cost the Blossom Pony Team the game when the Bluejays and Blossom played Friday night at Woodall Field.

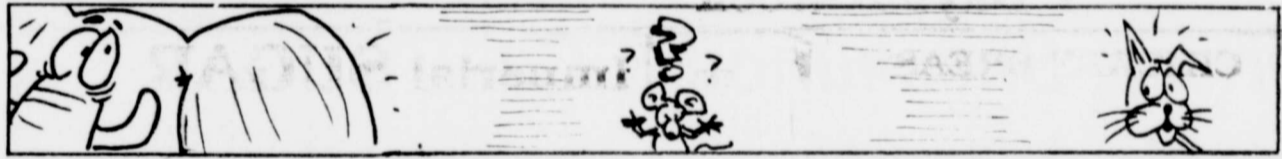

Blossom played strong defense and hit well at the plate but seemed to be asleep on the base paths. The bases were loaded three times with one out and Blossom failed to score.

The Bluejays won the game 11-9 in six innings. Hits were registered to Gearl Keys, Swede Ladd, Paul Jackson, Justin Withers, Jason Whitley, Eldon Jackson and Steven Swaim.

Most effectively, E. Jackson, Withers, P. Jackson, Keys and Isaac Unruh performed well.

Also playing a good game were Jeff Gilbert, Jamey Slaton, Jeremy Smith and Scotty Murray.

Coaches for the Blossom-Deport Pony team are Jackie Whitley and Paul Jackson.

The hearing of an elephant is about as acute as that of a cat. Both animals can hear sounds as soft as the footsteps of a mouse.

Fifty Million Bulbs -Overwhelming!

As we continue our trip tales we appreciate those who have expressed their pleasure in the stories we have run.

Delft has to be one of the most charming of country towns. We traveled there one day from Amsterdam, to visit the Porcelain Flies, which has been in existence since the sixteenth century.

Blue Delft comes in many forms, from the completely hand created and intricate, to the rather casually made.

At the Flies we saw them hand "throwing" the pottery, then using charcoal to trace the pattern on. Finally, they handpainted the intricate design onto the piece, prior to a lengthy firing process.

It is expensive, but understandably so, since the painting alone takes 2 to 6 hours of handwork.

Then we wandered downtown to the charming old city center.

It was like a carnival! A horse-drawn calliope played lively airs, while the flower markets were breathtaking. For about $1.50 (American money) one could purchase an armful of gorgeous, just-opening tulips or carnations.

A flea market sported T-shirts, housewares, Blue Delft (of the much less expensive kind) and a bewildering variety of goods. People roamed up and down the streets.

While Maria, Cynthia and Thomas sat at a sidewalk cafe ran across the road and prowled through an art shop, looking for a painting or print to bring home. Imagine my horror when I knocked off a picture, shattering the glass!

I apologized profusely, to a man whom I quickly discovered spoke no English.

I tried to pay him...he refused. Finally, I went back across the street, red faced and embarrassed, and explained to Thomas what I had done. He handed me a slice of bread-pizza and told me to finish lunch.

After that though, we went back to the shop and purchased a small print of the streets of Delft, and now, whenever I look at it, I am reminded of my clumsiness and the generosity of an elderly Delft shopkeeper!

That afternoon we went on to Kukenhof.

On the way we passed the acres and acres of bulb fields that stretch along the roads.

There is no way to tell of what the beautiful fields are like, nor what it feels like the first time one sees the cutting machines. You see, to grow strong bulbs the blooms must be cut off, and they do this by driving a big machine down the rows.

But then we entered Kukenhof. What to say? How to try to describe what 55 acres of gardens with 50 million bulbs blooming is like?

Even if you don't really care for flowers, Kukenhof is absolutely incredible!

Fountains and waterfalls punctuate the exact, overwhelming plantings. Sculpture stands surrounded by masses of tulps, hyacinths, daffodils and narcissus.

Thatched cottages with gorgeous flower arrangements offer bulbs for sale at very good prices.

Greenhouses hold masses of amaryllis, while others hosts rare plants.

We walked under windmills and skinny bridges lit with a rosy glow from hundreds of thousands of blooms.

At one place the gardeners, picking spent blooms, noticed Thomas' cowboy boots. Grinning, one of them panted to them, and said "John Wayne". Soon we were chatting away with them, in sign language and their ragged English.

When we started to move on the man said "you like our country?"

"Oh, yes" we replied.

"Lots of pretty flowers, yes?" he continued.

"Yes, but lots of wonderful people too" I answered. Whereupon they both smiled even wider, shook our hands and waved goodbye as we wandered on.

All because of a pair of boots. We kept on wandering and exclaiming, shooting up film at an amazing rate as colors and shapes kept impressing us.

Finally, it was time to go back to the bus, which we did, exhausted from so much beauty! Exhausted, but happy, for Kukenhof was surely one of the highlights of the trip.

That night we went out to eat with six other tour members.

We ate at an Italian place on Rembrandt Square, and enjoyed the meal enormously. The waiter had told us we would only get one ticket, however, and we had to go back to the hotel lobby and figure out who owed what...which made them wonder if we had set up a casino, the way money was changing hands.

That night, I sat and watched it rain over the lighted city and dreaded the fact that we only had one full day left in this lovely country.

East Lamar Class Of '53 To Hold Class Reunion

Emergency Farm Loan Applications Being Accepted

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by severe storms, flooding and tornadoes are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration office located in Paris, FmHA county supervisor, Billy Curb said today.

Lamar County is one of nine in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the weather.

Curb said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80% of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000 whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5%.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30% loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Curb said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until January 10, 1991, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing an application over into the new farming season.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Paris is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Don and Kathryn Guyon of Monroe, LA, Freddie Griffiths of Monroe, LA, Mrs. John Ed Smith and Eddy James, all of Atlanta, visited Mrs. Guyon and Mr. and Mrs.

Phillip Gage Receives Sul Ross Scholarship

The Office of the Commandant, Texas A&M University, has announced the selection of Phillip Kirk Gage as a 1990 Sul Ross Scholarship recipient.

Sul Ross Scholarships reward entering freshmen in the Corps of Cadets who have shown outstanding leadership in high school and have excellent academic credentials.

Phillip is a 1990 honor graduate of Diboll High School where he was a member of the National Honor Society, the Academic Decathlon Team, the UIL Debate Team, the Stephen F. Austin State University History Team and the tennis team. He was named Outstanding Biology Student for 1989 and Outstanding Government Student for 1990.

As a member of the Diboll High School Lumberjack Band, Phillip has received numerous awards on the district, regional and state levels. He is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Diboll and sings in the chancel and youth choirs.

At Texas A&M University, Phillip will study bio-chemistry and play the trumpet in the Texas Aggie Band.

Phillip is the son of Joe and K. Gage of Diboll, and the grandson of Virginia Kirkland of Deport and the late E.E. Kirkland.
