I've been asked a number of times where my ideas come from for my columns.

They come from a variety of sources, at various times, and from various reasons or inspirations.

Sometimes ideas sneak up on me very, very slowly. I feel them coming up. But I musn't make a "mental wh" grab at them, or, like timid rabbits, those ideas will scamper off, and it may be days, or even never before they are recaptured.

No, it's best to let THOSE ideas prow around on the fringes of my consciousness until sufficiently relaxed to be obtained.

Then there are those nighttime ideas that hit like a bolt of lightning out of the blue. They usually strike about two or three o'clock in the morning. I'll be sleeping peacefully, then suddenly my eyes fly open and I'm wide awake, pondering on something that may or may not be used for a column.

Those are the best kind of all, invariably being lively and interesting.

Many times it's events that go on around me that prompt a column. The things that happen during everyday "humdrum" events can frequently be turned into something amusing or thoughtful.

Then, there are those little recollections that most of us have, about by gone times or funny things that have happened.

I like to flatter myself that I look at the world that surrounds us all as closely as possible, that the little miracles that happen daily in front of our very eyes don't all pass unnoticed by me.

That prompts columns too. Where do ideas come from? I don't know, they fall from the sky, and well from the springs of summer rain. They simmer in my mind and flash like running deer from the words of friends.

All I know is that they come...some weeks much better than others. This week's column is right at the five hundred and twentieth column I have written, not counting feature stories on people and places.

And, so far, I haven't had a REAL problem yet coming up with something to write about.

That, I think, isn't due to me, but to the beauty and humor in the world around us.

A LOOK at the past of Deport through this old photo is appropriate for Homecoming Week. On the far right is a cafe, then, facing one another, two service stations. The Sinclair station was gutted by fire several years ago, and was only recently torn down and the lot at the north end of Main street cleared.

Come on out, and remember, homecoming isn't just for people who live away...it's a time for local citizens to come and get together too.

New in town...what better time to turn out and get to know your neighbors a little better?

MONROE STREET—who says things haven't changed much in Deport? If you think Deport is n't a neater, more developed town, look at this picture, looking west on Monroe! Note the unpaved streets. Mrs. Will Gifford's house is still very much the same (2nd from right).

On Chili, Stew & Hot Tamales

By Bocky Norman

My dad, Roger Bell, and my uncle, Stanley Bell, were both pretty well known for their good chili and stew, both being cafe operators, they certainly were experienced!

While visiting uncle Stanley recently, the Deport Chili Cook Off was brought into our conversation and he began telling me the difference in his and daddy's concoctions and how some of the local ladies came to talk to hom about the way to make a good stew. Corn and carrots are definitely a "no-no". In his "flowery" description of what they do to stew, simply meant if you want syrup, get a bottle of Karo and take a swig! Being 96 years old, his mind is sharp and his memory unbelievably good. He remembered the price of chili powder and camino during the depression and how he relied on the same brand of chili powder and said he would still use it today if he was still able to cook.

I like to think that my chili is as near to daddy's as any I have eaten. I use uncle Stanley's brand of seasonings, and a lot of it. He told me the chili powder makes the difference, lots of garlic, too he said. You can't hurry it, cook fast and then very slowly.

I can still remember the yellowish-brown sack the dried chili's came in and from being packed and handled they would be slightly crushed. A slight handful would be dropped into the pot. Hot? You bet!

James Grant never ordered one bowl at a time, but two, ate one while the other cooled, sweat rolling down his face. Now, that's chili!!

I don't recall very much about the stew making, but I do know everyone wanted a "red top", that was stew with a little chili on top.

Uncle Stanley said he used elbow macaroni for a filler and he guessed they liked it, because they ate it.

There were hot tamales, too. I can remember having to go to the barn with brother Bud to get the shucks. They were washed, trimmed and scalded before rolling the mush filled with what ever kind of meat available. Daddy and Mama would cook and grind the meat, it might have been an old tough rooster, hen or a cheap cut of pork or beef, season it just so. The tamales were then tied in bundles and boiled until daddy said they were ready.

He would take them to town, keeping them hot in a lard stand over a cool oil burner. I believe it was the Vetco building which had a recessed front, that served a good wind break.. He sold them for 35¢ a dozen. Then, that was about as much money as the three dollars and fifty cents we pay now.

Times have changed and so have our lifestyles, but good stew, chili and hot tamales have stayed the same.

Haymaking Season Has Arrived

Hay producers should be completing their first cutting of hay and fertilizing the meadows, says Dr. Sim A. Reeves, Jr., extension agronomist for the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Overton.

The older the grass gets, the lower the quality of hay.

"Meadows which have been cut should be fertilized immediately after bailing," Reeves said. "Have the fertilizer before it rains so the fertilizer can be carried into the soil to produce the next hay crop. Try to fertilize when the grass is the shortest so it will reach the soil and not stay on the plants."

If the stand is thin from winter damage, use a fertilizer that has as much potassium as it has nitrogen. Potassium causes the grass plant to spread faster, have more drought tolerance and produce a higher quality grass.

The families of Doc Anderson and Rufus Dudley will hold a reunion Sunday, June 24 with lunch served at noon at the Prairiland High School cafeteria. Everyone is encouraged to attend and asked to bring a covered dish.

The Vassarette reunion will be July 7 from 10 to 2 p.m. at the Calvary United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, 3105 Lamar in Paris. Bring a covered dish.

Two numbers that can save energy

By setting your thermostat at 78 in the summer and 68 in the winter, you can keep your home comfortable without wasting energy.

If you're tempted to raise or lower the setting, consider this: for each degree you adjust your thermostat, your energy use increases by about 6 to 8 percent.

For more ways to save energy with more common sense than dollars and cents, visit your TNP office for a free brochure.

REAL LIVE BIG BIRDS! no, they don't come from "Sesame Street" but they are truly big birds. Ostriches on the Frank and Barbara Farm near Mt. Vernon in nearby Franklin County stand eight feet tall and weigh nearly 300 pounds. The couple hatch eggs in an incubator, and hope to continue expanding their flock. (Staff Photo by Wanda Fancher)

Nearby Farm Has Unusual Livestock

By Wanda Fincher

Ostriches grazing, strolling, feeding. A sight to be seen on the African plains? A sight to be seen in a zoo? Yes, but also a sight to be seen pretty close to home.

Bonnie and Frank Thrasher have an ostrich farm in close-at-hand Franklin County, just north of Mt. Vernon.

There have been murmurs that ostrich farming was an up-and-coming industry in this country for some time.

The Thrashers began their ostrich farming when they purchased an adult pair about a year ago. Now they have nine yearlings, and two babies, plus eggs in the incubator.

Frank came home one day and simply said, "I have something for you to do...raise ostriches."

Bonnie enjoys her work, unusual as it is. Each ostrich egg weighs about four pounds, and takes 42 to 45 days to hatch in the incubator.

Bonnie candles the eggs to see if they are fertile. Unfertile eggs are used for a variety of crafts. Bonnie removes the insides of the eggs and paints them intricately. She says that a plain, undecorated egg sells for $25 each while the decorated eggs sell for $45 to $50 each. The big eggs are certainly curiosities with great appeal.

Even more valuable, of course, are baby ostriches. They can sell for about $2,000 each, while an adult pair goes for $45,000!

The high strung, aggressive birds are capable of taking care of themselves, but are kept in a fenced pen close to the Thrasher's home so that they can keep an eye on them. "They must be protected from people, dogs and injury, especially when young" Bonnie reported.

The huge, stately birds can stand over 8' tall and weigh about 300 pounds. They have never been important on the livestock or poultry industry in the United States, but the Thrashers feel this may change soon. They say the meat is excellent, with the consistency or appearance of beef, but is lean and low in cholesterol.

Of course, the feathers have long been a favorite in fashion and feather dusters, even used for cleaning computer systems and turbochargers.

Their popularity is growing, and there is even an American Ostrich Association. The demand of the big birds has increased since an embargo went into effect during Ronald Reagan's presidency.

That has made the price go way up, and the Thrasher's anticipate an escalation in the market for several years.

The couple, in addition to the giant birds, also have ducks, pheasant and geese. Bonnie says she prefers the work involved with the ostriches to cattle ranching, and it should be interesting to see if, in the future, it's ostriches that are "home on the range" instead of cattle. For now, that's a reality in nearby Franklin County!!

International High School Students Arriving Soon

International Education Forum, a leader in non-profit student exchange programs since 1981, seeks local families to host international students for the 1990-91 school year. English-speaking high school students from around the world are making final plans, and will arrive in August. They hope to join families who open their homes for three, five or ten months. With barriers coming down all over the globe, and with changes coming almost too fast to comprehend, now is a great time to open the door to an international student, according to Barbara McCarty, local IEF Coordinator.

If you would like to host an international student, please contact IEF's Paris office at 784-5887. An IEF coordinator will be happy to meet your family to describe this enriching experience.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly, the above-named City of Blossom has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:
Significant adverse effects of this project are temporary in nature and will cease upon completion of construction activities which cause them. Long-term effects of wastewater collection improvements are beneficial to the community.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above-named City of Blossom which documents the environmental review of the project, and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at City Hall, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Blossom to the Office of the Mayor on or before July 14, 1990. All such comments so received will be considered and the City of Blossom will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

RELEASE OF FUNDS

The City of Blossom will undertake the project described above with Texas Community Development Program funds from the Texas Department of Commerce (TDOC) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended. The City of Blossom is certifying to the Texas Department of Commerce that the City of Blossom and Mayor Ricky Thomas, in his official capacity as mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts in relation to environmental assessments, decision-making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Blossom may use the Texas Department of Commerce will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and 24 CFR, Part 58.

Objections to State Release of Funds

The Texas Department of Commerce will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer or other certifying officer of the Contractor approved by TDOC, or (b) that the Contractor's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding, or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR 58), and may be addressed to the Texas Department of Commerce, Community Development Division, P.O. Box 13166, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the Texas Department of Commerce. No objection received after August 2, 1990 will be considered by the Department of Commerce.

Resident Camp Season Opening At Camp Gambill

The summer resident camp season at Camp Gambill will open July 17, after a week of pre-camp training for staff members, said Susan Butcher, camp director for the Red River Valley Girl Scout Council.

Three-day, one-week and two-week sessions are available for girls ages 6-17. Sessions are scheduled as follows: three-day, July 15-18 and July 18-21; one week, June 17-23, June 24-30, July 1-7 and July 8-14; and two week, July 1-14.

Fees for the sessions are $50 for three days, $90 for one week and $135 for two weeks. An additional $20 fee will be added for non-members or girls registered with other councils.

Girls will be able to participate in special interest groups. Some of the program activities include outdoor cooking, photography, aerobic dancing, conservation projects, pioneer living, gardening, dramatics and nature crafts. Waterfront activities, she said, will include Red Cross certified swimming and boating instructions.

Camp Gambill is located five miles northwest of Paris on Lake Gibbons. For more information, contact the Girl Scout Office in Paris, 784-0803.

Look At The World Around You This Weekend

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
I'm presently engaged in researching the type and geographic distribution of meteorites found in and around the Texas Counties of Smith and Red River. To this end I'm requesting the assistance of those readers of this newspaper who can provide me with any written and photographic details of additional meteorites they may have been fortunate enough to have found over the past few years. Especially required are sample specimens, for scientific analysis, to ascertain the geographic distribution and earth resident time of specific petrologic types. Would anyone who can assist in this scientific project, please contact the writer, C.E. Spratt, 314-2100 Granite St., Victoria, B.C. V8S 3G7 Canada. Your help is gratefully acknowledged.
Sincerely,
Christopher E. Spratt

Paris Junior College To Host Cheerleading Camp

Paris Junior College will sponsor a cheerleading camp July 9-13, according to Suzi Smith, PJC coordinator of student activities.

The camp instructors will teach cheers, chants, jumps, pyramids, dance routines, partner stunts and leadership skills. Most sessions will be held in the Harold E. Hunt Physical Education Center. Hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 9 a.m. to noon on Friday.

Lunch and refreshments are included in the fee.

The camp is open to any student between the ages of seven and 15 regardless of skill level. Participants do not have to be a member of a cheerleading squad to attend the PJC cheerleading camp.

Each student will receive a camp T-shirt. Ribbons, spirit poms and trophies will be awarded to outstanding groups and individuals.

The cost of the camp is $65 per person. Dorm rooms are available at a cost of $5 per person each night. Each group must be accompanied by an advisor, who will stay in the room at no charge.

To register or for more information, call the Student Life office at 784-9402.

July 4 Traffic Death Estimates Made

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that as many as 15 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the brief July 4 period in Texas.

DPS Colonel Joe Milner reminded motorists that the traffic volume increases during holidays, raising the chances for fatal collisions.

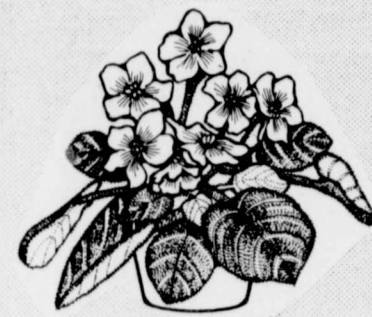

The 30-hour fatality counting period will start at 6 p.m. Tuesday, July 3 and continue until midnight on July 4.

Last year, the Independence Day driving period ran 102 hours. Thirty-four traffic fatalities were reported during that time, far below the DPS estimate of 52.

"We're relying on motorists who respect Texas officers and traffic laws to help us meet the challenge," said Col. Milner.

To my wonderful community of Deport, Texas and the caring people who live here.
Thank you so very much for the out-pouring of love and concern which has been shown to me and my family during the tragic period in our lives. Just knowing that you were thinking of us, praying for us, and grieving with us, made this time a little easier to cope with.
Just as I will miss my beloved wife, Edith, my giving step-daughter Tracy, and my beautiful step-granddaughter Crystal, I realize that you -our community will greatly miss them as well.
The people of Deport are genuine folk. I love you all for being the people you are and I love the town of Deport even more than I did before. Thanks from the bottom of my heart for all the cards, flowers, food and calls. God has blessed me with the good fortune of being part of this loving community. You've done so much already, I am asking though, that you continue to remember Christopher in your prayers. Once again, thank you for everything.
From Gilbert, Donny and Chris
